GRADS

DEAN'S MESSAGE

The Class of '82 will have much to remember on those nostalgic occasions when it gathers to celebrate its major anniversaries of graduation. Indeed, it might be rewarding for each of us to jot down one or two thoughts, simply to aid what later may be a failing recollection. Let me do that now.

This year I feel more than just the normal affinity of a teacher for his students. Your entry into First Year coincided with my appointment as Dean of the Faculty. Thereafter, though we have not always seen eye to eye on matters of policy, an inevitable result in a period of transition, your three years here have marked the beginnings of a new era of progressive education, highlighted by improved grading systems; more intimate student - teacher ratios; and, above all, a new dedication to excellence in learning, teaching and professionalism. Your training, in the result, has been of a very high order and it will serve you well as our future leaders. We are proud of you as you should be of yourselves.

But now comes the real challenge, to deliver to your clients the best of legal services notwithstanding the complexity of the system and the volume and rapidity of change within. You may recall that on the first day of Law School three years ago, in my opening address, I urged you to pursue excellence in your studies; to apply yourselves at Law School in the way in which you would expect one of your own professional advisors to have studied and learned. I now repeat that challenge to you as neophyte lawyers. What more can be expected of you than that you set as your goal to provide to each and every one of your clients the kind and quality of service which you yourself would expect if the tables were turned. How much less can you expect of yourself than that you do your utmost as a helper, counsellor and guide.

It will not always be easy. It is difficult to be a lawyer, more difficult than the lay public can possibly know. Extraordinary demands will be made on your time, energy, ingenuity and intellect. You will be faced with moral and ethical dilemmas which, like the legal pathologies, often will not have clear cut answers. You will have to learn to accept ambiguity and uncertainty as an inherent part of your daily work life. With experience, some clouds will pass, but many will remain. Nonetheless, you will be required to give to your clients a sense of confidence in your skill and in your ability to reason. You will learn to predict in a most unpredictable world.

On the other hand, most of you will know great joy and satisfaction from your professional lives. It is truly wonderful when one stands in a court of law and the words and questions roll off one's tongue easily and accurately, or when a convincing argument finally takes shape. To solve a complex puzzle, whether it be litigious or commercial, whether it be in the public or private sector, is to have the feeling of artistry and creativity which normally one associates with the written, performing and visual arts. However, I assure you, in your own way, you too will be artists. To have completed satisfactorily a task from which others have benefited can be a source of tremendous inspiration. I envy you your earliest such experiences, but would remind you that there is even better yet to come.

Moreover, I trust you will reflect fully on the fact that you are graduating at a most historic point; at a time when the Canadian legal system is ripe for evolution and you are poised as the catalysts of change. The Charter of Rights, proclaimed in your graduating year, should be seen as both a symbol and a tool. Hold it up as your ideal of fairness and justice. Use it as the cutting edge of your dedication to effect a more compassionate and tolerant social and legal order. Honour it by demanding of yourself and your colleagues only the highest sense of professional responsibility.

Good luck to you all. Come back and visit often.

ADLARD, DOUG

Doug has come a long way from Assistant Manager of the U. of W. Bookstore. Managed to curl as often as the regular members of the Dow rink without paying a cent. An avid Jets fan, law school is Doug's route to Alan Eagleson's job.

AQUILA, FRANK

With his experience as a probation officer, Frank was picked early in the articling draft by Gindin, Soronow. He will be honing his Greenberg litigation skills in Juvenile Court. Guaranteed to be taller than most of his clients. No truth to the rumour that he will be getting his "mouse ears" at convocation.

BATES, GORDON

This avid tennis player, skier and beer drinker has brought much needed humour to many a law school class. A recipient of the "I lived with Christian, honest!" award for the last 2 years, Gord's approach to law school is best reflected by his often heard "Hey, ... take a valium." Articles with Masciuch, Moss, Bortoluzzi.

BERGH, NANCY

At the beginning of first year everybody was wondering who Nancy was. Now at the end, they are still wondering. Nancy occasionally shocked everyone by coming to class. This "outrageous" legal beagle was the fashion trendsetter at Robson Hall. Professors enjoyed Nancy's raucous laughter in class - made law school look like fun. (Agent - D.C.C.)

