A. PREAMBLE

Prior to the commencement of tenure proceedings, the matter of tenure shall normally be discussed by the Director and the faculty candidate at the initiation of either. Thereafter, the tenure application may be initiated either by the Director requesting an application from the faculty candidate or by the faculty candidate submitting the application by the deadline established in the School.

In the School of Art, emphasis is placed on the attributes of research, scholarship or creative works and teaching, with service accorded less weight.

Furthermore, it must be understood that in a situation where tenure is determined by academic peers working in committee, the concrete meaning of the stated criteria for tenure becomes clear only as the School accumulates experience as to who gets promoted and who does not.

B. RESEARCH, SCHOLARLY WORK AND OTHER CREATIVE ACTIVITIES

In the context of the School, this involves the extension of knowledge or the creative application of existing knowledge in published and exhibited works, including the production of aesthetic objects or representations that are the result of skill and the creative imagination. In any evaluation of these scholarly and artistic activities, their originality and significance shall be regarded as most important, though the quantity of them shall be considered relevant.

C. TEACHING

This involves the competent transmission of knowledge and/or techniques to students, the enhancement of the critical awareness of students, the effective supervision of students, and in general, the ability to meet the needs of students. Continued efforts to maintain pedagogic effectiveness and the use of innovative teaching techniques are considered extremely important.

D. SERVICE

This involves activities (internal and/or external to the University) related to the research and teaching functions of the University. It includes the contribution that an individual makes to the governance and administration of the University and community service where an individual makes a non-remunerative contribution by virtue of special academic or professional competence.

E. STUDIO: MEASURES OF PERFORMANCE

There are a variety of opportunities for disseminating scholarship or creative production to the art community and public at the local, regional, national, and international levels that confirm development. Such activities include, but are not limited to:

School of Art Tenure Committee
APPENDIX 2: Sample letter soliciting input from external evaluator

Dear Professor XX

I am writing to request your assistance by acting as an external assessor for a faculty candidate who has applied for tenure at the School of Art, University of Manitoba. This involves providing a written evaluation in the context of research and teaching within the discipline of XX (art history, or fine art practice, i.e. painting, drawing, curatorship, video).

Professor XXX has been employed at The University of Manitoba since XX. XX is currently an (Assistant/Associate) Professor in XXX with teaching responsibilities in XXX.

As you know, the tenure process is a careful one. Within the School of Art, we adhere to fairness and transparency in all hiring, promotion, and tenure processes. The committees are selected carefully to provide a balance of gender and approaches. Your letter will be integrated into a fair process of assessment.

For tenure, the University of Manitoba requires an arm’s length assessment of the candidate’s work to provide an impartial picture of his/her position in the discipline. We require your tenure assessment to be submitted in two sections to protect the confidentiality of the process and the identity of the outside assessor. This is essential for our assessors to provide an objective reading of the tenure candidate’s work. You may use the attached form or attach separate sheets to the form provided.

As per the UMFA Collective Agreement of the University of Manitoba the substantive part of your letter – the assessment- must be provided to the candidate. The letterhead and all identifying comments are removed. Our request for this information in the form described above supports this requirement.

We are working towards a deadline of (date). In order to bring these comments before the committee, please email me directly followed by a hard copy.

Thank you for participating in this important professional service.

Sincerely,

XXX
