Important Notice

Important Notice,

The University of Manitoba reserves the right to make changes in the information contained in the Undergraduate Calendar and the Graduate Calendar without prior notice. The University of Manitoba web site, umanitoba.ca is a source for updated information.

Not every course listed in the Undergraduate Calendar or the Graduate Calendar will be offered in this academic year.

It is the responsibility of all students:

- To familiarize themselves each year with the university's academic regulations and policy in general;
- To familiarize themselves with the regulations and policies applying specifically to their faculty, school, or program;
- To familiarize themselves with the specific graduation requirements of the degree, diploma, or certificate they are seeking; and
- To ensure that the courses they have selected are appropriate to their programs.

In the event of an inconsistency between the general academic regulations and policies published in the Undergraduate Calendar and the Graduate Calendar, and such regulations and policies established by Senate and the councils of the faculties and schools, the version established by Senate and the councils of the faculties and schools shall prevail.

The regulations and policies contained in this year's editions of the Undergraduate Calendar and the Graduate Calendar apply, subject to change, only for the academic year indicated on the cover page of each publication.

The material in the current editions of the Undergraduate Calendar and the Graduate Calendar was submitted by the academic and administrative units concerned. The university neither represents nor warrants that all general information and course references used in these publications is accurate although reasonable efforts have been used to check the accuracy of the information.

Students also agree by the act of registration to be bound by the regulations, policies, and bylaws of the University of Manitoba that are in effect at the time of registration, including any amendments which may be enacted during the period of their registration. Students agree by the act of registration to be bound by the regulations, policies, and bylaws of the faculty or program in which they have registered, including any amendments which may be made during the period of their registration. Students also acknowledge that such amendments may have retroactive application.

No liability shall be incurred by the University of Manitoba for any loss or damage suffered or incurred by any student, or any party claiming through or under any student, as a result of delays in, or termination of, services, courses or classes by acts of God, fires, floods, riots, wars, strikes or lockouts, damage to university property, financial exigency, or any occurrence beyond the reasonable control of the university. Further, the University of Manitoba shall not be liable for any losses or damage suffered by a student who discloses his/her personal identification number (PIN) to anyone other than a university employee in the course of registration.

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA)

Personal information is collected under the authority of The University of Manitoba Act. It is used for the purposes of admission, registration, provision of education to the student including assessment of academic status, and communication with the student. It may be used for administrative research in support of provision of education and general administration of the University. It may be disclosed to other educational institutions, government departments, and co-sponsoring organizations, and, for those students who are members of UMSU, it will be disclosed to the University of Manitoba Students' Union. Upon graduation, the student's name and address, together with information on degrees, diplomas, and certificates earned, will be given to and maintained by the alumni records department in order to assist the University's advancement and development efforts. Information on graduation and awards may be made public. Personal information will not be used or disclosed for other purposes, unless permitted by The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act. Personal information is protected under the Protection of Privacy provisions of The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act. If you have any questions about the collection of your personal information, contact the Access & Privacy Office (204-474-9462 or 204-474-8339), 230 Elizabeth Dafoe Library, University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, R3T 2N2.

Disclosure of Personal Information to Statistics Canada

Statistics Canada is the national statistical agency. As such, Statistics Canada carries out hundreds of surveys each year on a wide range of matters, including education.

It is essential to follow students across time and institutions to understand, for example, the factors affecting enrolment demand at post-secondary institutions. The increased emphasis on accountability for public investment means that it is also important to understand 'outcomes'. In order to carry out such studies, Statistics Canada asks all colleges and universities to provide data on students and graduates. Institutions collect and provide to Statistics Canada student identification information (student's name, student ID number, Social Insurance Number), student contact information (address and telephone number), student demographic characteristics, enrolment information, previous education, and labour force activity.

Under the Federal Privacy Act, individuals can request access to their own, individual information held in federal information banks, including those held by Statistics Canada.

The Federal Statistics Act provides the legal authority for Statistics Canada to obtain access to personal information held by educational institutions. The information may be used only for statistical purposes, and the confidentiality provisions of the Statistics Act prevent the information from being released in any way that would identify the student.

Students who do not wish to have their information used are able to ask Statistics Canada to remove their identifying information from the national database.

Further information on the use of this information can be obtained from Statistics Canada's web site: <http://www.statcan.ca> or by writing to the Post-Secondary Section, Centre for Education Statistics, 17th Floor, R.H. Coats Building, Tunney's Pasture, Ottawa, Canada, K1A 0T6.

Postgraduate Medical Education

Postgraduate Medical Education General Office,
Postgraduate Medical Education,
(Postgraduate Medical Education (PGME) is not an undergraduate program)

Postgraduate medical education (PGME) at the University of Manitoba is comprised of a variety of training programs. Programs are usually organized to be in one of three categories:

- Programs accredited by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada (RCPSC).
- Programs accredited by the College of Family Physicians of Canada (CFPC).
- Other training and fellowship programs approved by the Faculty of Medicine.

Programs in the first two categories are most likely to be recognized towards obtaining a license to practice medicine. The RCPSC and CFPC provide accreditation for the training program content and evaluative processes. After the successful completion of their training, candidates are eligible to challenge the appropriate national specialty exams for their particular programs. The complete listing of these programs follows in this section under the heading Description of Programs. The specific and detailed national requirements for individual programs may be obtained from the Postgraduate Medical Education Office.

The University of Manitoba is accredited every six years by the RCPSC and the CFPC to administer the training programs, and supports all training programs in a variety of ways.

Several hospitals and healthcare facilities in Winnipeg and rural areas outside of Winnipeg are used as training sites. The main teaching sites include: Health Sciences Centre, St. Boniface General Hospital, Seven Oaks General Hospital, Dauphin General Hospital, and Brandon General Hospital.

General Regulations

Once accepted into a training program the student (now usually referred to as a "resident") must pay a registration fee to the University of Manitoba. Each resident must register every subsequent year of his or her training program in person at the PGME office.

The resident must also register with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Manitoba so that his or her name is entered onto the Clinical Assistant Register Part 1.

The resident must obtain malpractice insurance, usually from the Canadian Medical Protective Association or its equivalent.

Residents enrolled in postgraduate residency programs are expected to conform to such new requirements as may be adopted from year to year.

Residents must apply directly to either the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons or the College of Family Physicians of Canada for evaluation of training and for permission to sit the college examinations. Being a resident in a program does not automatically enrol the resident for such examination or certification.

Eligibility

Graduates of Canadian medical schools are eligible for consideration of PGME training, and are required to challenge the Medical Council of Canada Qualifying Examination, Part I prior to commencing their residencies.

Generally, Canadian citizens or landed immigrants are eligible for provincial funding for residency training under the contract established with the Professional Association of Residents and Interns of Manitoba (PARIM).

International medical graduates (IMGs) are eligible to apply for admission after they have challenged the Medical Council of Canada Evaluating Examination. IMGs must be Canadian or permanent residents to be eligible to apply for postgraduate medical training. IMGs may apply for possible residency positions through the CaRMS match (see below).

Visa-trainees represent a special training category for entrance to postgraduate medical training. The visa-trainee applicant must pass the Medical Council of Canada Evaluating Examination and be sponsored by an agency which has entered into a contract with the University of Manitoba for such training.

All residents must receive remuneration from an institution recognized by the Government of Manitoba while registered in a training program in PGME.

Criteria for Selection

Agribusiness and Agricultural Economics

Selection for admission to the various training programs will be made primarily on the basis of scholastic, personal and professional attributes as determined by academic records, personal interviews, letters of reference and in-training evaluation reports. The selection process is determined by each particular training program through a set selection process. Admission to the postgraduate training year one (PGY1) for most programs is conducted through the CaRMS PGY1 match outlined below.

University Registration

All postgraduate trainees and fellows (not registered with the Faculty of Graduate Studies for M.Sc. or Ph.D. degrees) must be registered as postgraduate trainees in the Faculty of Medicine. The normal registration period is June 15 to July 1 each year, and is done by the Faculty PGME Office.

Program Administration

The departments which provide PGME training programs in the Faculty of Medicine are: Anesthesia, Community Health Sciences, Family Medicine, Biochemistry and Human Genetics, Emergency Medicine, Internal Medicine, Medical Microbiology, Obstetrics, Gynecology and Reproductive Sciences, Otolaryngology, Pathology, Pediatrics and Child Health, Psychiatry, Radiology and Surgery. Some departments offer more than one program, and may also offer training in sub-specialty areas.

Each program has a Program Director and a Resident Program Committee to administer the training program. There are also program coordinators at each training site. The Program Director of each program reports both to the Department Head and the Associate Dean of PGME.

Beyond the program level, administrative matters pertaining to postgraduate residency training programs are the responsibility of the Associate Dean for PGME and the Faculty PGME Executive Committee and its subcommittees. These committees are responsible for reviewing programs, allocation of residency positions, hearing resident appeals, and other duties as outlined in the terms of reference for each committee. The committees make recommendations to both the Dean of the faculty and the Faculty Executive Committee.

Description of Programs

Postgraduate medical education will generally follow one of two pathways leading to licensure eligibility as described below.

College of Family Physicians of Canada Accredited Programs

The training program for family physicians offers a two-year basic program in outpatient, in-hospital and community settings. This program is composed of several streams (urban, rural, aboriginal, bilingual and DND) and the program leads to eligibility for certification with the College of Family Physicians of Canada (CFPC).

A small number of positions are also available from time to time for enhanced training within the Family Medicine Training Program for a third year of training in Emergency Medicine, Anesthesia and Palliative Care. Some of these enhanced positions may be associated with a return of service requirement. A six month training program in the Care of the Elderly is also available from time to time.

Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada Accredited Programs

The Faculty of Medicine offers a wide range of specialty and sub-specialty programs leading to eligibility for certification with the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada. Programs vary in length from 2-7 years of medical training.

Primary Specialties:

Anatomical Pathology	Anesthesia
Cardiac Surgery	Community Medicine
Diagnostic Radiology	Emergency Medicine

Internal Medicine	General Surgery
Neurology (Adult)	Medical Genetics
Nuclear Medicine	Neurosurgery
Orthopedic Surgery	Obstetrics and Gynecology
Pediatrics	Otolaryngology
Plastic Surgery	Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation
Radiation Oncology	Psychiatry
Medical Microbiology	Urology

Subspecialty Programs*

(available only with completion in a primary specialty):

Cardiology (Adult)	Clinical Immunology and Allergy (Child & Adult)
Critical Care Medicine	Endocrinology and Metabolism (Adult)
Gastroenterology	Geriatric Medicine
Gynecologic Oncology	Hematology (Child & Adult)
Infectious Diseases (Child & Adult)	Maternal and Fetal Medicine
Medical Oncology	Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine
Nephrology (Child & Adult)	Respiratory Medicine (Child & Adult)
Rheumatology (Adult)	Thoracic Surgery
Vascular Surgery	Emergency Medicine (Child)
Palliative Medicine	Developmental Pediatrics

NOTE: These programs require different primary specialty credits, and may not be offered every year at the University of Manitoba.

Application Procedures:

All applicants for the PGY1 year of programs accredited by the RCPSC and CFPC must apply through the Canadian Residency Matching Service (CaRMS). All graduates of Canadian medical schools and international medical schools who are Canadian citizens or permanent residents and who have had no prior postgraduate medical training in Canada or the United States are eligible for the CaRMS match.

Applications for positions beyond the entry PGY1 year should be made at the PGME Office, 260 Brodie Centre or to Program Director for the specific program. Availability of positions will vary from year to year and are not guaranteed for any program. No resident can be accepted unless a funded position is available.

The Canadian Resident Matching Service (CaRMS)

This matching service is an autonomous, national organization of the Association of Canadian Medical Colleges. It provides an orderly method for students to select where to pursue postgraduate medical education and for program directors to rank the applicants they wish to enroll. A second matching process (the second iteration) by CaRMS is subsequently available (after the 1st CaRMS match) to medical students not matched in the first iteration, and other medical graduates who have already received some prior postgraduate training. All information about registration and matching processes is available on the CaRMS website: www.CaRMS.ca. There are listings of all programs on their website.

Evaluation of Residents in Postgraduate Medical Education Programs

Evaluation at all levels is based primarily on clinical performance in the patient care setting. The Program Director and the Resident Program Committee in each program are responsible for the implementation of the evaluation process in their own program. At the end of each clinical rotation or at other appropriate stages of the program, each trainee is evaluated by an in-training evaluation report appropriate to that program and training level. The evaluator(s) discusses the evaluation with the trainee and the report is forwarded to the program director. The written evaluation report should be signed by the resident to indicate that he or she has seen the report. This ongoing evaluation process may be supplemented by written examinations, oral examinations, supervised history and physical examination and by direct observation of clinical and technical skills.

When a resident receives an unsatisfactory evaluation or examination result, the program director will review the evaluation with the resident. Unsatisfactory evaluations will also be discussed in a confidential manner at the Resident Program Committee meeting. The committee will make recommendations regarding remedial training. If a subsequent remedial period is also evaluated as being unsatisfactory, the program director will contact the Associate Dean for Postgraduate Medical Education and the Probation Protocol and Procedure will be instituted. A failed probation period may result in a resident being discharged from his or her training program.

The Faculty Executive Council reserves the right to require any student to withdraw from the program of enrolment when it believes the student to be unsuited, on general considerations of scholarship, professional fitness or professional conduct for post-graduate medical education. However, the Faculty of Medicine does not have a professional unsuitability by-law. The right to require a student to withdraw on the basis of professional unsuitability may arise through the professional unsuitability by-law of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. This right prevails notwithstanding any other provision in the faculty regulations.

Appeals

A postgraduate trainee who wishes to appeal the results of any aspect of the evaluation procedure must follow the written guidelines established by the PGME Committee and the Faculty of Medicine. These guidelines may be obtained from the PGME Office.

University Policies

SECTION 1: Policy on the Responsibilities of Academic Staff with Regard to Students

I Objectives,

The objectives of this policy are to identify the responsibilities of academic staff with regard to students; to promote harmonious relations between academic staff and students; and to promote fair and equitable treatment of students.

II Definitions,

For purposes of this document, the following terms shall be defined as provided by this article:

1. Academic staff shall include all individuals holding full- or part-time appointments at the rank of Instructor I, Instructor II, senior instructor, lecturer, assistant professor, associate professor or professor. The term shall include also academic administrators, academic librarians, counsellors, adjunct professors, professional associates, research associates, research assistants, student research assistants, and student teaching assistants, insofar as such persons perform duties within the ambit of the policy.

2. Student shall mean any person who is registered as a student in the university.

III Statement of Responsibilities,

Some of the responsibilities of academic staff with regard to students rest with the individual staff member, while others are collective responsibilities, to be exercised through the actions of department and faculty/school administrators and councils.

A. Individual Responsibilities

The individual responsibilities of academic staff members with regard to students are primarily instructional and scholarly, and secondarily administrative. They may include:

1. Undergraduate, graduate, and continuing education instruction, including the organization, preparation and delivery of course material, the evaluation of student academic progress, the reporting of such evaluation in accordance with approved policies and schedules, consultation with students out of class or laboratory hours, and supervision of student research and thesis preparation;

2. Scholarly attainment through personal study and research, including study for purposes of academic self-improvement or course improvement, keeping abreast of new developments, and research that leads to a useful or original contribution toward the advancement of knowledge and understanding; and,

3. Administrative work as required for instructional and scholarly activities, including committee work at various levels - departmental, faculty, university - as it pertains directly or indirectly to students.

B. Collective Responsibilities

The collective responsibilities of the academic staff belonging to an academic unit are to provide an effective learning environment and to endeavour to ensure fair and consistent treatment of students. They include:

1. Periodically reviewing and updating all courses and programs;

2. Ensuring that academic regulations and policies provide for fair and consistent treatment of students; and,

3. Providing for convenient student access to information on policies, regulations and procedures that may affect their academic progress, including the provision of names of instructors assigned to teach particular courses and sections at the earliest possible opportunity.

IV Discharge of Responsibilities ,

A. Individual Responsibilities

1. Academic staff members shall discharge their instructional responsibilities with academic integrity, scholarly competence, and pedagogic effectiveness.

2. Academic staff members shall maintain their familiarity with current university faculty/school and/or department policies regarding plagiarism and cheating, examination impersonations, student access to final examination scripts, student discipline, grade appeals, and the University policy regarding sexual harassment.

3. In discharging their instructional responsibilities, academic staff members shall adhere to regulations pertaining to the format, content and conduct of courses and laboratories, including regulations pertaining to examinations, term work, grades, and related matters.

4. A course outline or syllabus shall be provided in each course section, within the first week of classes:

a) The academic staff member responsible for that section shall provide in writing to every member of the class:

- name of instructor;
- office number and telephone number;
- a list of textbooks, materials and readings that the student is required to obtain including the appropriate referencing style guide(s) acceptable to the instructor and/or discipline in courses where it is relevant;
- an outline of the topics to be covered;
- a description of the evaluation procedure to be used, including the weighting of the components that will contribute to the final grade and whether evaluative feedback will be given to the student prior to the voluntary withdrawal date (see note);
- an indication of instructor availability for individual student consultation;
- a tentative schedule of term assignments and tests; and
- a statement of the practice to be following regarding late submission of assignments.

NOTE: It is understood by Senate that the provision of this information is not intended to affect the question of equity in multi-sectioned courses in any way.

b) The academic staff member shall provide in writing to every member of the class information regarding academic integrity which shall include:

- a reference to statements on academic dishonesty including "plagiarism and cheating" and "examination personation" found in the University General Calendar; and,
- where appropriate, a reference to specific course requirements for individual work and group work. Students should be made aware that group projects are subject to the rules of academic dishonesty and that group members must ensure that a group project adheres to the principles of academic integrity. Students should also be made aware of any specific instructions concerning study groups and individual assignments. The limits of collaboration on assignments should be defined as explicitly as possible.

5. Academic staff members shall teach their courses with due regard to calendar descriptions.

6. It is the responsibility of academic staff members to specify textbooks and materials in accordance with announced purchasing deadlines.

7. In their dealings with students, academic staff shall:

a) not deny registration for instruction in those courses for which the permission of the instructor is required, except where the student lacks appropriate qualifications or where an approved policy on limited enrolment is in effect;

b) comply with existing human rights legislation, and refrain from differential treatment of individual students on the basis of their actual or presumed membership in, or association with, some class or group of persons;

c) not accept money or other goods or services from students for assistance with any course offered by the University. This clause, however, shall not prevent student teaching assistants or other part-time instructors from accepting payment for tutoring in courses/sections which do not fall within the scope of their University employment;

d) be available for a reasonable amount of time, on a known and posted basis, for individual consultation with students registered in their courses or laboratories;

e) evaluate student academic performance in a fair and reasonable manner, and by means of appropriate academic criteria only;

f) where appropriate, provide written evaluative feedback prior to the voluntary withdrawal deadlines specified in the General Calendar;

g) foster a free exchange of ideas between themselves and their students in the classroom and allow students the freedom to take legitimate exception to the data, views, or methods presented;

h) respect the confidentiality of documentary information about students;

i) keep confidential any information about the academic performance of a student, unless release is authorized by the student, required by his/her instructional team, or requested by an administrative officer in accordance with the University policy on the release of information;

j) explicitly acknowledge in written or oral presentations any indebtedness to student research or assistance;

k) not obtain any improper personal advantage from a student or student work; and,

l) academic staff members shall not retaliate against a student who has filed a complaint, whether the complaint was substantiated or unsubstantiated.

8. Academic staff members shall not cancel, miss, terminate or shorten scheduled instruction except for good reason. Whenever a scheduled period of instruction is cancelled, the academic staff member shall:

a) inform the class at the earliest possible time;

b) inform the administrative head of his/her academic unit; and,

c) where possible, ensure that appropriate substitution or make-up instruction is provided.

9. Academic staff members who provide instruction shall comply with the schedules and formats for reporting student grades, as established by departments and the Registrar's Office. Where such grades are reviewed by departmental committees, instructors should be available for the duration of the committees' work. An instructor who learns of an error, which if corrected would raise an assigned grade, should correct it without requiring the student affected to appeal his/her grade.

10. Academic staff members shall adhere to the relevant University, faculty/ school, and/or departmental policy regarding professor-course evaluation.

B. Collective Responsibilities

1. Through their faculty/school and department councils, academic staff members should review program and course descriptions periodically to ensure that the material to be presented is current and appropriate and that the calendar information is clear and accurate.

2. The following material must be kept on file in faculty/school or departmental general offices and made available to students:

a) University, faculty/school or departmental regulations regarding class attendance and penalties, if any, for non-compliance;

b) The information described in Section 4 under "Discharge of Responsibilities, A – Individual Responsibilities", that is provided in writing to the class by the academic staff member for each course section;

c) University, faculty/school, and/or departmental regulations and procedures, if any, regarding the evaluation of professors and courses by students;

d) University, faculty/school, and/or departmental policy regarding student access to final examination scripts;

e) University policy on student discipline;

f) University, faculty/school, and departmental procedures regarding grade appeals;

g) University policy on the responsibilities of academic staff with regard to students; and,

h) University policy regarding sexual harassment.

3. Where necessitated by large class sizes or other circumstances, academic units shall ensure that course instructors and/or designated substitutes are available for individual consultation with students for a reasonable amount of time on a known and posted basis.

V Cautionary Notice,

Students are reminded that the initiation of a frivolous or vexatious complaint may result in disciplinary action being taken against them by the University.

SECTION 2: Policy on Respectful Work and Learning Environment

1.0 Reason for Policy,

a) To support a climate of respect in the workplace and in the learning environment where individuals or groups of individuals are free from harassment and discrimination.

b) The issue of workplace safety and health with respect to a workplace harassment prevention policy is governed by provincial legislation and more specifically Manitoba Workplace Safety and Health Regulation #217. This Regulation identifies certain responsibilities for employers and employees in this regard. A policy on workplace harassment is required.

2.0 Policy Statement,

2.1 The University of Manitoba supports equity, diversity and the dignity of all people. The University promotes equity in our learning programs and employment and in the conduct of the University's affairs.

2.2 The University recognizes the following:

- (a) a richly diverse society in Manitoba, as well as beyond;
- (b) a duty to act in a manner consistent with existing legislation regarding human rights;
- (c) a commitment to academic freedom and freedom of thought, inquiry, and expression among its members which may result in respectful disagreements regarding beliefs or principles.

2.3 Each individual has the right to participate, learn, and work in an environment that promotes equal opportunities and prohibits discriminatory practices.

2.4 The University of Manitoba does not condone behaviour that is likely to undermine the dignity, self-esteem or productivity of any of its members and prohibits any form of discrimination or harassment whether it occurs on University property or in conjunction with University-related activities. Therefore, the University of Manitoba is committed to an inclusive and respectful work and learning environment, free from:

- (a) discrimination or harassment as prohibited in the Manitoba Human Rights Code;
- (b) sexual harassment; and
- (c) personal harassment.

2.5 These types of discrimination or harassment are defined in the Procedures document which relates to this Policy.

2.6 The University of Manitoba and all members of the University community, particularly those in leadership roles, share the responsibility of establishing and maintaining a climate of respect within this community and to address any situations in which respect is lacking.

2.7 Harassment and discrimination violate an individual's human rights and run contrary to the University's fundamental values. The University of Manitoba will act promptly and efficiently to deal with these behaviours. It will endeavour to ensure that individuals who believe that they have been subjected to harassment or discrimination are able to express concerns and register complaints without fear of retaliation or reprisal. The University will exercise care to protect and respect the rights of both the complainant and the respondent.

2.8 The University of Manitoba will establish mechanisms to give effect to this Policy including:

- (a) the appointment of an equity services advisor whose duties shall include the investigation of informal complaints and the provision of advice and assistance to staff members, students and administrative officers in connection with concerns and complaints;
- (b) the appointment of one or more investigation officer(s) whose duties shall include the investigation of formal complaints and the provision of advice and assistance to staff members, students and administrative officers in connection with concerns and complaints;

(c) training for staff related to harassment and discrimination;

(d) the University of Manitoba will establish and implement educational programs designed to enhance awareness of the Respectful Work and Learning Environment Policy and procedures relating to it.

2.9 Each year a report will be prepared by Equity Services and made available to the University community concerning the number, type and disposition of cases and on educational and other activities related to the Policy.

2.10 While the University of Manitoba supports the informal resolution of problems associated with such behaviour, it considers harassment and discrimination in all its forms to be serious offences. Normally the President shall delegate authority to the Vice-President (Administration) to take disciplinary action, where appropriate, against individuals who have violated this Policy.

2.11 Discipline may range from a reprimand to dismissal or expulsion. Where Collective Agreement provisions require that the President obtain the approval of the Board of Governors for a suspension or dismissal, the finding of the Vice-President (Administration) shall be referred to the President in the form of a recommendation for action.

2.12 The Workplace Safety and Health Regulation #217 requires that every harassment prevention policy contain the following statements:

- (a) every employee is entitled to work free of harassment;
- (b) the employer must ensure, so far as it is reasonably practicable, that no worker is subject to harassment in the workplace;
- (c) the employer will take corrective action respecting any person under the employer's direction who subjects a worker to harassment;
- (d) the employer will not disclose the name of the complainant or an alleged harasser or the circumstances related to the complainant to any person except where disclosure is:

i) necessary to investigate the complaint or take corrective action with respect to the complaint; or

ii) required by law;

(e) a worker has the right to file a complaint with the Manitoba Human Rights Commission;

(f) the employer's harassment prevention policy is not intended to discourage or prevent the complainant from exercising any other legal rights pursuant to any other law.

2.13 Workplace Safety and Health Regulation #217 defines "harassment" as "any objectionable conduct, comment or display by a person that

(a) is directed at a worker in a workplace;

(b) is made on the basis of race, creed, religion, colour, sex, sexual orientation, gender-determined characteristics, political belief, political association or political activity, marital status, family status, source of income, disability, physical size or weight, age, nationality, ancestry or place of origin, and

(c) creates a risk to the health of the worker.

2.3 This Policy supersedes:

- (a) all previous Board/Senate Policies and resolutions on the subject matter herein;
- (b) all previous Administrative Policies and directives on the subject matter contained herein;
- (c) Respectful Work and Learning Environment Policy (June 22, 2004)

This Policy is available online at:

http://umanitoba.ca/admin/governance/governing_documents/community/230.htm

SECTION 3: Accessibility Policy for Students with Disabilities

Reason for Policy,

1.1 The University of Manitoba strives to ensure an accessible learning and working environment and is thereby committed to providing reasonable accommodation of the needs of persons with documented disabilities.

1.2 The purpose of this policy is to support an accessible learning environment where students with disabilities, who are admitted to the University of Manitoba, can gain access to all programs for which they are academically qualified.

2.0 Policy Statement

2.1 General

The University shall endeavour to foster, create, and maintain an accessible campus and provide other supports and services to students with disabilities.

2.1.1 The University of Manitoba will use reasonable efforts to ensure that students with disabilities are considered for admission to programs for which they are academically qualified; and have full and safe access to the educational process and learning environment (including but not limited to classes, laboratories, and workshops), the University campus, and University facilities and services.

2.1.2 The University will use reasonable efforts to offer reasonable accommodations in the delivery of academic programs and services to students with disabilities.

2.2 The Disability Services (DS) office is the centralized service for the University of Manitoba community. DS provides a focus for activity and expertise regarding disability-related accommodations within the University, and for liaison with outside organizations regarding accessibility issues, and programs and services for students with disabilities at the University of Manitoba. In providing accommodations, the DS office will:

2.2.1 request and evaluate appropriate medical documentation from students requesting assistance from DS and assign appropriate services to meet the needs of each student by adapting services, courses, and programs as feasible;

2.2.2 ensure that the University's criteria for academic excellence will not be compromised; and

2.2.3 inform the University community about the services available to students with disabilities through the DS office, and seek to ensure that such services are delivered in ways that promote equity, recognizing that performance is not inferior merely because it is different.

2.3 The University is responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of disability related information under The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (Manitoba) and The Personal Health Information Act (Manitoba), including limiting the distribution of that information to only those parties that require the information to determine appropriate accommodation.

2.4 The University expects that student, instructors and support staff will share the responsibility for the delivery of reasonable accommodation.

2.5 The University will foster a supportive University community by working to inform and educate community members about issues related to disabilities.

2.6 Students requesting accommodations are responsible to initiate contact with the DS office and make the nature of their disability and/or their needs known in a timely fashion. Where possible, students are requested to declare their needs to DS staff before or at the time they register for, or are admitted into, a program.

This Policy is available online at:

http://umanitoba.ca/admin/governance/governing_documents/students/281.htm.

SECTION 4: Disclosure and Security of Student Academic Records

Disclosure and Security of Student Academic Records,

The University and its constituent units have a clear obligation to the student and to society concerning the disclosure and security of information about a student's academic record. All student records will be handled in accordance with The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (Manitoba) (FIPPA) and the Personal Health Information Act (Manitoba) (PHIA) as appropriate. Students who have questions on this matter should contact the Registrar's Office or the FIPPA Office.

SECTION 5: Language Usage Guidelines

Introduction,

The University of Manitoba, as an institution of higher learning, has a commitment to high standards in all communications, both written and oral as well as a prominent role in promoting desirable social change. As an employer, it is especially sensitive to the fair treatment of individuals and groups. The University of Manitoba therefore follows guidelines which are designed to avoid communicating in a manner that reinforces questionable attitudes and assumptions about people and sex roles. Often the problem is one of word choices which may be interpreted as biased, discriminatory, or demeaning, even though they were not intended to be. These guidelines will assist administrators in choosing words which are accurate, clear, and free from bias.

Guidelines

Sexism in communications may be divided into two conceptually different categories:

1. Problems of designation, and

2. Problems of evaluation.

I. Problems of Designation,

In the case of sexism, long-established cultural practice can exert a powerful, insidious influence over even the most conscientious person. Nouns, pronouns, and adjectives that designate persons can be chosen to eliminate, or at least to minimize, the possibility of ambiguity in sex identity or sex role. In the following examples, problems of designation are divided into two sub-categories: ambiguity of referent, where it is unclear whether the communicator means one or both sexes, and stereotyping, where the communication conveys unsupported or biased connotations about sex roles and identity.

Problems of Evaluation

By definition, communications should be free of implied or irrelevant evaluation of the sexes.

Difficulties may derive from the habitual use of clichés or familiar expressions such as “man and wife.” The use of “man and wife” together implies differences in the freedom and activities of each. “Husband and wife” are parallel, “man and wife” are not. In the examples that follow, problems of evaluation, like problems of designation, are divided into ambiguity of referent and stereotyping.

Problems of Designation

Ambiguity of Referent:

The student is usually the best judge of the value of his counselling.

Choices might include deleting the referent “his,” changing to a plural subject (Students are...value of the counselling service they receive), or rephrase (The best judge of the value of counselling is usually the student).

Man or mankind (people, human beings, etc.) the average man (average person, people in general), manpower (workforce, personnel, human resources).

Stereotyping:

Research scientists often neglect their wives and children.

a) Acknowledge that women as well as men are research scientists (Research scientists often...neglect their families).

b) Mothering (noun substitute - parenting, nurturing).

c) Woman doctor, male nurse, lady lawyer. (delete sex description unless necessary to the discussion, then use female doctor, female lawyer).

II. Problems of Evaluation,

A. Ambiguity of Referent:

1. The authors acknowledge the assistance of Mrs. John Smith. (-Use given names in acknowledgements, e.g., Ms., Miss or Mrs. Jane Smith).

B. Stereotyping

1. men and girls. (Use parallel terms - men and women, girls and boys, unless specifically wishing to denote adult and child relationship).

2. woman driver. (Specify only if necessary and then use female driver).

3. Staff members and their wives. (Staff members and their spouses/friends/guests).

4. The girls in the office. (noun substituted - secretaries, staff, office assistants).

NOTE: A more detailed list of examples of the sexist use of language can be obtained by contacting the Office of the President.

This Policy is available online at:

http://www.umanitoba.ca/admin/governance/governing_documents/staff/312.htm

SECTION 6: Conflict of Interest Between Evaluators and Students due to Close Personal Relationships

1.0 Reason for Policy,

The purpose of this policy is to ensure that the relationship between an evaluator and the person being evaluated is and is seen to be impartial.

2.0 Policy Statement,

2.1 Definitions

2.1.1 An evaluator includes any person who participates, whether at first instance or on appeal, in the process of admitting or selecting a student to a course or program, determination of a student’s progress or academic standing, or the receipt by a student of a prize, award or university financial support.

2.1.2 A conflict of interest means a close personal relationship between an evaluator and a student or applicant, or between evaluators, that gives rise to a reasonable apprehension of bias and, in any event, such relationships shall include that of:

- a) parent/child;
- b) spouses;
- c) grandparent/grandchild;
- d) siblings;
- e) in- laws; or
- f) persons living in the same dwelling unit.

2.2 Procedures

2.2.1 Responsibility for avoiding the conflict of interest rests with the evaluator. In cases of uncertainty, the evaluator shall and the student may refer the matter for determination to the department head (or dean/director, as appropriate). The decision of the department head is subject to review by the dean/director of the academic unit.

2.2.2 Where there is a conflict of interest, the evaluator shall immediately withdraw from participation and shall inform the student concerned and the head or dean/director, as appropriate.

a) Where alternative sections or electives exist, the alternative must be taken, unless the dean/director concerned determines that this will create an undue hardship for the student.

b) Where the dean/director has exercised discretion under 2.2.2(a) or where no alternatives exist to compulsory courses, the dean/director shall ensure fair evaluation by having another suitably qualified evaluator review the submitted material or hear the oral presentations. Where practicable, the evaluator shall not participate in setting the examination or other evaluation method.

2.2.3 Where the dean or director has a conflict of interest, the president shall name a replacement to act in the matter.

2.2.4 In the case of failure to observe these regulations, staff members will be subject to the discipline procedures provided by the appropriate collective agreement or personnel policy of the University.

This Policy is available online at:

http://umanitoba.ca/admin/governance/governing_documents/students/277.htm

SECTION 7: Other Policies of Interest to Students

Campus Alcohol Policy,

1.0 Reason for Policy

This policy is a general statement and guideline, setting out the University's requirement for strict compliance with the Liquor Control Act (Manitoba), as well as any rules and regulations, and any successor or replacement rules and regulations, at all events and facilities at which alcohol is available. This policy is further to the Liquor Control Act (Manitoba), as well as any rules and regulations and directives issues pursuant to the Act (The "MLCC rules and regulations").

