Course Description

The sixteenth century marked a period of significant historical change in the Asia region, as internal political changes coincided with the expansion of Western colonial powers. Consequences from these first contacts between Eastern and Western cultures have led to a number of modern issues in Asian history. Studying the period from 1500 A.D. to the modern period, with a focus on China, Japan, India and Southeast Asia, will help students understand Asia today. Course lectures will progress chronologically to introduce students to the major historical events in Asia, seeking to draw long-term connections between events leading up to, and just beyond, World War II. Students will be exposed to competing domestic and external influences that have affected Asia's development. As young scholars, students will be challenged to interrogate the long-lasting effects that Western expansion had on Asia and to investigate what degree of continuity from the previous period there was in the region. Portions of this course will focus on imperialism and colonialism – and decolonization – but it will be emphasized that this period of Asian history had its roots in historical trends that pre-date Western influence. Up for debate will be to what extent contemporary Asian history has been self-determined and how much it has been influenced by Western influence.

Through lectures, course readings, and discussion, this course will cover a variety of themes and topics, including: Asian cultures and societies before 1500; the political states of India, China, Japan, and Southeast Asia on the eve of European expansion; trade networks between the various regions of Asia; the trading empires of the British, French, Portuguese, Dutch, and Spanish in Asia; early European attempts at colonizing India, China, and Japan; the colonization of Southeast Asia by major European powers; the growth in Christian missionary activity in Asia and how Christianity interacted with pre-established religions; internal political and social developments in India, China, Japan, and Southeast Asia; the post-Industrial explosion of colonial exploitation in Asia, and renewed attempts to colonize China; the Meiji Restoration in Japan and the rise of Japanese Pan-Asianism; the Pacific War in Asia; Post-World War II reconstruction in Asia; and Revolutionary and Post Colonial Asia. The course will end with a review of modern Asia, and will question where the roots of its current challenges lay.

Course Periodization

The following break-up will be used to periodize and structure course content. These will complement the major course themes, which will sometimes overlap between these periods. Mind them well, they will be an excellent way to organize your notes when it comes time to exams!

1. Monsoon Asia as a Region
2. East Asia before Western Contact, c.1300-c.1600
3. The West “Arrives” in Asia, c.1500-1839
4. Responses in Asia, 1839-1910
5. The Road to War, 1910-1949
6. Independence in Asia, 1946-

Course Objectives

By the end of the course, students are expected to have noticeably developed in the following ways:

1. Develop some of the practical methods of historians, such as data interpretation, primary source analysis, critical secondary source reading, and effective writing skills.
2. Identify the major geo-political boundaries of the region.
3. Develop a solid understanding of the major events, figures, and locations in Asia after 1500.
4. Question ideas of progress, civilization, and historical periodization held by the West, and see Asia as a dynamic region.
5. Understand historical trends in Asia that are unique to the region, to distinguish them from trends resulting from Western influence, and to identify the intersection of both.

Required Textbooks

Rhoads Murphy, A History of Asia 7th ed. (Pearson, 2013).

Any additional readings will be available through the UML article database: <http://libguides.lib.umanitoba.ca/articlesdatabases>. Those not available will be posted on the course's UMLearn site.

Suggested Texts

Suggested texts may be purchased online or accessed through the Library to assist students with writing and style. These are not required for course readings.

Kate L. Turabian, A Manual for Writers 8th Ed. (University of Chicago Press, 2013).

William Strunk, Jr. and E. B. White, Elements of Style (Longman, 1999).

Course Format

The majority of course content will be delivered through lectures, meaning that regular attendance to lectures is vital to success in this course. Readings will provide background material but cannot replace lecture content and class/group discussion, upon which the bulk of exam material will be based. Students are encouraged to actively participate in class discussion and to ask questions on course material. Regular attendance is essential, as all testable material - including important class announcements - are made in-class. Attendance will be taken each class, with a warning issued to students after 3 unexcused absences. If non-attendance is not satisfactorily addressed following a warning, the matter may be referred to the Department Head. Students enrolled in ASIA 1420 should note it is the policy of the Asian Studies Centre that students who miss more than 25% of their classes will be subject to debarment (see the University of Manitoba's Undergraduate Calendar 2017-2018, General Academic Regulations/ Attendance and Withdrawal).

