WARDEN'S WORD!

*By Janet Hoskins, Warden
& Vice Chancellor*

At our annual Convocation in November 2005, we awarded our first two Diplomas in Applied Theology to Simon Blaikie '05 and Rodney Sprange '05. Here are some of my remarks from Convocation:

"The Diploma program represents a true collaboration between the Anglican Church and the College. The Church partnership comes in the form of our Bishop and various committees charged with responsibility for theological education. College input came first from our Faculty of Theology and then College Assembly and Council. Many people worked tirelessly to make this program a reality. It is an innovative new response to the merging and changing needs of education and training for the ministries within this Diocese and beyond. We have already had many discussions with neighbours to the south and west about the possibility of this program meeting their educational needs as well.

"But much of the credit for the success of this program, goes to the students and the two pioneers who are graduating today. Being first is never easy but Simon Blaikie and Rodney Sprange have displayed an infectious enthusiasm for their studies, as well as a dedication and discipline that has been truly remarkable. Rod and Simon were both recently ordained and, even as they complete our Advanced Certificate in Priestly Ministry program, they are already assuming leadership roles in the Church and in the community. I look forward to future years when the students who are following Simon and Rod rise to the standard that has been set for them as we celebrate their graduation."

Warden and Vice-Chancellor, Janet Hoskins, Doctor of Canon Law Bob Hawkins '72, and Chancellor and Bishop Don Phillips, Convocation 2005.

At that Convocation, we also honoured one of our U of M alumni, Bob Hawkins '72, who has contributed to the academic life of many Canadian universities, including the University of Regina, where he was recently installed as its President. Dr Jessie Lang, who has done so much to make Winnipeg a better community and has been a faithful supporter of the life and work of St John's, accepted an Honorary Fellowship. We also celebrated our many recent College graduates of the U of M. These people all leave with a strong sense of the pride that the scholarly community of St John's College has in their accomplishments.

I hope that Christmas and the Holidays were a time of peace and great joy for you and those you love. I also wish you a happy and productive New Year.

King James Bible confirmed 1611 First Edition

The King James Bible from the St John's College Rare Books Collection received international attention just before Christmas 2005 when scholarly research recently completed confirmed that the Bible is in fact a 1611 First Edition. Archivists studied the typographical errors in each edition (for example, Ruth was called 'he' then 'she' then back to 'he' and so forth, in various early editions) to help confirm the discovery. The value of a complete First Edition is thought to be up to $400,000.

The College possesses many rare books in its Collection which is housed at Dafoe Library, including two bibles printed before the King James. These have been on display at various times in our history. The King James Bible and many others, were donated to the College by the Revd Daniel Greatorex of London, England, in 1897. It is thought that College founder, Archbishop Robert Machray may have received them as a donation to St John's on one of his many fundraising trips to England in the late 1800's.

There is a typed note included with the King James Bible indicating that it may have been used by King James himself, but so far we have not been able to authenticate that. If any College Alumni or Friends have further information on this bible or any other part of the collection, please contact dmclean@ms.umanitoba.ca.

Chapel Weddings: The Sequel

Some of you will recall that we did a 'Wedding issue' of In Lumine in June 2000 (Vol XIII No 2) which featured weddings that have taken place in the College Chapel.

If there's sufficient response we'd like to do a sequel. And while we'll probably concentrate on Chapel weddings, we're happy to have any. Photos with lots of identified Johnians are popular too!

If it's electronic, the higher the resolution the better, and tif is preferable to jpg formats. Send to: dmclean@ms.umanitoba.ca. If you send one in the mail, be sure to protect it with cardboard, label it and indicate that you want to have it back. (If it is a professional copy, please get permission for us to use it.) Please respond by the beginning of May 2006.

Broadway Photo Update

Our thanks to all those who responded to this picture and the cover photo in the previous issue of In Lumine (Vol XVIII No 1, Spring 2005). John Lederman '73 (BA, Psych) wrote to point out that the headline on the cover does not indicate where or what 'Broadway' was (we thought everyone knew!).

The College has been at four locations:

1866-1884 (and earlier to 1820's): beside the Red River, near St John's Cathedral;

1884-1945: on Main St at Church, near St John's Cathedral;

1945-1958: on Broadway (as pictured) at Hargrove; and 1958 to present: at Fort Garry campus, 92 Dysart Road. 2006 is the College's 140th year!

