

ARCH – 7030 – T19

INTRODUCTION TO BIOMIMETIC DESIGN

Lichen on tree. Riding Mountain National Park. August 2025

This is an introductory level course where students will explore the principles of biomimetic design and their application to design projects. Students will learn about current methods and tools used in biologically inspired design and will apply these through a self-directed biomimetic project.