BEWZA, MIKE

Would someone please show Mike where the library is? With a reserved table in the common room and a reserved seat in the front row of every class, he obviously has some connections. The first thing he plans to do when articling at Windsor, Berman is a debenture issue to the Village Inn.

BIANCHINI-RICCARDI, VIRGINIA

Virginia is a member of the Robson Hall Marriage Mafia (i.e. getting married this summer). Her husband-to-be is a member of the Air Force Reserve and so is she. Our only question is: With two officers in the family who salutes whom?

BRECKMAN, DOUG

Doug did not let law school interfere with his social life, actively pursuing the study of photography and the vocation of seamanship. A convincing portrayal of a sleazy prosecution witness in the Greenbergs. Doug is on his way to article in Swan River where he and the boys will get together over a few beers to do some plea bargaining.

BUETI, FRANK

A.K.A. Junior, Frank's outstanding abilities were illustrated not only in the classroom but in the moot courtroom and athletic field as well. His achievements are even more impressive when you realize he still thinks in Italian. Has the dubious distinction of being the youngest person in our class. Articles at Wolch, Pinx.

BURKA, MARIANN

A veteran of Manitoba Association of Women and the Law. A back row regular, Mariann has kept a low profile at law school after a stint at the Federal Human Rights Commission. Next year her profile will be seen at Legal Aid.

CALLAN, RANDY

With his size 27 shoes and size 84 jacket Randy will not go unnoticed in B.C. Sits at the front doing John Wayne imitations and blocks the view of those behind him. Girls are "dames", he eats in the "mess hall" and hates "Commies."

CHIPMAN STEVE

Manages to play tennis outdoors year round with a condominium in Florida and a flight attendant for his wife. Famous for his annual bar-b-ques - intimate gatherings of one hundred plus! Would have won the Manitoba Marathon but tripped over his nose. Articles at Thompson, Dorfman.

CHRISTIANSON, MEL VIN

Role reversal began in 1979 when he went from teacher to student. Respected for his cool handling of Sid Schwartz in Land Titles. The corner of the library is his private domain, and he has a reserved seat in the back row of every class.

CLEGHORN, KEVIN

Kevin shaved off his beard in 3rd year and no one recognized him. His janitor imitation while announcing for the 3rd Years at Beer and Skits was so convincing Prosvita Hall had him clean up after the evening. Not a prime contender for the perfect attendance award, Kevin turns into a night owl around exam time. Articling in Ottawa.

COHN, LORNE

Takes time off from travelling to occasionally stop in at Law School. Can be seen in U.C. drinking coffee and xeroxing notes. One of the youngest people in class, but has the most expensive car in L-lot. Also "Mr. Enthusiasm" in Estate Planning. Articling at Regier-Stewart. No, wait, at Simkin, Gallagher. Or was it the other way around?

DICTA

COLLINS, LISA

An avid participant in all law sporting activities, Lisa is noted for taking the games in a light and jovial manner. The Heartbreak Kid escapes from Winnipeg every summer to explore Canada. A new look for '82 with hairstyle and glasses. Articling with Aikens, MacAuley.

DANGERFIELD, KRIS

This Brandon import can often be heard singing, "Me and My Shadow" in Portuguese. Decided to break the tension in the Greenbergs with some uncharacteristic foul language. Completed her PLEA Project by correspondence in Summer '81. Articling at Pitblado and Hoskin.

DAVIES, NORM

Another member of the Curl for Free League, Norm is a faithful spare. Always humming "Everything you want from a store, and a little bit more." Known for his computerized law notes.

DECTER, MARCIA

Where would the women's hockey team have been without Marcia for the last three years? Most Valuable Player this year. Hailing from Weyburn, Sask., she is off to Europe next year instead of articling. Favourite movie "Rocky".

DENNIS, LINDA

You may not recognize Linda in her grad picture as she changes her hairstyle daily. A hockey star, particularly known for her Neepawa stick handling technique. Having found the males in Manitoba wanting, Linda is off to B.C. next year to check out those lumberjack stories.

DEWART, TIM

Also known as Mr. Dewalt. Grand aggregate curling champion. Coached Women's hockey team - tested his slapshot on Judy Jewers' forehead! Can usually be seen cruising for girls in his white 'Vette; passenger seat still looks like new. Next year Tim will be holding the broom for D'Arcy and Deacon (to clean out the office).

