A Group for Indigenous Men

A weekly gathering of Indigenous men coming together to explore their strengths and examine their identity as Indigenous men so that they begin to address issues that will assist them to achieve their academic goals and successfully meet challenges in today's world.

This will be done in a confidential and respectful space. Traditional Indigenous teachings, such as the circle format, will be called upon as guidelines.

Indigenous (First Nations, Metis & Inuit) male students attending the University of Manitoba can join anytime.

Light refreshments will be available.

5:00 PM - 6:30 PM

January 22, 2015 - April 2, 2015
