Course Description:

This course examines the history of Catholicism from its origins in the time of Jesus to the period of challenge for the Church in the middle of the sixteenth century. The course will consider Catholicism's rich and fascinating history and examine the Church at the institutional, local, and personal levels. We will examine the ways in which Catholicism was formed as well as the ways in which Catholicism helped form the communities in which it operated. In examining the Catholic Church in historical perspective, we will attempt to understand how the present-day Church was made, examine what Catholicism's past can tell us about its present and its future, and discuss how historians have understood and written about the Catholic Church.

Course format:

We meet three times a week through the thirteen weeks of the semester. Readings from Thomas Bokenkotter's A Concise History of the Catholic Church provide the background for exploration and discussion of major issues. Friday classes will be seminars, in which students will examine and discuss primary and secondary source material. Students should come to these seminar classes prepared to engage in class debates and discussions, and to discuss these sources in detail.

Texts (available at the University Bookstore):

Thomas Bokenkotter, A Concise History of the Catholic Church (revised edition, 2005)

Eamon Duffy, Marking the Hours: English People and their Prayers, 1240-1570 (2011)

Evaluation:

Grade Appeals

Students who wish to appeal a grade given for term work must do so within 10 working days after the grade for the term work has been made available to them.

Regulation on Unreturned Term Work

Uncollected term work will become the property of the Faculty of Arts and will be subject to confidential destruction.

Plagiarism

“Academic Integrity” of the General Academic Regulations in the online Academic Calendar, and Catalog and the Faculty of Arts regulation (online at http://umanitoba.ca/faculties/arts/student/student_responsibilities.html) reads:

The common penalty in Arts for plagiarism on a written assignment is a grade of F on the paper and a final grade of F (DISC) (for Disciplinary Action) for the course. For the most serious acts of plagiarism, such as purchase of an essay and repeat violations, this penalty can also include suspension for a period of up to five (5) years from registration in courses taught in a particular department/program in Arts or from all courses taught in this Faculty.

The Faculty also reserves the right to submit student work that is suspected of being plagiarized to Internet sites designed to detect plagiarism or to other experts for authentication.

The common penalty in Arts for academic dishonesty on a test or examination is F for the paper, F (DISC) for the course, and a one-year suspension from courses acceptable for credit in the Faculty. For more serious acts of academic dishonesty on a test or examination, such as repeat violations, this penalty can also include suspension for a period of up to five years from registration in courses taught in a particular department or program in Arts or from all courses taught in or accepted for credit by this Faculty.

Student Resources

You have access to several important resources to help you navigate your classes and university life more generally. There are writing tutors available to help you with your essays through the Academic Learning Centre (ALC): <http://umanitoba.ca/student/academiclearning/>. The ALC page also has resources to help you with study skills, organization, as well as assistance for students using English as an Additional Language (EAL). Other issues, including accessibility services, workshops, and tips about academic integrity are addressed at the Student Advocacy Services webpage (http://umanitoba.ca/student/resource/student_advocacy/).

All of the above services can also be accessed under the heading of Student Resources on the Student Affairs website: <http://umanitoba.ca/student/studentlife/index.html>.

History students can also take advantage of the huge range of academic materials (including primary and secondary sources, as well as pages to help with writing and referencing) made available by the History subject librarian, Kyle Feenstra, tailored just for you! They are available on the Libraries page at this link: <http://libguides.lib.umanitoba.ca/history>. Students who need research assistance can also schedule an appointment with a librarian through the website.
