PROJECT SUMMARY

Designing interventions for the sex workers in Bhutan.

The Government of Bhutan was seeking an organization to provide technical support for HIV prevention. The focus of the technical support is in the areas of assessing the sexual behaviors and networks that influence the transmission dynamics related to HIV and STIs in Bhutan, and capacity building and technical assistance for designing and implementing field assessments related to sexual behaviors and networks. Within these areas, the specific objectives of this technical support are as follows:

1. Mapping high risk social and sexual networks in Thimphu City.
2. Assessing the extent of sexual partner change and concurrency networks in key locales.
3. Assess the extent of female sex work, and its operational characteristics if prevalent.