2.0 Policy Statement

2.1 Alcohol abuse is a serious health problem and can lead to conduct that may endanger the safety of individuals and result in damage to property both on and off the University of Manitoba Fort Garry and Bannatyne Campuses (the "Campuses"). This in turn may result in legal claims involving the University and others. The purpose of this policy is to explicitly establish the general means by which alcohol abuse on the Campuses can be reduced, and to the extent possible, eliminated.

2.2 The University shall meet the policy's objective by:

2.2.1 Offering an alcohol education and awareness program within the scope of programs offered by or through Student Affairs;

2.2.2 Maintaining University guidelines with respect to the serving and consumption of alcohol on the Campuses;

2.2.3 Requiring that events and facilities at which alcohol is served on the Campuses (the "events and facilities") be managed effectively, and in accordance with the University's policy and procedures and Manitoba Liquor Control Commission rules and regulations; and this policy applies broadly, and covers all events and facilities on the Campuses.

This policy is available online at:

http://www.umanitoba.ca/admin/governance/governing_documents/community/253.htm.

Parking Regulations,

All members of the University community and persons attending on property, owned and occupied or under the charge or control of the University, including roadways (the "University property") are required to familiarize themselves and comply with the Regulations.

The Regulations are in addition to any by-laws of the City of Winnipeg and any legislation and regulations of the Province of Manitoba regulating the operation or use of motor vehicles or regulating the crossing of or walking upon roadways by pedestrians.

A complete copy of the University Parking Regulations is available online at: http://umanitoba.ca/admin/governance/governing_documents/community/255.htm and http://umanitoba.ca/admin/governance/governing_documents/community/256.htm

SECTION 8: Student Discipline Bylaw

Intro,

Students are expected to conduct themselves responsibly with due regard for the rights of others and to maintain a high level of personal and academic integrity. Students who transgress these standards, whether expressed in policy or implied in generally accepted codes of conduct, can expect disciplinary action. Penalties arising from disciplinary actions may include fines, withholding of student privileges, suspension or expulsion from programs, or some other action specific to the situation. Penalties may also affect student eligibility to continue in their programs or to graduate.

University Policies

The following are some of the policies and regulations relating to student discipline and behaviour.

Student Discipline Bylaw,

1.0 Reason for Bylaw

The Student Discipline Bylaw and related Procedures provide guidance to those individuals charged with administering disciplinary action ("Disciplinary Authority") while, at the same time, outlining the prohibited conduct and the right of appeal.

2.0 Rule/Principle

2.1 As members of the University Community, students have an obligation to act with academic integrity and in a fair and reasonable manner towards their peers, faculty, staff, administration and the physical property of the University. Academic integrity and personal conduct, both on-campus and off-campus in university-sanctioned activities, are critical elements in achieving these obligations.

2.2 Students will be subject to disciplinary action under this bylaw, for the following matters regardless of whether such behaviour is covered by other University governing documents; (bylaws, policies, procedures and regulations).

2.2.1 Academic dishonesty including, but not limited to:

- (a) academic/scientific fraud;
- (b) cheating on exams or tests;
- (c) contravention of academic regulations;
- (d) re-submitting own previous course work as new work;
- (e) examination personation;
- (f) inappropriate collaboration; and
- (g) plagiarism (i.e., passing off the thoughts, writings and work of another person as one's own).

2.2.2 Inappropriate behaviour including, but not limited to:

- (a) abuse of computer privileges;
- (b) alcohol and substance abuse;
- (c) breach of residence hall regulations;
- (d) disorderly, violent or threatening behaviour;
- (e) false or misleading information made for any purpose including information in connection with:
 - i) application for admission;
 - ii) application for awards;

- iii) medical certificates;
- iv) letters of permission;
- v) transfer of credits; and
- vi) transcript/student records matters;
- (f) harassment and unlawful discrimination;
- (g) indecent exposure;
- (h) theft;
- (i) unprofessional conduct; and
- (j) vandalism.

2.3 The specific jurisdiction for each of the Disciplinary Authorities is set out in "Table 1: Jurisdiction of Disciplinary Authorities" ("Table 1"). For the purposes of this document and the related Procedures document, references to Faculty/School will include University 1 and Dean/Director will include the Director of University 1.

2.4 The specific disciplinary actions available for each Disciplinary Authority are set out in "Table 2: Disciplinary Actions Available to Disciplinary Authorities" ("Table 2").

2.5 Disciplinary Authorities having the closest connection with the particular alleged disciplinary matter are encouraged whenever possible and appropriate to resolve student disciplinary matters informally in the first instance.

2.6 Students who make complaints or appeals which are found by the Disciplinary Authority to be frivolous or made for an improper purpose, may be subject to disciplinary action.

2.7 If the disciplinary matter relates to a criminal offence, the Disciplinary Authority shall provide relevant information to Campus Security Services for potential follow-up by the appropriate policing authority.

2.8 Students have a right to appeal disciplinary actions made by a Disciplinary Authority excluding the decisions of the University Discipline Committee ("UDC") which are final decisions.

2.9 Students are advised that the Disciplinary Authority to whom an appeal has been made may impose a more severe disciplinary action than previously recommended by a lower disciplinary body should the hearing panel, after reviewing the disciplinary evidence presented by all parties, consider the original disciplinary action insufficient.

2.10 Student are afforded the right to representation when dealing with disciplinary matters in the first instance and with respect to appeals; and both are subject to the limitations set out in the related Procedures.

2.11 No disciplinary action shall be implemented until the time for appeal has elapsed or until the Student has waived in writing the right to appeal, whichever occurs first. The only exceptions to this rule shall be:

(a) where the disciplinary action would be entered on the academic records of the Student, the Registrar shall be notified by the Disciplinary Authority implementing such disciplinary action, and shall not issue any academic transcripts until the appeal has been disposed of;

(b) where the disciplinary action relating to academic dishonesty or academic fraud may result in a change to the Student's transcript, the Registrar shall be notified by the Disciplinary Authority implementing such disciplinary action, and shall not issue any transcripts until the appeal has been disposed of;

(c) where changes in the Student's courses and/or program are directly related to the matter under disciplinary consideration, such changes shall not be permitted; and

(d) where the disciplinary action if not implemented, the safety of members of the University Community would be compromised.

Students may request information from their faculty or school offices, the Office of Student Advocacy, or the Office of the University Secretary.

SECTION 9: Inappropriate and Disruptive Student Behaviour

Inappropriate or Disruptive Student Behaviour,

1.0 Reason for Policy

In the event of a student or students exhibiting inappropriate or disruptive behaviour, the following policy can be implemented.

2.0 Policy Statement

2.1 General

Although this policy is directed to dealing with students who exhibit inappropriate or disruptive behaviour, there are some general statements which should be made:

2.1.1 The vast majority of students will complete their academic life at the University acting appropriately and without causing disruptions to their fellow students or to the University. This policy is not directed towards individual students who have a mental illness, provided their behaviour is neither inappropriate nor disruptive.

A staff member may notice that an individual student is exhibiting debilitating stress, even though he/she is not acting disruptively. In that case, the observation should be addressed with the student and, if appropriate, the student should be referred for voluntary counselling.

2.1.2 "In appropriate or disruptive behaviour is behaviour which persistently interferes with the academic or administrative activities of the University (and/or) which inhibits the ability of other students to learn and of instructors to teach." – Amanda, G. "Dealing with the Disruptive College Student: Some Theoretical and Practical Consideration", College Health, April 1986.

Such behaviours would include but would not be limited to the following:

a) threats to the physical safety of the individuals or others;

b) verbal threats to or abuse of students or University personnel;

c) recurring and wilful damage of University property;

d) inappropriate or disruptive behaviour as a result of misuse of drugs or alcohol on University property; and

e) actions which habitually interfere with the learning environment or requires the inordinate time and attention of faculty and staff.

2.1.3 Where the individual students act inappropriately or disruptively:

a) The majority of such students will accept personal responsibility for their inappropriate or disruptive behaviour, and will accept appropriate referral for voluntary counselling. For the most part, staff members need only use the “Normal Procedure for Dealing with Inappropriate or Disruptive Behaviour” set out below.

b) Information and input received from professionals in the mental health field and professional practitioners at the University would suggest that the numbers of such students who do not accept personal responsibility or appropriate voluntary counselling are small. Where a student to whom this policy should apply identified by a staff member, he/she will use part 2 of the “Normal Procedure”; and if appropriate in more extreme cases involving physical or mental harm, he/she should use the “Procedure for More Extreme Behaviour”.

c) Where an officer(s) of the University believes that a student is inappropriately involving more than one of the various service and administration offices of the University, he/she shall request the Vice-Provost (Student Affairs) to initiate a staff conference to facilitate communication and problem resolution.

d) Information regarding an acute problem of inappropriate or disruptive behaviour which is disclosed during the student application process, should be referred to the Director of Admissions or the Dean of Graduate Studies as appropriate. If the information is of serious concern to the respective Director of Admissions or the Dean of Graduate Studies, he/she may seek the advice of the University Legal Counsel and may initiate a student conference.

2.2. Normal Procedure for Dealing with Inappropriate Behaviour

When a student acts inappropriately or disruptively, staff members should, where appropriate:

2.2.1 Make timely voluntary counselling referrals through existing support services at the University. Such services include:

Counselling Service

Psychological Service Centre,

University Health Services

Faculty (of Medicine) Counselling Services.

2.2.2 Use the existing Student Discipline Bylaw and other policies, rules and regulations where additional action is necessary to deal with inappropriate or disruptive behaviour or students.

2.3 Procedure for More Extreme Behaviour

2.3.1 If a staff member is of the opinion that a student is exhibiting a behaviour of a nature of quality that likely will result in:

a) Serious harm to student,

b) Serious harm to another person, or

c) Substantial deterioration of the student’s health;

The staff member shall, in addition to using the “Normal Procedure”, immediately refer the matter to his/her respective Dean, Director, or Administrative Unit Head.

2.3.2 If the respective Dean, Director, or Administrative Unit Head is of the same opinion, he/she shall:

a) Advise the student to seek professional help; and

b) Contact the Director of University Health Services if the student refuses to voluntarily seek professional help. The Director of University Health Services or designate shall follow mental health legislation and regulations when determining whether or not involuntary psychiatric assessment is advisable.

c) In addition to the foregoing procedure, the Campus Police should be contacted immediately if it is deemed necessary for the protection of the student, other persons, or property. It should also be noted that, subject to the Student Discipline Bylaw, the President may at any time make an order restricting or prohibiting access by a student to any University property.

This policy is available online at:

http://www.umanitoba.ca/admin/governance/governing_documents/students/279.htm.

SECTION 10: Violent and Threatening Behaviour

Violent or Threatening Behaviour,

1.0 Reason for Policy

The purpose of this Policy is to state clearly the University’s refusal to tolerate violence in the workplace and on the University campus and to describe possible consequences of such action. It is believed that the Policy and the supporting Procedures represent a significant move towards the prevention of violence, as well as the management of a violent episode.

The issue of safety and health in the workplace with respect to violence is governed by provincial legislation and more specifically The Workplace Safety and Health Act (Manitoba) – Regulation #217/2006 (the Regulation). The Regulation identifies certain responsibilities for employers and employees in this regard. A policy on violence in the workplace is required.

2.0 Policy Statement

The University of Manitoba is committed to creating and maintaining a safe, positive and productive learning and working environment. Therefore, the University will not tolerate violent or threatening behaviour. Individuals who are found to have engaged in activities prohibited under this Policy will be subject to disciplinary action which may result in termination of employment, expulsion from educational programs, a ban from university property, and any other remedies the University may be entitled to at law or otherwise.

2.1 Definitions and Interpretations

(a) Intimidation is defined as conduct or harassment that disrupts the work or learning environment and/or results in a reasonable fear for personal safety;

(b) External Parties includes contractors providing services to the University, visitors to the University or other external organizations operating within the University community;

(c) Student is defined as any person registered as a student with the University of Manitoba;

(d) Threats include verbal and/or physical actions that create fear or apprehension of bodily harm;

(e) Violence is defined as the attempted or actual exercise of physical force against a person and any threatening statement or behaviour that gives a person reasonable cause to believe that physical force will be used against the person;

(f) Violent or Threatening Behaviour is behaviour that includes a combination of, or all of, the behaviour defined above as "Intimidation, Threats and Violence".

(g) Worker(s) includes:

i) any person who is employed by the University, to perform a service whether for gain or reward, or hope of gain or reward or not;

ii) any person who works or performs services in a Workplace which is owned or operated by the University;

iii) any person undergoing training or serving an apprenticeship at the University; and

iv) any individual described in the Procedure entitled "Employee Organizations and Employment Groups".

(h) Workplace means any building, site, workshop, structure, mobile vehicle, or any other premises or location whether indoors or outdoors in which one or more Worker(s) or self employed persons are engaged in work or have worked for the University;

(i) Any references to legislation, committees or units within the University in this Policy shall be deemed to include successor or substitute legislation, committees or units, in their place thereof.

2.2 The following statements must be included in this Policy as a requirement of Regulation #217. The University, as an employer,

(a) must ensure, so far as it is practicable, that no worker is subjected to violence in the Workplace;

(b) will take corrective action respecting any person under the employer's direction who subjects a Worker to Violence;

(c) will not disclose the name of a complainant to any person except where disclosure is

i) necessary in order to investigate the complaint;

ii) required in order to take corrective action in response to the complaint, or

iii) required by law.

(d) By approving this Policy, does not intend to discourage or prevent the complainant from exercising any other legal rights pursuant to any other law.

This policy is available online at:

http://umanitoba.ca/admin/governance/governing_documents/community/669.htm

SECTION 11: Hold Status

Hold Status,

Students will be placed on "Hold Status" if they incur any type of outstanding obligation (either financial or otherwise) to the university or its associated faculties, schools, colleges or administrative units.

Some typical reasons for holds are:

- Outstanding fees or other unpaid university fees
- Outstanding library books and/or fines
- Parking fines
- Outstanding transcripts or documents required from other institutions
- Students records pending disciplinary action.

No administrative or academic services will be provided to students on Hold Status until the specific obligations have been met.

Students who have not cleared their Hold Status from previous registrations will not be permitted to register again until the hold has been cleared or permission to register has been obtained from the Office of the Vice-President (Administration).

General Academic Regulations

SECTION 1: Introduction

Introduction,

This chapter contains the regulations and requirements that apply to all students, regardless of faculty or school.

Each faculty and school has its own supplementary regulations and requirements. These are published in the faculty or school chapters of this Calendar. Some faculties and schools also have additional regulations and requirements governing their programs; these are available from the faculty or school.

It is the responsibility of each student to be familiar with the academic regulations and requirements of the University of Manitoba in general and of the specific academic regulations and requirements of their faculty or school of registration. Accordingly, students are asked to seek the advice of advisors in faculty and school general offices whenever there is any question concerning how specific regulations apply to their situations.

SECTION 2: Residence and Written English and Mathematics Requirements

2.1 Residence Requirements For Graduation,

Each faculty and school recommends to the Senate the number of credit hours each student must complete in order to graduate from its programs. Senate also requires each student to complete a minimum number of credit hours at the University of Manitoba -- this is called the "residence requirement."

Unless otherwise stated in faculty and school chapters, the minimum residence requirement of the University of Manitoba is the work normally associated with one year in the case of programs of three years' duration, and two years for programs of four years' duration. Some faculties and schools may have additional residence requirements specified in their program regulations. However, in all cases, the residence requirement is assessed following an appraisal of the educational record of the student applying to transfer credits from another institution or applying to earn credits elsewhere on a letter of permission. The residence requirement is not reduced for students whose "challenge for credit" results in a passing grade.

2.2 University English and Mathematics Requirements for Undergraduate Students,

All students are required to complete, within the first 60 credit hours of their programs, a minimum of one three credit hour course with significant content in written English, and a minimum of one three credit hour course with significant content in mathematics.

Some degree programs have designated specific written English and mathematics courses to fulfil this requirement.

Some degree programs require that the written English and/or mathematics requirements be completed prior to admission.

See the program descriptions in the faculty and school chapters of this Calendar for details.

Exemptions to the Written English and Mathematics Requirement:

- All students with completed baccalaureate degrees and who transfer into any program to which these requirements apply.
- Registered Nurses entering the Bachelor of Nursing Program for Registered Nurses.
- Students admitted before the 1997-98 Regular Session.
- Written English exemption only: Students transferring from Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface who have completed a written French requirement (at the college before transferring to the University of Manitoba will be deemed to have met the written English requirement.

2.3 Approved English and Mathematics Courses,

A complete list of all courses which satisfy the university written English and mathematics requirement is provided below. (On the web, students may search Course Attributes for courses that satisfy the written English and Mathematics requirements).

SECTION 3: Course Identification

3.1 Credit Hours (Cr.Hrs.),

Each faculty and school develops courses for its degree credit programs, subject to Senate approval, and assigns a credit hour value to each course.

The credit hours for a course are expressed as a number associated with the course which indicates its relative weight. There is a correlation between class hours and credit hours (i.e., 6 credit hours = 3 hours a week, two terms; and 3 credit hours = 3 hours a week, one term).

For the purposes of registration, courses taught over two terms have been divided into two parts. Students registering for term spanning courses will receive one grade for the course and only when the second part is completed.

3.2 Prerequisite and Corequisite Courses,

Prerequisite: If a course is prerequisite for a second course, the prerequisite must be met in order to begin the second course. To determine whether or not a course has a prerequisite, see the course descriptions in the chapter of the faculty or school offering the course. Normally, a minimum grade of "C" is required in all courses listed as prerequisites, except as otherwise noted in the course descriptions.

For some courses, the prerequisite may be completed before registering for the second course or may be taken concurrently with the second course. To determine if a course may be taken concurrently, see the course descriptions in the chapter of the faculty or school offering the course.

Corequisite: If a first course is a corequisite for a second course, the first course must be completed in the same term as the second course. To determine if a course has a corequisite, see the course descriptions in the chapter of the faculty or school offering the course.

Where the sequence in which courses are taken is important, one course is stipulated as being prerequisite to another (e.g., Mathematics 1 may be prerequisite to Mathematics 2). Unless otherwise specified in the course description and/or in the regulations of any faculty or school, the prerequisite requirement is met if at least a passing grade (D) is earned in the course. If the course is failed, permission may be granted to repeat it concurrently with the course for which it is prerequisite. Some prerequisite courses may be taken concurrently. Check the course description for specific information.

Where a course is specified as a corequisite course, it must be taken at the same time as (or prior) to the course requiring it as a corequisite.

3.3 Course Numbers, First Two to Four Characters

The two, three or four characters in every course number are a shortened version of the subject of the course.

Last Four Digits

At the University of Manitoba the last four digits of the course number reflect the level of contact with the subject.

For example:

ECON 1200 Principles of Economics Cr.Hrs. 6

ECON is the code for Economics.

1200 indicates that it is an introductory or entry level course.

If the course requires a laboratory, this will be shown following the credit hours immediately following the title.

For example:

BIOL 3242 Biodiversity: Vascular Flora of Manitoba Cr.Hrs. 3 (Lab Required)

The 2000, 3000, 4000 course numbers indicate the second, third, and fourth levels of university contact with a subject.

Numbers in the 5000 range are normally associated with pre-Master's work or courses in the Post Baccalaureate Diploma and the Post-Graduate Medical Education programs.

Courses numbered 6000-8000 are graduate courses of the Faculty of Graduate Studies.

Course numbers in the 9000 series are used to identify courses taken at the University of Winnipeg by students in the University of Manitoba/University of Winnipeg Joint Master's Programs. The 9000 numbers do not indicate the level of the course taken (see Graduate Calendar or University of Winnipeg Calendar).

In most cases, some correlation exists between the course number and a student's year of study; that is, students in the third year of a program will generally carry course loads comprised primarily of 3000-level courses.

3.4 Other Course Information,
Courses with numbers that end in 0 or an even number are taught in English usually on the Fort Garry or Bannatyne campuses.

Courses with numbers that end in odd numbers are taught in French at Collège Universitaire de Saint-Boniface.

SECTION 4: Grades and Grade Point Average Calculation

Intro,
Final grades in most courses are expressed as letters, ranging from D, the lowest passing grade, to A+ the highest. Each letter grade has an assigned numerical value which is used to calculate grade point averages.

Some courses are graded on a pass/fail basis and because no numerical value is assigned to these courses, they do not affect grade point averages. Courses graded in this way are clearly identified in course descriptions and program outlines.

4.1 The Letter Grade System, Letter Grade Grade Point Value

A+	4.5	Exceptional
A	4.0	Excellent
B+	3.5	Very Good
B	3.0	Good
C+	2.5	Satisfactory
C	2.0	Adequate
D	1.0	Marginal
F	0	Failure
P		Pass
S		Standing

The grade of "D" is regarded as marginal in most courses by all faculties and schools. It contributes to decreasing a term, degree or cumulative Grade Point Average to less than 2.0. The course in which "D" standing is obtained need not be repeated except by probationary students in certain faculties or where a minimum grade of "C" is required in a prerequisite subject or to meet degree requirements. Courses graded "D" may be repeated for the purpose of improving a GPA. Students in doubt as to the status of their record should consult an advisor in their faculty or school.

For minimum grade levels, especially as they affect progression requirements, see the faculty or school regulations or consult an advisor.

4.2 Calculation of Grade Point Average, Quality Points

The quality points for a course are the product of the credit hours for the course and the grade point obtained by the student; e.g., 3 credit hours with a grade of "B" (3.0 points) = 3 credit hours x 3.0 = 9.0 quality points.

Quality Point Total

The quality point total is the sum of quality points accumulated as students proceed through their program of studies.

Grade Point Average (GPA)

The grade point average (GPA) is the quality point total divided by the total number of credit hours.

Cumulative Grade Point Average

The Cumulative GPA is the quality point total divided by the total number of credit hours attempted at the University of Manitoba and courses transferred from other institutions.

Degree Grade Point Average

The Degree grade point average is the Quality Point total divided by the total number of credit hours attempted at the University of Manitoba and courses transferred from other institutions for courses that are acceptable for credit in the current faculty or school.

Term Grade Point Average

The Term GPA is calculated on the basis of all final grades received in the term (eg. Fall, Winter, or Summer terms).

Repeated Courses

When a course has been repeated, the last grade achieved is that which will be used in the calculation of the GPA. (Students are normally permitted to repeat the same or equivalent course once). Admissions criteria and eligibility rules may vary by faculty with respect to inclusion and calculation of grades for repeated courses.

NOTE: Information on credit hours, courses, prerequisites and corequisites, is found in Appendix B of this chapter, entitled Course Identification.

4.3 Academic Honours,

Students qualify for the Dean's Honour List when they achieve qualifying grade point averages as specified in the faculty and school chapters of this Calendar or in program regulations.

In addition, outstanding academic achievement will qualify students for other honours and awards. These include the University Gold Medal which is awarded at graduation in each faculty or school to the student with the most outstanding academic record; program medals which are awarded by faculties and schools to the best student graduating from a specific program; graduation "with distinction," which is recorded on the transcripts of all students who attain a qualifying grade point average; and other medals and prizes that are specific to programs or disciplines.

SECTION 5: Academic Evaluation

5.1 Methods of Evaluation,

Within the first week of lectures, instructors must inform the class of the method of evaluation to be used in each course. See the Responsibilities of Academic Staff to Students Policy, in the chapter University Policies. In departments where a course is offered in more than one section, the department offering the course endeavours to provide instruction so that all sections cover similar topics and that all students achieve a similar level of competency in the topic. However, there will be differences in evaluation as well as in teaching style, readings and assignments from one section to another. Students may contact the department for additional information before registration.

5.1.1 Credit for Term Work

In subjects involving written examinations, laboratories, and term assignments, a student may be required to pass each component separately. If no final examination is scheduled in a course, the student's final grade will be determined on the basis of the method of evaluation as announced in the first week of lectures.

If credit is not given for term work, the student's final grade will be determined entirely by the results of the final written examination. Where the final grade is determined from the results of both term work and final examinations, the method of computing the final grade will be as announced within the first week of classes. Should a student write a deferred examination, term grades earned will normally be taken into account as set out in the immediately preceding paragraph.

5.1.2 Incomplete term work

A student who is unable to complete the term work prescribed in a course may apply to the instructor prior to the end of lectures for an incomplete grade and time extension for work completion. It is understood that the student is to write the final examination if one is scheduled for the course.

Taking into account the results of the final examination, the value of the term work completed, and the extent of the incomplete term work, the instructor shall calculate the temporary grade using a zero value for incomplete work. In no case will the satisfaction of the incomplete requirements cause a grade to be lowered.

The following maximum time extensions are allowed: August 1, for courses terminated in April; December 1, for courses terminated between May and August; April 1, for courses terminated in December. If a final grade is not reported within one month of the extension deadline, the letter "T" will be dropped, and the grade will remain as awarded. The student's opportunity to improve the grade will have lapsed.

5.1.3 Repeating a Course

Subject to faculty or school regulations, required courses graded "F" or "D" must be repeated, usually at the next opportunity. Elective courses graded "F" may either be repeated or another elective substituted. All electives in a program must be approved by the faculty or school.

When a course has been repeated, the last grade achieved is that which will be calculated in the GPA.

5.1.4 Probation and Academic Suspension

Failure to meet minimum levels of performance as specified in the regulations of the faculty or school will result in a student being placed either on probation or academic suspension in accordance with the faculty or school regulations.

A student's status is determined, following final examinations, at the end of each term (Fall, Winter or Summer terms) or at the end of an academic session as specified in faculty regulations. A student placed on probation is advised to discuss his/her program prior to the next registration with a representative of the dean or director to determine which courses, if any, should be repeated.

A student placed on academic suspension will normally be permitted to apply for re-entry to the faculty or school after one year has elapsed, but reinstatement is not automatic and individual faculty or school regulations must always be consulted.

While on suspension, students are not normally admissible to another faculty or school.

5.1.5 Release of Grades

Grades will be posted on the Aurora Student website when received. This may be a few days after classes for some courses and up to a few weeks after final examinations for others.

Students may access their grades through Aurora Student. Click on Enrolment and Academic Records, Student Records, Final Grades.

5.2 Examinations,

5.2.1 Examination Schedules

For most faculties/schools, final examinations are conducted in December for Fall Term courses; and in April/May for Winter Term and Fall/Winter Term courses. Check the Academic Schedule of the University for the exact time periods. A Preliminary Examination Timetable is posted approximately one month after the beginning of the term. The Final Examination Timetable, which contains the exact times and locations for each course and section, is posted by the Registrar's Office approximately six to eight weeks prior to each examination period. The examination timetable is available on the Registrar's Office Website (umanitoba.ca/registrar). Students must remain available until all examination and test obligations have been fulfilled.

5.2.2 Examination General Regulations

Any test(s) which have an aggregate value of more than 20% of the total value of the course may not be scheduled to take place during the 14 calendar days ending with the last day of classes in the term during the Fall/Winter Sessions as defined in the Calendar, or during the last two classes of Summer Evening and the last three classes of Summer terms.

No project or assignment may be announced during the periods outlined above, unless contained in the information required to be provided to all students during the first week of classes (See the Responsibilities of Academic Staff to Students in the chapter on Policies and Guidelines of the University).

5.2.3 Final Examinations

No final examinations or term or take home examinations shall be scheduled to occur prior to the examination periods as described in the Calendar except with the expressed consent of the deans and directors involved.

The weight of each question shall be clearly indicated on the examination paper.

The name of the instructor or the examination committee shall be clearly indicated on the examination paper

Students (with the exception of students auditing courses) are required to write all final examinations. Those who absent themselves without an acceptable reason will receive a grade classification of "NP" accompanied by a letter grade based on term work completed for the course using a zero value for incomplete term work and for the final examination. If no credit for term work is involved, a grade of "F" will be assigned. Under certain conditions a student may apply for a deferred examination; see Deferred Examinations.

Examinations are scheduled at the end of each term of registration.

Students are not permitted to leave an examination within the first 30 minutes and any student arriving more than 30 minutes after the commencement, but before the end, of a final examination scheduled by the Registrar's Office, might not be permitted to write that examination on the authority of the chief invigilator of the examination room.

Provided fairness is guaranteed beforehand, miniature electronic calculators shall be allowed during examinations, with the consent of the department.

Students are not permitted to bring in any unauthorized materials to an examination. This includes, but is not limited to, calculators, books, notes, or any electronic device capable of wireless communication and/or storing information (e.g. translator, cell phone, pager, PDA, MP3 units, etc.). However, students may bring in such material or devices when permission has been given by the instructor and/or the department or faculty.

Students are encouraged not to bring any valuables to the examination room. Items which you are prohibited from possessing during the test may be left at the front of the examination room. These items will not be secured, and the University accepts no responsibility for items lost or stolen from the examination room.

The use of audio visual supports (including, but not limited to overhead or slide projectors, and audio/visual tape players) to display examination or test questions shall be prohibited except where arrangements have been made to display all questions simultaneously for the entire examination/ test period or in courses where time limited identification is a legitimate and specified part of the examination/test process.

Answers to examination questions shall not be posted prior to the conclusion of the examination.

Final grades must be posted by faculties and schools (identifying students by student number only) as soon as the grades have been approved by the faculty/school/department (as appropriate) and have been submitted to the Registrar's Office. (This policy is under review).

5.2.4 Student Access to Final Examinations

In order to allow proper feedback, students shall have an opportunity to read their own final examination script and any comments written on it prior to the deadline for a formal grade appeal, but only in the presence of the instructor or a department-appointed staff member.

5.2.5 Special Examination - Religious Reasons

A student who, because of religious obligations, is unable to write a final examination when scheduled, shall be given an opportunity to write a special examination. The student is required to give reasonable notice (approximately three weeks) to the head of the department concerned prior to the examination series and to present evidence concerning the religious obligations involved.

5.2.6 Deferred Examinations

Policies and procedures with respect to deferred examinations are currently under review.

Students who miss a final examination and wish to apply for a deferred writing must apply to advising office of their faculty or school. University 1 students must contact the U1 Student Help Centre.

5.2.7 Supplemental Examinations

A limited number of faculties and schools permit a supplemental examination when a student has failed a course or failed to achieve a satisfactory result. Please refer to the section of the Calendar for your faculty or school for its policy on supplemental examinations. Where a faculty's or school's regulations permit supplemental examinations, students are normally notified of this privilege on their grade statements or by their faculty or school following publication of the grades. Students who are granted supplemental privileges are normally required to sit the examination within 30 working days from the end of the examination series in which the supplemental grade was received unless the progression rules of a faculty or school require the successful completion of an entire academic year before a student is eligible to proceed into the next. In this case, students are obliged to sit the examination at the next ensuing examination period.

The passing grade in a supplemental examination must be at least "C." Students are normally required to carry a full-time program in order to be eligible. Accordingly, students who are granted incomplete or deferred status may not be eligible. A student may only write a supplemental once in any course; otherwise the course must be repeated.

Students are advised to check with faculty or school offices or consult an advisor as to specific regulations that may apply.

To write a supplemental examination an application must be made to the office of the dean or director and the appropriate fee paid. The application form will be forwarded to the Registrar's Office and the supplemental grade will be submitted following completion of the examination.

5.2.8 Special Supervision of Off-Campus Examinations

Students who have been given permission to write deferred or supplemental examinations off-campus may apply to the Registrar's Office to write at an approved centre outside of Winnipeg.

5.2.9 Examinations: Personations

A student who arranges for another individual to undertake or write any nature of examination for and on his/her behalf, as well as the individual who undertakes or writes the examination, will be subject to discipline under the university's Student Discipline Bylaw, which could lead to suspension or expulsion from the university. In addition, the Canadian Criminal Code treats the personation of a candidate at a competitive or qualifying examination held at a university as an offence punishable by summary conviction. Section 362 of the code provides:

Personation at Examination

362. Every one who falsely, with intent to gain advantage for him/herself or some other person, personates a candidate at a competitive or qualifying examination held under the authority of law or in connection with a university, college or school or who knowingly avails him/herself of the results of such personation is guilty of an offence punishable on summary conviction. 1953- 54,c.51, s.347.

Both the personator and the individual who avails him/herself of the personation could be found guilty. Summary conviction could result in a fine being levied or up to two years of imprisonment.

5.3 Other Forms of Earning Degree Credit,

5.3.1 Letter of Permission for Transfer of Credit

Students in degree programs at this university may take courses at other recognized colleges or universities for transfer of credit provided such courses are approved at least one month prior to the commencement of classes at the other institution by the faculty or school in which they are currently registered. The approval is subject to individual faculty/school regulations and is granted in the form of a Letter of Permission. The student must obtain a Letter of Permission whether or not the course/s being taken are for transfer of credit to the University of Manitoba. Failure to obtain a Letter of Permission may have serious academic implications.

To obtain a Letter of Permission, application must be made to the Registrar's Office as early as possible and at least one month prior to when required at the other institution.

Each application must be accompanied by the appropriate fee. The fees are for each application and a separate application is required for each session and institution regardless of the number of courses being considered. Students planning to seek permission to take courses elsewhere for transfer of credit to the University of Manitoba are cautioned to check the current Calendar for the residence and degree requirements of the degree programs in which they are enrolled.

Transferred courses will be given assigned credit hour values and grades. The transferred grade will be included in the student's degree and cumulative GPA.

5.3.2 Challenge for Credit

The purpose of Challenge for Credit is to provide students of the university with some means of obtaining academic credit in University of Manitoba courses (not otherwise obtainable as a transfer of credit from other institutions) for practical training and experience, or reading and study previously completed. Students who have registered to challenge would normally not attend classes or laboratories. Courses which have previously been taken at the University of Manitoba may not be challenged for credit.

To be eligible to challenge for credit a student must first be admitted to a faculty or school of the University of Manitoba. Eligible students will be required to demonstrate their competence in the courses which they are challenging for credit. Where formal, written examinations are required, these will be generally scheduled during the regular examination sessions in April/May, June, August, or December.

For information regarding requirements, procedures, applications and fees a student should contact the office of the faculty or school in which the student is enrolled, or in the case of new students, the faculty or school to which the new student has been admitted.

