SESSIONAL INSTRUCTOR IN ASL LINGUISTICS

The Department of Linguistics, University of Manitoba, is seeking a sessional instructor for the 2018-2019 academic year to teach four courses (15 credit hours total):

LING 1200 Introduction to Linguistics (3 credit hours: Fall 2018 term – September to December)
LING 1340 Semantics (3 credit hours: Winter 2019 term – January to April)
LING 3300 Structure of ASL (6 credit hours: both terms)
LING 3840 Special Topics in ASL (3 credit hours: Fall 2018 term – September to December)

LING 3300 and LING 3840 are paired with graduate course numbers.

Appointment dates: September 1, 2018 – April 30, 2019 (8 months)

Salary: $37,000 CDN

We are looking for a linguist specializing in ASL or signed languages, who can teach advanced courses in ASL linguistics as well as general courses in linguistics. A PhD is preferred as the instructor may have graduate students (MA and PhD) in the 3000-level courses. Deaf applicants are preferred. The department has a full-time ASL-English interpreter.

For more information, please contact Dr. Terry Janzen, Department Head, Linguistics, terry.janzen@umanitoba.ca or Heather Cherpako, Office Assistant, heather.cherpako@umanitoba.ca.

Application closing date: May 22, 2018, or until position is filled.

To apply, go to:

http://umanitoba.ca/admin/human_resources/employment/employment_opportunities.html and look for:

Sessional Instructor – Linguistics Courses (CUPE Sessional) – Requisition No 02124