"TO BE HONEST WITH YOU".

Impression Management and Honesty-Humility in the Workplace

Manipulation and dishonesty are common occurrences in the workplace.

From ingratiating one's boss, to using supplication to get one's coworkers to cover for them, employees use a variety of impression management (IM) tactics to get ahead in the workplace. Research shows that many of these employees are low in a trait called Honesty-Humility. I will be presenting on several studies that examine who engages in IM and dishonest behavior, when they do it, how to detect it and how to deter people from using it.
