(To Be Included on Student's Transcript)

Please attach a course syllabus along with this form and submit in person or by email to the graduate program for approval (jody.bohonos@umanitoba.ca).

The course description must include:

1) a course syllabus, based on the standard university format, describing the topic to be covered, planned assignments, grading scheme and due dates. Graduate courses are subject to the same rules and regulations as the undergraduate courses;

ROASS provides specific direction to academic staff with regard to their responsibilities to students, including information about what to include in syllabi.

The examples below may be used by academic staff as models in the design of their syllabus. The examples are intended to provide faculty with ideas of how a syllabus can be constructed incorporating university ROASS requirements yet still reflecting individual design preferences.