Here is the latest key to the faces in the pictures (if we receive anymore updates, we'll try to print them in a future issue). SJC Sign Update

We had a few calls as a result of publicity in the local media about the College Sign pictured on page 6 of the last issue of In Lumine (Vol XVIII No. 1). Consensus appears to be that it was at the corner of Main and Church on the old School property, somewhere in the late 1930's or early 1940's.

Margery Plewes '44 sent us a photo with a different College sign (left) from the Annex on Church, across from the College building on Main St. "Here I am, standing beside Dr Kennett. He was an English lecturer to three doughheads, 'J.D.' [Jim] Donaldson (Theology), Jim Battershill '44 (I don't remember him saying anything) and me. I remember warm, sunny afternoons and struggling to keep my eyes open... The books in my arms," she adds, "are purely for show."

CONVOCATION

Robert Edward Hawkins,

DCL (Honoris Causa)

Anthony Waterman '63 introduced Robert Hawkins '72 as "the first alumnus of St John's College to become President of a Canadian university."

"Bob Hawkins came to St John's in 1968 from Dauphin Collegiate where he won the Governor General's medal... he graduated with a Bachelor of Arts and first class honours in Economics and History. He lived in Residence where he quickly became a leader..."

"After working briefly in politics he went on to Oxford, home of lost causes, where he read Modern British History. He returned to Canada and began the study of Law at the University of Toronto and proceeded to the Yale Law School as a Graduate Fellow. He articulated in Toronto, began to lecture at Osgoode Hall, and was admitted to the Law Society of Upper Canada in 1981. Having

"In addition to Osgoode Hall, Robert has taught at the University of Toronto, Dalhousie, Université de Sherbrooke, Université Montpellier, Queen's University and the University of Western Ontario, where he became Professor of Law in 1998. At Western he entered the latest phase of his career, serving as Associate Dean; and proceeding thereafter to St Francis Xavier University as Dean of Arts and Professor of Law, to Nipissing University as Vice-President Academic and Research and Professor of Law, and this September (2005) to the University of Regina as President and Vice-Chancellor..."

demand as a public speaker and seminar leader, and has been an outstanding undergraduate teacher... On top of all this he has been generous in his voluntary work on or for the boards of various hospitals and other good causes...

"We at St John's may take some credit, I believe, for his conviction, nurtured in this place and surviving half a lifetime of academic and political rough-and-tumble, that even now, even in these bleakly pragmatic times, a university may be a community in which literature and science are valued for their own sake, in which the study even of Economics or Law may be part of a liberal culture, and in which successive generations of young men and women are offered a glimpse of the highest possibilities of human existence.

"We are proud to have Robert Hawkins among us again after so many years, and honoured by his willingness to accept our honour."

Jessie Lang, Honorary Fellow

"Dr Jessie Hermione (Blackwood) Lang has been involved with the advancement of health and education in Manitoba for over 60 years." Dean of Studies George Baldwin '59 gave highlights of those 60 years when Jessie Lang was made Honorary Fellow of St John's College at Convocation 2005:

"There is so much opportunity to grow as a person in St John's, and I feel that I'm much more prepared for the rest of the world after first being here."

– Neil Bailey

CONVOCATION

After being given an Honorary Doctorate, Robert Hawkins '72 addressed Convocation and the Graduates:

"In 1929, Albert Einstein said, 'Imagination is more important than knowledge. Knowledge is limited. Imagination encircles the world.'

"In that spirit, I would ask our newest graduates and prize winners to take a moment, to imagine with me a world, a country, and a community where the drinking water is safe; where energy is clean and sustainable; where no child goes to school hungry in the morning; where there are no random shootings in our cities; where music and theatre, art and architecture, beautify our public spaces; where the threat of pandemic disease has subsided; where medical science has eased the pain that many face in old age; where an ethical sense of right and wrong is brought to bear in public discourse and business affairs; where technology liberates people from dull routine; where democratic debate is principled and vigorous, and where humans live in harmony with themselves, with each other and with their environment. Imagine.

