Course Description
This senior undergraduate course explores the daily lives of African men and women, as combatants and as civilians, in warring zones. We will also examine state policies in relation to those wars. We begin by looking at the anti-colonial wars and then move on to post-colonial wars – largely a disenchantment emanating from either the politics of exclusion or the failure of the African state to deliver on the promises made during the struggle for independence. We will better understand and appreciate the present wars taking place in Africa by studying the myriad historical forces that helped bring about the wars. To make this course more accessible we will employ several themes as filters for the vast body of information that constitutes African independence and civil war history. Attempt has been made, where possible, to arrange the themes chronologically.

Requirements
We meet twice per week on Tuesday and Thursday 2:30-3:45 pm. Instruction is passed through a combination of lectures, discussions of readings, films and songs. (Music played, and still plays, a crucial role in boosting morale among African soldiers). The films we are going to watch should not be seen a form of entertainment but as just one of the historical sources available and should, therefore, be analyzed critically. Students are encouraged to take down notes during screenings, as well as to pass analytical comments or ask questions after the film. During lectures we will also have discussions focused on the readings and films for that week. Your preparation for these discussions is, therefore, absolutely necessary, as is your careful, critical and timely engagement with the readings. You should have completed the reading assignments for the week prior to lectures. While you are not required to do the recommended readings, it will be great if you can do them for further readings on the topic/s of the week. Preparation for and participation in class and discussion sections will constitute part of your grade. Remember, active listening is an integral part of a productive discussion. Feel free to ask questions during lectures.

Attendance and Deadlines: Attendance at all lectures is mandatory. There is a high correlation between students who receive good grades and those who attend class on a regular basis. Please contact the professor if you are going to be absent. Similarly, all deadlines for assignments are final except in extraordinary circumstances, which must be documented in writing. Assignments are due at the beginning of class on the date listed on the class syllabus. Students who have conflicts shown on the preliminary exam schedule (i.e. have 2 exams scheduled for the same time) should inform the Registrar’s Office immediately.
Policy on late work: Pay close attention to due dates. As a general rule extensions will not be granted for this class unless there are extenuating circumstances. Late papers will be penalized 2.5% per day. Students should turn in their papers at the beginning of class of a specified date.

Required Texts: The following books have been ordered at the Bookstore.

All journal articles can be accessed through the University of Manitoba Electronic library.

Written requirements include: 1 map quiz, one primary document analysis, an in-class mid-semester exam, a short research paper and the final exam. Detailed instructions for each of these assignments will be distributed in class. All assignments should be typed and double spaced. Pay close attention to due dates. Extensions will only be granted in exceptional circumstances.

Map Quiz: Familiarity with African geography is absolutely essential. Students will take one map quiz, in class, during the semester. No make-up quizzes will be provided unless a student has an official excuse for her or his absence.

Analyzing a primary document: This is an exercise that will help students to read and use a primary document in history essays. Students have to use at least one primary source for their long paper. Primary sources will enable us to see how Africans themselves viewed their society and status.

Research Paper: Students’ critical and analytical skills also develop by writing. To that end, you are expected to formulate a specific topic of your own interest for research, examining in more depth, one of the topics covered in class. Write an 8-10 page paper. The paper should be turned in a week before the last day of class. One of the major aims of this course is to hone the skills students need to write an African history essay. Therefore, where possible, you should strive to use primary and secondary sources when writing papers. For this semester’s paper, use at least one primary document. You can also use any novels and songs as long as they are about wars in Africa.

Examinations: Students will write one mid-term exam in the 7th week of the semester. The final requirement is the end of semester exam which you will sit during the exam week.
Grading:
1. Class Participation – 10%.
2. 1 map quiz – 5%; September 17
3. Reading a Primary document – 10%; Due October 1
4. Mid-semester exam – 20%; October 22
5. Research Paper Final Draft – 25%; Due November 26
6. Final Exam – 30%

Evaluative feedback will be provided prior to the voluntary withdrawal (VW) date of November 18, 2009.

All papers are graded on a percentage point system:

Feel free to contact the professor with any problems via email, phone or in person. Students who wish to appeal a grade given for term work must do so within 10 working days after the grade for the term work has been made available to them. Uncollected term work will become the property of the Faculty of Arts and will be subject to confidential destruction.

Please note that it is a student’s duty to make sure that they meet all the course requirements in a timely manner.

Academic Integrity:
Students should acquaint themselves with the University policy on plagiarism, cheating, and other forms of academic dishonesty (see pp.29 in the 2009-2010 University of Manitoba Undergraduate Calendar). The common penalty in Arts for plagiarism in a written assignment, test or examination is F on the paper and F on the course. For the most serious acts of plagiarism, such as the purchase of an essay or cheating on a test or examination, the penalty can also include suspension for a period of up to 5 years from registration in courses taught in particular department in Arts or all courses taught in this Faculty. The Faculty also reserves the right to submit students’ work that is suspected of being plagiarized to internet sites designed to detect plagiarism.