5.3.3 Transfer of Credit Between Programs within the University of Manitoba

When students transfer credits into their programs from another faculty or school within the University of Manitoba, the credit hour value used by the faculty or school offering the course is used. That is, there can only be one credit weight designated for a course with a particular course number.

SECTION 6: Appeals of Grades

6.1 Appeals of Grades Received for Term Work,

The appeal of term work returned or made available to students before the last day of classes shall be subject to the policies and procedures established by faculty or school councils.

Students may formally appeal a grade received for term work provided that the matter has been discussed with the instructor in the first instance in an attempt to resolve the issue without the need of formal appeal. Term work grades normally may be appealed up to ten working days after the grades for the term work have been made available to the student.

Students may obtain the form "Application for Appealing a Grade Given for Term Work" from the general office of the department which offered the course. The fee which is charged for each appealed term work grade will be refunded for any grade which is changed as a result of the appeal.

6.2 Appeal of Final Grades,

If a student has good reason to believe a mistake has been made in the assessment of the original grade, an appeal of the assigned grade may be made. A student may enter an appeal, through the Registrar's Office, for assessment of one or more grades following the posting of grades by the faculty/school/department. Grades are released by the Registrar's Office as they are received from faculties and schools. A student wishing to make a final grade appeal on a first term course grade must do so within 15 working days of the first day of classes for second term. For second term courses and full courses, the appeal must be made 15 working days following the Victoria Day Holiday.

Students wishing to appeal grades should contact the Registrar's Office to make application. The deadlines for grade appeals fall 15 working days from the first day of second term courses and 15 working days from the Victoria Day Holiday. For 2011-12, these dates are as follows:

Appeal of Fall Term Courses: on or before January 23, 2012

Appeal of Winter Term and Full Courses: on or before June 11, 2012

For more information, including fees, please consult umanitoba.ca/registrar.

The fee which is charged for each appealed grade will be refunded for any grade which is changed. It should be noted that an appealed grade may not be lowered. Appeal forms may be obtained from the Registrar's Office. Students should note that the deadline for appeal of assigned grades will not be extended for students who are on "hold status" nor will official grades be released by the Registrar's Office until the "hold" has been cleared.

6.3 Academic Appeals,

With the exception of decisions on admissions or disciplinary matters, all academic appeals from decisions of faculty or school appeals committees at the University of Manitoba or by the Comité d'appels at Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface shall be heard by the Senate Appeals Committee regardless of the institute of registration of the student concerned.

The complete terms of reference for the Senate Committee on Appeals as well as an Appeal Form may be obtained from the Office of the University Secretary, 312 Administration Building or Student Advocacy/Student Resource Services, 519 University Centre.

SECTION 7: Attendance and Withdrawal

7.1 Attendance at Class and Debarment,

Regular attendance is expected of all students in all courses.

An instructor may initiate procedures to debar a student from attending classes and from final examinations and/or from receiving credit where unexcused absences exceed those permitted by the faculty or school regulations.

A student may be debarred from class, laboratories, and examinations by action of the dean/director for persistent non-attendance, failure to produce assignments to the satisfaction of the instructor, and/or unsafe clinical practice or practicum. Students so debarred will have failed that course.

7.2 Withdrawal from Courses and Programs,

7.2.1 Voluntary Withdrawal

The registration revision period extends two weeks from the first day of classes in both Fall and Winter terms. Courses dropped during this period shall not be regarded as withdrawals and shall not be recorded on official transcripts or student histories. The revision period is prorated for Summer terms and for parts of term.

After the registration revision period ends, voluntary withdrawals (VWs) will be recorded on official transcripts and student histories.

The following dates are deadlines for voluntary withdrawals:

- The Voluntary Withdrawal deadline shall be the 48th teaching day in both Fall and Winter term for those half-courses taught over the whole of each term;

- The Voluntary Withdrawal deadline for full-courses taught over both Fall and Winter term shall be the 48th teaching day of the Winter term; and
- The Voluntary Withdrawal deadline for full-and-half courses taught during Summer terms or during some other special schedule shall be calculated in a similar manner using a pro-rated number of teaching days.

The exact Voluntary Withdrawal dates that apply to courses offered in the current academic session are published in the Academic Schedule.

7.2.2 Authorized Withdrawal

Subject to the provision of satisfactory documentation to the faculty of registration, Authorized Withdrawals (AWs) may be permitted on medical or compassionate grounds.

7.2.3 Required Withdrawal from Professional Programs

Senate, at the request of some faculties and schools, has approved bylaws granting them the authority to require a student to withdraw on the basis of unsuitability for the practice of the profession to which the program of study leads.

This right may be exercised at any time throughout the academic year or following the results of examinations at the end of every year.

This right to require a student to withdraw prevails notwithstanding any other provisions in the academic regulations of the particular faculty or school regarding eligibility to proceed or repeat.

Where Senate has approved such a bylaw, that fact is indicated in the Calendar chapter for that faculty or school. A copy of the professional unsuitability bylaw may be obtained from the general office of the faculty or school.

SECTION 8: Academic Integrity

8.1 Plagiarism and Cheating,

Plagiarism or any other form of cheating in examinations, term tests or academic work is subject to serious academic penalty (e.g. suspension or expulsion from the faculty or university). Cheating in examinations or tests may take the form of copying from another student or bringing unauthorized materials into the exam room (e.g., crib notes, pagers or cell phones). Exam cheating can also include exam impersonation. (Please see Section 5.2.9~/~/Catalog/ViewCatalog.aspx?pageid=viewcatalog&catalogid=60&picid=825324&topicgroupid=4053&loadusercredits=true on Exam Personation). A student found guilty of contributing to cheating in examinations or term assignments is also subject to serious academic penalty.

To plagiarize is to take ideas or words of another person and pass them off as one's own. In short, it is stealing something intangible rather than an object. Plagiarism applies to any written work, in traditional or electronic format, as well as orally or verbally presented work. Obviously it is not necessary to state the source of well known or easily verifiable facts, but students are expected to appropriately acknowledge the sources of ideas and expressions they use in their written work, whether quoted directly or paraphrased. This applies to diagrams, statistical tables and the like, as well as to written material, and materials or information from Internet sources.

To provide adequate and correct documentation is not only an indication of academic honesty but is also a courtesy which enables the reader to consult these sources with ease. Failure to provide appropriate citations constitutes plagiarism. It will also be considered plagiarism and/or cheating if a student submits a term paper written in whole or in part by someone other than him/herself, or copies the answer or answers of another student in any test, examination, or take-home assignment.

Working with other students on assignments, laboratory work, take-home tests, or on-line tests, when this is not permitted by the instructor, can constitute Inappropriate Collaboration and may be subject to penalty under the Student Discipline By-Law.

An assignment which is prepared and submitted for one course should not be used for a different course. This is called "duplicate submission" and represents a form of cheating because course requirements are expected to be fulfilled through original work for each course.

When in doubt about any practice, ask your professor or instructor.

The Student Advocacy Office, 519 University Centre, 474-7423, is a resource available to students dealing with Academic Integrity matters.

SECTION 9: Graduation and Convocation

9.1 Graduation,

Students may graduate from the University of Manitoba in May/June, October, and February of each year. (Convocation ceremonies are held in May and October only).

Students are eligible to graduate when they have completed all of the requirements for their degree program in accordance with the regulations described in the General Academic Regulations and the regulations available from the general offices of their faculties and schools.

It is the responsibility of each student to be familiar with the graduation requirements of the program in which they are enrolled. Consultation with academic advisors is advised to ensure that graduation requirements are met.

Please refer to the Registrar's Office website (umanitoba.ca/registrar; click on Graduation and Convocation for answers to frequently asked questions about Graduation).

9.2 Application for Graduation,

Every candidate for a degree, diploma or certificate must make formal application at the beginning of the session in which he/she expects to complete graduation requirements.

Application is to be made through Aurora Student. (Log into Aurora Student; click Enrolment and Academic Records, then Declarations then Declare Graduation Date.)

Deadline to Apply for Fall 2011 Graduation: July 28, 2011

Deadline to Apply for February 2012 Graduation: September 21, 2011

Deadline to Apply for Spring 2012 Graduation: January 17, 2012

9.3 Changing a Graduation Date,

If you need to change your graduation date after you have made your declaration, you must contact the general office of your faculty or school as soon as possible.

9.4 Receipt of Information about Graduation,

After you have declared your graduation, you will be sent a series of e-mails requesting you to verify your full legal name, asking you about your attendance at convocation, providing convocation information, and so on. It is imperative that you activate your University of Manitoba e-mail account and check it regularly.

9.5 Convocation,

Convocation ceremonies are held in May/June and October of each year. Correspondence with students who declare intention to graduate will be by email. Please be sure you have claimed your University of Manitoba computer account.

February graduates are included in the May ceremonies.

Graduating students are encouraged to attend with their families and friends because it is the one ceremonial occasion that marks the successful conclusion of their program of studies.

All prospective graduating students who apply for graduation will be asked to confirm by email their intention to attend Convocation.

Complete details of the time, location, and ceremony arrangements will be included in the material sent by email from the Convocation Office in the Office of Registrar.

Students who, for any reason, do not attend Convocation will receive their degrees in absentia.

The Registrar's Office will hold unclaimed parchments for a maximum of twelve months after graduation when any unclaimed parchments will be destroyed. These will include those not given at Convocation, those that were to be picked up in person but not claimed, those that were mailed but returned to the Registrar's Office by the postal outlet or courier depot, those that were not issued due to a financial hold on a student's records, and those that were reprinted immediately after convocation due to corrections.

It is critical that you update your address, phone number and email through Aurora whenever changes occur. Note that any changes made with the Alumni Association are not reflected in your University of Manitoba student records.

If you do not receive your parchment, it is your responsibility to follow up with the Registrar's Office within a twelve-month period. Any requests for parchments after this time will be processed as replacements; there is a fee charged for replacement parchments.

9.5.1 Academic Dress

Academic gowns, hoods, and caps are provided by the university as part of the Convocation arrangements.

9.5.2 Convocation Information

Information on Convocation may be obtained from the Registrar's Office, 400 University Centre.

SECTION 10: Personal Information

Intro,

You may make changes to your personal information by accessing Aurora Student and then selecting Personal Information.

10.1 Mailing Address,

In order to receive University mail, it is essential that you provide the Registrar's Office with your current address. All mail will be directed to the address you provide.

10.2 Change of Name,

If you have changed your name since you were first admitted or if the name on your record is incomplete or inaccurate, official evidence of the name change or correction must be submitted to the Registrar's Office along with a completed Request for Change of Name form. The University of Manitoba uses your full legal name on its records, transcripts, and graduation documents (a full legal name, for example, includes all names on your birth certificate - first, middle, and last - or on your study permit). Abbreviated names, anglicized names, or initials should not be used unless they have been proven with appropriate documentation.

Admissions

SECTION 1: Welcome

SECTION 1: Welcome,

You are joining a vibrant community of nearly 27,000 students and over 5,000 academic and support staff members that emphasizes excellence in teaching, learning, and research.

The University of Manitoba is a community of people who study, teach, conduct research, and create music and art, and whose ideas and accomplishments have an impact on our society and culture both here in Manitoba and in the wider world.

The University of Manitoba is the province's largest university and the first to be established in western Canada.

The majority of new University of Manitoba students will enter University 1, an innovative program that was specially designed to provide choice and flexibility. University 1 gives you the opportunity to begin your university studies with a year of personal and academic exploration. Advisors are available to provide academic advice and assistance. During the University 1 Orientation that begins your first academic year, you will be introduced to the wide range of campus support services that can help you with all aspects of student life.

If you are joining the University of Manitoba after completing some college or university courses at another institution, you are equally welcome as you continue your studies.

This book, the Undergraduate Calendar and Registration Guide, provides the basic information you require to apply, register, and complete your programs. More specific information on admission requirements and the application process can be found in the applications themselves and their accompanying guides and/or bulletins. These can be downloaded from our website at umanitoba.ca/admissions. In addition, there are advisors in the general offices of all academic units who are ready to answer your questions and to help you understand policies and regulations that affect you.

Again, welcome to the University of Manitoba. You are joining a large community of students and scholars, and when you graduate you will be joining an even larger community of graduates.

The University of Manitoba is honored to provide you with your education.

SECTION 2: An Overview of Undergraduate Admission

SECTION 2: An Overview of Undergraduate Admission, The twenty-two faculties and schools of the University of Manitoba offer over 60 different undergraduate programs. Some of these programs are open to high school graduates, or to mature status applicants, while others require a year or more of university-level studies as preparation for admission.

Programs that are open to high school graduates are called 'direct-entry' programs and include: University 1, Faculty of Engineering, the diploma program of the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Science, the School of Art (Studio programs), Asper School of Business and the Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music. Some of these programs will also accept mature status applicants (See Section 5 Other Admission Categories). Most students applying to the University of Manitoba on the basis of high school standing will be admitted to University 1, a first year program designed to provide a foundation for studies in Arts, Science, and the professional disciplines.

The other programs are called 'advanced entry' programs and accept applications from students who have completed a year or more in university-level studies, either in University 1 (or another program at the University of Manitoba) or at another recognized university or college. Students who have completed 24 credit hours or more of university level courses in University 1, or at other institutions, and students who have completed at least one year at recognized community or technical colleges, will usually apply to an 'advanced entry' program, but are also eligible to apply to the diploma program of the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Science, the School of Art (Studio programs), the Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music, and to General Studies (Extended Education).

In addition, students can also apply as Auditing, Visiting, or Special Students (see Section 5 Other Admission Categories). Usually students in these applicant categories will apply to General Studies (Extended Education) which they can take degree credit courses in a variety of disciplines to meet entrance requirements for a future degree application or to meet career development and personal goals.

The main criterion for admission for direct and advanced entry programs is the scholastic achievement of the student. In instances such as the Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music and the School of Art, additional criteria designed to assess the student's suitability for education are applied.

Most faculties and schools in the University of Manitoba have enrolment limitations, and a process of selection is applied by the university. In some programs the number of students applying for admission greatly exceeds the number which the university is able to admit. Selection, therefore, is based upon scholastic achievement and suitability for the discipline. In some faculties and schools first consideration is given to residents of Manitoba who are Canadian Citizens or Permanent Residents. A limited number of places may be assigned to Canadian Citizens or Permanent Residents who are resident outside Manitoba or to those who are not Canadian Citizens/Permanent Residents. The William and Catherine Booth College (approved teaching centre) and College universitaire de Saint-Boniface (an affiliated college) are not limited in their enrolment, and interested students are directed to those colleges for information.

Many of the first-year level courses in mathematics and the sciences at the University of Manitoba will have high school subject prerequisites. These prerequisites are listed in the course descriptions sections of this calendar.

All applicants whose primary language is not English must fulfil the English language proficiency requirements described in Section 7 English Language Proficiency.

Students are strongly encouraged to apply for admission on-line (www.umanitoba.ca/admissions).

Comprehensive Applicant Information Bulletins that provide detailed information on the entrance requirements, application and selection process, documentation requirements and deadlines, enrolment restrictions, and all other factors used in the admission process are posted on the admissions website (www.umanitoba.ca/admissions). Some general information on entrance requirements may be found in the faculty and school sections of this Calendar, but the only comprehensive source of information on the admission requirements and processes will be found in the Applicant Information Bulletins. In the event of any inconsistencies between the information found in this Calendar and the Bulletin, the Bulletin entry shall prevail.

SECTION 3: Direct Entry Programs

Intro,

Comprehensive information on the entrance requirements, application process, and deadlines for each of these programs is found at www.umanitoba.ca/admissions.

The following faculties and schools offer direct entry programs which accept students graduating from Manitoba high schools (or the equivalent in other provinces/countries):

- University 1

Agricultural & Food Science (diploma program)

Asper School of Business

Engineering

Fine Arts \(Studio programs\)

General Studies ( Extended Education)

Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music

Students applying from high school to a direct entry program must meet two levels of requirements:

- The general entrance requirements
- The specific subject and performance requirements of the program for which admission is sought.

3.1 General Entrance Requirements,

3.1.1 Manitoba High School Students

Applicants must present Manitoba high school graduation, with five full credits at the Grade 12 level, in courses designated S (Specialized), G (General), or U (Dual Credit – University), and with a minimum of three of these credits in S or U courses. Manitoba and northwest Ontario (Thunder Bay and west) high school students will be selected on the basis of an average calculated on three courses specified by each faculty or school. Although the remaining courses offered will not be used in the computation of the average, each must bear at least a passing grade.

3.1.2 Other Canadian High School Students

The following certificates are usually accepted as equivalent to Manitoba high school standing and will, therefore, meet the university's general entrance requirements for students from that region..

Alberta: High school graduation with a minimum overall average of 60 percent on five acceptable Grade 12 credits .

British Columbia: High school graduation with a minimum average of 60 percent or better over four acceptable Grade 12 credits.

New Brunswick: High school graduation with a minimum average of 60 percent over six acceptable Grade 12 credits.

Newfoundland: High school graduation with a minimum average of 60 percent over ten acceptable Grade 12 credits.

Northwest Territories: High school graduation with a minimum average of 60 percent over five acceptable Grade 12 credits.

Nova Scotia: High school graduation with a minimum average of 60 percent over five acceptable Grade 12 credits.

Nunavut: High school graduation with a minimum average of 60 percent over five acceptable Grade 12 credits.

Undergraduate Studies

Ontario: High school graduation with a minimum average of 60 percent over six Grade 12 U or M courses.

Prince Edward Island: High school graduation with a minimum average of 60 percent in a university entrance program.

Quebec: First-year CEGEP with satisfactory standing (normally a GPA of 2.0 or better or 65 percent or better).

Saskatchewan: High school graduation with a minimum average of 65 percent on seven acceptable Grade 12 credits.

Yukon Territory: High school graduation with a minimum average of 60 percent or better over four acceptable Grade 12 credits.

3.1.3 Countries and Regions outside Canada

The following certificates are usually accepted as equivalent to Manitoba high school standing and will, therefore, meet the university's general entrance requirements for students from that region.

Please see www.umanitoba.ca/student/admissions/international/requirements.shtml for additional listings.

British-patterned education: (United Kingdom and most Commonwealth countries except as noted separately below) General Certificate of Education, with two subjects at Advanced Level and three at Ordinary Level, or three subjects at Advanced Level and one at the Ordinary Level, with a C overall average; no subject accepted below a D grade. Acceptable alternative: U.K. Higher National Diploma or Certificate.

French-patterned education: (Algeria, Cote d'Ivoire, Cambodia, France, French Guinea, Haiti, Laos, Morocco) Diplôme de Bachelier de l'Enseignement du Second Degré (Baccalauréat Parts I and II)

Latin America: (Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Peru, Venezuela: all others see individual listings below) first year at a recognized university in the same country

Middle East: (Bahrain, Iran, Iraq, Jordan, Kuwait, Libya, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Sudan, United Arab Emirates, Yemen): all others see individual listing below: national secondary school certificate

Russian-patterned education: (Armenia, Azerbaijan, Belarus, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Russia, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Uzbekistan) Maturity Certificate

Yugoslavian-patterned education: (Bosnia-Herzegovina, Croatia, Macedonia, Serbia, Slovenia, Yugoslavia) Matura/Secondary School Leaving Diploma

International Baccalaureate: three courses at the Higher Level and three courses at the Standard Level with a minimum score in each subject of four and an overall minimum score of 24. Advanced credit may be granted for selected Higher and Standard Level courses with minimum scores of four in specific subject areas.

Argentina: Bachillerato or Bachillerato Especializada with a minimum 6 average or the examination Ciclo Basico Comun with a 5 average

Australia: matriculation as defined by the home state university

Bangladesh: Higher Secondary Certificate (HSC) in at least the second division

Brazil: Certificado de Conclusão de Grau or a Diploma de Técnico de Nível Médio with a minimum 6.5 average or the examination Concurso Vestibular with a minimum 5 average

China: Senior Middle School Diploma

Czech Republic: Maturitní Zkouška (Maturita)

El Salvador: Bachillerato in the academic specializations only with a minimum 6.5

Ethiopia: first year standing at a recognized university in the same country

Germany: Reifezeugnis

Greece: Apolytirion

Hong Kong: General Certificate of Education as described above (see British-patterned education) or the University of Hong Kong Matriculation Certificate assessed as the G.C.E.

India: second division or higher in one of: All-Indian Senior School Certificate, Higher Secondary Certificate (Pre-Degree, Pre-Professional or Pre-University), Intermediate Certificate, Higher Secondary Certificate Part 2

Indonesia: Sekolah Menengah Uman (S.M.U.)

Ireland: (Republic of) Leaving Certificate

Israel: Bagrut Certificate

Italy: Maturita Classica Diploma or Maturita Scientifica Diploma

Japan: Upper Secondary School Diploma

Kenya: Kenya Certificate of Secondary Education (KCSE)

Malaysia: Sijil Tinggi Persekolahan Malaysia (STPM) or MICSS Unified Examination Certificate (UEC)

Mexico: Bachillerato certificate with a minimum 7.0 average

Nigeria: Senior School Certificate with a maximum 5.0 average

Pakistan: Higher Secondary School Certificate (HSC) in at least the second division

Philippines: second year standing at a recognized institution of higher learning

Poland: Maturity/Swiadectwo Dojrzalosci Certificate

Portugal: first year standing at a recognized university in the same country

Singapore: Government Higher School Certificate (Chinese) with two subjects at the Principal Level and three subjects at the Subsidiary Level

Slovak Republic: Maturity Certificate (Maturitnej Skuske)

Somalia: First year university standing

South Korea: Academic Upper Secondary School Certificate (Immumgye Kodung Hakkyo Choepchang)
Undergraduate Studies

South Africa: Matriculation Certificate of the Joint Matriculation Board in the first or second class with a minimum standing of C or one of the following certificates in the first or second class providing that exemption from the Matriculation Examination of the Joint Matriculation Examination of the Joint Matriculation Board has been granted: Cape Senior Certificate of the Department of Public Education, Natal Senior Certificate of the Department of Education, Orange Free State School Leaving Certificate of the Department of Education

Spain: Titulo de Bachillerato or University Orientation Year

Taiwan: Senior High School Leaving Certificate

Thailand: Mathayom /Maw 6

Ukraine: Atestat pro Povnu Zagalnu Sersdniu Osvitu (Grade 12)

United States of America (and Puerto Rico): complete Grade 12 with a minimum average of C or better on a minimum of five academic Grade 12 subjects

Not Acceptable: The following qualifications by themselves are not acceptable as a basis of admission: GCE (O) levels only; West African School Certificate; Hong Kong Certificate of Education; Ordinary Diploma and Technician Diploma; Malaysian Technical Diploma; U.K. City and Guilds Certificate; U.K. College of Preceptors Licentiate; U.K. Ordinary National Certificate or Diploma; West Indies CXC.

Graduates from international schools overseas will be considered for admission only if they are eligible for admission to a major university of their country of citizenship; or they have successfully completed an internationally examined curriculum such as the GCE or IB diploma, or they have successfully completed the formal graduation requirements of a Canadian provincial ministry of education in an approved institution. (See 3.1.2 for minimum requirements.)

3.1.4 International Baccalaureate Students

To meet the General Requirements, an I.B. student must present three courses at the Higher Level and three courses at the Standard Level, with a minimum score in each subject of four and an overall minimum score of 24. Credit may be granted for selected Higher and/or Standard Level courses with minimum scores of four in specific subject areas; see section 6.1 Advanced Standing for High School Students.

3.1.5 Mature Student Status

Mature student status is granted to one who:

- Does not meet the normal entrance requirements;
- Is at least 21 years of age (before May 1 for admission to classes beginning in May; before July 1 for classes beginning in July; before September 30 for the Fall term; and before January 31 for the Winter term, and,
- Is either a Canadian citizen, or a permanent resident of Canada.

Mature status students may apply to any of the following direct entry programs: University 1, Engineering, Fine Arts \(diploma program\), and Music. Members of the Canadian Military are also eligible to apply to General Studies (Extended Education) and Faculties of Arts and Science as mature students. Applicants to Engineering are required to meet the specific high subject requirements of that Faculty, i.e. a minimum of 60% in each of Chemistry 40S, Pre-Calculus Math 40S, and Physics 40S (or the equivalent) plus a minimum 85% average over these subjects.

Applicants who have completed 24 credit hours or more of course work at another post-secondary institution are not normally eligible for mature student status admission. These applicants should apply to one of the 'advanced entry' programs.

Applicants who do not qualify for consideration for admission under the mature status requirements must meet the regular high school entrance requirements applicable to their chosen faculty or school.

Applicants seeking admission under mature student status are encouraged to seek further information from the Admissions Office.

3.2 Specific Subject and Performance Requirements,

3.2.1 University I

These requirements are applicable to students who will or have graduated from a Manitoba high school.

Completion of ONE of the following sets of requirements:

- Set A: One credit of Grade 12 S or U English with a minimum grade of 60%, and a minimum average of 70% over three Grade 12 S or U credits OR
- Set B: One credit of Grade 12 S or U English, with a minimum grade of 60%, and a minimum average of 63-69.9% over three Grade 12 S or U credits OR
- Set C: A minimum average of 70% over three Grade 12 S or U credits, but lacking the Grade 12 S or U English requirement.

Equivalent levels of English and performance standards will be required of applicants from other Canadian provinces.

International applicants from other countries should qualify under Set A above.

NOTE: Admission under Set B or C will be considered a limited admission to University 1; some registration restrictions and performance standards will apply, and additional academic supports and services will be provided. See the University 1 section of this Calendar for further details on limited admission.

3.2.2 Agricultural & Food Sciences (diploma program)

Grade 12 English 40S, Mathematics 40S or 45S, and a science 40S are recommended. The equivalent from other provinces/countries can be accepted. Applications may also be accepted from students who have not graduated from high school but an interview may be required

3.2.3 Asper School of Business

A minimum of 60% in each of English 40S, Pre-Calculus or Applied Mathematics 40S, and one other 40S, with a minimum 85% average over the three required courses is required. The equivalent from other provinces/countries can be accepted. Only applicants applying directly from high school can be considered for direct entry to Asper School of Business. Students who have completed any university or college courses must apply for admission as transfer students.

3.2.4 Engineering

A minimum of 60% in each of Pre-Calculus Mathematics 40S, Chemistry 40S, and Physics 40S, with a minimum 85% average over the three required courses is required. The equivalent from other provinces/countries can be accepted.

3.2.5 Fine Arts (studio degree and diploma programs)

Degree candidates must meet the same entrance requirements as University 1. The equivalent from other provinces/countries can be accepted. Applications for the diploma program will also be accepted from students who have not graduated from high school or who do not meet the University 1 requirements. Portfolios are required from all applicants (www.umanitoba.ca/schools/art). Grade 12 Art is recommended.

3.2.6 General Studies (Extended Education)

Applicants must meet the requirements for University 1 Set A. High school graduates interested in working towards a University of Manitoba degree should apply to University 1 or one of the other direct entry programs.

3.2.7 Music

Candidates must meet the same entrance requirements as University 1. The equivalent from other provinces/countries can be accepted. An audition and a theory assessment are required (www.umanitoba.ca/music.) Grade 12 Music and a second language at the Grade 12 level are recommended.

SECTION 4: Advanced Entry Programs

Intro,

Comprehensive information on the entrance requirements, application process, and deadlines for each of these programs is found at www.umanitoba.ca/admissions.

The following faculties and schools offer advanced entry programs which are only open to those with a year (24 credit hours) or more of university-level studies, either in University 1 (or another program) at the University of Manitoba, or at another recognized post-secondary institution.

- Agricultural & Food Sciences \(degree programs\)

Architecture \(Environmental Design\)

Arts

Asper School of Business (transfer students)

Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, & Resources

Dental Hygiene

Dentistry

Education

Engineering \(transfer students\)

Environmental Design \(Architecture\)

Fine Arts \(Art History\)

Human Ecology

Kinesiology & Recreation Management

Law

Medicine

Medical Rehabilitation \(Respiratory Therapy\)

Nursing

Pharmacy

Science

Social Work

Students with a year or more of course work at the post-secondary level may also apply to any of the following direct entry programs:

- Agricultural & Food Science \(diploma program\)

Fine Arts \(Studio programs\)

General Studies \(Extended Education\)

Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music

(Students who have completed 24 credit hours or more of post-secondary institution courses are not normally eligible to apply for admission to University 1.)

Students who have attended university or college, but who have completed less than 24 credit hours of course work at another institution, will normally apply for admission to University 1 or another direct entry program (see Section 3.0 Direct Entry Programs)

Students applying to an advanced entry program must meet two levels of requirements:

- The minimum performance standard of the University
- The minimum performance standards and specific requirements of the Faculty or School in which admission is sought.

4.1 Minimum Performance Standard of the University,

The minimum performance requirement for entry to a post-University 1 level program at any faculty or school at the University of Manitoba is a cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of 2.0 (C). Students who do not meet this requirement may be considered for admission if they have achieved a minimum grade point average (GPA) of 2.0 (C) on all courses acceptable for credit in the faculty or school to which application is made. In this case, students must have at least 24 credit hours acceptable for credit. In addition to this university minimum performance requirement, students must meet any additional entrance requirements, performance levels, and selection criteria stipulated for the faculty or school of application.

Students who are currently on suspension at another post-secondary institution will not normally be considered for admission to the University of Manitoba.

Students are advised that selection processes are competitive and in many cases applicants must present adjusted grade point averages greater than the minimum level stated. See Section 4.2 below.

4.2 Minimum Performance Standards and Specific Requirements of the Faculty or School,

Each faculty and school has its own admission requirements and processes, including minimum performance standards and specific entrance requirements and restrictions, and this information is provided in the Applicant Information Bulletin posted on the University website (www.umanitoba.ca/admissions). The introductory section of each faculty or school chapter provides a general overview of the admissions requirements, but for specific, comprehensive information on the entrance requirements and selection processes, students must review the Faculty's Applicant Information Bulletin posted at the website.

SECTION 5: Other Admission Categories

5.1 Readmission, Continuing and Returning Students,

All students who were admitted and who did not follow through with registration must apply for re-admission (www.umanitoba.ca/applynow).

Students who voluntarily withdraw from their first-year of studies must reapply for admission. The only exceptions are students in Agricultural and Food Science, Arts, General Studies, Human Ecology, Social Work, and University 1 who are permitted to re-register without re-applying for admission.

Former students who have attended other institutions since their last registration at the University of Manitoba must apply for re-admission, unless the other institution was attended on a letter of permission.

Students whose past registration was in the following faculties, but who have not been in attendance for one or more years, should seek formal permission to re-register from the office of the dean or director of the faculty or school concerned, to ensure that work previously completed complies with current program requirements: Agricultural and Food Sciences; Arts; General Studies (Extended Education); Engineering; Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources; Human Ecology; Science; Social Work; or University 1. Former students of the Faculty of Arts are required to re-apply for admission if they have been away from their studies for ten or more years.

All students who were admitted to the Asper School of Business, Dental Hygiene, Education, Environmental Design, School of Art, Nursing, Music, or Kinesiology & Recreation Management, where there is limited enrolment, and who have not been in attendance for one year or more, must make formal application to re-register to the office of the dean or director before June 1. Their acceptance back into the program will be subject to quota restrictions and compliance with existing program requirements.

Students who wish to change to a different faculty or school, or who are no longer eligible to continue in one program of studies at the University of Manitoba, may apply for admission to another faculty or school by the deadline date indicated in the academic schedule, and must meet the entrance requirements of the faculty of choice.

Students wishing to return to their program of studies after serving a period of academic or disciplinary suspension, must make a formal request for re-registration to the Dean's or Director's office of their faculty or school. Students currently on suspension from a faculty or school at the University of Manitoba will not normally be eligible for consideration for admission to another faculty or school.

Students who attend another post-secondary institution or another faculty or school at the university after being placed on suspension, must submit an application through the Admissions Office to be considered for readmission to the faculty or school of suspension.

Graduates who wish to take further courses in their own faculty, but not towards a degree, must apply for readmission as a "special student."

5.2 Special Students,

Special students are those who wish to enrol in a degree credit course for professional or personal interest and who are not seeking to complete a degree. These students apply to General Studies (Extended Education) or to the faculty or school offering the course.

5.3 Visiting Students,

Visiting students are students who are registered at another institution who are taking one or more courses at the University of Manitoba on a Letter of Permission from their home university. These students generally apply for admission to General Studies (Extended Education).

5.4 Auditing Students,

Auditing students are those who wish to be admitted for the purpose of auditing a course(s) only (not for academic credit). No documentation other than the information requested on the application form is required for admission purposes. Auditing students are not entitled to examination or other evaluation privileges, and in no instance may credit standing be obtained for a course which has been audited. Once admitted, the written consent of the instructor of the course(s) which the student wishes to audit must be presented at the time of registration for approval by the faculty or school. (Students admitted in a category other than auditor may audit courses with the approval of the dean or director, provided written permission of the instructor is presented at registration.)

5.5 Students Transiting to Arts or Science from University 1,

University 1 students in good academic standing (see the University 1 section of this Calendar) may be admitted to either Arts or Science through a process called 'transiting', and are not required to complete the admission process through the regular application procedures. Students intending to transit to the Faculty of Arts or Science may do so prior to their next regular term of registration subject to the following conditions:

- Students in good academic standing who have completed at least 24 credit hours may choose to transit to the Faculty of Arts or Science.
- Students in good academic standing who have completed 30 credit hours or more in University 1 must choose to transit to Arts or Science, if not admitted to another faculty or school, prior to the next regular term of registration. Students will not normally transit for Summer Session.

- Students whose last assessment in University 1 was On Probation may be considered for entry to the Faculty of Arts or the Faculty of Science if a minimum GPA of 2.0 has been achieved on all courses acceptable for credit in the Faculty they intend to enter. In this case, students must have at least 24 credit hours acceptable for credit. Students requesting entry in this category must contact the Faculty of Arts or Science for further information.
- Students who are currently on academic suspension from University 1 will not be eligible for transit to Arts or Science until the period of suspension has been completed.

Upon transit to the Faculty of Arts or Science, a student's next assessment of academic performance will be according to the standards required in Arts and Science. See the chapters for the Faculties of Arts or Science in this Calendar for further details.

SECTION 6: Admission with Advanced Standing

Intro,

Students who have previously attended a recognized post-secondary institution, including universities, colleges, community and/or technical colleges, and Bible Colleges, who are selected for admission to either a direct entry or an advanced entry program may qualify for advanced standing. Advanced standing will be granted in compliance with the residence requirements, provided the work completed is part of the requirements of the degree program in which the student wishes to enrol. Some faculties and schools may consider only courses completed within ten (or fewer) years. Credit will be granted only for courses taken at a recognized institution. Standing cannot be determined until official transcripts and complete course descriptions have been received. Since it takes considerable time to have courses evaluated for transfer credit, students are urged to submit their results and course descriptions as early as possible in order that the evaluation process can be completed in time for registration. Students who do not have evaluations completed prior to registration should consult their faculty or school for guidance in selecting courses.

Transfer credit for each individual course will be evaluated by the appropriate University of Manitoba department and transfer credit will be granted subject to program applicability.

Further information on transfer of credit and residence requirement is found in the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements.

Some faculties and schools may have limitations on possible credit taken beyond a specified period, this information is described in their chapters or in the Applicant Information Bulletin.

6.1 Advanced Standing for High School Students,

Students who have completed courses in the Advanced Placement program (selected Advanced Placement College Board examinations with a minimum score of four in specific areas) or the International Baccalaureate program (selected Higher and Standard Level courses with minimum scores of 4 in specific subject areas), or who have completed university level courses while in high school (including Challenge for Credit), may apply for transfer of credit to the program they are entering. Students should consult the Admissions Office for information.

Students admitted on the basis of high school graduation may be denied transfer of credit for any university studies completed between the filing of the application and subsequent registration at the University of Manitoba.

6.2 Students Applying from Bible Colleges,

Students who have attended a Bible college will be considered for admission/transfer credit, providing that:

- The Canadian Bible college is a member institution of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada (AUCC) or is affiliated with an AUCC member institution (other than as an approved teaching centre), or is accredited by the Association for Biblical Higher Education (ABHE).
- The U.S. Bible college holds regional accreditation in the U.S., or is accredited by ABHE.

Degrees from Bible Colleges will not qualify students for admission to second degree or after degree programs.

6.3 Graduates of Diploma Schools of Nursing (R.N.),

Graduates of diploma schools of nursing may be considered admissible as regular students to the University of Manitoba. Admission to specific faculties and schools will be with the consent of the dean or director and will be conditional upon the presence of specific subject fields within the program completed. Applicants in this category may be granted advance standing not exceeding the residency policy of the faculty concerned (grades of "C+" or equivalent in individual courses have the potential for credit in a degree program).

6.4 Graduates of Diploma Schools of Psychiatric Nursing (R.P.N.),

Diploma programs in Manitoba may receive credit transfer for professional work completed.

6.5 Canadian Coast Guard College,

Graduates of the Canadian Coast Guard College diploma programs with a minimum 2.5 ("C+") average will be considered for admission as regular students to the University of Manitoba, and may be granted up to one year of advance standing, as appropriate to faculties and schools.

6.6 Graduates of Extended Education,

Graduates of certificate programs offered under the auspices of the Extended Education Division of the University of Manitoba which require a minimum of 180 contact hours, may be eligible to receive credit towards an undergraduate degree providing they have been admitted to a faculty or school in which transfer of credit is appropriate. A minimum overall average of 2.5 or better must have been achieved to qualify for consideration. The maximum amount of credit which may be transferred will be determined by Extended Education in consultation with the relevant faculty or school.

SECTION 7: English Language Proficiency

7.1 English Language Proficiency Requirement,

English is the language of instruction and communication at the University of Manitoba. Accordingly, an applicant whose primary language is not English, or whose previous education was in another language, must demonstrate a command of English sufficient to meet the demands of classroom instruction, written assignments, and participation in tutorials and discussions.

Canadian Citizens, Permanent Residents and others whose primary language is English are deemed to be proficient in English by virtue of having lived and been educated in a country where English is the primary language (country as determined by the Admissions Office).

Canadian Citizens and Permanent Residents and International (study permit) applicants whose primary language is NOT English must provide evidence of proficiency in English by meeting the University of Manitoba standards as outlined in the following section.

7.2 English Language Proficiency Options ,

Any applicant who is asked to demonstrate proficiency in the English language may do so by meeting any one of the following options:*

- Achieve a minimum total score of 80 with a recommended minimum of 19 in each component score on the internet-based Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL).
- Achieve a minimum score of 550 with no less than 50 (unscaled) in each of the component scores on the paper-based TOEFL.
- Achieve a minimum total score of 213 with no less than 17 (unscaled) in each component score in the computer-based TOEFL.
- Achieve minimum scores of 4.5 in Reading, 4.5 in Listening and 4.0 in Writing on the Canadian Test of English for Scholars and Trainees (CanTEST).
- Achieve a minimum score of 6.5 based upon the academic module A, or module B, on the International English Language Testing System (IELTS).
- Achieve a minimum score of 80 on the Michigan English Language Assessment Battery (MELAB).
- Achieve a grade of C or higher on the University of Cambridge Certificate of Proficiency in English.
- Achieve a score of 60 or more in the Canadian Academic English Language Assessment (CAEL).
- Achieve a minimum score of 58 in the Pearson Test of English (Academic).
- Achieve a minimum of 65% in the direct-entry English program, also known as the Academic English Program for University and College Entrance (AEPUCE), as taught by the English Language Centre at the University of Manitoba.

* Some Faculties may require a specific test or test scores higher than those indicated above.

7.3 English Language Proficiency Waiver,

An English language proficiency waiver may be granted to anyone who is a Permanent Resident, Naturalized Canadian, or who is in Canada on a study permit.

Students seeking this exemption must provide supporting documentation and have the information assessed as satisfactorily meeting one of the following:

- Ten consecutive years of residency in Canada, which may include years of study.
- Successful completion of a three-year secondary (high school) program in Canada, or three years of post-secondary education in Canada, or any combination of three years of successful secondary and post-secondary education in Canada.
- Graduation from a Manitoba high school with five credits at the Grade 12 level which include two credits of English at the 40S or U level with an average grade of 75 per cent.
- Achieve a grade of four or better on the International Baccalaureate Higher Level English course, or a grade of four or better on the Advanced Placement English Composition: Literature and Composition.
- Verify conditions equivalent to the above in a country where English is the primary language.

SECTION 8: Application Procedure

8.1 Applications, Deadlines and Documents,

On-line applications and downloadable application material is provided on the university website (www.umanitoba.ca) and at the Admissions Office, 424 University Centre; telephone (204) 474-8808. All applicants are advised to download the Applicant Information Bulletin for their chosen faculty/school for a careful review of the entrance requirements and selection process and then to apply on-line for admission. Paper application packages will be supplied to any applicant unable to access this electronically.

Students are encouraged to submit their applications as early as possible to provide enough time for documentation submission and application processing. Students cannot register until a favourable admission decision has been made. Generally faculties and schools do not consider nor issue acceptances to students awaiting supplemental or summer session results. In those faculties and schools which do, applications must be filed in time to meet the deadline date. An admission decision will only be made upon receipt of final examination results.
Undergraduate Studies

Application to live in a campus residence is made separately (see the Student Affairs chapter).

Students who have attended a university other than the University of Manitoba will be required to submit official transcripts of all previous work completed. Transcripts should be submitted at the time of application, or as soon as final results are available, but no later than the deadline date for submission of documents. University of Manitoba transcripts are not required of applicants.

Transfer student applicants who register for further university/college courses subsequent to their application to the University of Manitoba (unless on a Letter of Permission from the University of Manitoba) must submit an official transcript of final grades. Admission status will be reassessed, and unless prior permission has been obtained from the Admissions Office, transfer of credit may be denied.

8.2 Appeals of Admission Decisions ,

Individuals who wish to have their applications reconsidered should direct their request in writing within ten days of mailing of the notification of denial of admission to the chair of the faculty/school selection committee; or in the case of Agricultural and Food Sciences, Arts, Human Ecology, Engineering, Education, Fine Arts, Music, Science, and University 1 to the respective general office. Additional information on appeals is available from these general offices. Advice on appeals is available from the Office of Student Advocacy, 519 University Centre, telephone (204) 474 7423.

If applicants wish to appeal the reconsidered decision of the selection committee, they should direct their request to the Office of the University Secretary for transmission to the Senate Admission Appeals Committee, within ten days following the mailing of the results of the selection committee's reconsideration. All appeals shall be filed on the approved form.

Information and appeal forms for the Senate Admission Appeals Committee are available from the Admissions Office or the Office of the University Secretary (312 Administration Building).

8.3 Application Fraud or Misconduct,

Application fraud or misconduct includes:

- Failure to declare attendance at another post-secondary institution;
- Presenting falsified academic documentation or causing or encouraging another person to falsify records through translation or data changes;
- Presenting falsified personal documentation, e.g. using a false name, date of birth, country of origin, etc.;
- Presenting falsified or fictitious reference documentation;
- Cheating on, or having another person write, a standardized entry exam such as, TOEFL, MCAT, LSAT, DAT or GMAT;
- Presenting another person's standardized test score as one's own to falsify a test result; and
- Failure to report suspensions from another post-secondary institution.

8.4 Declaration,

All persons seeking admission to the University of Manitoba must sign (or accept) the following declaration on the application for admission form: "I hereby certify that I have read and understood the instructions and information sheet accompanying any part of this application form and that all statements made in connection with this application are true and complete."

The commission of applicant fraud or misconduct may result in acceptance and registration being withdrawn and the applicant disqualified from consideration, not only in the year of application, but in subsequent sessions. If discovered in a subsequent session it may result in dismissal from the university.

SECTION 5: University 1 Course List

SECTION 1: University 1

1.1 First Year Study in University 1,
University 1 is the first 30 credit hours of most University of Manitoba programs, and depending on choice of target faculty, may be completed through either full-time or part-time study. High school graduates, mature students, and transfer Undergraduate Studies students with less than 24 credit hours of post-secondary education are normally admitted to University 1. Please refer to the Admissions Chapter of this Calendar for exceptions.

The courses taken in University 1 are introductory university level courses that are intended to qualify students to enter the target faculty of their choice. When students have completed 30 credit hours in University 1 and have a minimum cumulative Grade Point Average (GPA) of 2.0, they must transit to the Faculty of Arts or the Faculty of Science or apply to another faculty or school where they complete its program requirements in order to graduate.

As outlined in the following sections the main pillars of University 1 are academic advising, academic support and academic orientation. For a more detailed description of University 1 please see the University 1 website at umanitoba.ca/u1.

1.2 The University 1 Student Help Centre,

The University 1 Student Help Centre is home to registration assistants and professionally trained Academic Advisors. Should difficulties arise in any area that would affect academic success the staff members of the University 1 Student Help Centre are available to help.

Academic Advisors typically assist students with program planning, registration difficulties, personal issues or concerns, and connecting students to other campus resources. Newly admitted students should complete Start@U1 (see Section 4.1 in this chapter) prior to consulting with a University 1 Academic Advisor.

Please refer to the University 1 website: at umanitoba.ca/u1 for hours of operation and contact information.

1.3 ARTS 1110: Introduction to University,

ARTS 1110, Introduction to University is a three credit hour course offered by University 1. It is designed to help students make the transition from high school, college or work-place to university, and is normally only available to students who have completed fewer than 12 credit hours of university level courses. ARTS 1110 may help students adjust to university life more quickly, offering a unique combination of educational principles, practical skills, regular assignments, and the support of a group of fellow students. Features of ARTS 1110 include: strategies for academic success; introduction to libraries and research methods; instruction and extensive practice in effective writing, from first draft to finished work; and exercises in critical thinking. ARTS 1110 satisfies the university's written English requirement.

1.4 Orientation ,

Orientation is designed to help students get off to a good start at university. It is an excellent way to become acquainted with the university community and to make some new friends. Orientation is the first two days to welcome and introduce students to the University of Manitoba; which all new students should attend. Information about Orientation will be sent to new students in August. (Students beginning their studies in the Winter Term will have the opportunity to attend Orientation in January. Information will be mailed accordingly.)

SECTION 2: Admission Requirements

Intro,

Please see the Admissions chapter of this Calendar for a full description of the specific admission requirements to University 1.

2.1 Limited Admission,

Canadian high school graduates who do not meet the specific academic requirements for admission to University 1 may be admitted under a special Limited Admission category. Students in this category will have their registration restricted (see section 3.1) and will be provided with additional academic supports and services. For a full description of the Limited Admission program and requirements, please refer to umanitoba.ca/student/u1/advising/limited_admission.htm.

SECTION 3: University 1 Academic Regulations

Intro,

Academic regulations which apply to all students are described in the chapters in this Calendar titled ‘General Academic Regulations and Requirements’, and ‘University Policies’. In addition, University 1 and the faculties and schools offering University 1 courses have regulations and requirements that apply specifically to its students. The University 1 Academic Regulations are described below. Please see the specific Faculty or School chapter(s) for the academic regulations that may apply to courses in which you are registered.

3.1 Maximum Course Load,

University 1 students are normally restricted to a maximum of 30 credit hours during the Fall/Winter terms, with a maximum of five courses in each term. Students admitted under the Limited Admission category will be restricted to a maximum of 24 credit hours during the Fall/Winter terms, with a maximum of four courses in each term. In each case, a credit hour overload may be considered for Winter Term based on Fall Term performance. Contact the University 1 Student Help Centre to discuss course overload requests.

3.2 Repeating Courses,

University 1 students may repeat a course they have previously taken, but they are not required to do so because of a low grade or a VW, unless it is a course required for admission or required once in their target faculty. University 1 students who wish to repeat a course in which they have a final grade must consult with a University 1 Academic Advisor prior to registration. Students may be eligible for a laboratory exemption in classes they are repeating with a laboratory component (see Section 3.3 in this chapter).

For courses that have been repeated (i.e. 2nd attempt) only the last grade achieved will be counted towards the students’ cumulative Grade Point Average. However, the official transcript will reflect the grades of all courses attempted. In most cases, students will only be given one opportunity to repeat a course in which they have received a final grade. This includes taking a course considered to be equivalent to the course originally attempted.

Students must refer to their target faculty or school’s Applicant Information Bulletin to determine how repeating a course may affect admission eligibility.

3.3 Laboratory Exemptions,

University 1 students who are repeating a course with a laboratory component may qualify for a laboratory exemption. Laboratory exemptions are only granted if the lab portion of the course was passed. Only certain courses (usually courses in the Faculty of Science) offer laboratory exemptions. Students should see the general office of the department offering the course to determine if they are eligible for a laboratory exemption. Students who are eligible for a laboratory exemption should bring written permission from the department offering the course to the University 1 Student Help Centre prior to registration.

3.4 Academic Performance,

Grades obtained in University 1 become a part of the student’s permanent record and will appear on the student’s official transcript. See Section 3 of the General Academic Regulations and Requirements chapter of this Calendar for a description of how Grade Point Averages (GPAs) are calculated. Grades earned while in University 1 will determine admission to most target faculties or schools.

Performance Level

University 1 students who have completed 12 credit hours or more will have their academic performance assessed informally as part of an Early Warning Program. Undergraduate Studies

Students with a cumulative GPA of less than 2.00 will be identified as part of the Early Warning Program which is designed to assist students at the earliest sign of academic difficulty by providing academic advising, support services, and strategic referrals with the goal of returning the student to good standing.

Formal academic assessments are performed following each term for all University 1 students who have completed 24 credit hours or more. As a result of this assessment students will be determined to be minimum met, on probation, or on academic suspension.

Minimum Met

University 1 students who have completed 24 credit hours or more must achieve a cumulative GPA of 2.00 or greater at each point of assessment in order to have met the minimum requirements of University 1. Students considered to be minimum met may be eligible to enter their target faculty and are encouraged to contact their target faculty or a University 1 Academic Advisor for admission information.

Probation

Students who do not achieve a cumulative GPA of 2.00 after attempting a minimum of 24 credit hours will be placed on probation. The notation “On Probation” will be recorded on the student’s transcript. Once on probation, a student will be allowed to register for another term. At each point of assessment (at the end of each term), students on probation must achieve a term GPA of 2.00 to be able to continue registering on probation. To clear probationary status the student’s cumulative GPA must be 2.00 or higher. Once a student’s cumulative GPA reaches 2.00 or higher they will have returned to good standing and will be able to register without restrictions.

While on probation, support services and referrals may be suggested in order to improve academic performance. Some restrictions on course load may apply. If the student does not achieve a term GPA of 2.00 in each term that they register while on probation, he/she will be placed on academic suspension for one calendar year (see below).

Please note students who are registered in spanned courses will be assessed at the end of each term in which they are registered. It is possible for a student to be placed on probation prior to completing a spanned course; however an assessment of academic suspension will not occur while a student is registered in a spanned course. Students on probation who are registered in spanned courses will continue on probation until the spanned course is complete, and may be placed on academic suspension at the end of the term in which the spanned course is complete if their term GPA is below 2.00.

Academic Suspension

A student will be placed on academic suspension after failing to achieve a minimum term GPA of 2.00 while on probation. A student placed on academic suspension in University 1 is normally not permitted to register in any other faculty or school at the University of Manitoba or to attend any other post-secondary institution for a period of one calendar year. Students must reapply to University 1 once the term of the suspension has been served. All students placed on academic suspension are strongly encouraged to meet with a University 1 Academic Advisor to discuss possible alternatives to suspension.

3.5 University 1 Honour List,

Students who achieve a term GPA of 3.50 or higher on a minimum of 12 credit hours will be placed on the University 1 Honour List. The University 1 Honour List will be calculated after each term (i.e. Fall, Winter, Summer).

The University 1 Honour List designation will appear on the student’s transcript.

SECTION 4: University 1 Program Requirements

4.1 Course Selection and Registration,

Course selection information for University 1 students can be found in the University 1 Start Book, which describes in detail the courses and course selection options available to University 1 students. The list of courses available to University 1 students is also available in Section 5 of this chapter. With special permission, students may register for courses not on this list.

New University 1 students are required to complete the Start@U1 Online Tutorial and quiz before registering for courses. The Start@U1 Online Tutorial will teach students to choose courses, determine a course load, build a timetable and use the Aurora Student registration system. Other registration related concerns, such as fee payments and photo identification cards, will also be addressed. Additional registration information can be found on the University 1 website at umanitoba.ca/u1 and on the Registrar's Office website at umanitoba.ca/student/records.

Start@U1 details and the University 1 Start Book will be distributed beginning in May and throughout the summer for students newly admitted to University 1 for the Fall Term; in the Fall for students admitted for the Winter Term; and in the Spring to students admitted for the Summer Term. Detailed information about Start@U1, including an online version of the Start Book, is also available at umanitoba.ca/u1.

4.2 University 1 Curriculum,

University 1 is normally the first 24-30 credit hours of a student's degree program. The University 1 curriculum includes a breadth requirement to ensure that students are exposed to a representative sample of courses. To that end University 1 students are required to take 6 credit hours of courses from the Faculty of Arts, 6 credit hours of courses from the Faculty of Science, and 6 credit hours of courses from the Faculty of Arts or the Faculty of Science or the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources. The remaining 12 credit hours of courses are to be chosen from the University 1 course list in the Start Book (also found in Section 5 of this chapter).

The University 1 curriculum will normally be fulfilled through the completion of the admission requirements to faculties and schools as outlined in this Calendar and in the University 1 Start Book. Students who are admitted to faculties and schools after University 1 and who have not completed the University 1 curriculum will complete the remaining requirements as part of their degree program. Additionally, students may be eligible to enter a faculty or school program once they have completed 24 credit hours, but must complete remaining University 1 coursework in their intended degree program (see Section 4.3 in this chapter).

4.3 Transfer to Faculties and Schools Following University 1,

Target faculties and schools that students may enter after University 1 have established minimum admission requirements. It is strongly advised that students pay attention to these requirements when choosing their courses in University 1. Target faculties and schools that admit students directly from University 1 require the completion of either 24 or 30 credit hours, depending on the program. There are often alternative courses that will fulfil admission requirements and, with careful planning, the University 1 course selection can qualify students for admission to more than one program. Many target faculties and schools have also established a Focused Approach for choosing courses in University 1 that will allow students to complete their degree in the shortest possible time. Information about course requirements for each target faculty or school can be found in the Admission section in the chapter pertaining to each faculty or school in this Calendar, the Start Book, and in the Applicant Information Bulletin available on the Admissions website, or from the Enrolment Services Office, 424 University Centre.

Students who have completed 30 credit hours or more with a cumulative Grade Point Average (GPA) of 2.0 must exit University 1 before registering in the next Fall/Winter Terms. Students with 30 credit hours or more who have not met specific academic standards are normally required to remain in University 1 until those standards are met. See Section 3.4 of this chapter for an explanation of University 1's academic standards.

Students who have completed 24 credit hours or more with a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.0 may be eligible to apply for admission to another faculty or school. Alternatively, students who have completed 24 to 29 credit hours with a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher may elect to remain in University 1 and register for a full course load.

Students who have completed 24 credit hours or more with a cumulative GPA of 1.99 or less may not be eligible for admission to a target faculty or school and would remain in University 1. Students should refer to University 1's academic standards as outlined in Section 3.4 of this chapter.

Students with less than 24 credit hours remain in University 1 for their next registration and may register for a full course load.

Note: The Faculty of Engineering, the Faculty of Management (L.H. Asper School of Business), the Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music, the School of Agriculture (the Agriculture Diploma program), and the School of Art (Studio programs) admit students directly from high school, providing specific entrance requirements are met. Alternatively, students may apply for admission to these programs following University 1. See the chapters of these faculties and schools in this Calendar for program information.

SECTION 5: University 1 Course List

Intro,

Refer to Section 4 in this chapter for information about choosing courses in University 1. To find a description of the courses on this list, go to the chapter in this Calendar for the faculty or school that is offering the course. The chapters are in alphabetical order, and departments are listed alphabetically within each faculty or school chapter. Courses are listed in the department sections and sorted in numerical order.

Note that not all courses listed in this section are offered every year. To determine which courses are offered in the current academic year refer to the class schedule and the University 1 Start Book. Students may be permitted to take courses not on this list with permission of the teaching faculty or school and University 1.

For a list of courses available at Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface see a University 1 Academic Advisor or refer to Class Schedule.

Faculty Overview

Faculty Overview

The Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences has earned a reputation for its high-calibre teaching programs and its friendly helpful staff. Students benefit not only from the expertise of staff in the Faculty, but also from the close proximity of other faculties on campus, federal research facilities, and a vibrant Winnipeg-based agricultural community.

Information on the Faculty's History, Vision and Mission Statements, Research, Programs, Centres, and Departments can be found on our website at: umanitoba.ca/afs.

Degree Programs

The degree programs in the faculty are designed to prepare graduates for service in professions concerned with the production, processing and marketing of food. Professional agriculturists hold positions in extension, resource management and conservation, teaching, research and business. Professional food science graduates hold similar positions related to food manufacturing and processing. Graduates from the faculty have important contributions to make in the economy of Canada and the well-being of its citizens. Other graduates accept international responsibilities, particularly in the developing countries. Programs of study in the faculty include courses in physical and biological sciences, mathematics, social sciences, and humanities. With these courses as background, major studies may be taken in areas represented by programs in the faculty. The faculty also offers a two year pre-veterinary program for students who plan to take the degree Doctor of Veterinary Medicine.

Diploma Program

The two-year Agriculture Diploma program offers a practical education for persons interested in operating a farm or working in an agricultural business. Although many diploma graduates return to family farms after graduating, an increasing number of graduates can be found working for farm supply companies, feed companies, financial institutions and grain handling companies, as well as doing technical work for various government agencies.

The Agriculture Diploma program covers a wide range of agricultural subjects, from production through to marketing and business management. Communication and leadership skills also receive considerable emphasis. The program culminates in assignments and a major project that relate directly to the student's individual farm or business interests. The program extends over two winters. Classes begin in late September and end in early April to accommodate students with obligations to plant and harvest crops.

1.3 Professional Designations,
 Graduates of the B.Sc. (Agriculture), B.Sc. (Agribusiness), B.Sc. (Agroecology) and B.Sc. (Food Science) degrees are eligible to practice agrology as members of the Manitoba Institute of Agrologists. An agrologist is a “person who is qualified to teach or to practice the science and art of agriculture or to conduct scientific experiments and research in relation thereto.” The motto of the profession is Ciba ad Omnes (Food for All). B.Sc. (Food Science) graduates are eligible to become members of the Canadian Institute of Food Science and Technology (CIFST), a professional society associated with the manufacturing, processing and packaging of food.

SECTION 2: Admission Requirements

Intro,
 The following is a summary of the admission requirements. Equivalent academic courses completed at recognized universities elsewhere will be considered. All admission requirements, as well as application deadline dates and forms, are included in an applicant information bulletin that is available from the Admissions Office, Enrolment Services, 424 University Centre; this information is also posted on the university’s website.

2.1 Admission Requirements for the Degree Programs,
 The requirement for admission to the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences is a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.00 on a minimum of 24 credit hours.

It is recommended that students take the following courses in University 1 to allow completion of the degrees in the minimum amount of time.

B.Sc. (Agribusiness)

- Agriculture (9 credit hrs)

ABIZ 1000

AGRI 1500

AGRI 1510

- Biology (6 credit hrs)

Notes:

1) Students planning to enter the B.Sc. (Agribusiness) degree program are recommended to take BIOL 1020 and BIOL 1030 but may substitute BIOL 1000 and BIOL 1010.

2) Students planning to enter the B.Sc. (Agribusiness) degree program are not required to take chemistry at the university level.

3) Six credit hours of Math courses, including MATH 1500 Introduction to Calculus or MATH 1520 Introduction to Calculus for Management and Social Sciences are required for the B.Sc. (Agribusiness) and B.Sc. (Food Sciences) programs. In addition the B.Sc. (Agribusiness) program also requires MATH 1300 Vector Geometry and Linear Algebra or MATH 1310 Matrices for Management and Social Sciences.

4) ABIZ 1000 is not required for the B.Sc. Food Science (Food Science option). It is required in the B.Sc. Food Science (Business option).

5) Both CHEM 1310 and CHEM 1320 are required for the B.Sc. (Food Science) Science Option Program.

Other requirements:

High school requirements include Math 40S (Pre-Calculus) (60%) and Biology 40S (50%) for all degree programs, Chemistry 40S (50%) for B.Sc. (Agriculture) includes Agronomy, Animal Systems, Plant Biotechnology, B.Sc. (Agroecology) and B.Sc. (Food Science) students; pre-veterinary students should include Chemistry 40S, Biology 40S and Physics 40S.

Students are required to take three credit hours of Philosophy in their degree.

The written English and Mathematics requirements are met by completing the required courses in Agriculture.

Applicants who do not meet the above-mentioned course requirements may be eligible for admission. Please contact the Academic Advisor (Degree), Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences at (204) 474-8269, for further information.

First Year Agriculture: Brandon University

Brandon University offers the first year of the Agriculture degree program of the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences. Under arrangements between the two universities, students who complete the first-year Agriculture program at Brandon University may apply for admission with full credit into the second year programs of the University of Manitoba.

Transfers of Credit

School of Agriculture graduates who have obtained a GPA of 3.0 in the Agriculture Diploma program are eligible for 60 credit hours of transfer into the following degree programs: Bachelor of Science (Agribusiness), Bachelor of Science (Agroecology), Bachelor of Science (Agriculture) – Agronomy or Animal Systems, when transferring into the same stream. If students choose to change streams it may not be possible to transfer the entire 60 credit hours due to program requirements; students should contact the Student Services Office for details. Grade will be transferred for those courses considered on a one-to-one basis (see below); the remaining credit hours will be transferred without grades. This transfer articulation is applicable to diploma graduates who have entered the degree program as of September 2005.

Students wishing to enter a degree program without the above qualifications will be evaluated on a course-by-course basis. Students should have a cumulative grade point average of 2.50 and a C+ or better in courses for which transfer is being considered.

The Bachelor of Science (Agriculture), Plant Biotechnology, and the Bachelor of Science (Food Science) are not part of this articulation. Students should contact the Student Services Office for details on transfer into these programs.

A Table of the Transfer of Credit courses between Diploma and Degree can be found at www.umanitoba.ca/afs. Students inquiring about transfer of credits should contact the Student Services Office at 474-9295.

Courses taken outside the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences or outside of the University of Manitoba may also qualify for credit towards the degree if the course content and the student's performance are deemed appropriate by the department concerned.

2.2 Admission Requirements for the Diploma Program,
Diploma students enter directly to the Agriculture diploma program from high school; University 1 is not required.

Applicants must be high school graduates with Senior 4 standing in English, Mathematics, and one Science course -- normally either Biology, Chemistry or Physics.

Students without a suitable high school standing may be admitted upon the recommendation of the Diploma Selection Committee. The committee will review Undergraduate Studies each application and interview the applicant. The maturity, scholastic ability and agricultural experience of the applicant will be considered. Please contact the Academic Advisor (Diploma), Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences at (204) 474-6066, for further information.

Transfer of Credit

Courses taken within the degree program in the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences as well as outside the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences or outside of the University of Manitoba may also qualify for credit towards the diploma if the course content and the student's performance are deemed appropriate by the department concerned.

SECTION 3: Faculty Academic Regulations

3.1 Academic Regulations for Degree Program,
The B.Sc. (Agriculture), B.Sc. (Agribusiness), B.Sc. (Agroecology) and B.Sc.(Food Science) degree programs have the triple objectives of vocational, professional and cultural education. To fulfil the objectives, the degrees are offered in a program of study. Most courses in first year, which are taken in University 1 and some in second year, are prescribed. The remainder of second year courses and all courses in third and fourth years are determined by the program of study, and by the student's selection of elective courses.

It is strongly recommended that all students plan their coursework for third and fourth years before the end of their second academic year.

The provisions of the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, and the chapter, University Policies, apply to all students. In addition, the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences has regulations and requirements, published below, that apply specifically to its students. Supplementary academic regulations are on file in the general office. Admission information can be found in the Admissions chapter of this Calendar.

Scholastic Requirements

To obtain a B.Sc. (Agriculture), B.Sc. (Agribusiness), B.Sc. (Agroecology) or B.Sc. (Food Science) degree, a student must pass 120 credit hours normally comprised of 30 hours from University 1 and 90 hours in the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences (i.e., a total of 20 full-courses or the equivalent).

A maximum of 144 credit hours (24 full-courses or the equivalent) may be attempted to obtain the 120 credit hours.

A minimum passing grade of "D" in prescribed courses is required of all students in the faculty.

Elective courses in which passing grades were not obtained need not be repeated.

A student's Grade Point Average (GPA) will be determined from the number of "effective" courses which apply at a particular stage. The effective courses consist of all courses passed in addition to all failures which have not been cleared or substituted for in the student's record.

In order to graduate, students must obtain a minimum GPA of 2.0 calculated over the final 120 credit hours before graduation.

Residence Requirements of Degree Program

The residence requirements for the degrees offered by the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences, can be found in the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Policy.

Time Limits and Lapse of Credit

The normal maximum time allowed for the completion of the Agriculture degree programs is ten years from the date of first registration. A candidate for a degree will not be permitted to count toward

Probational Standards

Effective Courses to Date/Minimum GPA

1-10 (0-30 credits)	1.80
11-20 (33-60 credits)	1.85
21-30 (63-90 credits)	1.90
31-40 (93-120 credits)	1.95
40+ (120+credits)	2.00

Academic Suspension Regulations

A student is placed on academic suspension when one of the following occurs:

- When a student fails to obtain 12 Weighted Grade Points in the first year program; or
- When a student fails to meet the probational standards after attempting a minimum of 24 credit hours while on probation; or
- When a student accumulates failures in excess of 24 credit hours.

Re-entry Regulations

A student must remain out of faculty for a period of one year and then apply for re-entry.

The student must complete at least 12 credit hours with a minimum Grade Point Average of 2.50 in courses approved by the faculty in the academic term or session in which reinstatement is being attempted.

The student loses credit for all courses in which a grade of "D" was obtained prior to being reinstated.

The student is given credit for courses in which grades of "C" or better were obtained, as well as the courses attempted for reinstatement.

The student is reinstated and placed in the category of "good academic standing."

A student who is placed on academic suspension for the second time, will not be permitted reinstatement in the faculty.

Appeals

Appeals of academic assessment of students must be submitted to the general office of the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences within 21 days of the date of notification of the action sent to the student.

Supplemental Exams

Supplemental Exams are not permitted in the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Science Degree Programs.

Re-registration of Returning Degree Students

All degree students who were previously admitted to the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences who have not been in attendance for one or more years must re-register through the Dean's Office. Application for re-registration must take place before July 1 for those students who wish to begin their studies in the Fall term and before November 1 for those students who wish to begin their studies in Winter Term. Students returning to the faculty will be subject to compliance with the current program requirements.

Graduation With Distinction: Degree Programs

The B.Sc. (Agriculture), B.Sc. (Agribusiness), B.Sc. (Agroecology), and the B.Sc. (Food Science) degrees with distinction will be awarded to students who have achieved a minimum degree GPA of 3.75 upon graduation.

Dean's Honour Roll

Students who have completed a minimum of 12 credit hours of study in either the Fall or Winter terms and who achieved a Term GPA of 3.50 or higher will be placed on the Dean's Honour Roll. Graduating students who achieved Dean's Honour Roll status in the previous term but complete less than 12 credit hours in their final term with a Term GPA of 3.5 or greater, will be eligible to remain on the Dean's Honour Roll.

Course Load Limits

A normal "course load" is 30 credit hours during the regular session, with 15 credit hours normally taken in each academic term. A student may attempt a maximum of 39 credit hours during the regular session, with not more than 21 credit hours in an academic term, provided the student is in a good academic standing and has completed at least 24 credit hours in the previous regular session.

University Written English and Mathematics Requirements

All students are required to complete the university written English and Mathematics requirement within the first 60 credit hours of their program. This requirement is described in the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements of this Calendar.

For the degree program in Agriculture, the university written English requirement can be met by AGRI 2030 Technical Communications, or by ENGL 1200, or ENGL 1300. (NOTE: Technical Communications cannot be taken in University 1). The mathematics requirement can be met by completing MATH 1200 or MATH 1210 or MATH 1300 or MATH 1310 or MATH 1500 or MATH 1520, or STAT 1000.