DOUGLAS, LORI

To get to school, Lori has to make the long haul from Oak Bank. Had the edge on the rest of the 3rd year class in Municipal Law after winning her first subdivision case in 2nd year. An avid equestrian. Articling in Newman Maclean's litigation department next year.

DOW, MIKE

"Big Cat" took law by correspondence at Niakwa Golf Course. After demonstrating his prowess on the men's hockey team in 2nd year, he was promoted to coach of the women's team in 3rd year. Mike's popularity with the women increased tremendously after flashing at 2nd year Beer and Skits. This Greenberger is headed off to Simkin Gallagher, altho we're not sure how he'll manage without Tim and Brian.

DZYDZ, DIANE

Likes to keep the professors on their toes by asking penetrating questions in class. Is distinguished by her name which, once learned is never forgotten. Her reply to Art Braid's editorials: "Is that what the case said?" Plans to article with Legal Aid.

EDMOND, JUDY

Judy came back after doing 2nd year at the University of Alberta just to graduate with us. Rumour has it that she has a standing reservation with the airline for weekend trips to Regina where she plans to article next year.

EFFLER, BARRY

Barry went into mourning after the death of Bertha Rand. Distinguished himself in soccer and football with his unique choice of shoes. Although a member of the Yearbook Committee, Barry disclaims any responsibility for these write-ups. This Saskatchewan import is off to article with the Department of Justice.

FERGUSON, LORI

Lori has done her best to make sure no one else got any awards in law school. Managed to lead the class grade point in both first and second year. Also walked away with a pair of headphones at the Lawyer-Student Bonspiel. Lori recently set a new record by burning out 5 pens in 20 pages of notes in Business Planning.

FERGUSON, TRISH

A member of the exclusive MAWL organization, chaired the Speaker's Committee in 3rd year. Joined the last row regulars after getting engaged. Trish will be moving to the metropolis of Regina next year to article. Isn't that odd? So is that person she joined in the back row!

FINNBOGASON, EVE

Eve proved that it was possible to go to law school for three years and never wear the same outfit twice! One of our more intellectual colleagues with her Master's Degree in Sociology. Eve is looking forward to articling at Taylor, Brazzell next year - after all, Eaton's is just down the street!

FISHER, BOB

Bob keeps a low profile around the law school. That's because his nose is always buried in the books. Could it be because his mother-in-law sits just down the row from him in class? An avid runner, Bob is getting in shape for all the running around he'll have to do next year at Tupper, Adams.

GAGNON, DIANE

After raising three kids, Diane had an edge over the rest of us in Crim. Pro. She easily picked up the award and as a result is headed for Walsh, Micay's Criminal Dept. As an incentive to get involved in Beer and Skits she provides an open house and Rice Krispie treats for the kiddies. Is campaigning to get Walsh, Micay to pay her membership at Niakwa golf course.

GETZ, JOHN

With an opinion on every topic, John leans slightly to the right of Atilla the Hun. Moving to Calgary for articles in a more favourable political climate. A Greenberg finalist and Real Property award winner, John was one of the first in the class to land an articling position.

GOODWIN, GARY

Winner of the "Have Dinner with Sid Schwartz" contest in Land Titles, but then he was the only person who entered! Headed for a future on the Late Show on TV with articles at McRoberts, Henderson. Either that, or a used Porsche salesman. Another member of the Get Married in '82 Gang.

GREENBERG, HARLEY

Harley took a job working in the law library. Figured he would learn just by being near the books. Decided to forego a summer job after first year for the chance to get a headstart in Tax I. Articles at Schwartz, McJannet - intends to become a senior partner before he finishes articling.

GROOT-KOERKAMP, IRENE

Irene speaks in her own tongue - Omigosh! Gosheroo! A back row regular with Rick Irish and Nancy Bergh, the trio founded the Marcel Jodoin Lecture Series in Tax. Managed to find a summer job with no work and improve her tan at the same time as a starter at Crescent Park Golf Course. Articling with MTS.

