

Human Ecology Endowment Fund Scholarship for Aboriginal Students

The Endowment Fund Committee of the Faculty of Human Ecology offers $3,000 a year to provide scholarships for Aboriginal students entering the Faculty. Scholarships shall have a minimum value of $1,000. These scholarships shall be offered to students who:

- 1) are Aboriginal (Métis, Inuit, status and non-status)
- 2) enroll as full-time students in the Faculty of Human Ecology
- 3) have achieved a degree grade point average of at least 3.0

Preference will be given to students who have been newly admitted to the Faculty of Human Ecology.

These scholarships shall be offered to the students with the highest grade point averages among those eligible. To be eligible a student must meet all the above criteria and also complete this application form.

Scholarships will be determined in October of each year.

Submit this application form to the General Office in room 209 Human Ecology by September 30th following admission to the Faculty.

Name _____ Student number _____

Address _____ Postal Code _____

City, Province _____

E-mail address _____ Phone number _____

By signing this application form, I declare I am of Aboriginal descent.

Signature _____

Application deadline is September 30th