Science Lecture Block

The Science Lecture Block consists of the Allen Building, the Parker Building, and the Armes Building. Plans were originally developed for an extension of the Science Lecture Block, which was to consist of a series of five interconnected lecture theatres and three seminar rooms to be built underground on the south side of the Buller Building.