What kind of bison are you?

The University of Manitoba embraces the spirit of the bison. This strong, determined, hardy being is part of a herd that once covered the horizon, moving as one across the open plains.

With over 100 programs at UM, every bison can find their stride. Alone, they leave a track in the grass. Together, we create a thunderous beat to do better—for our community, our health, our climate, and our world. Through co-ops and internships, we turn classroom knowledge into practical skills. Our graduates don’t just start careers—they hit the ground running.

From the centre of North America, we call out to those willing and wanting to charge toward positive change. We welcome you to a diverse and inclusive learning environment where everyone—from all backgrounds and perspectives—is respected and valued.

The University of Manitoba campuses are located on the original lands of Anishinaabeg, Cree, Ojibwe-Cree, Dakota, and Dene peoples, and on the homeland of the Red River Métis. We respect the Treaties that were made on these territories, we acknowledge the harms and mistakes of the past, and we dedicate ourselves to move forward in partnership with Indigenous communities in a spirit of reconciliation and collaboration. We are committed to Indigenous achievement and reconciliation, and to equity of access and opportunity for all UM students, faculty and staff.
UM is home to more than 2,600 First Nations, Métis and Inuit students.
I chose UM because of the incredibly diverse and accepting community. Here, I have the opportunity to meet so many different people from many walks of life. With two campuses to explore, make sure to sign up for campus tours and always ask questions if you have them. There are lots of people around to help.

The best things about Winnipeg are its year-round beauty and affordability. Winnipeg offered me so much more than I expected. This city is really wonderful, and if you give it a chance, there is so much you’ll get in return!

Indigenous community

Located on the original lands of the Anishinaabeg, Cree, Ojibwe-Cree, Dakota, and Dene peoples, and on the homeland of the Red River Métis in the heart of Turtle Island, the University of Manitoba campuses are home to a vibrant Indigenous community of thousands of students, staff, faculty and alumni.

The Indigenous community works together to build and expand our presence and visibility at UM while creating a safe environment for students and staff to work and learn.

OFFICE OF THE VICE-PRESIDENT (INDIGENOUS)

The Vice-President (Indigenous) leads the development and implementation of a university-wide strategy that promotes reconciliation, advances UM’s commitment to Indigenous engagement and achievement through initiatives, programs, curriculum and research and addresses anti-Indigenous racism. Guided by Indigenous-focused principles, this work is done in partnership with executive leadership, deans and directors. The Vice-President (Indigenous) position was established in October 2019. Dr. Catherine Cook was appointed to the role for a period beginning Jan. 1, 2020 through December 30, 2023.

NATIONAL CENTRE FOR TRUTH AND RECONCILIATION (NCTR)

The University of Manitoba is committed to the journey of reconciliation and to advancing Indigenous rights, research and scholarship. The National Centre for Truth and Reconciliation (NCTR) at UM was born out of the Indian Residential Schools Settlement Agreement to preserve the history of Canada’s residential school system and legacy forever.

The Truth and Reconciliation Commission’s sacred collection of statements, documents and other materials is at the heart of the NCTR. Reflecting the shared vision of residential school Survivors, the NCTR serves as a place of learning and dialogue that honours the authenticity of the Survivors’ experiences and preserves their past for future generations.

In preserving this sacred collection of materials, the NCTR ensures that:

- Survivors and their families have access to their own histories.
- Educators in the K-12, post-secondary, professional and public service sectors understand the shared experience of Indigenous peoples and Survivors.
- Researchers can explore the residential school system and assimilation efforts.
- The public can access historical records and other materials to help foster reconciliation and healing.
- The history and legacy of the residential school system will never be forgotten.

We invite you to explore the materials at the NCTR and on the NCTR website in meaningful and personal ways. You are welcome to visit the NCTR anytime during operational hours.

Admission requirements

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS
If you’re coming to university directly from high school or have completed less than one year of university studies, you’ll take the direct entry route into a faculty or program—this means either beginning in University 1 (U1) or applying to a program that offers a direct entry option.

UNIVERSITY 1
University 1 (U1) is a unique, flexible approach to your first year at UM, giving you the opportunity to meet the admission and/or first year requirements for one or more target degree programs. U1 will not add any time or cost to your degree; it serves as year 1 of any three or four-year degree.

No SATs required
ACTs, SATs and class rankings are not required for admission purposes. Admission is based on senior-level high school grades.

Do I need a study permit?
Visit canada.ca to learn about the documents you may need to travel to and study in Canada.

TIPS

In addition to the entrance scholarships, there are a wide range of other funding sources that may require an application.

Here are some tips to help you succeed:

- Do your research. Know the details of each award before starting your application.
- You get what you put in—results often reflect time and effort spent.
- It is worth your time. An hour of effort could result in a $100 award or more!
- Create a personal portfolio—accomplishments, achievements, resume, personal summary, etc.
- Don’t take yourself out of the running. Many awards go unallocated because no one applied!
- Know your finances—create a budget and stick to it.

Contact us at awards@umanitoba.ca or indigenous_recruitment@umanitoba.ca.

BAND FUNDING

SPONSORSHIP AND GOVERNMENT BENEFITS

Financial sponsorship for eligible Indigenous students may include tuition, fees, mandatory books, supplies and allowance.

- Treaty/Status First Nation students can apply to receive post-secondary education sponsorship—financial assistance to alleviate the above listed costs as well as travel costs. Students are advised to contact their Education Authority, Band or Tribal Council from their community.

- Inuit students should contact designated organizations or regional Indigenous Services Canada (ISC) to determine eligibility.

- Métis students entering full-time studies may be eligible for sponsorship. Students are advised to contact the MMF Post-Secondary Education Support Program.

Please reach out to the Indigenous Student Recruitment team if you would like assistance with sponsorship applications: indigenous_recruitment@umanitoba.ca

Once accepted to UM, the EmpoweringU Financial Wellness Program is available to assist Indigenous students with setting financial goals, budgeting and debt management. The program includes workshops, speaker sessions and other resources to help you make informed financial decisions.

2 With the exception of English (two English courses may be used), students must demonstrate excellence in five different subject areas. Advanced Placement (AP) and International Baccalaureate (IB) may be used in place of a 40S course.
The cost of a university education is more than just tuition and books. Estimate your living costs to create an education budget: rent, damage deposit, housing insurance, utilities, child care, family expenses, groceries and vehicle costs. Don’t be discouraged by the cost of education, especially if your chosen career is in demand. Most students pay for post-secondary education with a combination of funds from many sources: savings, scholarships, bursaries, sponsorship, wages and loans.

Having access to financial supports took a lot of the financial stress off me so I could focus on my education. My advice to students is to seek out financial supports available through bursaries, loans and scholarships. University is an investment but the return is significant.