3.2 Academic Regulations for Diploma Program, Requirements for Graduation

To qualify for the Diploma in Agriculture a student must have attained a cumulative GPA of at least 2.00 with a minimum grade of "D" in courses totalling 93 credit hours including all those on the prescribed list. Elective courses in which failures were obtained may be substituted for and need not be repeated, except to help meet the requirements of the scholastic standards described previously.

Part-Time vs. Full-Time Status for Students

A student is considered to be equivalent to full-time if at least 60 per cent of the normal full-time course load is attempted in the academic term or session. (A normal full-time course load is usually 48-52 credit hours during the regular session.) A student will be allowed to take a partial course load with the permission of the Director of the School of Agriculture and the payment of pro-rated fees.

Transfers of Credit From Other Programs

Courses taken within the undergraduate degree programs of the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences can qualify for credit towards the Agriculture Diploma program. See Academic Regulations in the Degree section. Courses taken outside the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences or outside of the University of Manitoba can qualify for credit towards the Agriculture Diploma program if the course content and the student's performance are deemed appropriate by the department concerned.

Students who desire to receive such credit should contact the Academic Advisor of the School of Agriculture.

Agriculture Diploma to Degree Transfer of Credit Hours

School of Agriculture graduates who have obtained a GPA of 3.0 in the Agriculture Diploma program are eligible for 60 credit hours of transfer into the following degree programs: Bachelor of Science (Agribusiness), Bachelor of Science (Agroecology), Bachelor of Science (Agriculture) – Agronomy or Animal Systems, when transferring into the same academic stream. If students choose to change streams it may not be possible to transfer the entire 60 credit hours due to program requirements; students should contact an Academic Advisor in the Student Services Office for details. Students wishing to enter a degree program without the above qualifications will be evaluated on a course-by-course basis. This transfer articulation is applicable to diploma graduates who have entered the degree program as of September 2005.

Scholastic Standards

To maintain good academic standing a student must maintain a Cumulative GPA that meets or exceeds the minimum academic standards described in the table below. The standards are based on the total number of credit hours accumulated while in the Agriculture Diploma program, including courses taken during the term in question. A student who fails to meet the standard is placed on probation or on academic suspension.

Cumulative Credit Hours Cumulative Grade Point Average

	Probation	Suspension
0 -- 17	---	1.00
18 -- 24	1.80	1.60
25 -- 48	1.90	1.70
Over 48	2.00	1.85

NOTES:

- 1) Cumulative Credit Hours includes courses passed and failures not removed by supplemental exams or successful reattempts.
- 2) When both a final and supplemental exam are written the higher grade obtained will be used to determine Grade Point Averages.
- 3) A minimum of 18 credit hours must be attempted between successive determinations of standing. The minimum does not apply to students who graduate before completing an additional 18 credit hours.

Probational Standards and Academic Suspension Regulations

Students on probation must improve their academic performance and regain good academic standing to avoid being suspended. Specifically, after an attempt of a minimum of 18 additional credit hours, students on probation are required to equal or exceed the probation standard in order to regain good academic standing, otherwise they will be placed on academic suspension.

A student on academic suspension is not allowed to register for the subsequent term of the regular academic session (a student suspended in January may not be reinstated until the following September; a student suspended in April may not be reinstated until the following January). Reinstatement requires the approval of the Director. Students should contact the Academic Advisor for further instructions. If reinstatement is granted, all courses from the student's previous attempt will be transferred, except those with a grade of "D" or "F" from their last term (the term during which the student was placed on suspension).

Appeals

Appeals of academic assessment of students must be submitted to the Director of the School of Agriculture within 21 days of the date of notification of the action sent to the student.

Supplemental Exams

Any student in good academic standing (i.e., not on probation or suspension; see previous table of Scholastic Standards) is eligible to write one supplemental exam during each academic session in a course in which an "F" was received. The student must have written the final exam. The supplemental exam shall be considered as a replacement for the final exam only, not for term work. The passing grade in supplementals must be at least "C" (2.0). Students are normally required to carry a full-term program in order to be eligible. Accordingly, students who are granted incomplete or deferred status may not be eligible. When both a final and supplemental exams are written the higher grade obtained will be used to determine the final grade.

Supplemental Exams will be held in January for courses taken in the first term and in June for courses in the second term.

Time Limits and Lapse of Credit

The normal maximum time allowed for the completion of the Agriculture Diploma is five years from the date of first registration. A candidate for a Diploma in Agriculture will not be permitted to count toward that diploma any courses taken more than five years prior to the date of awarding the diploma.

Students who desire an exemption from this maximum must apply, in writing, to the Director.

Dean's Honour Roll

Students registered in at least 36 credit hours and who obtain a sessional GPA of 3.50 or higher will be placed on the Dean's Honour roll.

Graduation with Distinction

The Diploma in Agriculture with Distinction will be awarded to Diploma students who obtain a cumulative GPA of 3.75 or better with 75 per cent of the courses taken within the Diploma in Agriculture.

SECTION 4: Program and Graduation Requirements

4.1 Degree Programs

Intro,

In order to fulfil the requirements for a degree in the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences, students must complete five components:

- Faculty Core
- Degree Core
- Program Core

- Restricted Electives
- Free Electives

These requirements are outlined for all four degrees in the sections which follow.

4.1.1 Faculty Core,

Course No. Credit Hours

ABIZ 1000	Introduction to Agribusiness Management (see Note 1)	3
AGRI 1500	Natural Resources and Primary Agricultural Production	3
AGRI 1510	Production, Distribution and Utilization of Agricultural Products	3
AGRI 2030	Technical Communications	3
BIOL 1020	Biology 1: Principles and Themes (See Note 2)	3
BIOL 1030	Biology 2: Biological Diversity, Function and Interactions (See Note 2)	3
CHEM 1300	University 1 Chemistry: Structure and Modelling in Chemistry (see Notes 3 and 4)	3 and one of the following two courses:
CHEM 1310	University 1 Chemistry: An Introduction to Physical Chemistry (see Notes 3 and 4)	3
	or
CHEM 1320	University 1 Chemistry: An Introduction to Organic Chemistry (see Notes 3 and 4)	3
ECON 1010	Introduction to Microeconomic Principles	3
	Introduction to Macroeconomic Principles	3
ECON 1020
MATH 1200	Elements of Discrete Mathematics (See Note 5)
	or
MATH 1210	Techniques of Classical and Linear Algebra (See Note 5)

	or
MATH 1310	Matrices for Management and Social Sciences (See Note5)
	or
MATH 1500	Introduction to Calculus (See Note5)
	or
MATH 1520	Introductory to Calculus for Management and Social Sciences (See Note 5)
STAT 1000	Basic Statistical Analysis 1	3
	Three credit hours from the following:
PHIL 1290	Critical Thinking (3)
PHIL 2740	Ethics and Biomedicine (3)
PHIL 2750	Ethics and the Environment (3)
PHIL 2830	Business Ethics (3)	3
	Total credit hours	33-39

NOTES:

- 1) ABIZ 1000 is not required for the B.Sc. Food Science (Food Science option). It is required in the B.Sc. Food Science (Business option).
- 2) Students planning to enter the B.Sc. (Agribusiness) degree program are recommended to take BIOL 1020 and BIOL 1030 but may substitute BIOL 1000 and BIOL 1010.
- 3) Students planning to enter the B.Sc. (Agribusiness) degree program are not required to take chemistry at the university level.
- 4) Both CHEM 1310 and CHEM 1320 are required for the B.Sc. (Food Science) Science Option Program.

5) Six credit hours of Math courses, including MATH 1500 Introduction to Calculus or MATH 1520 Introduction to Calculus for Management and Social Sciences are required for the B.Sc. (Agribusiness) and B.Sc. (Food Sciences) programs. In addition the B.Sc. (Agribusiness) program also requires MATH 1300 Vector Geometry and Linear Algebra or MATH 1310 Matrices for Management and Social Sciences.

4.1.2 Bachelor of Science (Agriculture) 1,

The four year program (one year in University 1 and three years in the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences) leading to the B.Sc. (Agriculture) is a professional program which prepares graduates for careers in the public and private sectors related to the production and distribution of agricultural commodities. Graduates will also be prepared to enter directly into a program of graduate studies. In addition to the faculty core courses, all students are required to take the following B.Sc. (Agriculture) degree core requirements and the respective program core courses.

B.Sc. (Agriculture) Degree Core

Course No.	Credit Hours
AGEC 2370 (BIOL 2300) Principles of Ecology	3
CHEM 2770 (MBIO 2770) Elements of Biochemistry	13
PLNT 2520 (BIOL 2500) Genetics	3
Total credit hours	9

Within the B.Sc. (Agriculture) students will elect one of three programs of study or specialities -- Agronomy, Animal Systems or Plant Biotechnology. Students will normally begin the program of study of their choice in second year. A description of each program and their requirements follows.

Agronomy Program

Chair: P. Bullock

Office: 313 Ellis Building

Telephone: (204) 474-8666

The Agronomy program, which students enter into after completing University 1, will provide an integrated and comprehensive study of the factors and processes associated with the science of crop production and the management and use of land and water resources. The program emphasizes land management and the sustainability of agronomic and horticultural crop systems.

4.1.2 Bachelor of Science (Agriculture) 2,

Animal Systems Program

Chair: M. L. Connor

Office: 201 Animal Science Building

Telephone: (204) 474-9219

The Animal Systems program, which students enter after completing University 1, will provide an integrated and comprehensive study of the factors and processes associated with the science of animal production. The program will be based on a strong foundation in the scientific disciplines underlying growth and reproduction in animals and how they respond to a range of environmental systems and constraints.

4.1.2 Bachelor of Science (Agriculture) 3,
Plant Biotechnology Program

Chair: A. Brûlé-Babel

Office: 247A Agriculture Building

Telephone: (204) 474-6062

The Plant Biotechnology Program which students enter after University 1 will provide an integrated and comprehensive study of genetic, physiological and pathological factors and modern technological processes associated with the sciences of plant improvement, production, protection, and utilization. The program will provide an understanding of the biological principles that determine the heredity, growth, and responses of plants and plant pathogens to cultural and environmental factors.

chain. Food production and distribution is undertaken in a business environment and agribusiness is the study of decision-making within this setting. Graduates gain insight into the agribusiness environment through mastering concepts in economics, finance, marketing and management. In addition to the faculty core courses, all students are required to take the B.Sc. (Agribusiness) degree core requirements. Students in Agribusiness are not required to take University 1 Chemistry as part of the Faculty Core requirement.

Through the choice of restricted electives, students will specialize in either agricultural economics, agribusiness management or international agribusiness. The respective agricultural economics, agribusiness management or international agribusiness options involve selecting restricted electives from courses offered by either the Department of Economics, or the Faculty of Management, or the Faculty of Arts through their cross-disciplinary programs.

Students selecting an option in agricultural economics can declare a minor in economics, and by meeting the additional requirements can qualify for a major in economics as well.

The international agribusiness option involves taking a minor in one of the cross disciplinary programs in the Faculty of Arts. International agribusiness requires knowledge of languages, cultures, and international political history, in addition to the other business skills required by the B.Sc. (Agribusiness) degree.

4.1.4 Bachelor of Science (Agroecology),

Co-Chair: B. Amiro

Office: 364 Ellis Building

Telephone: (204) 474-9155

Co-Chair: M. Entz

Office: 309 Agriculture Building

Telephone: (204) 474-6077

The Agroecology program, which students enter after completing University 1, provides students with an understanding of the natural processes in the agroecosystem and the impact of agricultural practices on these processes. The program emphasizes three areas: ecological sciences, agricultural production, and the social and economic implications of environmental management. Students will develop an understanding of how to manage natural and agricultural resources in a manner that enhances economic production while maintaining the integrity of natural and agricultural environments. An undergraduate research project is completed during third and fourth years as part of AGEC 3510 and AGEC 4550. Graduates are prepared for careers at the technical and management levels in government and non-government agencies involved in planning and management of natural and agricultural resources. By appropriate choice of free elective courses, students can prepare for graduate studies.

In addition to the courses prescribed in the faculty core for all students in the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences, the following courses are prescribed for students in the program leading to the B.Sc. Agroecology.

4.1.5 Bachelor of Science (Food Science),

Program Advisor: A. Hydamaka

Telephone: (204) 474-9642

The B.Sc. degree program in Food Science, which students enter into after completing University 1, provides the academic foundation of knowledge and skills for the wide range of activities in food science and technology. The degree program is structured in course offerings and content to enhance the competence of graduating students by providing greater emphasis in communications, critical thinking, computer literacy and statistics which are basic requirements of a modern professional environment. The B.Sc. degree program in Food Science is accredited by the Institute of Food Technologists (IFT).

The B.Sc. (Food Science) degree program offers two options: A Science Option and a Business Option. Students will elect one of two options of study. Both Food Science options require students to complete the Faculty Core courses. A description of each program and their requirements follows after the B.Sc. Food Science Degree Core.

Food Science – Science Option

The principal areas covered are food processing, chemistry, analysis and safety. The Food Science program specifies ten required and a minimum of three restricted elective courses in Food Science. As well, students must select a minimum of three credit hours from a prescribed list of courses in critical thinking and ethics. Twenty-one credit hours of free electives are available and can be selected in Food Science. This will ensure a strong academic base in Food Science and accommodate a satisfactory level of Food Science specialization. In addition, the principal areas covered are food processing, chemistry, analysis and safety.

In addition to the courses required for the faculty core and the Food Science Degree Core the following courses are prescribed for the program leading to a B.Sc. in Food Science – Science Option.

Food Science – Science Option Core

Course No.		Credit Hours
BIOE 3530	Engineering Fundamentals	3
CHEM 1310	University 1 Chemistry – An Introduction to Physical Chemistry*	3
CHEM 1320	University 1 Chemistry – Introduction to Organic Chemistry*	3
FOOD 3210	Food Engineering Fundamentals	3
FOOD 4010	Food Process 2	3
FOOD 4250	Food Analysis 2	3
MBIO 1010	Microbiology 1	3
MKT 2210	Fundamentals of Marketing	3
Total Credit Hours*		21

*Both CHEM 1310 and CHEM 1320 are required for the Food Science-Science Option program. One of these courses will be credited as part of the Faculty Core.

Restricted Electives

Group 1 – Food Safety

One course (three credit hours) from the following:

- AGRI 2190 Toxicology Principles (1.5)
- and
- ANSC 2530 Nutritional Toxicology (1.5)
- FOOD 1000 Food Safety, Today and Tomorrow (3)
- FOOD 4310 Introduction to HACCP (3)
- FOOD 4500 Food Safety and Regulations (3)

Group 2 - General

Two courses (six credit hours) from the following:

- FOOD 3160 Frozen Dairy Products (3)
- FOOD 3170 Cheese and Fermented Milk Products (3)
- FOOD 3220 Grains for Food and Beverage (3)
- FOOD 3500 Processing of Animal Food Products (3)

The B.Sc. degree Program in Food Science now offers a Business option which now allows students to specialize in the program. The Business option specifies eight required courses and a minimum of one course from selected groups of Food Science courses plus one course from a selected group of philosophy courses. Additional required courses from Agribusiness and The Faculty of Management provide a level of specialization in economics, finance, marketing and management. There are also twenty-one credit hours (seven courses) available for free electives.

In addition to the courses required for the faculty core and the Food Science Degree Core the following courses are prescribed for the program leading to a B.Sc. in Food Science – Business Option.

4.1.6 Biosystems Engineering,
Head: D. Mann

Office: E2-376 EITC (Engineering Building)

Telephone: (204) 474-6033

Students in the Bachelor of Science degree in Biosystems Engineering must be admitted to the Faculty of Engineering. The Biosystems Engineering program is outlined in the Faculty of Engineering chapter of this Calendar.

The courses below are for students studying in the various majors in Agricultural and Food Sciences and for non-Agriculture students with a special interest in the subjects.

Course No.	Credit Hours
BIOE 2090Machinery for Agricultural Production	4
BIOE 3200Environmental Engineering for Non-Engineers	3

4.2 Pre-Veterinary Program

Intro,

A pre-veterinary program is offered to students who plan to take the degree Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. Pre-veterinary students whose academic standing is acceptable may be admitted to the Western College of Veterinary Medicine (WCVM), University of Saskatchewan. Acceptance into the Western College of Veterinary Medicine from the pre-veterinary program at the University of Manitoba is normally restricted to residents of Manitoba. Students from outside Manitoba may be accepted as residents of their own province or country. Students entering the pre-veterinary program are responsible for establishing their residence status.

Western College of Veterinary Medicine, Saskatoon

Two full years of university training are required for admission comprised of 30 hours from University 1 and 30 hours in the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences, during which credit must be secured in the number of courses considered a standard load in the curriculum in which they are obtained. The deadline for applications is December.

The program of Pre-Veterinary study must include six (6) credit hours of: English*, Physics, Biochemistry, Mathematics or Statistics; three (3) credit hours in Microbiology, nine (9) credit hours in Biology or Zoology (including genetics), Chemistry (including organic chemistry); plus electives sufficient to complete two full years. (*This requirement can also be met by taking AGRI 2030 Technical Communications, and one half course in philosophy.)

The following program is designed to meet the above requirements within the constraints of present course offerings*. Some modifications may be possible.

The courses outlined here relate to the entrance requirements for WCVM. Students intending to apply to the Ontario Veterinary College (OVC) should consult an OVC advisor or the Animal Systems Advisor.

4.3 Minors

4.3 Minors,

As part of the electives portion of their programs, students may declare and complete a Minor from departments in which a Minor is offered. Course requirements are outlined in sections below. Minors are also available in the Faculties of Arts, Environment, Human Ecology, and Science and can be found within the departmental sections of each of these faculties. A Management Minor is offered by the Asper School of Business; Agriculture, Agroecology and Food Science students may complete this minor (this minor is not available to Agribusiness students). The Minor consists of 18 credit hours of Management courses. Students must meet prerequisites for all courses. Completion of a Minor is optional. It should be noted that planning for completion of a Minor should be done early in the program, ideally before 90 credit hours have been completed, due to restricted opportunities for courses later in the program. All 2nd program majors must be declared before 75 credit hours of study have been completed.

Minors in the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences

Animal Systems

Students may obtain a minor in Animal Systems (18 credit hours) by completing ANSC 2500 Animal Production plus an additional 15 credit hours in Animal Science courses.

Entomology

Students may obtain a minor in Entomology (18 credit hours) by completing ENTM 2050 Introductory Entomology plus an additional 15 credit hours from the following list of courses: ENTM 1000 World of Bugs, ENTM 3160 Veterinary and Wildlife Entomology, ENTM 3170 Crop Protection Entomology, ENTM 3162 Manitoba's Insect Fauna, ENTM 4000 Topics in Entomology; ENTM 4280 Aquatic Entomology, ENTM 4320 Pollination Biology, ENTM 4500 Insect Taxonomy and Morphology, ENTM 4520 Physiological Ecology of Insects. Many courses are offered in alternating years, so students should consult the Department Head of Entomology to plan their program.

Food Science

Students may obtain a minor in Food Science (18 credit hours) by completing FOOD 1000 Food Safety Today and Tomorrow and FOOD 2500 Food Chemistry plus an additional 12 credit hours in FOOD courses excluding FOOD 4230 Food Research and FOOD 4120 Food Science Seminar.

Plant Biotechnology

Students may obtain a minor in Plant Biotechnology (18 credit hours) by completing PLNT 2530 Plant Biotechnology plus an additional 15 credit hours from the following list of courses: PLNT 3140 Introductory Cytogenetics, PLNT 3520 Principles of Plant Improvement, PLNT 3570 Fundamentals of Plant Pathology, PLNT 4330 Intermediate Plant Genetics, PLNT 4310 Introductory Plant Genomics, PLNT 4550 Developmental Plant Biology, PLNT 4560 Secondary Plant Metabolism, PLNT 4570 Research Methods in Plant Pathology, PLNT 4580 Molecular Plant-Microbe Interactions, PLNT 4590 Physiology of Crop Plants, PLNT 4600 Issues in Agricultural Biotechnology, PLNT 4610 Bioinformatics.

Soil Science

Students may obtain a minor in Soil Science (18 credit hours) by completing SOIL 3600 Soils and Landscapes in our Environment plus an additional 15 credit hours from the following list of courses: SOIL 3060 Introduction to Agrometeorology, SOIL 3520 Pesticides: Environment, Economics and Ethics, SOIL 3160 Field Methods in Land Resource Science, SOIL 4060 Physical Properties of Soils, SOIL 4130 Soil Chemistry and Mineralogy, SOIL 4400 Soil Ecology, SOIL 4500 Remediation of Contaminated Land, SOIL 4510 Soil and Water Management, SOIL 4520 Soil Fertility, SOIL 4530 Land Use and Environment.

4.4 Diploma in Agriculture

4.4 Diploma in Agriculture,

Director: Michele Rogalsky

Telephone: (204) 474-9262

The core curriculum of prescribed courses, common to all students, provides a broad yet integrated education in the production, management and marketing of agricultural products and the principles of managing a business. Students are taught to use this knowledge to evaluate the technical and economic feasibility of a variety of alternative agricultural practices.

Within the program, students are able to specialize in areas of interest. Options are available in Business Management, Crop Management, Livestock Management and General Agriculture. These options are chosen by the student during the first term, first year.

Total credit hours for prescribed courses	52
Total credit hours for prescribed courses for option	18-24
Total credit hours of free electives	17-23
Total credit hours for Agriculture Diploma	93

NOTE:

*These additional courses will consist of those required within an option plus free electives, in accordance with the four options described below:

Options

In order to accommodate a modest level of specialization, the students will be required to elect one of four options by the end of first term, first year. Each of these four options has a series of required courses. However, within each option there are also unrestricted electives available to the student who wishes to blend training available in two or more option areas to increase the degree of specialization.

Business Management Option

This option offers a more in-depth education in business management to those people who intend to manage farms or work as employees, managers and/or business owners in the agricultural service sector (agricultural lending, fertilizer, feed and chemical sales, etc.).

Prescribed Courses for Business Management Option

Course No.	Credit Hours
ABIZ 0680 Agribusiness Management	4
ABIZ 0690 Agricultural Finance and Credit	4
ABIZ 0720 Farm Business Management	4
Plus at least one of the following:
ABIZ 0700 Merchandising and Sales	3
ABIZ 0710 Agricultural Policy	3
ABIZ 0730 Financial Risk Management	3
Plus one Biosystems Engineering course:
BIOE 0400 Farm Power	4
BIOE 0710 Materials Handling and Electrical Controls	3
BIOE 0690 Water Management	4
BIOE 0700 Agricultural Buildings and Environments	4
Total prescribed credit hours, within option.	18-19
Plus 22-23 credit hours of electives, to complete 93 credit hours within the program.

Crop Management Option

This option emphasizes soil and crop management. It is designed for people who plan to manage farms where crops are the primary farm enterprise or for those who are interested in careers in industries or businesses that provide services to these types of farms (e.g. crop supply businesses).

Prescribed Courses for Crop Management Option

Course No.	Credit Hours
PLNT 0770 Weed Management	4
PLNT 0780 Plant Disease Management	4
SOIL 0620 Soil Conservation and Management	4
SOIL 0630 Soil Fertility	4

BIOE 0710 Materials Handling and Electrical Controls	3
BIOE 0690 Water Management	4
Total prescribed credit hours, within option	22-23
Plus 17-19 credit hours of electives, to complete 93 credit hours in the program.

Livestock Management Option

This option emphasizes the principles of livestock production, with some degree of specialized attention to beef, dairy, swine, poultry or horse production. It is designed for people who plan to manage farms where livestock production is the primary enterprise or for those who are interested in the agricultural service industries that support livestock production (e.g. feed suppliers).

Prescribed Courses for Livestock Management Option

Course No.	Credit Hours
ANSC 0600 Animal Health and Welfare	3
PLNT 0750 Forage and Pasture Management	4
Plus at least one of the following:
ANSC 0670 Beef Cattle Production and Management	4
ANSC 0680 Dairy Cattle Production and Management	4
Plus at least one of the following:
ANSC 0690 Swine Production and Management	4
ANSC 0700 Poultry Production and Management	4
ANSC 0730 Horse Production and Management	3
Plus one Biosystems Engineering course:

BIOE 0700 Agricultural Buildings and Environments	4
Total prescribed credit hours, within option	17-19
Plus 22-24 credit hours of electives to complete 93 credit hours in the program.

General Agriculture Option

This option exposes the student to crop and livestock production, business management and biosystems engineering beyond the exposure contained in the core curriculum. It is designed for those people who intend to manage diversified farm operations and for those who desire a general education in applied agricultural science.

Prescribed Courses for General Agriculture Option

4.5 Cooperative Education Program

4.5 Cooperative Education Program,
Cooperative Education/Job Placement Officer: Laura Lazo

Telephone: (204) 474-6943

Cooperative Education is a process of learning, which formally integrates the student's academic study with work experience in employer organizations. Work-related experience is found in industry, government and the farming profession. The work terms provide the students with practical experience, help to finance their education and provide guidance for further career specialization. All regulations governing regular Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences degree and diploma programs apply to the Cooperative Education Program.

Academic Term Requirements

Once having been accepted into the Cooperative Education program there are three requirements for completion of the Work Term(s). Failure to do any of them in a timely fashion will result in a failing grade. Please note the Degree Program requires three four month work terms and the Diploma Program requires one five month Work Term. Please see each program's "Employment Term Requirements" for details.

Part way through the work term, the Cooperative Education Coordinator will contact the student for a work site evaluation. During the evaluation both the student and employer will be interviewed and the work assessed. The student will need to make him/herself available for the interview.

Two weeks after the end of the work term, a work term report is due and must be submitted to the Cooperative Education Coordinator. Both content and format will be marked. (Details as to format and what is required in the report can be found in "Guidelines for Cooperative Education Work Term Report" which can be obtained from the Cooperative Education Coordinator.)

Also, two weeks after the end of the work term, a post employment review is required to be submitted to the Cooperative Education Coordinator.

For Degree, the appropriate department head, in consultation with the student's program chair, will assign each participating student a faculty advisor. For Diploma, the Director of the School of Agriculture, in consultation with the Academic Advisor, will assign each participating student a faculty advisor. The faculty advisor will be responsible for evaluating the student's work term report and assigning the student a grade based on the report, the employer's evaluation and Cooperative Education Coordinator's site evaluation. Grades of "Pass" or "Fail" will be assigned. Students successfully completing the work term(s) will have their "Cooperative Education Option" acknowledged on their graduation parchment.

Degree Program

Admission: To be considered for admission in the Cooperative Education Program, an undergraduate degree student must have a minimum GPA of 2.5, have completed at least 75 credit hours of study by the end of the academic year of application but still need to complete 21 credit hours in their last year of academic study.

Students are advised that satisfying the entrance requirements does not guarantee a place in the Cooperative Education Program. Acceptance into the program is dependant upon the student receiving a job placement through the Cooperative Education Office.

Employment Term Requirements: The Cooperative Education Program is a five year program in which 12 months are spent in three-four month work terms with a faculty approved employer. The student will receive three credits for completing the Cooperative Education Program (one credit for each completed term). Students are required to register in the appropriate employment term course and pay the fee prior to starting the employment term. Normally each employment term will be completed with a different employer. While on a work term, a cooperative education student is not permitted to take more than six hours of academic credit and may not take more than one course at a time.

Diploma Program

Admission: To be considered for admission in the Cooperative Education Program, a first year diploma student must have a minimum GPA of 2.5, and have completed at least 47 credit hour of studies by the end of the academic year of application.

Students are advised that satisfying the entrance requirements does not guarantee a place in the Cooperative Education Program. Acceptance into the program is dependant upon the student receiving a job placement through the Cooperative Education Office.

Employment Term Requirements: The Cooperative Education Program is a five month program between the first and second year with a faculty-approved employer. The student will receive two credits for completing the Cooperative Education Program. Students are required to register in the employment term course and pay the fee prior to starting the employment term.

SECTION 5: Course Descriptions

5.1.1 Agribusiness -ABIZ 0 Level

ABIZ 0440 Agricultural Economics & Marketing 1
(Formerly 061.044) Introduction to key economic concepts and business principles and their application to Canadian agribusiness.

ABIZ 0450 Agricultural Economics & Marketing 2
(Formerly 061.045) The application of economic analysis in the study of marketing: concepts, policy, practices and institutions. Prerequisite: ABIZ 0440 (or 061.044).

ABIZ 0460 Financial Management 1
(Formerly 061.046) Study of accounting principles and financial information for the preparation and presentation of financial statements to facilitate the management of farms and agricultural businesses.

ABIZ 0470 Financial Management 2
(Formerly 061.047) Study of analysis of financial statements and financial information by decision makers managing the finances of farms and agricultural businesses. Prerequisite: ABIZ 0460 (or 061.046).

ABIZ 0680 Agribusiness Management
(Formerly 061.068) The application of economic, accounting and management principles to organizing, operating and managing an agribusiness

ABIZ 0690 Agricultural Finance and Credit
(Formerly 061.069) Application of financial management concepts in evaluating investment options and risk in farm and agribusiness decision-making. Prerequisite:

ABIZ 0460 (or 061.046).

ABIZ 0700 Merchandising and Sales
(Formerly 061.070) Analyzing food consumption, farm input usage and marketing trends and translating these into effective selling and distribution programs. Examination of the selling function and sales management.

ABIZ 0710 Agricultural Policy
(Formerly 061.071) Review of agriculture, international trade and food safety policies affecting the production and distribution of agricultural commodities and food products.

ABIZ 0720 Farm Business Management
(Formerly 061.072) Application of decision making principles in terms of farm production, finance, and marketing. Prerequisites ABIZ 0470 (or 061.047).

ABIZ 0730 Financial Risk Management
(Formerly 061.073) Various approaches to managing market risk will be studied. This includes forward pricing, hedging and options along with insurance, diversification and technology to manage production risk. Prerequisites: ABIZ 0470 (or 061.047) or 061.047); or Pre- or Corequisite: ABIZ 0450 (061.045).

ABIZ 0740 Special Topics in Business Management
(Formerly 061.074) Selected topics of current interest in Business Management. Prerequisite: written consent of Director of the School of Agriculture.

5.1.1 Agribusiness and Agricultural Economics-ABIZ 1000 Level

ABIZ 1000 Introduction to Agribusiness Management
(Formerly 061.100) Introduction to management principles applied to agribusiness. Topics covered will include cooperative and corporate organizations, financial analysis, marketing and planning. All students will prepare a business plan. Students will use spreadsheet skills with respect to processing information and preparing forecasts. Not to be held with the former 061.100 or 061.250.

ABIZ 1010 Economics of World Food Issues and Policies
(Formerly 061.101) Determinants of global food consumption, production and the factors underpinning food security and malnutrition. The importance of international trade in balancing countries' supply and demand for food, examination of trade barriers and institutions facilitating trade. Not to be held with the former 061.210.

ABIZ 2120 World Agribusiness Study Tour
(Formerly 061.212) Provides an understanding of world agribusiness, including areas such as agri-marketing, agricultural trade, agri-finance, agricultural policy, risk management, and economics of the environment and resources through an international study trip. A particular region of the world will be visited each time the course is offered. Offered at the discretion of the Department of Agribusiness. Prerequisite: Approval of instructor.

ABIZ 2210 Transportation Principles
(Formerly 061.221) Demand forecasting, cost analysis, regulation of carriers, role of transport in economic development, project appraisal, and transport planning. Not to be held with the former 061.351 or 018.354. Also offered as SCM 2210 by the Department of Supply Chain Management.

ABIZ 2390 Introduction to Environmental Economics
(Formerly 061.239) Economics of management of water, air and land resources quality, and conservation. Economic implications of current issues in environmental standards, licensing criteria and pollution charges. Also offered as ECON 2390 by the Department of Economics. Students may not hold credit for both ABIZ 2390 and ECON 2390 (or 018.239) Prerequisite: ECON 1010 and ECON 1020 or the former ECON 1200 (or 018.120).

ABIZ 2510 Introduction to Agricultural and Food Marketing
(Formerly 061.251) Economic principles and institutions involved in the Canadian agricultural and food marketing system. Farm and Agribusiness applications. Pre or co requisite: ECON 1010 and ECON 1020 or the former ECON 1200 (or 018.120).

ABIZ 2520 Introduction to Management Sciences
(Formerly 061.252) An introduction to management science techniques and models. Topics include linear programming, distribution problems, decision theory and queuing models. Students may not hold credit for ABIZ 2520 and SCM 2150 (or 164.215 or 027.215) or 061.414. Prerequisites: MATH 1680 (or 136.168), or MATH 1300 (or 136.130 or 136.131) and MATH 1500 (or 136.150 or 136.152). Pre-Co requisite STAT 1000 (or 005.100) or equivalent.

ABIZ 3080 Introduction to Econometrics
(Formerly 061.308) The application of statistical tools, especially regression analysis for estimating economic relationships and testing economic hypotheses through the use of spreadsheets and data sets. Students may not hold credit for both ABIZ 3080 and the former 018.344. Prerequisite: STAT 2000 (or 005.200) or equivalent, or a grade of "C" in ECON 3170 (or 018.317) and ECON 1010 and ECON 1020 or the former ECON 1200. Also offered as ECON 3180 by the Department of Economics.

ABIZ 3120 Commodity Futures Markets
(Formerly 061.312) Theory and economic functions of commodity markets including futures and options markets. The roles of the various participants; the determination of inter-temporal prices and various aspects of hedging will be studied. Prerequisites: ECON 1010 and ECON 1020 or the former ECON 1200 (or 018.120) and STAT 2000 (or 005.200)

ABIZ 3500 Agricultural and Food Policy
(Formerly 061.350) Economics of market intervention; trade policy analysis, and agricultural protection, exports, subsidies, tariffs, quotas; intermediate versus final goods; currency exchange rates and agricultural trade policy; trade agreements. Not to be held with the former 061.418. Prerequisites: ECON 2450 (or 018.245) and ECON 2470 (or 018.247).

ABIZ 3520 Food Distribution and International Merchandising (3-0:0-0)
(Formerly 061.352) An introduction to management concepts and their application to domestic and international merchandising. Prerequisites: (ABIZ 1000 (or 061.100) or 061.250), and (ABIZ 2510 (or 061.251) or MKT 2210 (or 118.221)).

