

University Management Course (UMC)

Prepare for administration and management in higher education with this important annual professional development opportunity for higher education administrators and managers including department heads, directors, managers, and senior executive assistants, provided by the Centre for Higher Education Research Development (CHERD) at the University of Manitoba.

An important professional development and networking opportunity

Course description: This annual course provides participants with the skills and knowledge to manage today and tomorrow. Building on feedback and evaluations, along with commitment to continuous improvement, CHERD continues to update and contextualize the content. Team members, experienced university administrators, and guest presenters provide a relevant and highly interactive learning experience. The program incorporates case studies, interactive presentations, discussions, and one-on-one consultations. Participants are encouraged to share experience and insights through a community of practice approach to learning. Indigenization and EDI are cross-cutting themes, touching all aspects of higher education management and administration and are central within the program. Each year, key topic areas, the Flagship Facilitation Team, opening keynote and guest presenters are announced.

Course Length:
