Participants Needed for a Research Study

The Journey for Patients of Childhood Brain Tumours: From Post-Treatment into Adolescence and Adulthood

WHAT IS THE STUDY ABOUT?

- We want to learn about what it is like to live with and manage the late-effects associated with experiencing a childhood brain tumour.

WHO CAN PARTICIPATE?

- Young people who have experienced a childhood brain tumour (8 years old and up) and their families.

WHAT CAN YOU EXPECT?

- Young people will participate in two interview sessions. They will also photograph meaningful places, people and things.
- Family members will also participate in an interview session.
- All parts of this study are completely voluntary. Your identity will be kept confidential. Families will receive a gift card for participation. In the project.

This study has been approved by the University of Manitoba's Health Research Ethics Board.