ABIZ 3530 Farm Management
(Formerly 061.353) Management decisions and business planning as they relate to farm production, marketing and financing activities. Identifying potential markets; comparative advantage analysis; organizational form and contractual requirements; alternative marketing and production strategies; financing production and marketing activities; develop farm business plan. Prerequisite: ABIZ 1000 (or 061.100) or 061.250.

ABIZ 3540 Financial Risk Management
(Formerly 061.354) Risk expected returns and valuation of capital; capital budgeting and dealing with risk; derivative securities and financial risk management; agricultural production and management of risk; agricultural risk management and public policy. Prerequisites: STAT 1000 (or 005.100) and ACC 1100 (or 009.110) and ABIZ 1000 (or 061.100) or 061.250 or ABIZ 2510 (or 061.251).

ABIZ 3550 Environmental Policy
(Formerly 061.355) Environmental policy development and enactment in Canada; federal and provincial review processes; socio-political aspects of policy development; chemical and pesticide licensing procedures and environmental effects monitoring; environmental policy and sustainability; case studies; discussion of various policies; ethics of development, preservation and conservation; environmental risk management. Prerequisite: ABIZ 2390 (or 061.239) or ECON 2390 (or 018.239).

ABIZ 3560 Agribusiness Portfolio Management
(Formerly 061.356) The application of portfolio management to agribusiness, including asset allocation, portfolio construction and analysis, and operation of investment instruments and capital markets. Includes Canadian Securities Course. Prerequisite: Major in Agribusiness or Accounting and/or Finance, with 60 credit hours, ACC 1100 (or 009.110) and ECON 1010 OR ECON 1020 or the former ECON 1200 (or 018.120), or permission from instructor. Recommended G.P.A. of 2.80 or higher.

ABIZ 4120 Intermediate Econometrics
(Formerly 061.412) A course in applied econometrics that explores the regression model and how it may be applied. Special emphasis is placed on violations to the assumptions of least squares, specification error, and applying the model to production, marketing, forecasting and other applications. Prerequisite: Written consent of instructor; this course assumes students have had a sound background in economic theory (e.g. micro and macro), as well as single variable calculus, linear algebra, and basic statistics. ABIZ 3080 (or 061.308) or ECON 3180 (or 018.318) is highly recommended. Also offered as ECON 4120 by the Department of Economics.

ABIZ 4240 Agricultural Economics Special Project
(Formerly 061.424) Students will undertake a project to analyze an applied problem and present results in a research and/or extension paper. A list of relevant readings will be assigned. Permission of the Department Head required.

ABIZ 4260 Price Analysis
Theory and methods of price analysis, commodity markets and the demand and supply factors that underpin seasonal, cyclical and secular changes in commodity prices. Prerequisites: ECON 2450 (or 018.245 or 018.270) and [ABIZ 3080 (or 061.308) or ECON 3180 (or 018.318)]. Not to be held with ABIZ 4250 (formerly 061.425) or the former 061.404

ABIZ 4500 Agribusiness Strategies Seminar
(Formerly 061.450) This course will provide participants with insights into management strategies and decision-making, as well as the responsibilities, tensions and pressures encountered by senior management. Some classes will include participation by senior management followed by a debriefing session. Students must have completed 90 credit hours towards a degree in Agribusiness, or permission of the Department.

5.1.2 Agriculture-AGRI 1000 Level

AGRI 1500 Natural Resources and Primary Agricultural Production
(Formerly 065.150) Introduces students to natural resources and climate, primary production of crops and livestock, production and resource economics and rural society. A model of the entire agri-food system will be used to show interrelationships among disciplines, processes, etc.

AGRI 1510 Production, Distribution and Utilization of Agricultural Products
(Formerly 065.151) Introduction to the aspects of agriculture that follow primary production and includes confined animal production and a presentation of a model of the entire agrifood system. Special emphasis on processing, marketing, transportation and food safety. Laboratory sessions will use small groups to examine problem based case studies.

5.1.2 Agriculture-AGRI 2000 Level

AGRI 2030 Technical Communications
(Formerly 065.203) Lectures and workshops to develop written and oral communication skills for preparing and presenting scientific and technical reports. Basic composition skills, communication graphics and job interview techniques are included. Prerequisite: 24 credit hours of University.

AGRI 2180 Introductory Toxicology
(Formerly 065.218) A survey of general principles underlying the effects of toxic substances on biological systems, including history, scope and applications of toxicology, the mechanisms of toxic action, and some major types of toxicants. Not to be held with BIOL 2380 formerly BOTN 2180 (or 001.218), BOTN 2190 (or 001.219), ENVR 2180 (or 128.218), ENVR 2190 (or 128.219), ZOOL 2180 (or 022.218), ZOOL 2190 (or 022.219), and the former 001.337. Prerequisite: BIOL 1020 (C) and BIOL 1030 (C) or the former 071.125 (C) and CHEM 1310 (or 002.131 or 002.128) or CHEM 1320 (or 002.132).

AGRI 2190 Toxicology Principles
(Formerly 065.219) A survey of general principles underlying the effects of toxic substances on biological systems, including the history, scope and applications of toxicology, the mechanisms of toxic action. Not to be held with BIOL 2380 or the former BOTN 2180 (or 001.218), BOTN 2190 (or 001.219), ENVR 2180 (or 128.218), ENVR 2190 (or 128.219), ZOOL 2180 (or 022.218), ZOOL 2190 (or 022.219), AGRI 2180 (or 065.218) and the former 001.337. Prerequisite: BIOL 1020 (C) and BIOL 1030 (C) or the former 071.125 (C) and CHEM 1310 (or 002.131 or 002.128) or CHEM 1320 (or 002.132).

AGRI 2200 Principles of Plant and Animal Physiology for Engineers
(Formerly 065.220) Plant and animal physiology as affected by environment for use in the design of agricultural machines, structures and food processes for biological products; models of simulation of plant and animal growth. Prerequisite: BIOE 2590 (or 034.259) or the former 071.201.

5.1.2 Agriculture-AGRI 3000 Level

AGRI 3030 Modern Topics in Agriculture 1
(Formerly 065.303) An interdisciplinary course including topical national and international issues in agriculture. The course will vary from year to year to provide material of current interest in a wide variety of subject areas. Student participation by means of seminars will be encouraged.

AGRI 3040 Modern Topics in Agriculture 2

5.1.2 Agriculture-AGRI 4000 Level

AGRI 4550 Agriculture Cooperative Education Work Term 1
(Formerly 065.455) Special four-month work assignment in business, industry, government or research for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment.

AGRI 4560 Agriculture Cooperative Education Work Term 2
(Formerly 065.456) Special four-month work assignment in business, industry, government or research for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment.

AGRI 4570 Agriculture Cooperative Education Work Term 3
(Formerly 065.457) Special four-month work assignment in business, industry, government or research for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment.

5.1.3 Agroecology-AGEC 2000 Level

AGEC 2370 Principles of Ecology
(Formerly 065.237) Principles of ecology at the individual, population, community, and ecosystem levels. This course is also given in the Faculty of Science as BIOL 2300 (formerly BOTN 2370 or ZOOL 2370). It is the normal prerequisite to other courses in ecology. Not to be held with BIOL 2390 (formerly BOTN 2280 or 001.228) or ZOOL 2290 or BIOL 3260 (formerly BOTN 2291 or 022.229, or BOTN 3280 formerly BOTN 2370 or BOTN 2371 (or 001.237), or ZOOL 2370 or ZOOL 2371 (or 022.237). Prerequisite: A grade of "C" in BIOL 1020 or BIOL 1021 and BIOL 1030 or BIOL 1031 or the former 071.125. Pre- or co-requisite: STAT 1000 or STAT 1001.

5.1.3 Agroecology- AGECE 3000 Level

AGEC 3510 Agroecology
(Formerly 065.351) Examination of how ecological principles and processes apply to, and function in, managed ecosystems, with emphasis on agricultural ecosystems. Influence of agricultural practices on populations and ecosystem function. Ecological concepts as tools in managing systems. Prerequisite: AGECE 2370 (or 065.237) or BIOL 2300 (formerly BOTN 2370 or 001.237 or ZOOL 2370 or 022.237).

5.1.3 Agroecology- AGECE 4000 Level

AGEC 4510 Applications in Agroecology
(Formerly 065.451) Integration of information on ecological principles, agricultural production technology and environmental and socio-economic issues through in-Undergraduate Studies depth studies of issues and problems in agro ecology. Prerequisite: AGECE 3510 (or 065.351).

AGECE 4550 Project in Agroecology

Independent research project on an Agroecological topic. Students perform research and meet regularly with advisors. Progress reports are required, and final results are presented in written and verbal reports. Classes are held on professional topics. Not to be held with AGECE 4540 (or 065.454). Prerequisite: AGECE 3510 (or 065.351).

5.1.4 Animal Science-ANSC 0 Level

ANSC 0420 Animal Biology and Nutrition
(Formerly 035.042) An introduction to animal structure and function. Genetics, growth and reproduction will be related to animal production. Further, the digestive systems of various livestock species will be studied and related to types of feedstuffs that each species can utilize. The general function of nutrients within animals will also be discussed. Nutrient content of feedstuffs and application to nutrient requirements will be discussed.

ANSC 0600 Animal Health and Welfare

(Formerly 035.060) This course will discuss the common livestock and poultry diseases of the prairie provinces. Emphasis will be placed on prevention through management and health programs but treatment of specific diseases will be addressed. Animal welfare as it relates to commercial animal production will be discussed. Prerequisite: ANSC 0420 (or 035.042) or equivalent.

ANSC 0670 Beef Cattle Production and Management

(Formerly 035.067) Beef cattle industry; the types of beef cattle enterprises and factors affecting profitability of production. Application of principles of nutrition, genetics and physiology in the management of beef cattle enterprises. Prerequisite: ANSC 0420 (or 035.042) or equivalent.

ANSC 0680 Dairy Cattle Production and Management

(Formerly 035.068) A study of current production practices in Canada's dairy industry with focus on nutrition, reproduction, genetics, health, replacement rearing and marketing. Prerequisite: ANSC 0420 (or 035.042) or equivalent.

ANSC 0690 Swine Production and Management

(Formerly 035.069) Swine industry; the types of swine enterprises and factors affecting profitability of production. Application of principles of nutrition, genetics and physiology in the management of swine. Prerequisite: ANSC 0420 (or 035.042) or equivalent.

ANSC 0700 Poultry Production and Management

(Formerly 035.070) The poultry industry; marketing system, breeding, hatchery practices, management and feeding of large scale turkey and chicken enterprises. Prerequisite: ANSC 0420 (or 035.042) or equivalent.

ANSC 0720 Special Topics in Livestock Management

(Formerly 035.072) Selected topics of current interest in livestock management. Prerequisite: Written consent of Director of the School of Agriculture.

ANSC 0730 Horse Production and Management

(Formerly 035.073) Principles of horse production, including genetics and breeding, reproductive management, nutrition and health. Applications to major sections of the horse industry. Prerequisite: ANSC 0420 (or 035.042) or equivalent.

5.1.4 Animal Science-ANSC 2000 Level

ANSC 2500 Animal Production
(Formerly 035.250) Built on concepts introduced in AGRI 1500 and AGRI 1510, by elaborating on the basic essentials of animal production. Prerequisites: AGRI 1500 (or 065.150) and AGRI 1510 (or 065.151).

ANSC 2510 Anatomy and Physiology 1: Control Systems

(Formerly 035.251) Will deal with the structure, functions and interactions of the coordinating/regulatory systems in the animal body; including the nervous, muscular, cardiovascular, respiratory, renal and endocrine systems. Co-requisite: CHEM 2770 (or 002.277) or MBIO 2770 (or 060.277) or CHEM 2360 (or 002.236) or MBIO 2360 (or 060.236).

ANSC 2520 Anatomy and Physiology 2: Nutrient Utilization
(Formerly 035.252) The digestion, absorption and utilization of nutrients by farmed species. Basic characteristics of the digestive system, aspects of regulation of feed intake and rates of passage, intermediary metabolism of nutrients, growth and development, health and other factors influencing nutrient utilization. Prerequisite: ANSC 2510 (or 035.251). Co requisite: CHEM 2780 (or 002.278) or MBIO 2780 (or 060.278), or CHEM 2370 (or 002.237) or MBIO 2370 (or 060.237).

ANSC 2530 Nutritional Toxicology
(Formerly 035.253) The Science of dietary toxins and their interrelationships with nutrition: mode of action and metabolism of toxic chemicals that occur in food and animal feedstuffs. Prerequisite: AGRI 2190 (or 065.219)

ANSC 2540 Companion animal nutrition and management
Course material will cover the functional anatomy, genetics, nutrition, reproduction, behavior, and diseases of non-equine companion animals and ornamental fish. Pre- or Co requisite; CHEM 2770 or MBIO 2770 or CHEM 2360 or MBIO 2360 or consent of instructor.

5.1.4 Animal Science- ANSC 3000 Level

ANSC 3500 Principles of Animal Genetics
(Formerly 035.350) Topics discussed will include population genetics, quantitative variation, selection and mating systems with particular reference to domestic species. Prerequisite: PLNT 2520 (or 039.252).

ANSC 3510 Feeds and Feeding
(Formerly 035.351) A detailed discussion of feedstuffs used for domestic animals, animal nutrient requirements, ration balancing, feedstuff processing and feed safety. Prerequisite: ANSC 2520 (or 035.252).

ANSC 3520 Animal Reproduction
(Formerly 035.352) The comparative anatomy and physiology of reproduction of farmed animals will be emphasized. Focus will be on the natural synchronization of reproductive processes and the potential to regulate and improve reproductive efficiency. Prerequisite: ANSC 2510 (or 035.251).

ANSC 3530 The Animal and Its Environment
(Formerly 035.353) Deals with how the animal is influenced by its environment to affect health, welfare and performances. Principles of farmed animal behavior, welfare and behavioral management, health, and facility design and modification will be considered in the context of animal/environment interactions. Co requisite: ANSC 2520 (or 035.252).

ANSC 3540 Companion animal nutrition and management
Course material will cover the functional anatomy, genetics, nutrition, reproduction, behavior, and diseases of non-equine companion animals and ornamental fish. Pre- or Co requisites: CHEM 2770 or MBIO 2770 or CHEM 2360 or MBIO 2360 or consent of instructor.

5.1.4 Animal Science-ANSC 4000 Level

ANSC 4090 Livestock Problems
(Formerly 035.409) A minor thesis on livestock problems, prepared by the student under direction. (For Animal Systems Majors only). Prerequisite: Consent of department head.

ANSC 4220 Animal Science Investigations
(Formerly 035.422) Minor research on some problem in animal science. Instruction and supervision in setting up the project, in collecting and processing data, and in writing the report. (For fourth-year students in Animal Systems Major only.) Prerequisite: Consent of Department Head.

ANSC 4240 Mathematical modeling of biological systems
Lectures and computer based laboratory exercises will be used to discuss mathematical modeling methods applied to biological systems taking aspects of animal science as a model to develop modeling techniques. Prerequisite: MATH 1500 or MATH 1520 or Equivalent.

ANSC 4280 Applied Animal Genetics
(Formerly 035.428) Application of principles of animal breeding. Modern methods, techniques, and programs for genetic improvement of cattle, sheep, and swine. Prerequisite: ANSC 3500 (or 035.350).

ANSC 4410 Grassland Agriculture: Plant, Animal and Environment
(Formerly 035.441) Inter-relationships between the biological components of grassland agriculture as they relate to forage production on the Canadian Prairies. Topics include utilization by wild and domestic animals, plant community relationships and role of forages in multiple land use planning. This course also given in Plant Science as PLNT 4410.

ANSC 4500 Animal Health
(Formerly 035.450) Responses of basic animal functions to challenge by potentially pathogenic organisms, genetic or metabolic disorders, and toxicants will be discussed. Strategies for prevention and treatment will be outlined. Offered in 2005-2006 and alternate years thereafter. Prerequisite: ANSC 2520 (or 035.252).

ANSC 4510 Domesticated Animal Behaviour
(Formerly 035.451) An awareness and understanding of normal behaviors of animals will be emphasized. Relationships between behavior, welfare and management will be explored. Emphasis will be on farmed animals but companion animals, wild animals and laboratory species will also be discussed. Prerequisite: ANSC 2520 (or 035.252) or consent of the instructor. Offered in 2006-07 and alternate years thereafter.

ANSC 4520 Ruminant Production Systems-Meat
(Formerly 035.452) To provide an appreciation of the industry in terms of size, complexity and relationship to the economy and give an understanding of the breeding, feeding, management and marketing strategies for modern ruminant production systems. Open only to students holding at least 60 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANSC 2500 (or 035.250).

ANSC 4530 Ruminant Production Systems-Milk
(Formerly 035.453) Will describe the industry in terms of size, complexity and relationship to the economy and give an understanding of the breeding, feeding, management and marketing practices in a modern system for milk production. Open only to students holding at least 60 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANSC 2500 (or 035.250).

ANSC 4540 Monogastric Production Systems
(Formerly 035.454) Describes the swine industry in terms of size, complexity and relationship to the economy and gives an understanding of the breeding, feeding, management and marketing practices in a modern production unit. Outlines other monogastric production systems of relevance to the agriculture industry. Open only to students holding at least 60 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANSC 2500 (or 035.250).

ANSC 4550 Avian Production Systems
(Formerly 035.455) Describes the various avian systems in terms of size, complexity, and relationship to the economy and gives an understanding of the management and marketing practices in the usual poultry systems. Open only to students holding at least 60 credit hours. Prerequisite: ANSC 2500 (or 035.250).

ANSC 4560 Issues in Animal Agriculture
(Formerly 035.456) Through a combination of lectures and independent group learning activities students will develop an appreciation of the scope and complexities of current issues facing the animal industry and integrate knowledge accumulated through the Animal Systems Program using case study problems and group project work.

ANSC 4570 Advanced Applied Animal Nutrition
(Formerly 035.457) An advanced study of theoretical and applied aspects of monogastric and ruminant nutrition. A laboratory component will provide training in current techniques in feed analyses and computer modeling. Offered in 2005-2006 and alternate years thereafter. Prerequisite: ANSC 3510 (or 035.351)

ANSC 4610 Bioinformatics
An introduction to the theory, strategies, and practice of data management and analysis in molecular biology. Topics include DNA and protein sequence analysis, biological databases, genomic mapping, and analysis of gene expression data. The course will include problem-solving exercises using Unix server-based software.

5.1.5 Biosystems Engineering Course Descriptions-0 Level

BIOE 0222 Precision Agriculture

Precision agriculture is a philosophy of agricultural management that has been enabled by modern technology. This course will examine both the technology and the techniques that can be used to improve the efficiency of agricultural operations by decreasing costs, increasing profits, and decreasing hazards to the environment.

BIOE 0400 Farm Power

(Formerly 034.040) Basic operating principles of electric motors and gasoline, diesel, and LPG engines with emphasis on fuels, fuel systems, ignition systems, lubrication, and power transmission. Dynamometer tests for efficiency, traction, tractor testing, and power cost estimating.

BIOE 0600 Farm Machinery

(Formerly 034.060) Operating principles of basic farm implements with emphasis on seed cleaning, seeding, tillage, haying, and harvest machines including their selection, adjustment, efficiency, and cost of operation with respect to test data.

BIOE 0690 Water Management

(Formerly 034.069) Surveying including use of the level instrument and steel tape, agricultural drainage, dugouts and wells for farm water supply, irrigation, pump selection, the Water Rights Act.

BIOE 0700 Agricultural Buildings and Environments

(Formerly 034.070) Factors that impact the practicality of farm buildings. Components of buildings, including materials and construction techniques. Techniques of maintaining building environments to facilitate production and/or storage.

BIOE 0710 Materials Handling and Electrical Controls

Fundamental concepts and systems approach to storing, conditioning, moving, processing, and metering of agricultural produce. Principles and practices of fans, grain drying, dust control, and electrical supply. Students may not hold credit for BIOE 0710 and the former 034.066.

5.1.5 Biosystems Engineering Course Descriptions-2000 Level

BIOE 2000 Coop Work Study 1

Work assignments in business, industry or government for cooperative education students in Biosystems Engineering. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month work period.

BIOE 2090 Machinery for Agricultural Production

(Formerly 034.209) Farm machinery selection. Machine performance. Ownership and operating costs. Analysis of machine functions for safety and efficiency.

BIOE 2110 Transport Phenomena

(Formerly 034.211) Principles of heat transfer, solar radiation, psychometrics, molecular diffusion, mass transfer and refrigeration and their application to biosystems. Prerequisite: ENG 1460 (or 130.112).

BIOE 2222 Precision Agriculture Concepts and Applications

Precision agriculture is a philosophy of agricultural management that has been enabled by modern technology. This course examines the technology and the techniques of precision agriculture including GPS, GIS, variable rate technologies, and yield monitoring that can be used to improve the efficiency of agricultural operations by decreasing costs, increasing profits, and decreasing hazards to the environment.

BIOE 2580 Biosystems Engineering Design Trilogy 1

(Formerly 034.258) Biosystems Engineering and its place in the professions of engineering and agronomy. Design concepts, with an emphasis on team building and technical communication skills. Philosophy of project planning. Preparation of a conceptual design by teams in response to design assignment submitted by industry. Written report presented orally. Prerequisite: ENG 1430 OR THE FORMER ENG 1400 (OR 130.140).

BIOE 2590 Biology for Engineers

(Formerly 034.259) Provide theories and principles of Biology to engineering students and present applications of biological principles to engineering problems. Fundamental theories involved in cell structure and function, metabolism, genetics and heredity, bacteria and virus structure and function, plant and animal structure and function are covered. An introduction to animal and plant physiology is also provided. Laboratory sessions and term assignments focus on the engineering applications of these basic theories and principles to provide a good understanding of the role of Biology in Engineering. Prerequisite: CHEM 1300 (or 002.130).

BIOE 3000 Cooperative Work Study 2

Work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students in Biosystems Engineering. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month work period. Not to be held with the former BIOE 3550 or 034.355. Prerequisite: BIOE 2000.

BIOE 3200 Environmental Engineering for Non-Engineers

This course will discuss air pollution and odor control, remediation of contaminated soil and ground water, waste-water and solid waste treatment, and the role of biotechnology in these processes. Consent of Instructor required.

BIOE 3270 Instrumentation and Measurement for Biosystems

(Formerly 034.327) Basic instrumentation for measuring electrical and non-electrical quantities associated with biosystems engineering and industry; transducers for automatic control. Prerequisites: [MATH 2132 (or the former MATH 2110 (or 136.211))] and [ENG 1450 or the former ENG 1180 (130.118)].

BIOE 3320 Engineering Properties of Biological Materials

Engineering properties of biological and interacting materials within the system. Relationship between composition, structure, and properties of plant, animal, and human tissues. Definition and measurement of mechanical, thermal, electromagnetic, chemical and biological properties and their variability. Use of these properties in engineering calculations. Prerequisites: Math 2130 (or Math 2100 or 136.210), CIVL 2800 (or 23.280) or MECH 2222 (or Mech 2220 or 025.222) BIOE 2580 (or 034.258). Not to be held with the former 034.323.

BIOE 3530 Engineering Fundamentals

(Formerly 034.353) Principles of heat transfer, steam, psychometrics, fluid mechanics, material balances, electricity and refrigeration. Cannot be held for credit in the Faculty of Engineering. Not to be held with the former 034.329. Prerequisite: [MATH 1300 or equivalent] and [MATH 1500 or equivalent] or the former MATH 1680 (136.168).

BIOE 3580 Biosystems Engineering Design Trilogy 2

BIOE 3580 Biosystems Engineering Design Trilogy 2 Cr.Hrs.4 (Formerly 034.358) Advanced design concepts associated with Biosystems Engineering, with emphasis on the principles of safety and human factors engineering. Theory of project planning. Preparation of a preliminary design by design teams in response to a design assignment submitted by industry. Written report with engineering drawings presented orally. Prerequisites: BIOE 2580 (or 034.258 or 034.214). Not to be held with the former 034.326.

BIOE 3590 Mechanics of Materials in Biosystems

BIOE 3590 Mechanics of Materials in Biosystems Cr.Hrs.4 (Formerly 034.359) In this course students will be exposed to both the theory and physical behaviour of materials when subjected to loads. The course will be delivered using a combination of lectures and hands-on labs. The materials presented include a wide range of design biosystems engineers may be involved with, including plastics, bone, wood, concrete, steel, other biological materials and composites. Prerequisite: CIVL 2800 (or 023.280), or consent of instructor. Not to be with the former 034.324

BIOE 4000 Coop Work Study 3

Work assignments in business, industry or government for cooperative education students in Biosystems Engineering. Requires submission of a written report covering work completed during the four-month work period. Not to be held with the former BIOE 4550 (or 034.455). Prerequisite: BIOE 3000.

BIOE 4240 Graduation Project

Either an independent or a directed study including at least one of: a comprehensive literature review, an experimental research project, or an engineering design problem. The project is to be concluded by a formal report or thesis. Prerequisites:

BIOE 3270 (034.327) or approval of department.

BIOE 4390 Unit Operations 1

Equipment and systems used in handling, mixing, size reduction, separation and size enlargement of value-added food products. Prerequisites: CIVL 2790 (or 023.279) or MECH 2262 (or 025.226). Corequisites: BIOE 3320 (or 034.332 or 034.323), BIOE 3270 (or 034.327).

BIOE 4412 Design of Light-Frame Building Systems

Light-frame buildings as a structural and environmental system; structural loads in building systems; energy (heat), moisture and air contaminants in building systems; built-environment for building occupants. Hands-on labs of constructing small-scale structures for students to gain an understanding of building construction techniques. Prerequisites: BIOE 2110 ((034.211) and BIOE 3590 (034.359).

BIOE 4414 Imaging and Spectroscopy for Biosystems

The purpose of this course is to familiarize senior Biosystems Engineering students with the fundamentals of imaging and spectroscopy for biosystems. Techniques of image acquisition, storage, processing, and pattern recognition will be taught. Various spectroscopy techniques and their applicability to biological materials will be discussed. Analysis of data using statistical, artificial neural networks and chemometric methods will be covered. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: BIOE 3270 (034.327)

BIOE 4416 Topics in Biosystems Engineering

This course will cover contemporary topics in Biosystems Engineering. The specific topics and a detailed outline will be available at the time of registration. Prerequisite: Permission of the department.

BIOE 4420 Crop Preservation

(Formerly 034.442) Biological and physical deterioration during storage. Methods of preserving and storing cereals, oilseeds, and other agricultural crops. Prerequisite: BIOE 2110 (or 034.211). Not offered in 2005-2006.

BIOE 4440 Bioprocessing for Biorefining

This course will provide students with an understanding of the principles involved in the design of proper conditions for processing of biomaterials for production of high-quality biofuels and bioproducts. The content of this course is built on the principles of physics, transport phenomena, thermodynamics, reaction, kinetics, fermentation, and industrial unit operations. Prerequisite: BIOE 2110 (or 034.211). Pre-or corequisite: BIOE 3320 (or 034.332 or 034.323)

BIOE 4460 Air Pollution Assessment and Management

Air pollutant sources and characteristics, their impact on the environment, their behaviour in the atmosphere. Methods of sampling and measurement and the basic technological alternatives available for separation/removal and control. Particular problems of regional interest are discussed. Corequisites: CIVL 2790 (or 023.279) or MECH 2262 (or MECH 2260 or 025.226).

BIOE 4480 Environmental Impact Assessment

(Formerly 034.448) Basic methodologies for conducting impact assessments, including physical, chemical and ecological impacts. Prerequisites: approval of department. Not offered in 2005-2006.

BIOE 4500 Water Management

(Formerly 034.450) Introduction to the design of irrigation and drainage systems. Topics in irrigation include sprinklers, laterals, mainline and pumps. Drainage topics cover both the surface and subsurface systems. Analysis of precipitation and runoff. Environmental impacts of water management. Offered alternate years.

BIOE 4520 Crop Preservation and Handling

(Formerly 034.452) Interaction of biological and physical factors related to methods of preserving, storing, and handling cereals, oilseeds, and other agricultural crops. Offered alternate years.

BIOE 4530 Analysis and Design of Biomachinery

Design of machines for bioprocessing; traction mechanics and tractor chassis mechanics; power transmission components; functional requirements for field and process machines; fluid power hydraulics. Prerequisite: BIOE 2580 (or 034.258).

BIOE 4560 Structural Design in Wood

(Formerly 034.456) Design using wood as a structural material in light-frame buildings. Consideration of design constraints associated with sawn lumber as well as based composite materials. Emphasis on use of computer based design aids. Prerequisites: CIVL 3770 (or 023.377) or BIOE 3590 (034.359) or 034.324.

BIOE 4580 Biosystems Engineering Design Trilogy 3

(Formerly 034.458) Advanced design concepts, with emphasis on the principle of quality control. Application of project planning techniques. Principles of owning and operating an engineering consulting company. Preparation of a final design by design teams in response to a design assignment submitted by industry. Written report with cost of services rendered, presented orally. Prerequisite: BIOE 3580 (or 034.358) or 034.326. Not to be held with the former 034.413.

BIOE 4590 Management of By-Products from Animal Production

Topics covered include solid and liquid manure, manure characteristics, manure collection, storage, land application and utilization, biological treatment, design of equipment and facilities for manure handling. Environment issues, such as odour and water pollution associated with manure management will also be discussed. Prerequisites: CIVL 2790 (or 023.279) or MECH 2262 (or MECH 2260 or 025.226).

BIOE 4600 Design of Water Management Systems

(Formerly 034.460) To introduce the basic theoretical principles in the design of irrigation and drainage systems. Topics covered include the determination of irrigation depth and interval, evapotranspiration, measurement and analysis of precipitation, design of sprinkler and drip irrigation systems, selection of pumps, surface and subsurface drainage design, water quality issues, salinity management, and the environmental impact of water management practices. Corequisite: SOIL 4060 (or 040.406) or CIVL 3730 (or 023.373) or consent of instructor.

BIOE 4610 Design of Assistive Technology Devices

(Formerly 034.461) Application and design of technology for individuals with disabilities; emphasizing the development of the requisite knowledge, skills, and attitudes to evaluate, design, and implement client-centred assistive technology. A multi-disciplinary approach to learning and applying knowledge will be emphasized with engineering and medical rehabilitation students collaborating on a design project. Prerequisite: ZOO 1330 or 022.133.

BIOE 4620 Remediation Engineering

The theoretical basis for the engineering design of different remediation technologies to treat contaminated soil and groundwater will be introduced. Methods for site characterization, monitoring of progress in remediation, and modeling of the remediation process will be presented. Different methods such as soil washing, air sparging, bioremediation, phytoremediation, constructed wetlands, electrokinetic remediation, reactive barriers will be discussed. Prerequisite: CIVL 2790 (or 023.279) or MECH 2262 (or MECH 2260 or 025.226).

BIOE 4630 Pollution Prevention Practices

To give students an understanding of pollution prevention as it relates to solids and hazardous waste management, air and water pollution, energy usage, and resource depletion. To evaluate practices on improved manufacturing operations, present fundamentals of pollution prevention economics, examine waste minimization incentives, design improvements to existing systems, and investigate overall sustainability of industrial practices. Prerequisite: CIVL 2790 (or 023.279) or MECH 2262 (or MECH 2260 or 025.226).

BIOE 4640 Bioengineering Applications in Medicine

This course surveys bioengineering applications and medicine from a clinical engineering perspective. Topics include: clinical engineering practice; device development legislation; biomedical sensors; biosensors; biomaterials and biocompatibility; as well as the principles of and design for medical imaging equipment. Prerequisites: ZOO 1320 (022.132) and ZOO 1330 (022.133) and BIOE 3320 (034.332).

BIOE 4700 Alternative Building Design

This course will provide students with experience in the design of structures that utilize natural and green building materials and techniques. Students will get hands-on lab experience with various natural building materials such as straw, straw light clay, cob and stackwall. Prerequisites: BIOE 3590 (or 034.359) or CIVL 3770 (or 023.377).

5.1.6 Entomology Course Descriptions-0 Level

ENTM 0610 Beekeeping

(Formerly 038.061) Introduction to beekeeping that includes economics and marketing of honey and beeswax, equipment and its construction, pollen and nectar plants, pollination, management systems, diseases and pests, honey handling, package bees, wintering of bees, etc.

ENTM 0620 Pest Management and Farm Insects

(Formerly 038.062) Characteristics, damage, and identification; insecticide use and safety; life histories and control of common Manitoba livestock, field and farmyard insects. General principles of pest management in agriculture will also be discussed.

5.1.6 Entomology Course Descriptions-1000 Level

ENTM 1000 World of Bugs

A survey of insect biology and life styles with emphasis on insect diversity and human-insect interactions.

5.1.6 Entomology Course Descriptions-2000 Level

ENTM 2050 Introductory Entomology

(Formerly 038.205) A basic course for students requiring a foundation in entomology. The anatomy, life history, identification, adaptations, and relations of insects to humans are examined along with methods of collecting and preserving insect specimens. Students may not hold credit in ENTM 2050 (or 038.205) and the former 038.315 or 022.349.

5.1.6 Entomology Course Descriptions-3000 Level

ENTM 3160 Veterinary and Wildlife Entomology

(Formerly 038.316) An introduction to the insects and their relatives that affect domestic animals, pets and wildlife. Special consideration is given to life histories, insect/host interaction, evolutionary relationships, impact on host vertebrates and pest management. Not all courses are offered every year. Please contact the department regarding course availability.

ENTM 3162 Manitoba's Insect Fauna

A collection of insects is required. Emphasis is placed on collecting techniques, specimen preparation, diversity of species collected, organization and curatorial skills, and accuracy of identification. Students should contact instructors in April preceding registration in this course. Prerequisite: ENTM 2050.

ENTM 3170 Crop Protection Entomology

(Formerly 038.317) A course for students requiring a foundation in entomology and knowledge of major insect pest groups in Western Canada. The pests and principles for their control (chemical, cultural, mechanical, physical and biological methods) are explored with emphasis on the entire ecosystem. Students may not hold credit in ENTM 3170 and 038.413 or 038.431.

5.1.6 Entomology Course Descriptions-4000 Level

ENTM 4000 Topics in Entomology

A Course of assigned readings and literature review essays for students in the minor in Entomology program. Prerequisite ENTM 2050 (or 038.205) and consent of department head.