GUTWILIK, FAY-LYNN

Don't believe her when she says law school was just a hobby for her. Considering the amount of work she did, it's really been a full-time job. Fay-Lynn is getting married this summer. Amazing what some people will do to have their teeth cleaned for free!

HARRIS, JEFF

Jeff's primary claim to fame is his brother - this week's Samoan wrestling champ on Channel 13 New Brand Wrestling. Jeff's abilities were put to good use on the Law Journal. It has been noticed lately that Jeff has been whistling while he works. Could this have anything to do with the fact that he will be articling with Harvey Pollock.

HARVEY, GARRY

In 1979 Garry finally decided to get off welfare and come to law school. Actually he worked for the Provincial Welfare Department in his pre-law school days, so he will have an edge on the rest of us after articling! Also known as the man of 1000 sweaters, Garry will be displaying his wardrobe in the offices of Grafton and Co. next year.

HATHAWAY, DEBBIE

Debbie is one of the more illustrious citizens of "The Armpit of the World". Bête noire: Bêtes noires. Her ancestors may have been convicted for feigning bewitchment, but her talents, which go to 'Hot Spit' Savino and Co. next year, are much more interesting and diversified.

HOBBS, BOB

A transplanted Ontarioan and recent Brandonite, Bob is hard-working and active, particularly when it involves women. His nimble fingers made him a top contender for the Crokinole Championship, and as a Friday afternoon curler, his best shot was a Dubonnet on the rocks! Found time to practice Robert's Rules of Order as Chairperson of UMSU Council. Articles in Kamloops, B.C.

HOVMAND, JANE

A woman of refined tastes and academic excellence, Jane was on the Dean's Team in 2nd year. Third year results are uncertain as she has spent the whole year planning her wedding in July. A dove in the classroom but a tiger in the courtroom, Jane plans to do corporate and commercial. Articling with Walsh, Micay.

HUGHES, SHAWN

A top student but still has time to be an avid skier, curler and golfer. Keeps Gregg and Jeff in line as co-chairperson of the Grad Committee. Drove Bruno's 'Vette to school once - but only once! Her smile will brighten the offices at Aikens, MacAuley next year.

IRISH, RICK

This import from the U. of Geneva has maintained his European appearance and tennis technique while working at Dafoe Library in the summer. Nominated Marcel for the Stanton Teaching Award in Tax. Always seen with a blonde on each arm. How will they manage without him when he is articling at Monk Goodwin.

JARDINE, MASON

Mason tries to keep up his image as philosopher of our class by smoking various materials in various pipes. Spent time in France while his wife was teaching English, had a stint as a house husband, and then decided to return to the hallowed halls of learning. Mason will fit right in with the new philosophy at the A.G.'s next year.

JEWERS, JUDY

Judy was involved in everything from curling to MLSA Vice-President to Contracts T.A. to Skwark, Meyers. As hockey goalie, she made the mistake of getting in the path of a Tim Dewart slapshot. Kept the price tags on her skates - is she planning to return them? Responsible for not a few broken bones at her annual after-dark x-country ski party. Articling at Aikens, MacAuley.

JODOIN, MARCEL

Marcel (rhymes with parcel) had his own permanent office for 3 years (SW corner of the library). Famous for his private tutorials in Tax I and II. Promised 2nd year students to straighten Joel out for next year. Can be seen regularly arguing with Mr. Tawkin over points of law, track odds and girls.

JOHNSTONE, BETTY

Betty and Bob have made law school a family affair. After she met the class of '82, she decided she wanted to graduate with them and became a full time student. Always willing to express her opinion, particularly in Torts. After restoring order in the Archives, Betty will be going on to do the same at Aikens, MacAuley.

KING, BRUCE

What can you say about Bruce that he hasn't already said? Bruce is always ready for a good party and a chance to dress up in boots, leather and a whip. Weekend 'knights' find King Bruce reigning at the Round Table. Abdicating for articles with Pitblado and Hoskins.

KNIGHT, PHIL

"Press-Gang" Knight has survived law school with a minimum of exams and a maximum of government assistance. Hopes to become the permanent recipient of a government grant for the support of Law Researchers. In the meantime, he is articling with the judges.

