Indigenous Peoples and the Developmental State in Contemporary Brazil

Neimar Machado de Sousa
Universidade Católica Dom Bosco (Mato Groso do Sul, Brazil)

Thursday, March 17th
2:30 pm
409 Tier

Dr. Machado de Sousa is a Brazilian historian who specializes on Indigenous issues and education in Brazil. Currently a professor and researcher at the Universidade Católica Dom Bosco (UCDB, Mato Groso do Sul, Brazil), he is also the Director of the UCDB's Center for the Study of the Indigenous Population.

This event is possible thanks to the generous support of UofM’s Office for International Relations and a grant from the Canadian Association for the Study of International Development (CASID).