Faculty of Arts Mini-Lecture: Psychology – How to Win at Mind Games
We all need to use a terrific, but also clunky, machine – our brain – to win at the game of life. What you think and what you remember can often be two different things. Learn more about what’s “wrong” with your mind and how you can get the most out of your memory.
10:00 a.m. | 306 Tier Bldg.

Faculty of Arts Mini-Lecture: Religion – Introducing: EVIL
In this sample lecture, we discuss the concept of “evil” in world religions. The term evil is most often associated with atrocity and violations of human dignity – but what if we don’t assume to already know the definition of evil? How and what would we study? Welcome to evil in world religions - a study of purity and danger.
11:00 a.m. | 306 Tier Bldg.

Faculty of Arts Mini-Lecture: Languages – Your Ticket to World Travel
Studying a language other than English will allow you to travel the world during university… and make you more employable when you graduate. Discover the travel opportunities available to U of M students, the ins and outs of being in an exchange program, and how to structure your university studies to incorporate travel and learn a new language. Presented by the department of German & Slavic Studies.
12:00 p.m. | 306 Tier Bldg.

Faculty of Arts Mini-Lecture: Criminology – Five Things You Won’t Believe Are Legal
Most of us go through our lives believing that it’s pretty simple to tell right from wrong. But criminologists recognize that right vs. wrong and legal vs. illegal are rarely – if ever – absolute. Examine criminal cases with a criminology professor to learn why some surprisingly sketchy behaviours are perfectly legal while other seemingly harmless behaviours are strictly prohibited.
1:00 p.m. | 306 Tier Bldg.

Asper School of Business: Connections for Life
Why business? Why Asper? Find out what makes us one of the best business schools in Canada. With an amazing student experience, leadership opportunities, incredible connections to the business community, world-class professors, and diverse student groups, you will make connections for life that are the envy of business students across Canada.