"And now I say to our graduates and prize winners that we are counting on you to go out and 're-invent the world.' This is a call to arms; each and every one of you has a ministry of your own kind to fulfill in our world. Your education at St John's has equipped you to put to highest use, for yourself and for humanity, the unique gifts that God has given you.

"St John's has prepared you to do this in three ways. First of all, it has given you a sense of self. The liberal education that you have received here permits you to know who you are and empowers you to exercise your will freely. In other words, you are now better able to realize your full human potential...

Conlin Award Winners, Angela Kennedy and Sylvi Siddhu.

"A liberal education is an education that liberates. It frees us to ask questions of the past. Those questions, in turn, free us from the tyranny of received wisdom, from the straightjacket of ideology, from the dead hand of prejudice. Your ability to ask questions, questions kept honest by being rooted in reality, will enable you to make 'uncommon choices.' It is through these uncommon choices, that you will 'reinvent our future.'

"The friendships I've enjoyed here are second to none..."

VISION 2005

“The second gift that St John’s has given you is a sense of community. It was in Residence at St John’s that I found my first home away from home. It was at services in this very Chapel, conducted by my friend, Peter Flynn ‘65, that I found support for my new life. And it was as a student politician in our Common Room that I learned how to participate in the democratic life of a community.

“The same computers that have turned our world into a global village have put electronic barriers in the place of human contact. Massive cities and hectic daily lives have isolated us, one from the other. Our talk is all of entitlements, borders, security and the politics of us against them. The sense of community that is St John’s provides a better way. I am proud to be a part of this good community. My request to you today is that you carry the sense of community that you have experienced here out into the world.

“The third gift that you have received here is a sense of the human spirit. St John’s is a community of God. It understands the human spirit as a gift from God and a reflection of God’s image. St John’s motto is ‘In thy light we shall see light.’ The motto is a caution against our own self-conceit and a reminder that the values for which we strive - humanity, justice, caring - are anchored in something more universal, something more permanent and something better than ourselves. The world that we ask you to re-invent is not just man’s world, but God’s world; not just the new world order but the New Jerusalem.

“By giving you a sense of self, a sense of community and a sense of the human spirit, St John’s has unlocked the transformative potential in each and every one of you. Go out into the world and use this transformative potential for good. Don’t wait for others to build a better, more decent, society. We are waiting for you...”

*Dr Peter Morse,

“John Dewey, who was quite the educational thinker, said, ‘I believe that education is a process of living and not a preparation for future living.’ Definitely, St John’s College has offered me an exciting and inspiring ‘process of living’. Fortunately, the process ends up preparing you for the future anyway!”

Development Officer's Notes

By Derek McLean

I have attended six or seven events and conferences recently where donors have spoken about their reasons for donating to an organization or charity. Without exception, they all spoke of the influence their parents had on their own giving philosophy. It was their parents' discussions in the household about support of various organizations and their active involvement that molded and shaped the next generation's giving patterns.

We like to talk about the St John's College community and we are very proud of the families that have attended here. We have two five-generation families and six four-generation ones (at least) and we have many families where four, five or six siblings have all attended the College. One year we counted 37 pairs of siblings of the total St John's membership of 550.

We encourage you to talk to your families about charitable giving (and consider St John's in your plans) and continue to encourage your children, grandchildren, nieces and nephews to attend St John's College.

Campaign status as of Jan 23, 2006

Our campaign to raise funds for a new 250 seat Lecture Theatre continues to go well. We have raised over $1.2 million (or 72%) in donations and pledges to date of our $1.67 million goal. We have sold out the 250 Seats at $1,000 each - thank you! Our grass roots support has been superb and in order to build on that, we have decided to sell named Bricks for $300 each ($150 each for graduates in the past five years). And we have already sold 75 of those.

The Lecture Theatre will be built, the only question is when. We continue to seek out Leadership gifts and have been rewarded recently with gifts of $25,000, $50,000 and $100,000 to go along with a commitment from the U of M of $250,000. Our fundraising is outpacing rapidly rising construction costs. We are striving to have all of the funds in or pledged before a shovel goes in the ground. To all of our supporters - thank you!

