

The Faculty of Pharmacy Graduate Studies Fund -

Supporting Pharmaceutical Scientists and the Future Professoriate

The Faculty of Pharmacy is committed to continue to improve health and pharmaceutical care. We need to continue to train pharmaceutical scientists to pharmaceutically explore and pursue answers to the greatest health challenges. For financial reasons, many promising young graduate students in pharmacy find advanced degrees prohibitive. Many of pharmacy programs have endowed graduate fellowships, which are used to allow our best and brightest students to further pursue higher degrees. We are committed to optimizing our graduate program at the University of Manitoba and attract and keep and train the very best. If you are interested in contributing to the development of future pharmaceutical scientists and professors and educators, please contact us:

What do we need? Endowed graduate awards for the Faculty of Pharmacy Graduate Studies fund

Why? To recruit, retain and support the best prospective new pharmacy scientists and educators
