

Sarah Wan

Assistant Professor

Dept. of Logistics and Maritime Studies

Polytechnic University of Hong Kong

<mailto:sarah.wan@polyu.edu.hk>

Dr Yulai (Sarah) Wan is an assistant professor at the Department of Logistics and Maritime Studies, Polytechnic University of Hong Kong. She received her PhD degree in 2013 from Sauder School of Business, University of British Columbia.

Dr Wan's research interests cover various issues in transport economics, including transport infrastructure pricing and investment, competition and strategic alliance, demand modeling, and transport regulation and policy. Her studies mainly focus on the air transport industry and the maritime industry.