University Guiding Statements

1 GUIDING STATEMENTS

1.1 Introduction

Prior to the late 1980's, universities saw no need to articulate missions and visions as the important roles that universities played were taken for granted - in summary the "public good" of universities was unquestioned. Increasingly some began to question the public investment in universities and the lack of accountability. With this change in public attitudes, came the realization on the part of universities that the development of mission, vision and value statements, and the articulation of core principles were important and desirable components of accountability.

1.2 Mission

To create, preserve, communicate and apply knowledge, contributing to the cultural, social and economic well-being of the people of Manitoba, Canada and the world.

The core identity of the University of Manitoba has changed over its 142 years of existence. By affirming the value of the classical curriculum taught in the affiliated Colleges, by appointing instructors in the natural sciences as its first teaching professors, by incorporating professional colleges such as Medicine, Pharmacy, and Agriculture, and by adopting many other changes, both large and small, the University became a North American "multiversity." The multiversities are the research universities of Canada and the United States - pluralistic institutions that draw on philosophic traditions and practices that emphasize undergraduate education in the liberal arts, research and graduate training in all areas but especially in the applied and basic sciences, and serve society by providing the opportunity for higher education to all who are qualified, not just to an elite socioeconomic class as universities did in the past (Kerr, 1995).

Multiple foci of activity and interest in a university are manifestations of internal complexity and differing philosophies about the purpose of the university, and yet this diversity is no obstacle to the formation of university identity. Every Canadian university can identify its purpose and define the principles that guide it in achieving its mission, although latterly it has been desirable to do so explicitly rather than implicitly. The University of Manitoba followed the same trend as its sister universities across the nation in this regard and articulated its purpose formally, a purpose to which it has subscribed throughout its long history. The Board of Governors first approved the University's mission statement in 1993, thereby demonstrating constancy and commitment to the purpose of this institution.

The University of Manitoba was established less than a decade after the province was born and has grown and evolved along with the province. Over 140 years later, we remain "Manitoba's university," with close connects to its people and communities and a strong desire to preserve while at the same time nurture and grow these bonds. Our strong interest in working with and serving Manitoba's Indigenous communities is an important case in point. We believe that education has transformative power for the individual student, their families and communities. There is more that we can contribute to Manitoba's Indigenous people and their communities and we will work with them to determine how we can best contribute to meeting their needs. Similarly, we are committed to being an active contributor to solutions to the challenges faced by our province and its citizens, and in the enduring discourse about how to shape its future. We do not believe we should work in isolation but should explore opportunities for cooperation and collaboration both within the university community and beyond it – with our partners in the community, in government, and in other post-secondary institutions.

We also have become part of the global community, welcoming faculty and students from other countries along with the unique perspectives they offer, and considering how our experiences and viewpoints together can benefit the world. We live in a world of extraordinary potential and countless interconnections that can “contribute to cultural, social and economic well-being.”

1.3 Vision

To take our place among leading universities through a commitment to transformative research and scholarship and innovative teaching and learning, uniquely strengthened by Indigenous knowledge and perspectives.

1.4 Values

The University has identified a common set of ideals that are required to achieve its vision. The University of Manitoba values:

Academic Freedom
Accountability
Collegiality
Equity and Inclusion
Excellence

Innovation
Integrity
Respect
Sustainability

1.5 Strategic Priorities

Taking Our Place: University of Manitoba Strategic Plan 2015 – 2020 was endorsed as a planning document by Senate on November 5, 2014, and by the Board of Governors on November 25, 2014. The five priorities identified in Taking Our Place are:

- i. Inspiring Minds – through innovative and quality teaching
- ii. Driving Discovery – through research excellence
- iii. Opening Pathways - to Indigenous achievement
- iv. Building Community – that creates an outstanding learning and working environment
- v. Forging Connections – to foster high impact community engagement

The Taking Our Place plan concludes in 2020; a final report on the plan was presented to Senate in June, 2020. A new strategic planning process will be forthcoming and will involve broad community engagement and the involvement of Senate.

University Governance

2 GOVERNANCE SYSTEM

2.1 Bicameral Governance System

The University of Manitoba Act is the legislation that defines the governance of the University of Manitoba. Ours is a bicameral system of governance - with the Board of Governors as the governing body and the Senate as the academic body. Almost all Canadian universities are based on a bicameral system which is more comparable to the federal government system than to governance in for profit or not-for-profit corporations.

One of the mechanisms to assure communications between the Board of Governors and the Senate is the cross-appointment of members. The University of Manitoba Act provides that three members of the Board of Governors are elected by Senate and that two members of Senate are elected by the Board of Governors. In addition, the President and the Chancellor are members of both the Senate and the Board. Although not required under The Act, Senate has also specified that one member of the Senate Executive Committee be elected by the Board of Governors.

