About the donor:

Mary Louise Young grew up in the district of Holmfield, Manitoba. It was here that the young Mary Louise cultivated her love of music while practicing her lessons on the piano that her Granny Harrison had received on her wedding day. Mary Louise later studied music at the University of Manitoba but she cherished the memories of those early lessons. Granny's piano has played its last song; the treasured instrument has been made as a gift to the Cartwright Museum where it will be silent but admired for generations to come. Granny's lessons will play on in the gift that Mary Louise has made to establish the Mary Louise Young Scholarship in Music at the University of Manitoba.
