Course Description

This course introduces students to the study of macroeconomics. Topics include: aggregate performance and policy; the determinants of national income, employment and the price level, the role of monetary and fiscal policies in stabilizing the economy and promoting economic growth.

Textbook & learning materials

Required textbook: Krugman, Wells, Au & Parkinson. 2018. Macroeconomics (3rd Canadian Edition). Publisher: Macmillan.

- Includes access to SAPLING, where you can find an e-book and study/review questions.

Assignments: SAPLING is an online product that comes with the latest edition of the textbook where you will complete your assignments. SAPLING is required!

UM Learn site: where you will find course announcements, lecture slides, and any other course materials I post.

Notes about Lectures

- Be sure to print out lecture notes from UM Learn prior to attending class.
- Lecture notes are not meant as a substitute for attending class. The notes are incomplete and require that you to fill the missing parts during the lecture.
- If you do not come to class, it is your responsibility to find someone in the class (not me) to fill you in on what you missed.
- General announcements regarding assignments, exams and review sessions will be made during the lectures.
- I will only bring handouts, outlines or tests to class once.
- If you arrive at class late or need to depart early, do so with minimum possible disruption to your classmates.
- You are not allowed to take pictures of slides or record lectures in anyway without my permission.

Notes about SAPLING assignments

- I will assign assignments about every 1 to 1½ weeks, for a total of about 10-11 short assignments this term. You will complete and submit your assignments in SAPLING.
- Be sure to check SAPLING often in order to keep up to date with your assignments
- Computer or connection problems or being forgetful are not valid reasons to miss assignments. So don't leave the assignment to the last minute. You cannot make up assignments if you missed the deadline.
- To work in SAPLING, you must register at the site. Be sure to register for the correct course and section of this course.

Evaluation

There will 2 midterm tests, one final exam and around 10-11 small assignments. Grading will be done according to following weights:

	Total Weights
Assignments	10%
2 Midterm tests	40%
Midterm 1: (in class)
Midterm 2: (in class)
Final exam: (during December exam period)	50%

Notes about evaluation

- Assignments will be based primarily on content from the textbook. The midterm and final exams will potentially cover all course content, including readings, lectures, handouts, additional exercises, etc.
- There will be no make-up nor extensions for tests or assignments, except in cases of documented medical or compassionate reasons. In the event you miss a test or lab assignment for a valid reason, you must contact me immediately. If I deem it appropriate, in lieu of scheduling a make-up test or assignment, I will re-weight your evaluative components for the term. If you miss a test or assignment without a documented medical or compassionate reason, you will receive a zero on it.
- You must appeal any mark on term work, whether informally or formally, within 10 working days of receiving your mark.
- The grading scale for the course is: A+ (≥93), A (83-92), B+(75-82), B (70-74), C+(65-69), C (60-64), D(50-59), F(≤49).
- Course grades are subject to departmental review.
- The last day for voluntary withdrawal from this course is March 20TH, 2019.

In keeping with UM policy, any term work that has not been claimed by students will be held for four months from the end of the final examination period for the term in which the work was assigned. Communication with the Instructor

Office Hours

- You do not need an appointment to see me during my office hours. You can just drop by my office during those times (see the first page for the times).
- My regular office hours are for two of my Fall courses and there is no guarantee of getting into office hours at the last minute.
- You can attend TA's office hours (TBA) if my office hours are not at a convenient time for you.

Email communication

- To email me, you must include ECON-1020 into the Subject line of your e-mail.
- If I have to send you an email I will use the University of Manitoba email address.
- Any email you send must contain your first and last name and student number in the text body. I will not respond to messages that lack this information.
- Since I am not as fluent in texting as you are, I do not understand abbreviations. Please use full sentences if you expect a reply from me.

Other important considerations

- Prepare for class sessions in advance by pre-reading the relevant chapter.
- Practice answering problems and questions often. Textbook and Connect provide you with ample opportunities for practicing with the course material.
- Ask questions in class. There are probably 10 or more other students with the same question as you so you will be doing a lot of people a favour.
- Seek help from the instructor and/or teaching assistant in office hours. Seek help as soon as you can once you have a question or confusion. Do not wait until right before a due date or test.
- You are responsible for managing your time, for working on course material regularly throughout the term, and for attending office hours (or asking questions in class) on a regular basis throughout the term.
- I expect students to conduct themselves politely and professionally. This includes turning off cell phones and other personal electronic devices, keeping quiet during class, and so forth. If you engage in actions that are disruptive to the class, I will probably ask you to leave the classroom for the duration of the class session.

Section A: Academic supports available to Students

Writing and Learning Support

The Academic Learning Centre (ALC) offers services that may be helpful to you throughout your academic program. Through the ALC, you can meet with a learning specialist to discuss concerns such as time management, learning strategies, and test-taking strategies. The ALC also offers peer supported study groups called Supplemental Instruction (SI) for certain courses that students have typically found difficult. In these study groups, students have opportunities to ask questions, compare notes, discuss content, solve practice problems, and develop new study strategies in a group-learning format.

You can also meet one-to-one with a writing tutor who can give you feedback at any stage of the writing process, whether you are just beginning to work on a written assignment or already have a draft. If you are interested in meeting with a writing tutor, reserve your appointment two to three days in advance of the time you would like to meet. Also, plan to meet with a writing tutor a few days before your paper is due so that you have time to work with the tutor's feedback.

These Academic Learning Centre services are free for U of M students. For more information, please visit the Academic Learning Centre website at: <http://umanitoba.ca/student/academiclearning/>

You can also contact the Academic Learning Centre by calling 204-480-1481 or by visiting 201 Tier Building.

University of Manitoba Libraries (UML)

As the primary contact for all research needs, your liaison librarian can play a vital role when completing academic papers and assignments. Liaisons can answer questions about managing citations, or locating appropriate resources, and will address any other concerns you may have, regarding the research process. Liaisons can be contacted by email or phone, and are also available to meet with you in-person. A complete list of liaison librarians can be found by subject: <http://bit.ly/WcEbA1> or name: <http://bit.ly/1tJ0bB4>. In addition, general library assistance is provided in person at 19 University Libraries, located on both the Fort Garry and Bannatyne campuses, as well as in many Winnipeg hospitals. For a listing of all libraries, please consult the following: <http://bit.ly/1sXe6RA>. When working remotely, students can also receive help online, via the Ask-a-Librarian chat found on the Libraries' homepage: www.umanitoba.ca/libraries.