A detailed chart showing the respective and related jurisdictions of the Board and Senate can be found on the website at <http://www.umanitoba.ca/admin/governance/jurisdiction/index.html> grouped under the following subject headings:

1. Jurisdiction
2. Academic Matters
3. Administrative Matters
4. Organization

The chart also contains references to applicable sections of The Act. It is important to note that, in many cases, the Board and Senate have delegated powers to officers, councils, and committees.

2.2 Powers of Senate

Under The University of Manitoba Act, Senate has general charge of all matters of an academic nature. Senate's powers include the power to:

- establish faculty and school councils (and other bodies within the University), and delegate to them such powers/duties as Senate deems expedient
- hear appeals from decisions of faculty and school councils
- determine courses of study and locations where courses are offered/taught
- determine all matters relating to
 - teaching (including dates of academic terms)
 - examinations
 - degrees (including honorary degrees, diplomas and certificates)
 - conditions of matriculation, entrance and standing for students
 - management and conduct of libraries
- make rules and regulations respecting academic awards

- make recommendations to the Board on
 - building program
 - budget policies
 - procedures for academic staff appointments, promotions, salaries, tenure and dismissals
 - establishment of/abolition of/changes to faculties, schools, institutes, departments, chairs, lectureships, bursaries, fellowships, and prizes
 - establishment of/abolition of colleges (including affiliated colleges)
 - contracts with other organizations respecting joint instruction, or instruction/ examination of the other organizations' students
 - any other matters the Senate considers to be of interest to the University

2.3 Powers of the Board

The Board of Governors is the governing body of the University and may exercise in the name of the University any powers conferred on the University as a body corporate (and which are not reserved to Senate). The Board's powers include the power to:

- establish/maintain/abolish/change colleges (including affiliated/associated colleges), schools, institutes, faculties, departments, chairs and courses of instruction to enable the University to carry on its work*
- establish/abolish/change lectureships, bursaries, fellowships, and prizes*
- buy/receive/sell/mortgage/lease real and personal property
- decide what building construction is necessary for University purposes*
- appoint the president/vice-president/deans/directors/etc. Determine their: salaries; powers/duties; tenure of office/employment; dismissal; and pensions/retiring allowances*
- set all fees and charges to be paid to the University
- ensure investment of University money (based on prudent person principles and taking into account any trust conditions)
- make regulations respecting and prohibiting parking or leaving of vehicles on campus
- permit/deny use by other organizations of: "Manitoba" (in institutions of learning), the university's coat of arms or crest
- establish budget policies* (the Board also approves the final budget)
- exercise disciplinary jurisdiction over students. Decide finally upon all matters of university policy. Settle questions respecting the powers/duties of convocation, senate, chancellor, president or any other officer/servant of the university
- provide for contracts with other organizations respecting joint instruction, or instruction/ examination of the other organizations' students

 The Senate has the express power to make recommendations respecting these matters (and on any other matters which Senate considers to be of interest to the University).*

2.4 The Process of Approval by Senate and the Board

- Matters on which Senate deliberates normally are initiated from recommendations by Faculty Councils and/or Senate committees. Senate may approve outright those matters within its exclusive jurisdiction. Senate may recommend to the Board on those matters which is within Senate's jurisdiction to recommend to the Board of Governors.
- Matters on which the Board deliberates normally are initiated by Board bylaws, University Administration recommendations, or by Senate recommendations.

Although the Board may make decisions on those matters within its power (whether or not Senate makes a recommendation), it would be most unusual for any university board not to hear what the Senate might have to say on an issue that the Senate regards as important. This dialogue between the Board and Senate is fundamental to university bicameral governance. Senate has the academic knowledge and expertise to inform the board about the impact their potential decisions would have on teaching and research. The Board in turn can focus on whether:

- a) the action is consistent with the University's mission, vision, values and core principles statements
- b) the strategic plan supports the recommended action
- c) there are sufficient human and financial resources to support the recommended action
- d) there are contractual or other factors which will affect a Board decision.

- The following flowcharts show the basic approval processes for matters which are submitted to the Senate for consideration:

Two of the more complex approval processes at the University involve the establishment of new programs and the budget approval process. Information on the undergraduate program approval process outlined on the next few pages shows in detail the interdependence of the Board, the Senate, and the University Administration the University's bicameral governance system.

Graduate Programs

The next page outlines the current approval process for new graduate programs. A new program is a program that is newly established and implemented by a Manitoba post-secondary institution, or one that contains significant modifications from a pre-existing program; for example, a program for which a new credential is awarded.

Applications for New Programs of Study Undergraduate

Proposals for new undergraduate degree programs require review by Education and Advanced Learning, Advanced Learning Division \(ALD\) prior to final approval by the Office of the Provost and Vice-President (Academic). The unit proposing the new program should review the below for information on the program approval process as well as for instructions on accessing the documentation required to put forward a program proposal.