Rhodes Scholars

The U of M proudly boasts (and rightly so!) 86 Rhodes Scholars - more than any other university in Western Canada. St John's College currently makes up about 2% of the U of M's population. But we have had 14 Rhodes Scholars (including a father and son*) of those 86, or 16%. This also includes 2 in the last 7 years and does not include College Fellow Derek Hum (Economics) (Mt Allison Univ) nor Honorary Fellow Bill Norrie (U of M). St John's may be a small community but we continue to be very strong academically.

'54 Mary (Jo Dawson) Williamson (BA) wrote that the choir she sings in and another one she directs, both participated in a 'Last Night of the Proms' sing-along of music from Elgar and Handel, in Victoria, BC, in September 2005.

Jim Allan '55 with granddaughter and first year student Jennifer Allan.

'62 David Bright (BA Hons) wrote from Emory College in Atlanta where he teaches and has been in administration. All of David's siblings attended St John's: Anne Leibl '57, Cam, Gwen '60 and David.

"Our collective experience of St John's," David writes, "transformed how we saw the world and what we did in it. The diversity of our paths since leaving university reflects the diversity of impact that our educations had on us: and after nearly fifty years in seven universities, I know that's the definition of a successful education!"

David's mother Pauline Bright was a U of M graduate and an Honorary Fellow of the College in 1969. David notes that "although my father John did not attend SJC, his pride in our efforts was only one aspect of the constant support he provided."

The Bright family represents four generations of Johnians: David's great uncles G. Camsell 1889 (MD '94) and C. Camsell 1894; David's mother and a cousin George Camsell who attended from 1932-34; David and his siblings; and Anne's granddaughter Nicole Morin who is a current student.

'62 Doug Hodgkinson (BA, MDiv '66), Cross trophy winner and former Senior Stick, retired and is still living in Westbank, BC. He does the odd interim in parishes around the Okanagan and reads with kids in a nearby First Nations' Independent School. "I volunteer for one shift a week at the Mennonite Central Committee '10,000 Villages Store' in Kelowna, BC, and am most happy when that involves opening boxes of exotic stock shipped from various craftspeople in the third world... I have a clipboard and get to check things off a list after carefully comparing the stock number. Man! There's a lot of ways you can make a mistake."

'64 Shirley (Hurst) Render (BA, MA Hist '84) wrote: "The U of W honoured me with its Distinguished Alumni Award for 2005. Currently I am the Executive Director of the Western Canada Aviation Museum. 1980's Valerie Peers was at the College in the 80's and early 90's and lived in Rez for a year. She wrote, "I'm still at the Place Louis Riel (in Winnipeg) and life is busy. In 2004 I moved into a lovely 95 year-old house in St Boniface with my partner-in-all-things Paul. The house has been completely renovated but we have still been puttering away on all the little projects that go along with owning an old house!

He ran the family general store in Miniota in the late 1940's and 50's, and taught in Texas after getting his MBA in 1972. He visited the College in 1997 with Laurie Wilmot '31, his bridge partner, and gave us three wonderful College hockey team photos. He was also a champion tennis player. He sent us a great account of James Frost Cross assisting him in Math in 1927, which we published in the December 1999 edition of In Lumine (http://www.umanitoba.ca/colleges/st_johns/alumni/lumine.shtml).

'33 Gertrude (Fuller) Hollies, wife of the late Jack Hollies (who attended St John's from 1931-33), died in Ottawa, October 3, 2005. She felt she owed the College a lot when she was allowed to attend her final year in 1932 without being able to afford the $125 in registration fees. She could "...pay them back later," Warden Wells said, which she did over the next 2 years. She said she felt strongly about the College, in a way that her friends from United and other Colleges don't. She attended the 1998 Broadway Reunion and had fun with her good friend Kay (Cheyne) Teape '33. She leaves her son Michael, his wife Janet and cousin Joan (Alsaker) Brooke '54.

and his concern for the underdog - those without the advantages of money or position in society." Art last visited the College for the 1998 Broadway & Before Reunion. He is survived by his wife Barbara, two daughters, two sons, and three stepchildren.