KRAVETSKY, ROCKY

We always know what room the class is in because he's the first one there, claiming his favourite seat in the back corner. Quiet in the classroom, but not in the courtroom as he was a co-winner in the Greenbergs in 2nd year and in the Western Canadian finals. Is he hiding something under that hat?

LAFRENIÈRE, ROGER

"Guy" used to wonder if his accent showed but we didn't notice, even though he's not sure if it's "Timmons" or "Thimmons", Ont. Has become Anglocized to the point where he wishes he didn't understand M.O.'s jokes. Hopes to continue supporting himself by becoming the first orderly to work part time as an articling student, (Does Mr. Simkin know?)

LINCOLN, INGRID

Ingrid has come a long way from being wholesome in Haight-Ashbury to being wholesome at Scarth, Simonsen. This year she and Rocky did not add to their cup collection, but she doesn't care. Like everything else, she says it makes her nervous!

MACEWAN, ELEANOR

Suma says she makes a mean Harvey Wallbanger. Played lead on the McCulloch I rink and was the creative force behind the McCulloch II rink. Favorite 1st year course: "Criminal Law and R v. BEARD." Broke not a few hearts in 3rd year when she got engaged. When she speaks (from behind that red face) in class, the responses which come will impress Fillmore, Riley.

MACPHAIL, JOAN

"Red" surprised (aroused?) everyone with her costume at Hallowe'en this year. The A-G's may not know what they are getting into. Finds some of the most common things "scary". Joan decided she needed a pair of glasses so she ran into a parked car on Waverly this year!

MALBURG, CHRISTIAN

Dream is to douse the Richardson Building in mid-winter and then to scale it. The Happy Wanderer is the only student in the history of the Law School to cause Cam Harvey to demonstrate some emotion. This write-up copyrighted by Malburg Enterprises.

MANSFIELD, BRIAN

"The Lord" alias Tony Marques. When Brian drove up on the first day everyone thought he was someone's Dad bringing his daughter. Well remembered as having the judges' hair and Mickey Mouse watch, Brian gave up a career of white shoes and checked suits for runners and one blue sweater. His parole from Great Waste has ended and he will return there to article next year.

MARQUES, TONY

Our token Portuguese. Gave up his Camaro and mags for the conventional Datsun. Likes to prey on naive women, particularly those rural types. Three-time winner of the pen-flipping contest, and two-time winner of the Brian Mansfield look-alike contest! Next year he will be "cruising" to the PSB for Skwark, Meyers.

MARSHALL, DAVE

"Eagle beak" likes to make major decisions about his life at Law-Med socials. Big, silent member of the 3 stooges; likes to do things in pairs. The lad in the yellow sweater is off to Vancouver hoping to get free meals from the Sedun newlyweds.

MARTIN, CHRIS

Our president's rise to power paralleled that of the hero of his Fatherland "De wer de wah." Surprised Bob Carr by asking a question in class the morning after litigation. The summer cop also surprised a few people by signing with Wolch, Pinx, Scurfield.

MATTHEWS-LEMIEUX, VALERIE

Valerie had the nurses in the class on alert all through exams in 2nd year. Now she's putting two people through law school for the price of one and getting her daughter off to an early start at education at the same time. A graduate of the Class of '82 1/2 Valerie will get another write-up next year!

MAXWELL, ALLISON

A racquetball player of "not professional" standards, but "not a beginner" either! The only person in Law School to calligraphize her notes. Allison will be extending the family legal tradition to Kamloops, B.C.

McCULLOCH, BOB

Manitou's native son. When Kaye went to Halifax in second year it is rumoured Bob tried to get himself thrown in jail by committing traffic violations. A star quarterback, but not a member of the McCulloch II curling rink. Dream is to star in the remake of "Leave it to Beaver." Sports rep., coach of women's football, model for Spiegel catalog. Articling with City as a result of summer connections.

MCDONALD, MALCOLM

Another back row regular; but this wasn't enough to hide him from the roving eye of Phil Osborne in Torts. Malcolm's talent for anonymity makes him a prime candidate for the CIA. Prefers to express his comments to Irv in the back row rather than to the rest of the class.

MORRELL, FIONA

The lady with the beautiful blouses and fingernails, Fiona is known for her love of purple clothes (1/2 her wardrobe!). As co-chairman of the social committee, she worked tirelessly to put on some of our best social events. Fiona was another of the class bitten by the engagement "bug". She is marrying a geologist and moving to Edmonton.