Note that all new undergraduate program proposals should initially be discussed with the Deputy Provost (Academic Planning and Programs). Please contact Dr. Todd Mondor, Deputy Provost (Academic Planning and Programs) or Cassandra Davidson, Academic Programs Specialist for more information. Contact details are found at the end of this document.

Stage 1: Preliminary Proposal and Statement of Intent

Stage 1 involves the drafting of a brief (one page) Statement of Intent (SOI) outlining the proposed program as well as gathering preliminary community feedback on the proposed program. It should involve broad consultation with the faculty and interested /affected parties (i.e. professional, business, community and student groups). The academic unit proposing the program should meet informally with the Deputy Provost (Academic Planning and Programs) to discuss the proposal process and timeline. Informal discussions at this stage may involve ALD, as directed through the Provost's Office. The Provost's Office may also circulate the SOI to deans/directors for information and feedback, where applicable.

The SOI should provide a brief description of the program and its purpose as well as outline any consultation completed to date. The SOI must be signed by the relevant budget dean.

Following discussions with the Deputy Provost (Academic Planning and Programs), the unit will be provided with the current application template for a new program of study and all other relevant supporting materials.

Stage 2: Application for New Program of Study

Following preliminary discussions, a formal Application for a New Program of Study (APS) is developed by the proposing academic unit and then considered by the appropriate levels of governance.

- i. University Consultation: discussions with the Office of the University Secretary to clarify the approval process and meeting schedules for the SCCCC, SPPC and other Senate Committees (as appropriate) would be advisable at this stage, as well as continued consultation with all interested /affected parties internal and external to the University. Where the proposal impacts on other academic units, full consultation with the affected faculty/college/school/department is required, and a letter of support must be provided from the respective heads(s) of department(s)/program(s) and dean(s).
- ii. Completion of an Application for New Program of Study (APS): the APS template should be completed by the proposing academic unit. Once complete, the APS must be approved by the relevant Faculty/College/School Council(s) and signed by the respective budget dean(s), then submitted to the Deputy Provost (Academic Planning and Programs) and the University Secretary, in both hardcopy and electronic (MS Word) forms. The APS must include a completed ALD Program Proposal Financial Form (provided to the unit from the Provost's Office with the APS template) and a statement from the unit as to how the proposed program addresses one or more of the SPPC's criteria for assigning priority to new programs/initiatives (Senate Planning and Priorities Committee Assigning Priority to New Programs/Initiatives).
- iii. Senate Approval: the University Secretary will forward the APS to SCCCC, SPPC and other Senate Committees, as appropriate, for review. Once these reviews are successfully completed, the recommendations from these committees will be forwarded to the Senate Executive Committee who will make a recommendation to Senate. Assuming the APS passes through the review process without major revision, the Senate approval process will take a minimum of 3 to 4 months. Please refer to the Meeting Schedules on the University Governance website for access to meeting schedules to facilitate planning.
- iv. Board of Governors Approval: subject to Senate recommendation to approve, the proposal will be forwarded to the Board of Governors for consideration.
- v. ALD Submission Process: if approved by the Board of Governors, the APS will be submitted to ALD by the Deputy Provost (Academic Planning and Programs).¹ At this stage, ALD may withhold approval, or provide approval to proceed with, or without the allocation of additional funding. If approved by ALD, the APS will return to the Office of the Provost and Vice-President (Academic) for final consideration and approval to implement by the Provost. ALD approval for a proposal is valid for three years from the effective date of the approval. Note: for programs requesting additional provincial funding, final proposals must be submitted to ALD no later than May 31 of the fiscal year to be considered under the provincial estimates and budget approval process. Consideration under this process may impact a proposed program's start date by one academic year. Proposals not requesting funding must be submitted to ALD at least 120 days prior to internal admission and calendar deadlines, as appropriate.

¹ The letter of submission from the Deputy Provost (Academic Planning and Programs) will be carbon copied to the President, the University Secretary, the Registrar's Office, the dean/director of the submitting faculty/college/school and the Executive Director of the Office of Institutional Analysis.

Stage 3: Final Approval and Program Implementation

Final approval to proceed with the implementation of a new program rests with the Provost. Subject to approval, the relevant dean(s)/director(s) will receive a formal notification addressing implementation, subsequent review/reporting requirements, and budgetary information. In the event that approval to proceed has been provided without a funding allocation, the Provost will meet with the relevant budget Dean(s) to review the viability of program implementation. Note that ALD will require progress reports on program implementation as part of their annual estimates process for two (2) years post-approval; these reports will be requested annually by the Vice-Provost (Integrated Planning and Academic Programs).