ENTM 4250 Pesticide Toxicology

(Formerly 038.425) Action, behaviour, and fate of pesticides in target and non-target species and in the environment. Past, present, and future chemical control agents will be discussed on the basis of chemical and biochemical knowledge. Prerequisite: A course in biochemistry. Not all courses are offered every year. Please contact the department regarding course availability.

ENTM 4280 Aquatic Entomology

(Formerly 038.428) Adaptations and significance of insects to aquatic habitats, with emphasis on identification. Aquatic insects as indicator species of pollution and their response to chemical pesticide application. A collection of aquatic insects is required. Prerequisites: ENTM 2050 (or 038.205); AGEC 2370 (or 065.237) or BIOL 2300 (formerly ZOOL 2370 or 022.237) or BOTN 2370 (or 001.237); or consent of instructor. Not all courses are offered every year. Please contact the department regarding course availability.

ENTM 4320 Pollination Biology

(Formerly 038.432) The biology, ecology of social, semisocial and solitary insect pollinators and their ecological interactions with entomophilous plants. Not all courses are offered every year. Please contact the department regarding course availability.

ENTM 4500 Insect Taxonomy and Morphology

(Formerly 038.450) Study of insect structure combined with evolution of insect orders. Modern concepts of subspecies, species and higher taxa. Collection required (contact instructor for details in April/May of preceding year.) Students may not hold credit for ENTM 4500 (or 038.450) and the former 038.412. Prerequisite: ENTM 2050 (or 038.205) or consent of instructor.

ENTM 4520 Physiological Ecology of Insects

(Formerly 038.452) The effect of environmental factors such as temperature, moisture, light and other organisms on the physiology and ecology of insects. Prerequisite: ENTM 2050 (or 038.205) or consent of instructor. Not all courses are offered every year. Please contact the department regarding course availability.

5.1.7 Food Science Course Descriptions-1000 Level

FOOD 1000 Food Safety Today and Tomorrow

(Formerly 078.100) A contemporary examination of the safety of the food supply - where, how and why problems may arise and what is and can be done to consistently achieve high quality, safe food. Controversial issues (residues, organic, biotechnology, irradiation) will be discussed in a balanced manner, and prospects for the future presented.

5.1.7 Food Science Course Descriptions-2000 Level

FOOD 2500 Food Chemistry

(Formerly 078.250) The chemical components of food. Chemical problems and chemical changes which exist uniquely in foods. Prerequisite: CHEM 2770 (or 002.277) or MBIO 2770 (or 060.277) or CHEM 2360 (or 002.236) or MBIO 2360 (or 060.236). Not to be held with the former 078.422.

5.1.7 Food Science Course Descriptions-3000 Level

FOOD 3010 Food Process 1

(Formerly 078.301) The basic principles and practices of the major techniques used in food processing and preservation are covered. Emphasis is placed on thermal processing, drying, evaporation, chilling, freezing, separation, packaging and sanitation. Also preservation by salting, smoking, microwave, radiation and chemical techniques is presented. Critical issues in food regulations are introduced. Prerequisite: any MATH course at the 1000 level.

FOOD 3160 Frozen Dairy Products

(Formerly 078.316) Technology of frozen dairy products, including selection and processing of materials and handling of products. Standards and quality control programs for major dairy products will be covered. Offered in 2006-07 and alternate years thereafter.

FOOD 3170 Cheese and Fermented Milk Products

(Formerly 078.317) Selection and evaluation of raw materials and lactic cultures are covered. Processing, packaging and distribution of cheddar and cottage cheese, cultured milk, cream and yogurt are studied. Offered in 2005-2006 and alternate years thereafter.

FOOD 3200 Baking Science and Technology

(Formerly 078.320) The science and technology of transforming wheat into quality baked foods. Focus will be on the biophysical and biochemical basis for the functionality of intrinsic wheat constituents, e.g. starch, and gluten proteins, and extrinsic ingredients, e.g. yeast, chemical leaveners, fats, oxidants, enzymes and other improvers. Principles of product formulations and modern processing techniques used to add value to wheat as diverse foods will also be covered. Prerequisite: CHEM 2770 (or 002.277) or MBIO 2770 (or 060.277).

FOOD 3210 Food Engineering Fundamentals

(Formerly 078.321) Applications of engineering fundamentals to unit operations in the food industry. Prerequisite: BIOE 3530 (or 034.353).

FOOD 3220 Grains for Food and Beverage

The science and technology behind the functionality of major Canadian cereal grains and grain legumes for food and beverage. Grains covered include wheat, barley, oats, peas, beans, and lentils in the context of their processing into products such as bread, pasta and beer, and foods high in dietary fibre. Details are presented on the differing physical and chemical attributes of grains to make quality products with focus on the roles of protein, starch, and non-starch polysaccharides. Prerequisite: FOOD 2500 or equivalent.

FOOD 3500 Processing of Animal Food Products

(Formerly 078.350) Processing of materials of animal origin will be studied with emphasis on product quality and safety. Impact of initial characteristics as well as processing technologies will be discussed in relation to nutritive value, convenience, functionality, aesthetic factors and food safety. Prerequisite: CHEM 2770 (or 002.277) or MBIO 2770 (or 060.277) or CHEM 2360 (or 002.236) or MBIO 2360 (or 060.236). Offered in 2006-2007 and alternate years thereafter.

FOOD 4010 Food Process 2

(Formerly 078.401) The processing of specific food groups is covered. The functions and changes in the primary chemical components (carbohydrates, proteins and lipids) of the commodities receive special consideration. New technologies including thermal/nonthermal processing, radiation, extrusion, minimal processing and other advanced processing methods will be studied. Prerequisite: FOOD 3010 (or 078.301).

FOOD 4120 Food Science Seminar

(Formerly 078.412) Written and verbal presentations of selected topics of current interest in the food science area. Should be taken in fourth year.

FOOD 4150 Food Microbiology 1

FOOD 4160 Food Analysis 1

(Formerly 078.416) This course exposes students to the principles, methods, and techniques of qualitative and quantitative physical, chemical and biological analyses of foods. Major emphasis is placed on understanding the basic principles of classical and instrumental methods of analysis. Criteria for the choice of various analytical methods, methods for treating data and sampling techniques will be studied. Prerequisite: FOOD 2500 (or 078.250).

FOOD 4200 Quality Control in Foods

(Formerly 078.420) Fundamentals of quality control and their industrial application through physical, chemical, microbiological, statistical and sensory methods will be studied. Statistical process control (SPC) will be mainly covered; required background knowledge of statistics will be reviewed briefly. Prerequisite: FOOD 3010 (or 078.301).

FOOD 4230 Food Research

(Formerly 078.423) Research interests and aptitudes of students are developed through specific project assignments related to the food industry. Prerequisite: Permission of Department Head required.

FOOD 4240 Analysis of Water and Wastes

FOOD 4240 Analysis of Water and Wastes Cr.Hrs.3 (Formerly 078.424) Introduction to the principles and application of the standard methods employed in the analysis of water and wastes in the food processing industry.

FOOD 4250 Food Analysis 2

(Formerly 078.425) Advanced techniques employed in the physico-chemical analysis of food products as preparation for research, development, and inspection roles in government and in industry. Prerequisite: FOOD 4160 (or 078.416).

FOOD 4260 Water Management in Food Processing

The course is devoted to the management of water and wastewater in food processing. The roles of water in food processing, recycle and reuse opportunities, treatment options for water and wastewater are presented. The course also discusses water stewardship in relation to food processing, water and wastewater regulations and implication for HACCP and ISO. Laboratory sessions are designed for the student to become familiar with Standard Methods for the Examination of Water and Wastewater.

FOOD 4310 Introduction to HACCP

(Formerly 078.431) This course will cover the principles related to hazard analysis and critical control points (HACCP), a food safety and self-inspection system that is widely endorsed internationally by industry, consumer and regulatory groups. HACCP examines chemical, physical and biological hazards and identifies critical control points involved in producing, manufacturing and processing food products. Prerequisite or co requisite: FOOD 4150 (or 078.415) or consent of instructor.

FOOD 4500 Food Safety and Regulations

(Formerly 078.450) Current food safety issues; government, industry and consumers' role in organizing a safe food supply system; food laws and regulations in Canada and internationally. Preventative measures to increase food safety and sanitation will also be covered. Offered in 2005-2006 and alternate years thereafter. Prerequisites: FOOD 4150 (or 078.415) or FOOD 4300 (or 078.430).

FOOD 4510 Food Product Development

(Formerly 078.451) This course will allow the student to gain an understanding of the product development procedure as it relates to the food industry. Emphasis will be on application of basic knowledge of foods and food processing in designing a new product. Prerequisites: MKT 2210 (or 118.221), STAT 2000 (or 005.200) or equivalent, FOOD 3010 (or 078.301) or consent of instructor. Cannot be held with HNSC 4280 (or 030.428).

FOOD 4540 Functional Foods and Nutraceuticals

(Formerly 078.454) The course will examine the bioactive components of functional foods and nutraceuticals, their sources, chemistry, process technology, efficacy, safety and regulation. Prerequisite: CHEM 2770 (or 002.277) or MIBO 2770 (or 060.277) or MBIO 2360 (or 060.236) or CHEM 2360 (or 002.236).

5.1.8 Plant Science Course Descriptions-0 Level

PLNT 0410 Cereal and Oilseed Production Practices

(Formerly 039.041) Production practices for wheat (spring and winter), barley, oats, rye, triticale, canola and flax will be discussed, including tillage, seeding, fertility, pest control, harvesting, rotation and utilization. Prerequisite: DAGR 0420 (or 065.042).

PLNT 0660 Plant Propagation

(Formerly 039.066) Basic principles and practices in the propagation of plants by sexual and asexual methods. Special emphasis will be placed on regionally important horticultural crops. Equivalent course offered through the Prairie Horticulture Certificate Program; contact the Director of the School of Agriculture.

PLNT 0670 Landscape Plants

(Formerly 039.067) Classification, identification and quality characteristics of woody and herbaceous plants, and their value and use in the landscape. Equivalent course offered through the Prairie Horticulture Certificate program; contact the Director of the School of Agriculture.

PLNT 0680 Landscape Design

(Formerly 039.068) A study of landscape design principles and processes including contracting, construction, and establishment of plants in the environment. Equivalent course offered through the Prairie Horticulture Certificate program; contact the Director of the School of Agriculture.

PLNT 0690 Landscape Maintenance

(Formerly 039.069) Establishment and maintenance of trees, shrubs, herbaceous plants and turf grass in the landscape environment. Equivalent course offered through the Prairie Horticulture Certificate program; contact the Director of the School of Agriculture.

PLNT 0700 Nursery Management

(Formerly 039.070) A study of nursery methods of propagation and growing as they relate to bare root, container and caliper tree production in Manitoba. Equivalent course offered through the Prairie Horticulture Certificate program; contact the Director of the School of Agriculture

PLNT 0710 Greenhouse Crop Production

(Formerly 039.071) A study of greenhouse construction, environmental control, growth regulation and special problems relating to cut flowers, pot and foliage plants, bedding plants, vegetables and woody plants. Equivalent course offered through the Prairie Horticulture Certificate program; contact the Director of the School of Agriculture.

PLNT 0730 Commercial Vegetable Production

(Formerly 039.073) Production problems and practices, environmental considerations, and the storage and marketing of the major vegetable crops. Equivalent course offered through the Prairie Horticulture Certificate program; contact the Director of the School of Agriculture.

PLNT 0740 Commercial Fruit Production

(Formerly 039.074) Cultural steps involved in the commercial production of tree fruits and small fruits with specific reference to Manitoba conditions. Equivalent course offered through the Prairie Horticulture Certificate program; contact the Director of the School of Agriculture.

PLNT 0750 Forage and Pasture Management

(Formerly 039.075) For forage crops and the continuum of improved and unimproved pasture land a discussion of production practices including: choice of species and cultivars of forage crops, cultural management including tillage practices, pest control, forage harvesting, grazing management and seed production. Prerequisite: DAGR 0420 (or 065.042).

PLNT 0760 Special Crops

(Formerly 039.076) Production practices of special crops for Manitoba including: quality and grade, crop and cultivar selection, cultural requirements including tillage, pest control, fertility requirements, harvesting, rotation and utilization. Prerequisite: DAGR 0420 (or 065.042).

PLNT 0770 Weed Management

(Formerly 039.077) General principles of pest management and pesticide use safety as they relate to weed control. Economic importance, principles of cultural, biological and chemical weed control, weed identification, introduction to herbicides and factors influencing their use and selectivity. Prerequisite: DAGR 0420 (or 065.042).

PLNT 0780 Plant Disease Management

(Formerly 039.078) General principles of pest management and pesticide use safety as they relate to plant disease control. Discussion of diseases attacking field and horticultural crops in the prairies including: disease symptoms, cycles, prevention and control. Prerequisite: DAGR 0420 (or 065.042).

PLNT 0790 Landscape Horticulture

(Formerly 039.079) Principles of the production and use of horticultural plants in the rural and urban landscape including the establishment and value of shelterbelts. Topics include basic plant propagation, the principles of choosing and establishing ornamental trees, shrubs, herbaceous perennials, annuals, lawns, and multi-use fruit-bearing plants in the landscape, and development of a landscape plan.

PLNT 0800 Diversification with Horticultural Crops

(Formerly 039.080) Principles of the production and unique characteristics of horticultural crops including potato, vegetable, fruit, herb, spice, and nutraceutical. The potential for diversifying into and adding value to these alternate crops is examined.

PLNT 0810 Special Topics in Crop Management

(Formerly 039.081) Selected topics of current interest in Crop Management. Prerequisite: written consent of the Director of the School of Agriculture.

PLNT 0820 Organic Crop Production on the Prairies

(Formerly 039.082) Management principles and practices involved in the production of organic field and forage crops with a focus on the Canadian Prairie Region. Prerequisites: DAGR 0420 (or 065.042), PLNT 0410 (or 039.041), SOIL 0420 (or 040.042), and ENTM 0620 (or 038.062) or consent of the instructor.

5.1.8 Plant Science Course Descriptions-1000 Level

PLNT 1000 Urban Agriculture

Urban environments and their importance for food production, increasing Undergraduate Studies biodiversity, and reducing pollution are presented. Topics include principles of vegetable, fruit and herb production, landscape plants, and utilization of natural systems for composting, water management and reduced pesticide use. Benefits to environment, community development, and human health are discussed.

PLNT 2500 Crop Production

(Formerly 039.250) An introduction to the principles and practices of crop production in Canada. Topics will include physiological processes and factors affecting plant yield, plant improvement, seed production, and production of the major cereal, oilseed, forage and special crops. Prerequisite: AGRI 1500 (or 065.150).

PLNT 2510 Fundamentals of Horticulture

(Formerly 039.251) Principles of the culture, marketing, and utilization of fruits, vegetables, and ornamentals, their contribution to the economy and well-being of consumers, and impact of horticultural activities on the environment. Prerequisites: BIOL 1020 and BIOL 1030 or the former 071.125; AGRI 1500 (or 065.150); or consent of instructor. This course is offered in alternate years.

PLNT 2520 Genetics

(Formerly 039.252) Basic principles of genetics and their practical application in the areas of DNA structure and function, genome organization and genetic analysis. Laboratory sessions provide practical experience in solving genetic problems and conducting genetic investigations. Not to be held with BIOL 2500 or the former BOTN 2460 (or 001.246). Prerequisite: a minimum grade of "C" in BIOL 1020 and BIOL 1030 or the former 071.125.

PLNT 2530 Plant Biotechnology

(Formerly 039.253) An introduction to current biotechnological techniques, including recombinant DNA, plant tissue culture, plant transformation and regeneration. A background to the techniques as well as a discussion of their applications in current biology and crop production will be examined. A laboratory will provide first hand experience with many of the techniques. Not to be held with the former 039.450. Prerequisites: CHEM 2770 (or 002.277) or MBIO 2770 (or 060.277) and PLNT 2520 (or 039.252) or BIOL 2500 or the former BOTN 2460 (or 001.246).

5.1.8 Plant Science Course Descriptions-3000 Level

PLNT 3140 Introductory Cytogenetics

(Formerly 039.314) An introduction to the structure and function of eukaryotic genomes, from the gene to the chromosome. Topics include the cell cycle, meiosis, chromatin, chromosome and genome organization, karyotyping, changes in chromosome number and structure, physical mapping and chromosome evolution. Labs cover use of the microscope, meiosis, chromosome staining and banding, and bioinformatic analysis of chromosomes. Prerequisites: PLNT 2520 (or 039.252) or BIOL 2500 or the former BOTN 2460 (or 001.246).

PLNT 3370 Environmental Horticulture

(Formerly 039.337) Management principles involved in the production of ornamental perennial plants in the nursery and their establishment and maintenance in the urban environment with an emphasis on arboriculture. Includes a number of tutorials to allow for guest speakers, discussions and tour.

PLNT 3500 Plant Physiology

(Formerly 039.350) An integrative view of major physiological processes in plants, spanning the biochemical, cellular, tissue, organ and whole plant levels of organization and addressing the effects of environmental conditions on these processes. Topics covered: photosynthesis and respiration, water relations, plant nutrition, assimilate partitioning, and regulation of growth. Not to be held with BIOL 3452 or the former BOTN 3010 (or 001.301) or the former 1.317. Prerequisites: BIOL 1020 and BIOL 1030 or the former 071.125; CHEM 2770 (or 002.277) or MBIO 2770 (or 060.277) or CHEM 2360 (or 002.236) or MBIO 2360 (or 060.236); BIOL 2242 or the former BOTN 2010 (or 001.201) or the former 001.230 or consent of instructor.

PLNT 3510 Cropping Systems

(Formerly 039.351) Examination and analysis of sustainable prairie cropping systems. Emphasis will be placed on integrated systems that optimize the benefits of crop rotation, and conserve soil, water and wildlife resources. Conventional, traditional and alternative crop production systems will be discussed. Includes a limited number of tutorials to allow for field tours and guest speakers. Prerequisite: PLNT 2500 (or 039.250).

PLNT 3520 Principles of Plant Improvement
(Formerly 039.352) Basic objectives, principles, and methods of plant genetic improvement. Traditional and modern plant breeding, genetic resources, selection, and applications of tissue culture, genetic engineering and molecular markers to plant improvement. Prerequisite: PLNT 2520 (or 039.252) or BIOL 2500 or the former BOTN 2460 (or 001.246).

PLNT 3530 Horticultural Food Crops
(Formerly 039.353) Management practices, environmental considerations, and physiological factors involved in the production, marketing, and handling of the major vegetable and fruit crops. Pre- or co requisite: PLNT 2510 (or 039.251) or consent of instructor.

PLNT 3540 Weed Science
(Formerly 039.354) Identification, biology and ecology of weeds of agricultural importance in western Canada, including principles of cultural, mechanical, biological and chemical control. Topics include weed interference, effects of rotational and management practices on weed species composition, herbicide selectivity and mechanism of action, and emerging control technologies. Prerequisites: BIOL 1020 and BIOL 1030 or the former 071.125; AGRI 1500 (or 065.150); or consent of instructor.

PLNT 3560 Organic Crop Production on the Prairies
(Formerly 039.356) Management principles and practices involved in the production of organic field and forage crops with a focus on the Canadian Prairie region. Also available in online delivered format. Prerequisites: PLNT 2500 (or 039.250) and SOIL 3600 (or 040.360) or the former 040.351 or consent of instructor.

PLNT 3570 Fundamentals of Plant Pathology
(Formerly 039.357) An introduction to the science of plant pathology. Topics include causal agents of diseases, symptoms and diagnoses, modes of infections and spread, mechanisms in disease and control, effects of the environment on disease development, and methods of disease control. This course is a prerequisite for more advanced courses in plant pathology. Prerequisite: BIOL 2260 or the former BOTN 2210 (or 001.221).

5.1.8 Plant Science Course Descriptions-4000 Level

PLNT 4270 Plant Disease Control
(Formerly 039.427) Diseases attacking field crops and horticultural plants: recognition of symptoms, methods of prevention, alleviation, and control. Prerequisite: PLNT 2500 (or 039.250) or consent of instructor.

PLNT 4310 Introductory Plant Genomics
An introduction to plant genomics including mapping and sequencing genomes, gene expression and transcriptome, comparative, functional and integrative genomics; also covers gene constructs and plant transformation and a wide ranging consideration of transgenic crop issues. Theory and practice of genomics will be examined. A laboratory will provide hands on experience with several genomic techniques. Not to be held with the former PLNT 4540 (or 039.454). Prerequisites: [PLNT 2520 (or 039.252) OR BIOL 2500 or the former BOTN 2460 (or 001.246)] and PLNT 2530 (or 039.253) or consent of instructor.

PLNT 4330 Intermediate Plant Genetics
(Formerly 039.433) A study of gene behaviour as related to genetic analyses of data from plant populations; multiple allelic systems and polygenic inheritance of quantitative traits; extra-chromosomal inheritance and the significance of cytoplasmic influence. Examples will be drawn from experimental data where available. Prerequisite: PLNT 2520 (or 039.252) or BIOL 2500 or the former BOTN 2460 (or 001.246).

PLNT 4380 Plant Science Thesis
(Formerly 039.438) An independent research project under the supervision of a staff member. A thesis including a literature review, methods, results and discussion is required. Enrollment limited. Open only to students in their 4th year. Not to be held with SOIL 4080 (or 040.408). Prerequisite: Consent of department head.

PLNT 4410 Grassland Agriculture: Plant, Animal and Environment
(Formerly 039.441) Inter-relationships between the biological components of grassland agriculture as they relate to forage production on the Canadian Prairies. Topics include utilization by wild and domestic animals, plant community relationships and role of forages in multiple land use planning. This course also offered in Animal Science as ANSC 4410.

PLNT 4530 Woody Plants in the Prairie Landscape
(Formerly 039.453) Classification, identification, ecological characteristics, landscape characteristics and use of native and introduced woody plants found in the prairie landscape. The course will include the preparation of a landscape plan incorporating a selection of the plants studied.

PLNT 4550 Developmental Plant Biology
(Formerly 039.455) An introduction to mechanisms regulating morphogenesis and plant growth and development. Emphasis will be on experimental approaches used to investigate pattern formation at sub cellular, cellular, tissue and organ levels. A heavy tissue culture component in the lab will implement the lecture topics and will provide new insights into ways to study plant development in vitro. Prerequisite: PLNT 3500 (or 039.350)

PLNT 4560 Secondary Plant Metabolism
(Formerly 039.456) An examination of secondary plant metabolism at the biochemical and molecular levels covering chlorophylls and haems, lipids, amino acids, phenolics, terpenes, and alkaloids. Biosynthesis, structure, and function of these metabolites will be put in context of their roles as hormones, plant defense compounds, pharmaceuticals, mitigators of environmental stresses, and regulators of cellular and organ physiology. Not to be held with the former 039.451. Prerequisite: PLNT 3500 (or 039.350) or consent of instructor.

PLNT 4570 Research Methods in Plant Pathology
(Formerly 039.457) Course will provide practical training in plant pathology and will cover plant disease diagnosis, pathogen isolation, identification, inoculation, and storage. Molecular techniques currently used in the study of plant pathogens will be covered. The laboratory component aims at preparing students for a professional career in plant protection and research in plant pathology. Prerequisite: PLNT 3570 (or 039.357) or consent of instructor.

PLNT 4580 Molecular Plant-Microbe Interactions
(Formerly 039.458) Course will cover general principles and mechanisms related to plant-pathogen interactions, such as in gene-to-gene and toxin models. Emphasis will be on biochemical/molecular mechanisms of plant-microbe recognition, pathogenesis, and plant reactions to infections. Both beneficial and deleterious associations will be covered. Prerequisite: PLNT 3570 (or 039.357). This course is offered in alternate years.

PLNT 4590 Physiology of Crop Plants
Concepts dealing with the physiological response of crop plants to the environment from the time of seed germination through to reproduction. Students may not hold credit for PLNT 4590 and the former 039.452. Prerequisites: CHEM 2770 (or 002.277 or MBIO 2770 or 060.277) or CHEM 2360 (or 002.236 or MBIO 2360 or 060.236); PLNT 3500 (or 039.350) or BIOL 2242 (or the former BOTN 2010 or 001.201) and BIOL 3450 (or the former BOTN 2020 or 001.202) or the former 001.230 (PLNT 3500 (or 039.350) recommended).

PLNT 4600 Issues in Agricultural Biotechnology
PLNT 4600 Issues in Agricultural Biotechnology Cr.Hrs.3 By lecture, group discussion, individual/group projects selected topics related to the introduction and application of modern biotechnologies in agriculture will be examined. Acquiring a critical appreciation of the multidimensional issues associated with the application of biotechnology will be the goal. Students must have completed 84 credit hours towards a degree, or permission of instructor. Prerequisite: PLNT 2530 (or 039.253).

PLNT 4610 Bioinformatics
An introduction to the theory, strategies, and practice of data management and analysis in molecular biology. Topics include DNA and protein sequence analysis, biological databases, genomic mapping, and analysis of gene expression data. The course will include problem-solving exercises using Unix server-based software. Prerequisites: PLNT 2530 (039.253) or the former 039.450 or PLNT 3140 (039.314) or MBIO 3410 (060.341) or PLNT 4310 or the former PLNT 4540 or consent of instructor.

5.1.9 Soil Science Course Descriptions-0 Level

SOIL 0420 Soil Productivity and Land Use

(Formerly 040.042) Soil classification systems; soils of Manitoba and their properties; soil productivity and its maintenance; soil fertility and testing, fertilizer recommendations; environmental concerns. Prerequisite: DAGR 0420 (or 065.042).

SOIL 0620 Soil Conservation and Management

(Formerly 040.062) Land capability for agriculture; storage, use of water and water use efficiency; saline and alkaline soils; soil acidity; soil erosion and conservation; tillage, cropping systems and rotations; fate of biosolids, pesticides. Prerequisite: SOIL 0420 (or 040.042).

SOIL 0630 Soil Fertility

(Formerly 040.063) Soil nutrients and their behavior; evaluation of soil fertility including soil testing for precision agriculture; crop response to fertilizers; manufacture, properties, reactions and applications of fertilizer. Prerequisite: SOIL 0420 (or 040.042).

5.1.9 Soil Science Course Descriptions-3000 Level

SOIL 3060 Introduction to Agrometeorology

(Formerly 040.306) Basic description and discussion of properties of the atmosphere, radiation, temperature, effect of temperature on plant growth, climate and animal response, water, evapotranspiration, insect adaptation, activity in relation to climate, climatic data.

SOIL 3520 Pesticides: Environment, Economics and Ethics

(Formerly 040.352) A comprehensive examination of the benefits and risks of pesticide use. Topics include: Characteristics of pesticide products and formulations used in Western Canada; History, practice, successes and failures in the use of pesticides in agriculture; Pesticide use for protecting human health; Pesticide fate processes in air, soil and aquatic environments; Economical and environmental impact of pesticide application drift; Atmospheric pesticide contamination; Pesticide surface and groundwater contamination; Pesticide toxicity to organisms, including humans; Pesticide residues in food; Pesticide regulations; Pesticide risk indicators; Alternatives to pesticides. Not to be held with 040.411, 038.454 or 040.454.

SOIL 3600 Soils and Landscapes in Our Environment

(Formerly 040.360) Discover why soil is an essential resource. Explore the roles of soils and landscapes within natural and agricultural ecosystems by learning the fundamental biological, chemical and physical properties and processes; soil and landscape classification and evaluation. Not to be held with 040.350 or 040.351.

SOIL 3610 Field Methods in Land Resource Science

This course provides students with training in field methods used in soil science and related sciences (hydrology, meteorology, ecology, geomorphology, and environmental science). Students participate in a biophysical survey of a field site and in a study of the management, assessment and monitoring of land resources. Prerequisite: SOIL 3600

5.1.9 Soil Science Course Descriptions-4000 Level

SOIL 4060 Physical Properties of Soils

(Formerly 040.406) Physical properties of soils and their relation to plant growth. Topics discussed include particle size distribution, soil water, soil structure, soil temperature, and soil aeration. Prerequisite: SOIL 3600 (or 040.360) or 040.350 or 040.351 or BIOE 2110 or consent of instructor.

SOIL 4080 Soils Thesis

(Formerly 040.408) The student will prepare a thesis on a problem in soil science. Each student will give two seminars: the first will be a review of literature pertinent to his/her problem; the second, a presentation and interpretation of results of his/her research. Not to be held with PLNT 4380 (or 039.438). Prerequisite: Consent of department head.

SOIL 4130 Soil Chemistry and Mineralogy

(Formerly 040.413) Composition of soil materials. Reactions of nutrients and contaminants with soil organic matter, silicate clays, oxides and other soil constituents which affect their mobility and bioavailability. Prerequisite: SOIL 3600 (or 040.360) or 040.350 or 040.351 or consent of instructor.

SOIL 4400 SOIL ECOLOGY

Explore the application of soil biology to diversity in agro ecosystems, response of soil organisms to management, mediation of important environmental issues, and promotion of human health. Appreciate the vast array of soil organisms and their functions in soil ecosystems, understand cycling of nutrients by soil organisms, and discover quantitative methodology in determining soil biochemical processes. The laboratory provides hands-on experience in observing, quantifying and isolating soil organisms and the biochemical processes they conduct. Prerequisite: SOIL 3600 (040.360) or consent of instructor.

SOIL 4500 Remediation of Contaminated Land

(Formerly 040.450) Physical, chemical and biological approaches to remediation of land including; nature of contaminants, procedures for assessing the extent of the impact, consequences to the environment, approaches to remediation and case studies of contaminant remediation. Prerequisite: SOIL 3600 (or 040.360) or 040.350 or 040.351 or consent of the instructor.

SOIL 4510 Soil and Water Management

(Formerly 040.451) Topics include: capability of land for agriculture; storage, movement and use of water; saline and alkaline soils; soil conservation including erosion; sustainability of soil organic matter; effect and fate of soil amendments. Prerequisite: SOIL 3600 (or 040.360) or 040.350 or 040.351.

SOIL 4520 Soil Fertility

(Formerly 040.452) Forms and behaviour of plants nutrients in soil; soil fertility evaluation and management, including fertilizer sources and practices. Prerequisite: SOIL 3600 (or 040.360) or 040.350 or 040.351.

SOIL 4530 Land Use and Environment

(Formerly 040.453) Biophysical land classification and management tools; land ratings; effect of land use on environment; policy and legislation effects in land management. Prerequisite: SOIL 3600 (or 040.360) or 040.350 or 040.351.

5.2.1 Agriculture/Agricultural Finance Course Descriptions

DAGR 0410 Communication and Learning Skills

(Formerly 065.041) A course designed to improve learning skills and abilities in written and oral communication.

DAGR 0420 Introductory Soils and Crops

(Formerly 065.042) Topics covered will include soil forming factors; soil characteristics, climate, nutrient supply and crop production, biology of crop plants, crop establishment and protection, harvest management, farming systems and crop rotations.

DAGR 0610 Advanced Communication and Rural Leadership

(Formerly 065.061) A course designed to improve leadership potential and understanding of the rural community.

DAGR 0630 Special Project

(Formerly 065.063) This project allows a student to make practical application of scientific knowledge acquired during the first year and/or to intensify the study of a topic of particular interest. A satisfactory report is required to qualify for credit. Students who intend to register for this course must obtain approval from the Director before the end of their first year.

DAGR 0660 Special Topics in General Agriculture

(Formerly 065.066) Selected topics of current interest in General Agriculture. Prerequisite: Written consent of Director of the School of Agriculture.

DAGR 0680 Management Planning Project 1

(Formerly 065.068) Development of an objectives-driven plan that deals with production, personnel, marketing and financial management of a farm or off-farm business. Students may not hold credit for DAGR 0680 (or 065.068) and the former 065.064.

DAGR 0690 Management Planning Project 2

(Formerly 065.069) Refinement of the plan developed in Management Planning Project 1 with emphasis on generating and analyzing a complete set of financial statements for a farm or off-farm business. Presentation of the management plan, in both written and verbal form. On-site visits will be used to illustrate and reinforce management principles and practices and address issues raised in class. Students may not hold credit for DAGR 0690 (or 065.069) and the former 065.065.

Prerequisite: DAGR 0680 (or 065.068).

DAGR 0700 Environmental Farm Plans and On-Farm Food Safety
(Formerly 065.070) This course examines environmental and food safety concerns and regulations as they relate to farming. Students will develop a Manure Management Plan, an Environmental Farm Plan and will understand HACCP principles.

DAGR 0710 Agricultural Enterprise
(Formerly 041.071) On-site visits to various agricultural operations to illustrate and reinforce management principles and practices. Guest lectures will cover topics pertinent to the agricultural industry. Students may not hold credit for DAGR 0710 and DAGR 0690 (or 065.069) or the former 065.065.

DAGR 0720 Agricultural Industry
(Formerly 041.072) This course provides students with the opportunity to increase their awareness of agriculture and the agri-business sector. The following will be emphasized: agriculture in other parts of the world, humane livestock practices, marketing of agricultural products, production of agricultural products for niche markets, and trade show. Students may not hold credit for DAGR 0720 and DAGR 0690 (or 065.069) or the former 065.065.

DAGR 0730 Case Studies in Institutional Lending 1
(Formerly 041.073) Case studies will provide a primary look at assessing loan applications and determining financial need, production feasibility and repayment. Students will analyze lending portfolios and the management of various enterprises. Prerequisite: ABIZ 0470 (or 061.047). Pre- or Co requisite: ABIZ 0450 (or 061.045).

DAGR 0740 Case Studies in Institutional Lending 2
(Formerly 041.074) This course is a continuation of Case Studies in Institutional Lending 1, and will examine and analyze more applications and financial statements of agricultural operations. Prerequisite: DAGR 0730 (or 041.073).

DAGR 0750 Money and Banking
(Formerly 041.075) Introduction to various financial institutions and the services they provide. Also, students will study interest rate determination, the Bank Act and money markets. This course is designed to provide an overview of the program of study in the Agricultural Finance option.