O'NEILL, MARK

Where to start!? Leading contender for the Tax I award; afternoon "cat" naps; always on his feet in curling; definitely one of our quieter, more serious students! Spent more time on Beer and Skits than all combined study time in Law School. Isn't a mechanic a town that hasn't touched the '69 sports coupé. Famous quotes: "Such a darn nice couple" and "We will sell no wine before its time."

PANCHUK, RON

Was often seen testing the resiliency of walls with his head. Also had an affinity for dancing in his underwear with pregnant women, qua ass! Ron completed his law school career at the U. of Sask. due to his conspiracy in the dean pie-throwing incident.

PASKEWITZ, DIANNE

Despite spending the majority of her time commuting to and from law school, Dianne managed to make the Dean's Team and the Solomon Greenberg finals. As well, she found time for extensive Law Journal and MAWL activities. Hosted the final 3rd year "bonfire and nostalgia" party on the acreage! Articling with Thompson, Dorfman, Sweatman.

PAUL, CARLA

Carla is spending less and less time in the law school (is it possible?) and more time sitting on the rads in U.C. Major concern is that as a Crown Prosecutor she may have to go up against her defense lawyer fiancé. Another reason we see so little of her is that she is rumoured to be pumping iron at a local gym.

PEARLMAN, KERRY

Alias Ernie of "My Three Sons". Law School's answer to Perry Mason. Worked part time for Walsh, Micay over the last three years and has now mastered shining shoes, picking up sandwiches and the routes to all the senior partners' houses. Kerry enjoyed Jack's tax class so much that he asked for a transfer to Walsh, Micay's corporate division. Our sympathies to his fiancée.

PELLETTIERI, MARIETTA

Thanks are in order for Marietta's wheeling, dealing and scheming activities as co-chairman of MLSA's Social Committee. Also known for her collection of unusual sunglasses, and great dance routine for our 2nd Year Beer and Skits. Marietta will be joining the ranks of Legal Aid.

PELTZ, CLAIRE

Legal Aider extraordinaire! Appears to be following in big brother's footsteps in this regard. Worked in the Legal Aid Clinic during the summer, and will be articling with Legal Aid next year. How does Claire find time for all this and her 3 housemates of the male persuasion?!

PERRY, GAIL

Gail came to law school from the University of Winnipeg where she finished her B.A. with two gold medals. While here, she continued to achieve and as a competitor in the Solomon-Greenbergs. Gail will be articling with the s.96 judges who had better watch their step as she is quite a karate expert.

PETERS, BOB

Outside of University can be generally seen in the company of attractive young woman. Bob may be waiting for Tom Watt to leave the Jets and then again he may be waiting for Keith Turner to leave Pitblado Hoskins as he's qualified for either position. Bob was greatly sought after during articling interviews both here and in Alberta; Pitblado should realize how lucky it is! Bob is also the only person who wrote his own write-up for the yearbook.

PHILLIPS, ALEX

Alex set a new fashion trend at Robson Hally by wearing golf attire in all seasons. This "paper king" beat out Phil Knight for the "No Final Exams in Third Year" Award! After having tested out CP's offices in Montreal during the summers, Alex has decided to head off in the opposite direction to article in their Vancouver office.

PRATT, FRED

Fred will be one of the first to graduate from the five-year Law School plan. You could probably say that Fred was a pilot in Law School as well as in the Air Force! Articles with Nemy, Brown and Roy in the Courts of St. James.

PRUDEN, GLENN

Along with brother Hal, Glenn was a prime mover for the Men's Soccer Team. This Phil Osborne look-alike makes up for some of his more vocal colleagues by keeping his opinions to himself in class. With his bilingual qualifications, Glenn will be a big asset to the A-G's Dept.

RABB, JEFF

"Fozzie" keeps the class in stitches with his rapier wit and "Roadshow Sound" jacket. In keeping with his tradition of defending the rights of the "Little Guy", Jeff will be articling with Buchwald, Asper after being unable to persuade Legal Aid to develop a corporate department. If he refrains from phoning judges to explain what he really meant in legal argument, he'll have a moderately successful career.

