Latin American History since the Cuban Revolution

I-COURSE DESCRIPTION
This course, focused on the history of Latin America since the mid-twentieth century, is organized around three main themes: imperialism, revolution, and democracy. It explores the conflicts around political participation, economic distribution, and social justice related to the impact of American policies in the region, the Cuban revolution, and shifting political and economic processes at the local, national, and international levels. Based on those themes, the course seeks to provide a broad overview of country cases, theoretical approaches, and historical periods, including revolutionary regimes, military dictatorships, human rights, neoliberalism, social movements, and democratization processes.

II-ASSIGNMENTS AND EVALUATION
The class will meet once a week, on Tuesdays between 8:30 and 11:15, for the discussion of assigned material. Given that the course is an upper-undergraduate/Honours/graduate seminar, attendance and active participation are not only course requirements but also assumed and highly expected by the instructor, and they will be strictly taken into account for the final mark, see below on marking.
Over the semester, students will write three short, five-page papers (4-5 double-spaced and typed pages, Times New Roman 12) based on class readings and written in response to questions provided by the instructor. Students will have three options for each of those papers.

Students will also write a longer, comprehensive paper (10-12 pages) toward the end of the semester. The paper will demand the comparative analysis, organization and discussion of the material covered in the course. The paper is due at the last class, when students will have to make a short presentation of their papers. As an option to this final paper, students interested in specific topics related to the course may work on a research paper under the instructor’s supervision. Final papers/research papers will also be due at the course’s last class.

Important note for graduate students: academic work for graduate students enrolled at the 7000-level is expected to have higher quality and deeper analysis. In addition, the length of their papers should be 7 pages for the short papers and 13-15 pages for the final paper.

Please note that because students have several options for each paper, late papers will not be accepted. Only one unjustified absence will be allowed in the semester. To receive partial credit for a missing class, students will write the paper option for that week, even if they have already written on one of the options for that paper. This also applies to the justified absence in order to receive full credit for the missing class.

Also, I will strictly enforce the University’s regulations regarding plagiarism, cheating and impersonation found in the section on “Academic Integrity” of the General Academic Regulations in the online Academic Calendar, and Catalog and the Faculty of Arts regulation at http://umanitoba.ca/faculties/arts/student_resources/student_responsibilities_integrity.html, which reads:

The common penalty in Arts for plagiarism on a written assignment is a grade of F on the paper and a final grade of F (DISC) (for Disciplinary Action) for the course. For the most serious acts of plagiarism, such as purchase of an essay and repeat violations, this penalty can also include suspension for a period of up to five (5) years from registration in courses taught in a particular department/program in Arts or from all courses taught in this Faculty.

The Faculty also reserves the right to submit student work that is suspected of being plagiarized to Internet sites designed to detect plagiarism or to other experts for authentication.

The common penalty in Arts for academic dishonesty on a test or examination is F for the paper, F (DISC) for the course, and a one-year suspension from courses acceptable for credit in the Faculty. For more serious acts of academic dishonesty on a test or examination, such as repeat violations, this penalty can also include suspension for a period of up to five years from registration in courses taught in a particular department or program in Arts or from all courses taught in or accepted for credit by this Faculty.
Students’ overall performance in the course will be evaluated as follows:

- Three short papers: 33% (11% each, see dates for papers in class schedule)
- Attendance and participation: 34
- Comprehensive paper: 33% Questions for the final paper will be distributed on March 24th; the paper will be due on April 7th.

Dates for each assignment are specified in the schedule listed below. Evaluation of term work will be provided by the voluntary withdrawal (VW) date, March 18th, 2020. Students who wish to appeal a grade given for term work must do so within 10 working days after the grade for the term work has been made available to them. Uncollected term work will become the property of the Faculty of Arts and will be subject to confidential destruction.

III-STUDENT RESOURCES

Academic Resources
You have access to several important resources to help you navigate your classes and university life more generally. There are writing tutors available to help you with your essays through the Academic Learning Centre (ALC): http://umanitoba.ca/student/academiclearning/. The History department will also make a writing tutor available exclusively to History students in the department on one day a week. More information about scheduling, etc., TBA.

The ALC page also has resources to help you with study skills, organization, as well as assistance for students using English as an Additional Language (EAL). Other issues, including accessibility services, workshops, and tips about academic integrity are addressed at the Student Advocacy Services webpage (http://umanitoba.ca/student/resource/student_advocacy/).

All of the above services can also be accessed under the heading of Student Resources on the Student Affairs website: http://umanitoba.ca/student/studentlife/index.html.

History students can also take advantage of the huge range of academic materials (including primary and secondary sources, as well as pages to help with writing and referencing) made available by the History subject librarian, tailored just for you! They are available on the Libraries page at this link: http://libguides.lib.umanitoba.ca/history. Students who need research assistance can also schedule an appointment with a librarian through the website.
Student Counselling Centre
Contact SCC if you are concerned about any aspect of your mental health, including anxiety, stress, or depression, or for help with relationships or other life concerns. SCC offers crisis services as well as counseling. http://umanitoba.ca/student/counselling/index.html

Student Support Case Management
Contact the Student Support Case Management team if you are concerned about yourself or another student and don’t know where to turn. SSCM helps connect students with on and off campus resources, provides safety planning, and offers other supports, including consultation, educational workshops, and referral to the STATIS threat assessment team. http://umanitoba.ca/student/case-manager/index.html

IV- READINGS
The course includes the following books, which are available at the bookstore and will be on reserve at the library. Others reading are available through UofM’s library system or will be distributed in class.
