

REPEATED COURSE POLICY AND LIMITED ACCESS - SUMMER 2019

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU?

- If you completed or withdrew from a course in Winter 2018 or earlier you are no longer subject to Limited Access. You can register to repeat it during your initial registration period, but you will require permission to register. Contact your advising office BEFORE your registration access time to request permission.
- If you completed or withdrew from a course in Summer 2018 or later and want to repeat it, you will be subject to Limited Access in that course for THREE consecutive terms
- Students subject to Limited Access may not register to repeat the course until after the Limited Access Expiry Date specific to that term.
- The Limited Access Term Expiry Date for Summer 2019 is April 2, 2019.
- You are encouraged to try to register in the course when the Limited Access Term Expiry Date has passed. Limited Access does not mean that you have to sit out for three terms.
- To determine when you are no longer subject to Limited Access, count forward three terms starting in the term AFTER you last took the course. See the examples below to help you determine when you are no longer subject to Limited Access.
- This policy gives registration priority to students who have not completed or withdrawn from a course (or equivalent) over students who wish to repeat it.