RAINNIE, GARRY

Alias "Miracle Shot." Whether it be Croke or Curling, Garry is well known for his daysaving shots. As a founding member of law by correspondence, he is actively recruiting next year's president. A first round draft choice at the A-G in Brandon.

RESTALL, SID

Holder of the coveted "Norm Larsen Award" for Landlord and Tenant, Sid has never taken a course in substantive law in his life. A conscientious objector to examinations, Sid started Christmas holidays on December 4th this year. Phil Osborne's car salesman. Ambition: A Ph.D. in Doublespeak. As Mr. Hydro's friend, Sid will be the highest paid articling student in the province!

RUSSELL, CRAIG

Craig, "Well, I think this case stinks!" Winner of the Wizard Owl award in Evidence. "Let's deal with the public policy here." A K.A.O.S. killer - makes you wonder what he'll do during foreclosures on widows and orphans. Has a propensity for the ludicrous and a nervous cough.

SAUNDERS, TOM

Coming to us from Queen's, Tom is our representative of the Eastern Business Establishment. Presently owns two E-type Jaguars and hopes to end up with one in working condition! Tom has the dubious distinction of being the author of the only Beer and Skits lyrics ever to be censored. Plans to teach sailing at Tallin and Kristjansson next year.

SCHMIDT, EDGAR

In Edgar's quest for legal knowledge, he picked up many details the rest of us glossed over as unimportant. We appreciate his taking the time out in class to point them out. That impish grin on his face means it's only a matter of time before he has politely destroyed his opponent's legal argument. Arpin and Co. will be glad to have him on their side.

SCHULZ, SANDRA

Sandra is our Legal Research and Writing expert - she wrote the book! Plans to sell the latest edition in Alberta next year. President of MAWL. Look Sandra up at Schtabsky and Co. or something like that in Edmonton.

SCHWARTZ, RICK

Alias "The Leach" keeps the photocopy machine companies in business during exams by photocopying borrowed study notes. Seems to have an uncanny ability to discuss problems in class despite having not read the material. Rick will be putting his talents that qualified him as a Solomon-Greenberg finalist to good use while articling with Tupper, Adams.

SEDUN, GREGG

"TINY" has been class rep through three years and liked to re-schedule classes so he could get to the weight room before it closed. Played flag football, but felt the flags were useless because it's much easier to stop someone by tackling them! Displayed his unknown (and still unknown) musical talents and taste in clothing the past two years at Beer and Skits. Gregg is going to Vancouver a newlywed to find fame, justice and an apartment under $750/month.

SHANNON, ROD

After coming to Law on the Rod Laver Scholarship, Rod has spent more time playing squash at the Canoe Club than reading in the library. Will put his talents to good use next year when he helps Mr. Justice Matas with his backhand.

SIM, PETER

Peter, son of a long line of distinguished morticians, broke with family tradition to become a very distinguished law student and editor of the Manitoba Law Journal. Peter's quick tongue makes him an excellent candidate for an auctioneer! Will article at Schwartz, McJannet or alternatively at Leatherdale Gardiner.

SIMMONDS, IRV

Irv brought the much needed North-end perspective to Robson Hall. A respected member of the back-row group, Irv could take notes as fast as any prof could speak. The man who kept Transit Tom in business and who "rarely" took off his plaid scarf (his trademark) will be remembered for his fellowship and outlook by all who knew him well.

SINKWICH, JILL

Jill is shy, withdrawn, traditional, unadventurous and never contentious. Also the Pope is Chinese! After building up a five page transcript over nine years, Jill is finally packing it in and going to Vancouver to article.

SKWARK, DAVE

Dave is known for his good taste in cars, clothes and women (not necessarily in that order). Since they all cost money, Dave became a part-time lawyer while enrolled as a full-time student. His vast experience in criminal law matters will no doubt be invaluable to Fillmore and Riley where he will be articling.

SMORANG, GARTH

President of First Year Smutty Lunch Club, now functus. Instead Garth has turned to scuba, curling and croke, (S.C.C.!). Has been known to lose substantial sums at poker, but now uses excuses like, "Come on, Moshe, it's midnight!" Will be playing trombone in the Dept. of Justice band next year.

