I- COURSE DESCRIPTION

In the last two hundred years, the world has been dramatically reshaped by major historical trends. Focusing on the rise of the North Atlantic and its conflictive relations with other regions of the world, the course will provide a broad overview of these long two centuries along two major organizational lines. On the one hand, it will discuss the emergence, application, and transformation of modern concepts and processes such as democracy, citizenship, nationalism, capitalism, colonialism, imperialism, and globalization. On the other hand, it will pay attention to how different social classes and groups – upper classes, workers, miners, peasants, women, etc. – actively participated and struggled in shaping those processes. In turn, the exploration of those developments and actors will contribute to a deeper understanding of the challenges we face in our contemporary world.

II- REQUIRED READINGS

All required readings are uploaded to UM Learn and organized according to the schedule of classes and discussion. For each topic/week, two types of reading are assigned: a general chapter on the lectures’ topics, and primary documents related to the topics under discussion. All the material has been uploaded in compliance with UofM Fair Copyright Guidelines.

III- REMOTE LEARNING, ASSIGNMENTS, AND EVALUATION

This course will be taught through remote learning. This means that lectures and discussions will be held at the course’s allocated days and times, in the same manner as if it were taught in the classroom. The virtual online platform that will be used is WebEx. Students will join through the course’s UMLearn folder—follow the instructions sent separately—; the session will be open 10 minutes before the beginning of the class to allow students enough time to join it. Accommodations will be made whenever possible, however, students will need a computer with audio and video – or at least, audio or phone access to connect to the session – in order to be able to actively participate in lectures and discussions.

For each of the course’s periods/themes, two or three sessions will be devoted to lectures. They will be followed by another session, in which the whole class will discuss material – textbook, documents, and articles – specifically assigned and related to the themes and periods discussed in lectures. Active participation is expected and attendance for discussion sessions is mandatory. Make sure to carefully read and follow the schedule of meetings and assignments indicated below in order to find out the dates for lectures and discussions.

Students’ overall performance in the course will be evaluated as follows:

- Three short papers (minimum 1000 words and no longer than 4 double-spaced pages each), worth 48% of the final grade (16% each)

- A final exam, worth 36%

- Attendance and participation, worth 16%
IMPORTANT: Since this is a course that meets the University Senate’s W (written) requirement, students must complete all essay assignments (the three short papers) with a passing grade (D or above) to pass the course.

Please note that late papers will not be accepted, with the only exception of very specific and justified circumstances that will be evaluated case by case. As stated by the University of Manitoba’s Provost, students who are unable to meet a course requirement due to medical circumstances are currently not required to submit medical notes. However, students are required to contact their instructor or academic advisor by email to inform of the missed work and to make arrangements for extensions, deferrals, or make-up assignments. Please follow these guidelines if you are unable to meet an academic requirement for your courses.

- Contact your instructor for term work such as a class, quiz, midterm/test, assignment, lab;
- Contact an advisor in your faculty/college/school of registration for a missed final exam (scheduled in the final examination period);
- Inform your instructor/advisor as soon as possible do not delay. Note for final exams, students must contact within 48 hours of the date of the final exam; and
- Email your instructor/advisor from a U of M email address, and include your full name, student number, course number, and academic work that was missed.

Also, I will strictly enforce the University’s regulations regarding plagiarism, cheating, and impersonation found in the section on “Academic Integrity” of the General Academic Regulations in the online Academic Calendar and Catalog, and the Faculty of Arts regulation (online at http://umanitoba.ca/faculties/arts/student_resources/student_resources_integrity.html), which reads,

The common penalty in Arts for plagiarism on a written assignment is a grade of F on the paper and a final grade of F (DISC) (for Disciplinary Action)) for the course. For the most serious acts of plagiarism, such as purchase of an essay and repeat violations, this penalty can also include suspension for a period of up to five (5) years from registration in courses taught in a particular department/program in Arts or from all courses taught in this Faculty.

The Faculty also reserves the right to submit student work that is suspected of being plagiarized to Internet sites designed to detect plagiarism or to other experts for authentication.

The common penalty in Arts for academic dishonesty on a test or examination is F for the paper, F (DISC) for the course, and a one-year suspension from courses acceptable for credit in the Faculty. For more serious acts of academic dishonesty on a test or examination, such as repeat violations, this penalty can also include suspension for a period of up to five years from registration in courses taught in a particular department or program in Arts or from all courses taught in or accepted for credit by this Faculty.

Evaluation of work will be provided by the voluntary withdrawal (VW) date, March 31, 2021. Students who wish to appeal a grade given for term work must do so within 10 working days after the grade for the term work has been made available to them. Uncollected term work will become the property of the Faculty of Arts and will be subject to confidential destruction.
