Welcome to the Department of Plant Science and the University of Manitoba

Welcome to graduate studies in the Department of Plant Science. This department is one of seventy-eight graduate departments within the Faculty of Graduate Studies (FGS) at the University of Manitoba. Throughout your academic journey as graduate students within the department, there are several amenities that will be made available to you, in order to enhance your experience and support your educational success. This Graduate Student Handbook will provide you with information to help you better understand and access those services and resources.

General Office

The Department of Plant Science administrative office is located in 222 Agriculture Building.

Orientation

Orientations are offered to both new and returning graduate students. To help you with your academic journey, it's important that you attend orientations.

Departmental Orientation:

To help familiarize students with services offered by Department of Plant Science, the presentation includes an overview of:

- Office, keys, graduate student lounge, mailbox
- Department staff and faculty
- Program information
- Course requirements
- Registration
- Teaching assistants positions
- Printing, photocopying
- Who to contact in the department for assistance or advice

For information, please contact martha.blouw@umanitoba.ca.

University of Manitoba Graduate Student Association Orientation

UMGSA presents an overview of services available to graduate students. Information on the GSA Orientation is at <http://www.umgsa.org/>

International Student Orientation:

Studying in a new country can be both exciting and overwhelming. To help international students with their transition to Canada and the University of Manitoba, the International Centre offers orientation and welcome programming at the beginning of each term. Get the information you need and connect with other international students going through the same experience.

Department Involvement

Graduate students are selected or elected to represent students on departmental committees. The graduate student representative attends meetings to represent the view of graduate students, votes on issues discussed, and informs students about issues reviewed that are relevant to them.

Committees include:

- Department Council: Made up of faculty members and a support staff member, as well as a student representative who meet to deal with departmental issues.
- Plant Science Graduate Student Association (PSGSA): The PSGSA is the departmental student organization. Consider joining the executive.

Conclusion

Faculty and staff members within Plant Science, as well as offices at the U of M are here to support you through your program of study. We hope this handbook will be of use to you. Should you have any questions regarding your program please don't hesitate to contact
