

Department of Family Social Sciences
15th Annual Child and Family Research Symposium
“Healthy Parenting Happy Families”

CALL FOR PAPERS

This year’s symposium focuses on a wide range of issues relevant to parenting and how it affects the family. Topics of interest may include but are not limited to: parenting, child and family health, work and family issues, child and adolescent development, poverty/economic health, housing, homelessness, mental health, disability, healthy communities, violence, aging, risk and resilience, prevention, program evaluation, culture, social policy, and more.

We welcome submissions from diverse disciplines and perspectives, from graduate students, and from the community.

This symposium provides a forum for an exchange of ideas, both academic and applied, relevant to families.

Registration is free of charge.

Lunch will be provided free of charge for all registrants.