Throughout the term, there will be in-class work (5%) which will require no prior preparation, and will be spread throughout the term. These short pieces of written work will have you perform a variety of tasks, such as summarizing key points in the day's lecture, answering identification questions, or to describe the relation between two or more things mentioned in the day's lecture. There will be a total of two in-class quizzes (5% each) which will be evenly spaced throughout the course. More information will be given in class. There will be one map quiz (5%). The development of strong academic writing is integral to this course. There will be two research essays on assigned topics (25% each). There will be a final examination in the exam period (30%), which will cover material from the whole course. The date for this will be set by the University's Registrar's Office. It is important that you do not book travel during the exam period until you know your exam dates. More information will be made available on all assignments and exams in class.

Course Evaluation

A Note on Electronic Devices and Language Aides in class

The use of cell phones in class is strictly prohibited. If there is an emergency, please excuse yourself from the lecture. Laptop and tablet computers are permitted in lecture for the sole use of note taking. Please respect the course format and your fellow classmates by respecting the space of learning you are taking part in. Please – no voice recorders during class. If you have difficulties following the lecture, please feel welcome to come talk to your Instructor at any time.

There will be absolutely no electronic devices during examinations or map quizzes. Language aides such as dictionaries are not allowed during an examination.

Assignments

Handouts with more details on assignment instructions will be handed out in-class.

Research Papers: Each research paper will be on an assigned topic with specified readings. Each paper will be 1500-2000 words in length (excluding title page, footnotes, and bibliography), and will be formatted in 12-pt. Times New Roman font with double spaced text. It is important that papers focus on the assigned topic. Please see the Student Success Guide for more information on formatting and writing practice. Essays will be submitted via UMLearn.

The writing assignments for this course involve meeting with a writing tutor from the Academic Learning Centre in the Elizabeth Dafoe Library. The writing tutors can help you with the organization and structure of your paper as well as the flow of your ideas. They can also provide you with information about citing and referencing your sources.

Instructions for booking an appointment with a course-based writing tutor (CBWT) will be provided in class, but you may visit Room 147, Elizabeth Dafoe Library if you have questions about making appointments. Please note that you will receive 5% of your assignment grade (25%) for meeting with a tutor. You will get this additional mark for submitting a confirmation slip to me that you have met with a tutor assigned to this course.

All submitted work, including essays and exams, must be a student's own original work. All written work must be prepared in English. Essays written in another language and translated by translation software or someone other than the student submitting the work are NOT considered the original work of the student and may be subject to academic discipline. Submitting work that has been purchased or received from another individual is a serious academic offence, and any suspicion of such will be investigated by the Department of History.

All written assignments are to be typed and printed using a computer. The Instructor will only accept hard copies of all assignments, except for the research essay where an electronic version will also be requested. If you are unable to access a computer or a printer, please contact the Instructor. Do not delete your assignment after you have handed it in – please keep all written work until final grades for the course have been officially released.

A note on internet sources: The internet can be a great place to get background information to proceed with your research – much like you would use an encyclopedia. However, internet sources should only be used for this purpose. They should not be a source of information for your paper. Sources that are found through the University Library Website or databases, or through Google Scholar are fine because they are academic and peer reviewed sources. If there is any doubt, talk to your Instructor!

Extensions will not be granted except in exceptional circumstances for medical or compassionate reasons supported by documentation. Computer failure or 'too much work' are not acceptable excuses for lateness. Late Assignments will be deducted 2.5% for every day an assignment is late. This includes weekends.

Quizzes & Examinations

There will be one (1) map quiz given in the term, requiring knowledge of borders, major cities, geographic features such as rivers or mountain ranges, and sites of major events. This will account for a total of 5% of the course's final grade, and will be based upon course lectures.

Two (2) in-class essays will account for 10% (5% each) of the final course grade. These essays will be written during scheduled lecture time and will be on a theme that has been covered in previous lectures. Before the date of the essay, students will be provided with a broad theme, based on class course material, to help prepare. The exact question will be presented in-class. This method will help students prepare for the final exam, which will have two major exam essay questions.

All written work must be in the student's own words - verbatim reproduction is not allowed and constitutes academic misconduct, which can lead to disciplinary action.

There will be one (1) final examination in this course. The final exam will be cumulative, covering material from the entire term. A handout of terms, figures, dates, places, and themes to study will be provided to help students focus their studying. The final exam will have four sections: a map portion, an identification section, a short answer section, and essay questions. The total number for each will be announced in-class, although students will have a selection to choose from (e.g. "Answer three out of five essay questions"). Keep the format of the exams in mind as you take notes in class and review them later to help you when it comes to study time. More on the exams will be discussed in class. This will account for a total of 30% of the course's final grade.

All final exams are scheduled by the Registrar's Office, and not by the Instructor. Do not book any travel or periods of absence during the examination period as dates are subject to change.

All exam answers must be written in the student's own words. Verbatim reproduction of memorized material from textbooks or online sources is not acceptable.
