

Herbicide/Soil Interactions

Dr. Sarah Lancaster, Assistant Professor, Kansas State University

Herbicide and soil interactions are an important consideration in effective weed control, but also influence the persistence of the herbicide which may impact subsequent cropping choices. Sarah will discuss key factors for herbicide degradation including the influence of soil moisture, temperature, texture and pH as well as the role of microbes.