COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course focuses on the logic of political-economic-business relations. The point of view is that of the manager who must interact with various levels of government in his/her position. Specific tools of analysis are discussed that assist managers in understanding and working with aspects of public policy which interface with their private sector decisions.

Government in its various forms establishes the conditions within which business must function. Everything from curb cuts and simple licenses through to establishing the fiscal framework and monetary policy for the country is the domain of government. This course is designed to introduce MBA students to the unique elements of public management and to provide them with an understanding of how to manage the business/government relationship.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

On course completion:

A student should have a deeper understanding of the size and scope of government and its impact on business; and

Should be able to identify the key actors in public decisions; and

Understands how the major planning and decision making processes work; and

Is aware a variety of ways to intervene in public processes; and

Can synthesize a strategy to address a policy problem using a variety of public instruments.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

I.H. Asper School of Business. The University of Manitoba

It is critical to the reputation of the I. H. Asper School of Business and of our degrees that everyone associated with our faculty behaves with the highest academic integrity. As the faculty that helps create business and government leaders, we have a special obligation to ensure that our ethical standards are beyond reproach. Any dishonesty in our academic transactions violates this trust. The University of Manitoba Graduate Calendar addresses the issue of academic dishonesty under the heading "Plagiarism and Cheating." Specifically, acts of academic dishonesty include, but are not limited to:

- using the exact words of a published or unpublished author without quotation marks and without referencing the source of these words
- duplicating a table, graph or diagram, in whole or in part, without referencing the source
- paraphrasing the conceptual framework, research design, interpretation, or any other ideas of another person, whether written or verbal (e.g., personal communications, ideas from a verbal presentation) without referencing the source
- copying the answers of another student in any test, examination, or take-home assignment
- providing answers to another student in any test, examination, or take-home assignment
- taking any unauthorized materials into an examination or term test (crib notes)
- impersonating another student or allowing another person to impersonate oneself for the purpose of submitting academic work or writing any test or examination
- stealing or mutilating library materials
- accessing tests prior to the time and date of the sitting
- changing name or answer(s) on a test after that test has been graded and returned
- submitting the same paper or portions thereof for more than one assignment, without discussions with the instructors involved.

Many courses in the I. H. Asper School of Business require group projects. Students should be aware that group projects are subject to the same rules regarding academic dishonesty. Because of the unique nature of group projects, all group members should exercise special care to insure that the group project does not violate the policy on Academic Integrity. Should a violation occur, group members are jointly accountable unless the violation can be attributed to a specific individual(s).

Some courses, while not requiring group projects, encourage students to work together in groups (or at least do not prohibit it) before submitting individual assignments. Students are encouraged to discuss this issue as it related to academic integrity with their instructor to avoid violating this policy.

In the I. H. Asper School of Business, all suspected cases of academic dishonesty are passed to the Dean's office in order to ensure consistency of treatment.

Honourable Reginald B. Alcock PC, MPA

I.H. Asper School of Business

Reg Alcock has been a manager since his late teens. A businessman who entered politics later in life to pursue a passion for reforming public management, Alcock is currently a member of the faculty of the I.H. Asper School of Business, University of Manitoba, serving as “Executive in Residence.” He is also a Research Affiliate of the Leadership in a Networked World program located at the John F. Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University.

It was this passion for reforming the management of large systems that led former Prime Minister Paul Martin to appoint Reg Alcock to the position of President of the Treasury Board of Canada, in December of 2003.

His responsibilities were expanded in March of 2004, when he was asked to restructure the governance of Canada’s Crown Corporations and the Responsibilities and Accountabilities of Ministers. In September of 2004 responsibility for the Human Resources Management Agency and the Canada School for the Public Service were added to his portfolio and he was also asked to lead a government wide regulatory reform process.

First elected to the House of Commons of Canada in 1993, Reg Alcock quickly became known for his interest in understanding the way that the new information and communication technologies enabled organizational change. In his rookie term he was elected Chair of the Standing Committee on Transport where he managed the legislation Privatizing Canada’s Ports and the St. Lawrence Seaway. He also undertook a major study of the renewal of the National Highway System, with a focus on public-private partnerships.

As a Member of Parliament Alcock became active in supporting Canadian firms who were doing business in China. Following a visit by then Chinese President Jiang Zemin, Alcock was asked by Prime Minister Chretien to work with the Chair of the Standing Committee of the People’s Congress of China, to establish the first Parliamentary relationship between China and Canada. He served as the founding chair of this association and continues to be actively involved in Canada-China issues. In 2005, he was presented with the Golden Dragon award by the Chinese community in Canada in recognition of his longstanding support.

Alcock also served as Chair of the Standing Committee on Human Resources where he managed changes in Labour legislation as well as a renewal of Student Financial Aid. During this term he was also appointed as Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Inter-governmental Affairs and served as Parliamentary lead on Bill C-20 the Clarity Act. He also organized a series of studies on the need to modernize the management of the government of Canada. This work led to the holding of the first “Crossing Boundaries” national conference which he Co-Chaired.

In his third term, to provide a legislative focus for the modernization of public management Alcock led the establishment of a new standing committee in the House of Commons, the Standing Committee on Government Operations. He served as the chair of this committee until his appointment as President of the Treasury Board.

Prior to his time in government, Alcock was President and CEO of a small computer consulting agency and owner/operator of a hotel in Winnipeg.

Mr. Alcock has a Masters Degree in Public Administration from Harvard University and an undergraduate degree from Simon Fraser University. He is married and has three children.
