A student is a student is a student is a student: older adult experience in the university classroom

Cicero Club members

Join The Cicero Club—a group of older adult UM graduate students (age 50+)—for a frank conversation. Although many older adult students’ experiences are like that of any other student at UM, there are also challenges unique to this demographic. The panel will answer questions such as: Why are you here? (this is not an existential question—or it may be!) Where do you see difference in your student experience? What are the challenges?