STACEY, ART

Affectionately known as "Suma." Art started early in his search for clients by coaching minor hockey. Dropped out of the National Drive Safely contest, but hopes to get a fresh start in Calgary where he will be articling with the largest firm on the prairies. Voted Best Male Stripper by the Granite Business Women's League!

STEPHAN, KARL

Karl is something of a loner, but he sure could talk up a storm all through class! He is completing a stock brokerage course and thinks he'd like to article in Australia. Next year he plans to travel throughout Europe and the Middle East.

STEWART, DALE

The King of Tax I who always manages to keep his cool - particularly at the Croke board and the exercise room at the Granite. Can be found pushing his car almost everywhere. Hopefully "Mr. Legal Aid" will save enough money through tax evasion while at "Aik-Mac" to afford a bus pass. Favorite saying: "Sorry, Tim."

SWIDERSKI, KAREN

The girl from Winnipegosis is unlikely to return there now that the hotel's burnt down! Karen is known for disrupting people in the library with her infectious giggle. A member of Law's football, hockey and curling teams, she will be articling with the A-G next year.

SWITEK, MARY

Three years ago, Mary left her job as legal secretary in search of power, excitement and money. But flamenco dancing proved too strenuous! Seriously, next year "Carmelita" will be relaxing with the Public Trustee.

TAWKIN, ED

Robson Hall's basketball star, Ed can be found in the library when not on the court. Despite averaging speeds of 90 km/hour he never managed to make it to class on time. Although Ed has resigned as President of the 'Keeners Club' he continues to be an active member.

TELFORD, FRAN

Our import from Shoal Lake has been active in MAWL since 1st year and at Legal Aid. What she lacks in height she makes up for in friendliness and ability. Will be transferring her case load to Legal Aid downtown next year.

TELLER, MOSHE

Robson Hall's answer to "Jimmy the Greek". If Moshe isn't in class you can bet there's a casino in town. This champion armchair quarterback is preparing for a year of frustrations: articling in Toronto, home of the mighty Argos and Leafs. Moshe predicts he can turn things around in "Loserville" and we wish him luck.

TENNENHOUSE, KEN

Ken and Sid left their mark in replying to Dale Gibson's poetic tirade on the lack of student interest in Constitutional Law. Their "Aroused Response" left Prof. Gibson, in his own words, functus. Spent a summer in Greece. Articling with Legal Aid.

TOMS, LOIS

Lois is our Bencher and bearer of bad tidings regarding bar ad costs. Another member of the Former Nurses' Club who was on standby during exams. Lois refused to accept an articling position unless she would be allowed to redecorate and settled for Deeley, Fabbri.

TONI, GINNY

Ginny has no equal in rendering the verbal "knockout punch" and this talent has earned her the nickname "Silvertongue" from respectful classmates. Altona's pride and joy was a tireless worker for the archives and the yearbook. An avid curler, she still found time to study the day before each exam and make the Dean's Team. Hopes to article on the afternoon shift at Falk, Warkentin and VanDenBosch.

WARSABA, RON

After 2nd year, Ron decided to make some changes and started reserving an extra seat in the back row and revised his curling team. The Warsaba/Watchman duo was a favourite target in Tax I as a result of their constant presence in the back row. This Brandon import is headed back west to Regina to article.

WATCHMAN, ROB

See also Ron Warsaba. The member of the back-row threesome with the least hair, Rob is the one who is not marrying Trish! But rumour has it he is getting married too so that he won't be alone in Ottawa where he will be articling with a firm specializing in patent and trademark law.

WATSON, BOB

Although "Red Old Man" has tamed down somewhat since the departure of partner in crime, Ron Panchuk, he still has the potential to be the "Grossest Man in Law School," a title he relishes! An expert in labour law and missing classes, Bob will be articling with Taylor, Brazzell, McCaffrey next year.

ZAPARNIUK, ROB

An avid academic, Rob has spent the last few summers furthering his legal career by cutting grass for the City. He was forced to give up a brilliant Friday afternoon curling career to spend time at the offices of Campbell, Maxwell and Co. where he will also be articling. Rob makes extra cash giving guided tours of the Land Titles Office: No appointment necessary, come down at any time!
