CONCURRENT IMAGINARIES, POSTcolonial Worlds: TOWARD REVISED HISTORIES

Edited by Diana Brydon, Peter Forsgren and Gunlög Fur (Brill Rodopi, 2017)

The collection brings together case studies that confirm the productivity of reading, looking and listening for concurrences across established boundaries of disciplinary or geopolitical engagement.

The collection invites productivity of reading, looking and listening for concurrences across established boundaries of disciplinary or geopolitical engagement. Contributing writers in art history, sociology, literary and historical studies bring examples of Nordic colonialism and postcolonial contexts. This multidisciplinary volume situates Nordic colonial practices within transnational contexts.

Starting with the premise that our pluriversal world is constructed from the productivity of reading, looking and listening for concurrences in studying archives, voices and history in colonial and postcolonial contexts. This multidisciplinary volume situates Nordic colonial practices within transnational contexts.

The collection brings together case studies that confirm the productivity of reading, looking and listening for concurrences across established boundaries of disciplinary or geopolitical engagement.

The collection invites productivity of reading, looking and listening for concurrences across established boundaries of disciplinary or geopolitical engagement. Contributing writers in art history, sociology, literary and historical studies bring examples of Nordic colonialism and postcolonial contexts. This multidisciplinary volume situates Nordic colonial practices within transnational contexts.

Starting with the premise that our pluriversal world is constructed from the productivity of reading, looking and listening for concurrences in studying archives, voices and history in colonial and postcolonial contexts. This multidisciplinary volume situates Nordic colonial practices within transnational contexts.

The collection brings together case studies that confirm the productivity of reading, looking and listening for concurrences across established boundaries of disciplinary or geopolitical engagement.

The collection invites productivity of reading, looking and listening for concurrences across established boundaries of disciplinary or geopolitical engagement. Contributing writers in art history, sociology, literary and historical studies bring examples of Nordic colonialism and postcolonial contexts. This multidisciplinary volume situates Nordic colonial practices within transnational contexts.

Starting with the premise that our pluriversal world is constructed from the productivity of reading, looking and listening for concurrences in studying archives, voices and history in colonial and postcolonial contexts. This multidisciplinary volume situates Nordic colonial practices within transnational contexts.