HIST 3080  American Consumer Culture
WINTER 2021

Professor Sarah Elvins
Email:  sarah.elvins@umanitoba.ca

Course Description
Welcome!  This course will explore the emergence of the modern consumer society in the United States.  A historical approach allows us to explore the changing relationship of Americans to consumer goods and the cultural transformations which went along with this change.  The course is roughly chronological, with readings organized around a specific theme each week.

The course will be conducted through a distance learning format.  Each week, you will watch short lecture videos that will be uploaded on UMLearn.  You will also meet regularly online with the professor and your fellow students to engage in discussion of the readings and to ask questions about the course materials.

Students will be responsible for reading the assigned material each week, watching the lectures, and coming to Zoom meetings prepared to discuss the main issues raised by each author.  This is good practice for taking history seminars; it can also be a lot of fun (really!).  Do not be intimidated by the prospect of these class talks – if you are shy, we can work on this together.

Rules and Regulations
It pains me to have to repeat this, but all written work for the course must be original.  Do not be tempted to “borrow” materials from the internet or other sources without attribution.  If something looks suspicious, I will check!  All assignments should be typed and double spaced.  Further details about written assignments will be provided in class.  You will be provided with some evaluation before the Winter Term Voluntary Withdrawal (VW) date of March 31.

Pay close attention to due dates. Extensions will only be granted in exceptional circumstances, if you contact me directly before an assignment is due. Papers are due on the date indicated, and must be uploaded in the correct format on UMLearn. Late papers will be penalized 2.5% per day. Students who wish to appeal a grade given for term work must do so within 10 working days after the grade for the term work has been made available to them.

The common penalty in Arts for plagiarism on a written assignment is a grade of F on the paper and a final grade of F (DISC) (for Disciplinary Action) for the course. For the most serious acts of plagiarism, such as purchase of an essay and repeat violations, this penalty can also include suspension for a period of up to five (5) years from registration in courses taught in a particular department/program in Arts or from all courses taught in this Faculty. The Faculty also reserves the right to submit student work that is suspected of being plagiarized to Internet sites designed to detect plagiarism or to other experts for authentication. The common penalty in Arts for academic dishonesty on a test or examination is F for the paper, F (DISC) for the course, and a one-year suspension from courses acceptable for credit in the Faculty. For more serious acts of academic dishonesty on a test or examination, such as repeat violations, this penalty can also include suspension for a period of up to five years from registration in courses taught in a particular department or program in Arts or from all courses taught in or accepted for credit by this Faculty.

No audio or video recording of this material, lectures, or presentations is allowed in any format, openly or surreptitiously, in whole or in part without my permission. Course materials (both paper and digital) are for the participant’s private study and research, and must not be shared. Violation of these and other Academic Integrity principles, will lead to serious disciplinary action.
