The upcoming Olympics provide us with an opportunity to talk about the political and economic implications of sport and its role in society. Join us as we discuss the changing perception of sport and where it fits in society over the past 40 years, what it takes politically and economically to host major sporting events, and where sport fits in the socio-cultural context of our country.

The Manitoba Institute for Policy Research is based in the department of Political Studies in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Manitoba. The Institute serves as a hub for academic analysis, public policy discourse, and outreach. By engaging Manitobans and increasing access to policy experts in our community through the Citizen Series, the MIPR hopes to enhance the quality of public discourse in the province.

Free event, all are welcome RSVP at: www.mipr-feb-cp.eventbrite.ca
