

CREE STORIES:

An evening with Tomson Highway,
Emma LaRocque, Neal McLeod, and
Duncan Mercredi

THURSDAY, MAY 19, 2011

7:30 PM

Aqua Books - 274 Garry Street

Admission: FREE

Join some of Canada's best-loved Aboriginal writers for a celebration of the Cree imagination in story, drama and poetry!

TOMSON HIGHWAY is an internationally renowned Cree dramatist, novelist, and cabaret performer, who is currently teaching a course on Cree literature at the University of Manitoba.

EMMA LaROCQUE is an award-winning Cree-Métis poet, nonfiction writer and professor based in the University of Manitoba Department of Native Studies.

NEAL McLEOD is an acclaimed poet, theorist, painter, curator, filmmaker, and professor of Native Studies at Trent University. He was raised on the James Smith Cree Nation in Saskatchewan.

DUNCAN MERCREDI is a celebrated Cree poet and storyteller from Grand Rapids, Manitoba, who has brilliantly documented life in the bush and life on the streets of Winnipeg.

EVERYONE WELCOME!

This event is part of the University of Manitoba Summer Institute in Cree Language and Literature, which is sponsored by the following U of M units: Summer Session, the Centre for Creative Writing and Oral Culture, the Department of Linguistics, the Department of Native Studies, and the Department of English, Film and Theatre