1950's Elwyn Davies died in Oakville, ON, May 23, 2005, age 73. RUBEN BELLAN '38

A tribute by Anthony Waterman '63

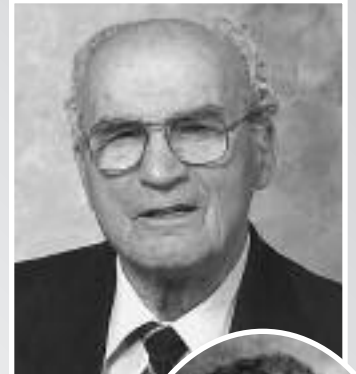

Rubén Carl Bellan, Honorary Fellow of St John's College and Professor Emeritus of Economics at the U of M, was born in Winnipeg in 1918. He received his primary and secondary education in Winnipeg public schools and graduated with a BA from St John's in 1938. He received his first instruction in Economics from then Warden, Canon Walter Barfoot.

Ruben moved to the University of Toronto in 1939 as an Assistant in the Department of Political Economy, and began a lifelong research interest in the economic history of Canadian cities. From 1941-45 he served as an officer in the Royal Canadian Air Force, and on returning to civilian life, began doctoral studies at Columbia. In 1946 he returned to Winnipeg to become a member of the Economics Department at the U of M, and completed his doctorate in 1958. In 1970, Ruben returned to St John's College as Dean of Studies (1970-76) and remained as a Fellow until his retirement in 1988.

Ruben's introductory textbook, Principles of Economics and the Canadian Economy, first published in 1960, was a pioneer in the field. In addition to his devotion to undergraduate teaching, Bellan wrote, edited or contributed to six other books on Canadian economic problems, and produced more than two hundred popular articles. As a professional economist he was much in demand in his home province as advisor or consultant to various committees and commissions. His volunteer work for the wider community included the Winnipeg branches of the John Howard and Elizabeth Fry Society (Chairman, 1963-64), the Canadian Institute of International Affairs (Chairman 1968-69) and the Humanities Association of Canada (Chairman 1970-71).

Long after his retirement, Ruben remained active. His last book was published in 2003 and he continued to attend Economics seminars until the last year of his life. He died in Victoria Hospital on April 17th, 2005. He is survived by his wife Ruth, children Paul, Susan and Lorne, and many grandchildren.

David Lawless remembered Ruben in a letter:

“Ruben was a gentleman in the traditional sense. He had time for everyone and had wise counsel for every problem. I never saw him angry, but he could get worked up when he felt there was an instance of injustice. He spoke with emotion when he thought a case had to be made, but he was generally calm and deliberative. His sense of humour would be used to disarm foolishness. It was ironic that I, as a Roman Catholic, would be appointed as Dean at St John's in 1967. That raised many eyebrows. More eyebrows were raised when Ruben, as a Jew, was appointed as my successor. Both of us, I believe, remained strongly committed to the Anglican tradition of St John's and promoted it on every occasion.”

"The example he set of how to love unconditionally is one that I will never forget," Ian said in his eulogy. "Love for ourselves, love for our children, love for our partners, love for our family and friends, and perhaps most especially - love for our mother. Although I know you will all find it hard to believe, I was not always the model citizen, perfect son and all around great and likeable person standing before you today. Likewise, my brother was known to push the odd boundary or two. On the other hand, my sisters were of course perfect, respectful, well-adjusted children - just ask them, I am sure they'll tell you!"

'74 Joseph Zemcak (BA) died in Winnipeg, November 1, 2004, age 56. He leaves his wife Yvette and their sons, Joel and Eric.

Friend Arthur Hoole Jr, son of the late Professor Arthur Hoole Sr who taught at the College in the 1960's, died in Winnipeg, September 16, 2005, age 89. He had a career in Social Work in various agencies as well as in the Faculty at the U of M. He leaves his sons Arthur and Donald and daughter Katherine Walkty '72.

Friend Donald I. Rice died in Toronto, ON, May 19, 2005, age 85. He was a family physician and Executive Director of the College of Family Physicians. Friend Lawrence Whytehead died July 10, 2005 in Winnipeg, age 91. He was made an Honorary Fellow of the College in 1980 for his work in the Anglican Church: Order of Rupert's Land; Vice-President of Primate's Relief and Development Fund; and awarded the Anglican Award of Merit for his work with refugees. He had a career in thoracic surgery. "His professional and volunteer work exemplified his values of justice, compassion and service to those in need."
