This conference is for educators, caregivers, researchers and those interested in the education and care of young children. It will reflect contemporary views of children as competent and capable; current research that promotes the well-being of children; and rich and varied practices occurring in childcare centres, schools and educational sites.