PLACE IN SOCIAL INNOVATION

The Role of Place in Social Innovation:

A Study of Places in Housing for the Hard-to-House

SOCIAL INNOVATION – the work of actors to develop novel solutions for social problems – is always rooted in a place or places. Places shape the process of social innovation, its outcomes and its impacts on communities and individuals. But the role of place in social innovation is poorly understood.

To better our understanding of the role of place, I explore how places affect two social innovations in housing for the hard-to-house in Vancouver.
