From the first decision to join forces five years ago to become Synonym Art Consultation, to the creation of the annual month-long mural and culture festival, Wall-to-Wall, each step forward that Chloe Chafe and Andrew Eastman takes has had collaboration at its core. By sharing resources, knowledge, opportunities, platforms, and curatorial decisions with collaborators from various fields and diverse backgrounds, Synonym strives to create inclusive programming and meaningful employment and educational opportunities in our city. Synonym will share their personal and professional journeys that brought them to where they are today, while looking to the future through the lens of collaboration.

Synonym Art Consultation is a curatorial collective based in Winnipeg, Manitoba, committed to providing meaningful employment and mentorship opportunities to artists and to facilitate the celebration of art and culture with unique, inclusive, community-minded events that serve as creative space for diverse populations.

Through our mural and culture festival, Wall-to-Wall, we strive to cultivate a grassroots contemporary street art movement in our city and to participate in hyperlocal and international dialogues around important issues, such as Indigenous rights and socially-responsible, innovative economic development, rooted in the arts.
