

Executive Lead for Indigenous Achievement, Office of the President & Department of Native Studies

Invites You to

Metis Learning Day

OTIPEMISWIWAK: THE PEOPLE WHO OWN THEMSELVES

The Metis are one of the three Indigenous peoples recognized in the Canadian Constitution, but many Canadians are woefully misinformed about a people whose culture and history merge diverse linguistic, political and artistic traditions. Come and learn!

Can I get a picture with you Gabe?, Christie Belcourt, 2008.

Featured presentations:

Christi Belcourt:

Contemporary Metis Art as a Healing Practice
(Christi Belcourt)

The Flower Beadwork People:

Metis Art and Clothing (Sherry Farrell Racette)

Metis History for Dummies:

the Crash Course (Sherry Farrell Racette)

Tuesday, February 12, 2013

210 University Centre - Killarney Room
11:00am - 1:00pm

This is a free event. Everyone is welcome.

For more information, please contact:
Andrea Bilash 480-1473
andrea_bilash@umanitoba.ca

UNIVERSITY OF MANITOBA