Course Description

This course will offer insight into assessing loan application cases and determining financial need and repayment for lenders. Students will analyze lender portfolios and the various instruments that are associated with credit for farm businesses. Students will learn to apply financial management concepts in evaluating investment options in farm and agribusiness decision-making.

Course Overview

This course will provide students with the knowledge to successfully apply for agricultural credit. It will also provide them with the understanding of why credit applications could be declined and options to have the credit decision reversed.

The course is an elective in the business option. It is open to any student interested in learning more about farm management as it pertains to financial management, lending and the lending process.

Course Goals and Intended Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course:

Students will have had an opportunity to better understand the following:

- Key requirements of conducting a lender/client interview
- Risk rating for a farm client
- Financial information to support credit facilities and financing proposals
- Structuring credit for its intended purpose
- Analysis of “Farm Plans” and credit applications
- Various types of security requirements and the appropriate use of each
- Loan monitoring, loan limitations and aspects of realizing loan security
- Risk management resources
- Perspectives from actual institutional lenders
- Asset valuation

Instructor Bios

TERRY BETKER

Terry Betker, P.Ag., CAC, is President and CEO of Backswath Management Inc., a Manitoba-based company that originated in 1992. Terry has an interest and passion in providing consulting expertise to farmers, focusing primarily on strategic business and succession planning, financial analysis, and risk management. Consulting to agribusiness has been, and continues to be, part of the service suite.

Terry is recognized for his visionary and leading-edge contribution to farm management. He is further recognized for his work at Meyers Norris Penny (MNP) where he was a Partner and Director of Practice Development in Agriculture for over 12 years. Terry was responsible for strategically positioning MNP at the farm, industry, and government level within Canada. Terry initiated the development of the agriculture consulting practice across MNP.

Terry's 17 years experience as a grain, oilseed, and special crops producer in Western Manitoba, gives him first-hand insight into the issues producers face. A popular speaker on management issues, Terry has delivered presentations to the Canadian Bankers Association, American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers, American Society of Agricultural Consultants, American Association of Production Executions, major farm lenders, international food product and supply companies, agri-marketing and farm management associations, and numerous farm groups. He has made presentations on farm management in the United States, the Netherlands, Chile, Mexico, Poland, Tasmania and New Zealand. He is also a sessional instructor on farm management at the University of Manitoba.

Terry is the Canadian representative to the International Farm Management Association. He is a founding member of familybusiness.ag. He is a past director of the Canadian Association of Management Consultants. He is a member, and past director, of the Manitoba Institute of Agrologists. He is past president of the Canadian Consulting Agrologists Association. Terry is also past founding national director of the Canadian Association of Farm Advisors. He is past director of the Canadian Farm Business Management Council. He was appointed to a committee, by the Federal government Minister of Agriculture, to review Business Risk Management program development and implementation. He was appointed to a national committee to report on, and recommend changes to, farm income reporting standards. He is also a regular contributor to farm newspapers and magazines in Canada.

GAVIN BETKER

Gavin Betker graduated from the University of Manitoba with a Bachelor of Commerce (Hons.) in 2004. Gavin has expertise in business development, and agricultural consulting.

Having grown up on a farm, he shares the Backswath passion for advancing farm management. After obtaining his business degree, the first job he held out of university was front line manager in a window manufacturing plant. He was promoted to regional service and logistics manager for southern Alberta. He decided to change career tracks, and came back to Manitoba to farm, where he spent four years as a hired hand. Now that he's working for Backswath, he is putting his business and farm backgrounds together.

In his spare time, he likes to curl and play ultimate and soccer.
