

A career in service: Advocating with and for older adults

March 30, 2022 | 1:30–2:30 pm | via Zoom

Jim Hamilton, MPA, MSc

RSVP for Zoom meeting information: star@umanitoba.ca

Jim Hamilton continues to provide leadership and advocacy in promoting healthy aging. He has worked at the provincial and federal level; collaborated with international organizations such as the WHO and IFA to promote the rights of older people, and to create more age-friendly communities; and is the former Associate Director (Community Engagement), Centre on Aging. Currently, Jim sits as a member of the National Senior Council (NSC) of Canada. In this presentation, Jim will speak about his work experience and touch upon his role on the NSC, which provides advice to the Government of Canada on current and emerging issues and opportunities related to the health, well-being and quality of life of seniors.