DAGR 0760 Agricultural Law
(Formerly 041.076) Discussion of the complexity of the agriculture industry and the laws affecting it. The course will illustrate laws critical for effective planning and the making of sound management decisions respecting the farm operations and agribusinesses. Topics include the Manitoba and Canadian legal systems, major laws affecting agriculture, and resolution of issues in Canadian agriculture. Offered in 2005-2006 and alternate years thereafter.

DAGR 0770 Tax
(Formerly 041.077) Examination of specific farm and agribusiness tax laws and filing procedures. Tax management strategies will also be discussed.

DAGR 0780 Succession and Estate Planning
(Formerly 041.078) An in-depth look at the legal requirements necessary for asset transfer and farm continuity. Topics include wills, asset divisions, tax planning, savings and opportunities.

DAGR 0790 Asset Appraisal
(Formerly 041.079) To learn the principles and concepts as they relate to the valuation of farm property, specifically, the process for various methods of appraisal of farm assets.

DAGR 0800 Intercultural Communications
(Formerly 041.080) A course designed to introduce written and verbal communication in a multicultural environment. Offered in 2006-2007 and alternate years thereafter.

DAGR 0810 Public Relations
(Formerly 041.081) Identification of and interaction with various public within an organization or business. Enhanced written and verbal communications. Offered in 2006-2007 and alternate years thereafter.

DAGR 0820 Business Writing
(Formerly 041.082) A course designed to enhance written business communications skills. Prerequisite: DAGR 0410 (or 065.041).

DAGR 0830 Agriculture Cooperative Education Work Term
Special five-month work assignment in business, industry, government or research for cooperative education students in the diploma program. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the professional assignment.

General Information

Introduction to the Faculty of Architecture,
The teaching of architecture began in 1913 as a four-year degree program within the Faculty of Arts. In 1920 the program became a part of the newly established Faculty of Engineering and Architecture. In 1938 a three year diploma program in interior decoration was established. In 1945 the departments of Architecture and Interior Decoration were combined in the School of Architecture and Fine Arts. In 1948 the entire school was reorganized as the School of Architecture. The professional architecture degree became a five year program; and a new four year Bachelor of Interior Design degree was also introduced. In 1949 a one year graduate program in Community Planning was established. In 1957 the Manitoba Legislature approved a grant for the construction of a building for the School of Architecture, the first in Canada to be designed exclusively for architecture education. In 1963 the school was reconstituted as the Faculty of Architecture and a two-year graduate program leading to the degree, Master of City Planning, was introduced.

In 1966 the curriculum in Architecture was reorganized so that the degree, Bachelor of Environmental Studies, became the prerequisite for the professional programs in Architecture and Landscape Architecture. This was followed in 1970 with a new curriculum leading to the professional degree, Master of Architecture, and two years later with new curriculum leading to a Master of Landscape Architecture. In 1990 an admissions year of 30 credit hours of Arts and Sciences courses became a prerequisite for entry into Environmental Design.

In 1998 the Bachelor of Environmental Design (B.Env.D.) became an undergraduate program consisting of two years of shared design studies followed by a third year in one of the 'professional options'. These options included Architecture, City Planning, Interior Design, and Landscape Architecture. University 1 was introduced as a prerequisite for admission to the Environmental Design Program. In 2006 the Faculty of Architecture began to reform the Environmental Design Program to create a four year undergraduate design program by including University 1 in its curriculum offerings. In 2007 the Faculty of Architecture introduced a four year design program consisting of two years of common 'Foundation Studies' (ED1/U1 and ED2) followed by two years of pre-professional 'Intermediate Studies' years (ED3 and ED4). The third and fourth years are referred to as the 'Option Years' and include Architecture, Interior Environments and Landscape + Urbanism (a shared option between City Planning and Landscape Architecture).

The B.Env.D. program is envisioned as a strong multidisciplinary undergraduate degree in its own right. It provides a solid base of design education for students intending to pursue careers and/or graduate studies in a wide variety of disciplines, including the Faculty's Master's degrees in Architecture, City Planning, Interior Design and Landscape Architecture, and at other institutions globally.

Available Options

Effective September 2008, the Bachelor of Environmental Design Degree Program has been reformed to require students to declare a specific program Option after the second year of studies (ED2) in the Environmental Design Program. Of the approximately 100 students moving into the third year of studies (ED3), admission into the Options will be divided equally. Students will be required to rank their program options in order of preference (1st, 2nd, 3rd choice). The selection of students into these Options will be based on the GPA, a Portfolio and Statement of Intent. Students entering the program should be aware that entry into the Options will be assigned on a competitive basis, and that not all students may be successfully placed in their first choice. Students who have not completed 2nd year studios or who still have more than 1 three credit hour lecture course to complete will not be eligible for admission into the Option years.

Architecture Option

The Architecture Option offers a program of studies that focuses on transforming the lessons of history, technology, culture, the environment, and regional and social aspirations into a program for architecture. Students have the academic freedom, one of the program's highlights, to experiment with ideas and methods as they develop their own personal and critical approaches to architectural design. The sequential design studios and supporting courses cover a wide spectrum of investigations ranging in scale from urban design to individual buildings to their construction details, examining the impact of all of these on the environment.

Interior Environments Option (not available to AMP students)

The Interior Environments Option provides an opportunity to study the design of interior spaces within the context of architecture and to investigate the design of objects within the contexts of the human body and interior spaces. Students enrol in a series of design studios and courses to explore the impact of interior environments on human beings and vice versa. The impact of technology – especially sustainable strategies – on buildings and their inhabitants is also studied.

Landscape + Urbanism Option (not available to AMP students)

The departments of Landscape Architecture and City Planning offer a joint option in Landscape + Urbanism for students who have a broad interest in understanding and shaping human settlement and habitat. Design studios and supporting courses recognize that we live in an increasingly globalized world where issues of natural resource depletion, climate change and the demand for sustainable development are paramount. Design and planning issues are addressed within the social, economic, and political contexts that drive development and of the cultural and ecological forces that create the built environment.

Available Streams (only available to AMP students)

AMP students entering either Stream One or Stream Two of the program will enter into the Architecture Option years three (AMP 1's) or four (AMP 2's) as outlined above.

SECTION 2: Admission Requirements

2.1 Bachelor of Environmental Design (B.Env.D),

To be considered for admission into the Bachelor of Environmental Design Program an applicant must have completed 30 credit hours of university-level coursework with an overall minimum adjusted grade point average of 2.50. For a detailed outline of the admission requirements please see our web site at umanitoba.ca/environmentaldesign.

2.2 Bachelor of Environmental Design - Architecture Masters Preparation Program (AMP),

Enrollment in the Environmental Design Masters Preparation Program is competitive and limited. Students will be admitted on the basis of an annual selection process. Applicants satisfying the minimum academic requirements are eligible for consideration at the discretion of the Department of Architecture Admissions Selection Committee. For a detailed list of the admission requirements please see our web site at umanitoba.ca/architecture.

SECTION 3: Faculty Academic Regulations

3.1 Undergraduate Scholastic Standards,

A Grade Point Average (GPA) of 2.00 is required as an acceptable standard of performance.

A minimum grade of 'C' is required to pass all courses offered by the Environmental Design Program and by the Departments within the Faculty. All courses offered by the Environmental Design Program stipulate a grade of "C" in the prerequisite course(s).

To be eligible for the degree of Bachelor of Environmental Design a student is required to complete a minimum of two full academic years of studies in the Environmental Design Program including Years 3 and 4.

3.2 Supplementary Regulations,

Special regulations governing admission, attendance, withdrawals, examinations, grading procedures and curriculum requirements are on file in the general office of the Environmental Design Program, Faculty of Architecture.

3.3 Dean's Honour List,

Students who achieve a term GPA of 4.0 or better, while registered in 80 per cent of a full course load will be included in the Dean's Honour List for the Faculty of Architecture.

SECTION 5: Environmental Architecture Course Descriptions-4000 Level

EVAR 4000 Modern Architectural History and Theory I

Provides a historical and theoretical understanding of the origins of modernity in architecture. Content is explored using primary texts where possible, and through critical analysis of selected topics. May not be held for credit with former EVAR 3700, EVAR 3470, ARCH 6460 or ARCH 6450.

EVAR 4002 Architectural Technology 3-Building Systems

Integrated building systems focusing on multi-story steel and concrete construction including: passive and active heating, cooling, and ventilation methods, strategies and designs, electrical, water, communication, security, fire protection, and vertical transportation systems; and building code constraints. May not be held for credit with the former EVAR 3560, EVAR 3570, ARCH 6500 or ARCH 6510.

EVAR 4004 Architecture Design Studio 3

This studio focuses on the broader cultural implications of social interaction and the collective inhabitation of the built and natural environments. Architecture design explorations are influenced by a thorough examination of programmatic, theoretical, historical, technological, material and environmental criteria. May not be held for credit with the former EVAR 3680 or ARCH 6400

EVAR 4006 Modern Architectural History and Theory II

Provides an historical and theoretical understanding of 20th century topics in architecture (western and non-western). Content is explored using primary texts where possible, and through critical analysis of selected topics, May not be held with the former EVAR 3330, EVAR 3480, ARCH 6440 or ARCH 6470.

EVAR 4008 Arch Tech 4: Comprehensive Design Technology Report

A technical knowledge project-based course integrating with Arch Studio 4. Comprehensive technology issues include: site; material; energy; structures; construction; sustainability; environmental factors; building code; life safety. Student's work will include analysis, technical drawings and calculations. Corequisite: EVAR 4010 Arch Studio 4

EVAR 4010 Architecture Design Studio 4

The previous terms investigations are further developed and synthesized into a comprehensively designed environment. Architectural propositions seek to clarify specific relations between details and the overall design, through the integration of complex social, cultural, programmatic, theoretical, historical, technological, material and environmental principles, systems and criteria. Prerequisite: EVAR

4004 Architecture Design Studio 3. May not be held with the former EVAR 3690 or ARCH 6410. Corequisite: EVAR 4008 Arch Tech 4.

SECTION 5: Environmental Architecture Course Descriptions-3000 Level

EVAR 3000 Pre-Modern Architectural History and Theory I

Provides a historical and theoretical understanding of early Greek, Roman, Gothic and non-western architectural topics and their influence. Content is explored using primary texts where possible, and through critical analysis of selected topics. May not be held for credit with the former EVDS 2690, EVDS 2610, ARCH 6320 or ARCH 6420.

EVAR 3002 Pre-Modern Architectural History and Theory II

Provides a historical and theoretical understanding of Gothic and Renaissance architectural topics and their influence, up to the work of Claude Perrault. Content is explored using primary texts where possible, and through critical analysis of selected topics. May not be held for credit with EVDS 2620 or ARCH 6340.

EVAR 3004

Construction materials and structural theory in the analysis and design of simple wood-frame, masonry and light steel construction; fundamental passive energy systems and design strategies for material and energy reduction. May not be held for credit with EVDS 1690 or ARCH 6480.

EVAR 3006 Architectural Technology 2-Building Construction, Structures & Envelopes

Architectural, environmental and technical aspects of construction focusing on low-rise and medium sized wood, steel and masonry construction including issues of material production/manufacturing, soils, foundation, envelope systems, basic mechanical systems and their integration and acoustic concerns. May not be held for credit with the former EVDS 2670, EVDS 2700, ARCH 6520 or ARCH 6530

EVAR 3008 Architecture Design Studio 1

An architectural study of the human condition in relation to the natural and built environment through design oriented research exploration, analysis, evaluation and interpretation of a selected subject of inquiry. Various ways of seeing and making are applied as tools for critical thinking to align content with modes of representation. May not be held for credit with former EVDS 2630 or ARCH 6380.

EVAR 3010 Architecture Design Studio 2

Building upon first term explorations, architectural propositions are developed that seek to clarify relations between human inhabitation and the physical environment in a regional context. Design principles influenced by programmatic, theoretical, historical, technological material and environmental criteria are examined. Prerequisite: EVAR 3008. May not be held for credit with former EVDS 2640 or ARCH 6390.

EVAR 3012 Architecture Technology Preparation: Structural Concepts

A preparatory block course introducing the fundamentals of structural concepts in architecture that prepares students for the foundation technology courses in architecture. May not be held for credit with EVDS 2300 (or former EVDS 1690), EVDS 1700 or ARCH 6480.

EVAR 3014 Drawing: Freehand/Digital

An introduction to drawing skills that allows students to become articulate in proposing and studying architecture through drawing. The course covers a range of media. May not be held for credit with the former ARCH 6532 or ARCH 6370

EVAR 3330 Canadian Architecture

(Formerly 079.333) Examined in reverse chronological order beginning with the present and concluding with the arrival of European settlers in the seventeenth century. Not to be held for credit with ARCH 6470 (or 050.647). Prerequisite: EVDS 2680 (or 079.268), EVDS 2690 (or 079.269) or consent of instructor

EVAR 3470 Process, Method and Theory 1

(Formerly 079.347) Continuing studies into the principles of spatial ordering. The focus will be on the persistence of particular forms and systems of ordering through time and analysis of the elements that contribute to the perception of the built environment. Prerequisite: EVDS 2620 (or 079.262).

EVAR 3480 Process, Method and Theory 2

(Formerly 079.348) An examination of the roots of contemporary thought and theory in architecture, developed through a critical analysis of written treatises, significant movements and the work of prominent individuals from the 18th century to the present day. Prerequisite: EVAR 3470 (or 079.347).

EVAR 3560 Technology 4

(Formerly 079.356) Examination of principles and methodologies associated with structural and construction decisions in architecture. Aspects of life safety including evacuation design and fire protection to Canadian standards are explored. Economic factors in building decisions are reviewed within the context of the architectural design process. Prerequisite: EVDS 2670 (or 079.267). Boots with steel toes required for site visits.

EVAR 3570 Technology 5

(Formerly 079.357) Principles, environmental parameters and methodologies associated with the design of plumbing, electrical and mechanical systems in buildings. The potential of utility systems as integrated architectonic elements is examined with a combination of case studies and related studio projects. Prerequisite: EVAR 3560 (or 079.356). Co requisite: EVDS 3690 (or 079.369).

EVAR 3680

(Formerly 079.368) Arch., C.P.: Studies in the principles, vocabularies and methods of approach to architectural and environmental design. Studio work with specific projects to exercise the analytical, the conceptual and the developmental stages of design. Prerequisite: EVDS 2640 (or 079.264).

EVAR 3690

(Formerly 079.369): Continuing studies in the principles, vocabularies and methods of approach to architectural and environmental design. Studio work with specific projects to exercise the analytical, conceptual and developmental stages of design. Pre-requisite: EVDS 3680 (or 079.368)

SECTION 5: Environmental Design Course Descriptions-1000 Level

EVDS 1600 Introduction to Environmental Design

(Formerly 079.160) An introduction to the philosophy and pragmatics of design and designing processes and methods. The focus will be on design as a creative, aesthetic and scientific endeavor, and will examine the challenges and roles of environmental designers in society. Available to non-Environmental Design students only.

EVDS 1602 Visual Literacy

This course examines the contemporary visual environment, its critical historical influences, and more recent cultural impacts. Optics, the structure of images, and the importance of materiality will be examined through various modes of cultural production including emerging media and information networks.

EVDS 1610 Theory of Design 1 (Elements of Design and Perception)

(Elements of Design and Perception) Cr.Hrs.3 (Formerly 079.161) An introduction to formal theoretical issues common to the design disciplines. Emphasis is placed on identifying and locating theoretical issues in the built environment and in various modes of cultural production. Co requisite: EVDS 1630 (or 079.163).

EVDS 1620 Theory of Design 2 (Intentions in Design)

(Formerly 079.162) An examination of formal theoretical issues common to the design disciplines. Theoretical issues are linked with design intentions and ways of world-making. Emphasis is placed on exploring design activity as a conscious, methodical act embodying meaning in historical and contemporary contexts. Prerequisite: EVDS 1610 (or 079.161). Co requisite: EVDS 1640 (or 079.164).

EVDS 1630 Design Studio 1

(Formerly 079.163) Introduction to the principles of visual and spatial design, representation and communication; Studio work will concentrate on the development of perceptual and communication skills, exploration of design principles, concepts and criteria, and their applications in form making. Co requisites: EVDS 1610 (or 079.161) and EVDS 1680 (or 079.168).

EVDS 1640 Design Studio 2

(Formerly 079.164) Introduction to concepts of space and order in the built environment. Studio work will examine design criteria and issues at various scales, Undergraduate Studies with a focus on design process, intentions and meanings. Prerequisite: EVDS 1630 (or 079.163). Co requisite: EVDS 1620 (or 079.162).

EVDS 1650 Communication and Information Technology 1

(Formerly 079.165) Introduction to both traditional and electronic skills, including drawing, graphics, delivery options, and internet based learning.

EVDS 1660 History of Culture, Ideas and Environment 1

(Formerly 079.166) A brief history of the western creative imagination, part 1. Interdisciplinary survey of cultural periods and key works from the Foundations of Civilization to the Enlightenment, including literary readings, film screenings, and illustrated lectures and discussions. Available to non-Environmental Design students only.

EVDS 1670 History of Culture, Ideas and Environment 2

(Formerly 079.167) A brief history of the western creative imagination, part 2. Interdisciplinary survey of cultural periods and key works from the 19th to the 21st centuries, including literary readings, film screenings, and illustrated lectures and discussion. Prerequisite: EVDS 1660 (or 079.166). Available to non-Environmental Design students only.

EVDS 1680 Environmental Technology

(Formerly 079.168) An examination of the scientific principles embodied in the natural laws which govern the science of building, landscape and environmental design in the context of sustainable development. Factors of climate, geology and natural resource systems are introduced. Co requisite: EVDS 1630.

EVDS 1690 Construction Materials and Assemblies 1

(Formerly 079.169) An introduction to the principles and applications associated with the manufacture of construction materials and assemblies used in environmental design with an emphasis on resource impact. An introduction to the study of loading conditions, systems of forces and conditions of equilibrium for two and three dimensional structures. Prerequisite: EVDS 1680 (or 079.168)

EVDS 1700 Construction Materials & Assemblies 2

(Formerly 079.170) An examination of structural and construction systems applied in a variety of building and site conditions. Introduction of the principles associated with foundation system selection and design. Masonry, timber framing, structural systems and basic principles of building enclosure are reviewed through lectures, laboratory assignments and design studio projects. Prerequisite: EVDS 1690 (or 079.169). May not be held for credit with the former 079.266.

EVDS 2100 Urban Media Lab

An introduction to visual methods of representation and related media including drawing, photography and video. The intention is to critically engage the urban and suburban contexts as a laboratory for investigating cultural values, aesthetic issues, design principles, and representational techniques, 'prerequisite' to undertaking design studio work.

EVDS 2200 Ecology and Design

An examination of principles of Ecology and Design works in which these tenets are considered, engaged, and/or demonstrated. Topics fundamental to the science of Ecology will theoretically structure the course content. Emphasis will be placed on understanding the forces and systems working within and between natural, social and human environments.

EVDS 2300 Materials, Structures and Assemblies

This course provides an introduction to applied statics, construction materials and construction system assemblies for landscape, building, and interior constructions. Construction material properties and applications, including impacts on resource depletion and on sustainable building practices will be introduced along with basic strategies and methods to analyze and calculate forces in simple structures.

EVDS 2400 Visual Media 1

An introduction to technical and free-hand drawing processes and techniques, and in various media - to develop, to express, and to communicate design intentions. The focus will be directed to abstract and concrete methods of representation. Emphasis will be placed on the integral relationship between thinking, drawing, and making in relation to critically observing the world at large, and in relation to design studio work.

Introduction to the elements and principles of visual and spatial design, design process and techniques, requisite methods of representation and communication, and design intentions. Studio work will explore different ways of space and form-making, beginning at the site of the body, in both abstract and environmental contexts.

EVDS 2600 Tectonic Precedent

An examination of seminal built works of environmental design, at a range of scales, from the 19th and 20th centuries, with an emphasis on examples that are representative of diverse positions of key issues in contemporary design practice. Methodologically, this course endeavours to critically evaluate the relationships between perception, intention, and making through the exploration of the material and tectonic nature of the work(s).

EVDS 2610 Theory of Design 3 (Human Behaviour and the Built Environment)

(Human Behavior and the Built Environment) Cr.Hrs.3 (Formerly 079.261) An introduction to human behavior and its interrelationship with the design and shaping of the built environment; the relationship of language, culture and environmental cues to human behavior. Prerequisite: consent of instructor.

EVDS 2620 Theory of Design 4 (Tectonic Precedent)

(Formerly 079.262) An examination of built works of environmental design from the 19th and 20th Centuries, with emphasis on examples that are representative of diverse positions on key issues in design practice.

EVDS 2630 Design Studio 3

(Formerly 079.263) Introduction to discipline-based design problems ranging in scale from townscape design to the design of private domestic environments. Studio work includes the investigation, analysis, programming and design synthesis of a multitude of factors into buildable forms that balance pragmatic requirements with poetic intentions. Prerequisite: EVDS 1640 (or 079.164).

EVDS 2640 Design Studio 4

(Formerly 079.264) Continuation of Design Studio 3 with discipline-based design problems at the scale of the room and of the small, free-standing building. Emphasis is placed on the understanding and resolution of architectonic issues, and on the detailed design of exterior and interior environments, both public and private. Studio work will encourage the development of design process and the application of theory. Prerequisite: EVDS 2630 (or 079.263).

EVDS 2650 Communications and Information Technology 2

(Formerly 079.265) Skill building in visual communication and information technology. Continues development of traditional and electronic communications and graphic skills. Alternate weeks will be devoted to rotating workshops offering freehand, mechanical and computer communication skills. This course normally commences with approximately 50 contact hours of workshop comprising intensive skill building sessions. NOTE: A field work fee applies and students should check the fee schedule for the amount.

EVDS 2670 Environmental Controls

(Formerly 079.267) The course introduces principles and methodologies associated with acoustics, natural and artificial lighting in environmental design. These principles are examined within the context of appropriate case studies, laboratory assignments and studio projects. Prerequisite: EVDS 2660 (or 079.266) or EVDS 1700 (or 079.170).

EVDS 2690 Design Since 1800

(Formerly 079.269) An examination of key architectural treatises of the 19th and 20th centuries that are representative of the predominant ideals of their time and the influence they have had in the construction of the built environment. Pre-requisite EVDS 1670 (or 079.167)

EVDS 2700 Construction Materials and Assemblies 3

(Formerly 079.270) An examination of structural and construction systems applied in a variety of building and site conditions. Introduction of the principles associated with foundation system selection and design. Masonry, timber framing structural systems and basic principles of building enclosure are reviewed through lectures, laboratory assignments and design studio projects. Prerequisite: EVDS 1700 (or

EVDS 2702 Natural and Human Systems

An application of the scientific principles embodied in the natural laws which govern environmental design. Aspects of the bio-physical factors, energy, human physiology and perception, comfort, and resource management are reviewed in the context of sustainable planning and design practices.

EVDS 2800 Visual Media 2

This course bridges technical and freehand drawing introduced in Visual Media 1, with computer/digital media. This course advances contemporary digital media in relation to emerging modes of 2, 3, and 4 dimensional modes of representation, in the context of design studio work, and in relation to graphic standards associated with professional design practice.

EVDS 2900 Design Studio 2

An exploration of the fundamental relationships between space, form and order in the context of the built environment, from body to place. Pedagogical emphasis will be directed towards design process, cultural intentions, and environmental accountability.

SECTION 5: Environmental Design Course Descriptions-3000 Level

EVDS 3250 Advanced Computing in Environmental Design (Formerly 079.325) Advanced Computing in Environmental Design builds upon skills obtained in the introductory course. The advanced course provides an opportunity for students to explore detailed applications of computational technologies in design & planning. Prerequisite EVDS 2800 or EVDS 2650 (079.265).

EVDS 3710 Special Topics

(Formerly 079.371) Independent study related to environmental design. Content may vary according to the interest of the community, students, profession, and the faculty. Written consent of the instructor(s) and program coordinator required.

EVDS 3740 Introduction to AutoCad in Design

(Formerly 079.374) The course will familiarize the student with the AutoCad program. The course content begins at an introductory level and will progress to a level which will prepare the student for work within a professional office. The course will explore the use of AutoCad for the creation of presentation drawings as well as working drawings. Prerequisite: EVDS 2800 or ARCH 6370 or written permission of Instructor.

SECTION 5: Environmental Interior Environment Course Descriptions-3000 Level

EVIE 3000 Field Studies

This course introduces students to the field of Interior Design through firsthand experience and study of innovative and significant examples of historic and contemporary work from interior design and related fields, in a major design center. The course consists of lectures and a field trip. Location may vary from year to year.

EVIE 3002 Interior Design History and Theory 1

Examination of concepts, theories and writings related to the development of Interior Design as a discipline, to Modernism. Not to be held for credit with the former EVIE 3650.

EVIE 3004 Materials, Assemblies and Detailing

Workshop and lecture course on materials, joinery and invention. Review of the principles of framing, bracing, and tension applied to casegoods and furniture; exploration of a variety of soft and hard materials and constructions with an emphasis on sustainability. Not to be held for credit with the former EVIE 3630. Prerequisite: EVDS 2200.

EVIE 3006 Interior Design Media

This course develops a student's ability to use drawing as a reflective, problem-solving, designing and visual communication tool; interfaces with digital photography; figure drawing, techniques for representing volume, depth and scale, and interfaces with digital photography and media are focus.

EVIE 3008 Interior Design Studio 3.1

Interior Design studio exploring the body as the primary reference in design, and the semantic and cultural meanings of objects and architectural elements as mediators of space. Integration of drawing, design and making through projects.

EVIE 3010 Interior Design Studio 3.2

An in-depth investigation, by design, of the nature of interiors including the physical and perceptual, spatial elements and order, human involvement and experience. Exploration and development of spatial solutions using a variety of visual media. Not to be held for credit with the former EVIE 3680.

EVIE 3012 Interior Light and Colour

This course examines interior lighting and colour theories and concepts emphasizing human and ecological issues, exploration of spatial design strategies and practices. Not to be held for credit with the former EVIE 3610.

EVIE 3014 Human Factors and Environmental Experience

Theoretical and practical issues related to human characteristics, needs, behaviours, and interactions with and within the built interior environment.

EVIE 3016 Topics in Interior Design

This course will explore topics at the cutting edge of interior design, examining political, economic, sociological and technological influences on current and future directions in interior design; examination of current research, writing, projects and works from related and diverse fields.

EVIE 3610 Sensory Technology 1

(Formerly 079.361) The study of the interaction of light, colour, materials, construction, building systems and detailing in the design of the interior environment; responding to human and ecological considerations. Co-requisite EVIE 3630.

EVIE 3620 Sensory Technology 2

(Formerly 079.362) Further study of the interaction of light, colour, materials, construction, building systems and detailing in the design of the interior environment; responding to human and ecological considerations. Co-requisite EVIE 3630.

EVIE 3630 Sensory Technology 3

(Formerly 079.363) Workshop, studio and site investigations which explore and extend curriculum content in Sensory Technology 1 and 2. Co-requisites EVIE 3610 and EVIE 3620.

EVIE 3640 Design Inquiry

EVIE 3650 The Interior Dimension 1

(Formerly 079.365) An historical and theoretical approach to the evolution of interior environments, artifacts, and the visual/spatial statements of twentieth century design culture.

EVIE 3660 The Interior Dimension 2

(Formerly 079.366) An extended historical and theoretical investigation of interior environments, artifacts, and visual/spatial statements of contemporary design culture. Prerequisite: EVIE 3650 (or 079.365)

EVIE 3670 Digital Design Media

(Formerly 079.367) An intermediate level computer applications elective focused on design, representation and communications. Specific course content to be determined by the areas of specialization available to the faculty and department on a yearly basis. Pre-requisite EVDS 2650 (or 079.265).

EVIE 3680 Design Studio 5

(Formerly 079.368) Arch., C.P.: Studies in the principles, vocabularies and methods of approach to architectural and environmental design. Studio work with specific projects to exercise the analytical, the conceptual and the developmental stages of design. Prerequisite: EVIE 2640 (or 079.264).

EVIE 3690

(formerly 079.369) Studio projects which explore and elaborate systems of meaning in interior place making in the public realm; developing strategies and processes in Undergraduate Studies the design of transitional interior environments. Pre-requisite EVIE 3680 (or 079.368).

SECTION 5: Environmental Interior Environment Course Descriptions-4000 Level

EVIE 4000 Interior Design History and Theory 2

Examinations of concepts, theories and writings related to the development of interior Design as a discipline and profession, from Modernism to the present day. Prerequisite: EVIE 3002 Interior Design History and Theory 1. Not to be held for credit with the former EVIE 3660.

EVIE 4002 Indoor Systems 1

In-depth, whole building examination of various integrated active and passive environmental controls systems. Focus on working with existing commercial building construction and environmental systems when integrating new interior design and ecological concepts and strategies. Introduction to building performance assessment, construction drawings and schedules. Prerequisite: EVIE 3004 and EVIE 3012. Corequisite: EVIE 4010. Not to be held for credit with the former EVIE 3620.

EVIE 4004 Indoor Systems 2

Broad exploration of a variety of contemporary and innovative building technologies and their integration with interior design. Focus on ecological, new building construction concepts and measure, delivered in the context of integrated design team processes and building systems innovation. Integration and coordination of interior architectural elements with active and passive building systems. Prerequisite: EVIE 4002.

EVIE 4006 Design Methods and Processes

Development of knowledge and abilities to collect, analyze, synthesize, interpret, and apply information for the purpose of identifying and solving interior design problems. Not to be held for credit with the former EVIE 3640.

EVIE 4008 Digital Media (AutoCAD)

Drafting and designing for Interior Design students with AutoCAD. The course will focus on using AutoCAD Release 200X, with exposure to Autodesk's Architectural Desktop and Revit Version X. The course is set up to take students from the basics of using the program to being able to produce a conventionally correct working drawing and a rendered 3D representation. Not to be held for credit with former EVIE 3670.

EVIE 4010 Interior Design Studio 4.1

Projects that explore the interaction between urban context, programmatic requirements and design concepts; integration of building technology and three-dimensional spatial development; development of communication skills and methods. Not to be held with the former EVIE 3690. Prerequisite: EVIE 3010. Corerequisite: EVIE 4002.

EVIE 4012 Interior Design Studio 4.2

Design studio with the potential for collaboration, exploring regional and global influences, communication technology, history and temporality in the design of interior environments.

EVIE 4014 Advanced Interior Design Media

Advanced visual communications media for interior designers, focusing on 3D computer-aided design and presentation. Development in the use of a selected range of drawing and rendering software applications. Further development in integrating hand and digital methods. Prerequisite: EVIE 4008 or consent of instructor.

SECTION 5: Environmental Design, Landscape & Urbanism Course Descriptions-3000 Level

EVLU 3000 History of Designed Environments

A critical examination and appraisal of design for dwelling in the context of settlement with emphasis on representation of diverse positions on key issues in design practice. Studies will include consideration of cross cultural precedents and lessons from around the world.

EVLU 3002 Site Planning

An investigation of the relationship between natural and cultural processes in the formation of the built environment, including a review of the methods and strategies employed for site programming, inventory, analysis, and development at different scales of intervention.

EVLU 3004 Ecology and Design 2

This course will focus on an examination of ecological and technological perspectives on the planning, design and making of the physical environment. This will include a meshing of prediction and advocacy concerning new models of sustainable urbanization, focusing on green technology and infrastructure. Key theories and their application to landscapes at varied scales will be considered along with salient literature, current issues, design precedents and potentials for creative expression and interpretation. Prerequisite: EVDS 2200.

EVLU 3006 Studio 3: Dwelling/ Precinct/ Everyday Life

A studio/lecture course that examines the notion of dwelling through spatial design with a concentration at the scale of the precinct in the private to semi-private realm focusing on the needs of the individual, on spatial qualities, materials, and site design detail. Theoretical, analytical, conceptual, design, planning and communication skills in landscape + urbanism will be developed and applied in distinct projects. Emphasis is on habitat by design, issues of contested space, ecological design and sustainability. May include a mandatory field studies trip; location and cost to be determined on a yearly basis.

EVLU 3008 Studio 4: Networks and Infrastructure

A critical exploration of analytical, conceptual, and developmental aspects of design of the public realm in an experimental studio setting. Social, political, economic, communication, and ecological networks will be studied at the scale of neighborhood and community in the urban realm.

EVLU 3010 Landscape and Urbanism Theory

An examination through lectures, readings, seminars and essay assignments, of twentieth and twenty first century philosophical thinking, which has been influential in the theory and practice of landscape architecture, planning and urbanism. Emphasis is on ideas, paradigms, and manifestos. This will include a study of the social, political, religious, cultural, technological, and aesthetic forces behind landscape and urbanism, and the forms that these forces have generated.

EVLU 3012 Site Morphology and Grading

An examination of the means and methods used to create landscapes that are shaped by earthwork grading. This will include the study of the forces, principles, and techniques in the modelling and manipulation of the ground plane and the resolution of cultural, ecological and hydrological design considerations implicit in landform design.

EVLU 3014 Placemaking Fundamentals

An introduction to placemaking as an integrated community-based application of landscape and urbanism concepts, based on topical themes, such as the Great Neighbourhood or Edens Lost and Found.

SECTION 5: Environmental Design, Landscape & Urbanism Course

Descriptions- 4000 Level

EVLU 4000 Philosophy, Ethics and Aesthetics

An examination of philosophical issues and debates regarding ethics and aesthetics, and their influence and potential upon urban design and urban form in the past and present, and to speculate upon the future. Prerequisite: EVLU 3010.

EVLU 4002 Construction Materials

A comprehensive introduction to construction materials, methods and processes. Examination of regulatory issues of human safety and techniques for communicating construction proposals with application to how this information is incorporated into contracts. Field trips to nurseries, quarries, lumber yards, and urban sites where students can observe materials transformed to comply with the requirements of designers. Prerequisite: EVLU 3012.

EVLU 4004 Inquiry by Environmental Design: Researching Space-Place Transformation

An exploration of the design/research relationship, from a critical and creative thinking perspective will be the core of this course, viewing design and research as linked forms of inquiry into space-place transformation. A focus will be on design/research methods and approaches appropriate to informing and investigating designed environments and community design contexts.

EVLU 4006 Special Topics in Community Design

This course will involve a critical examination of specific topics such as: health and community design; inner city environments; and Canadian community planning and design, and its contexts.

EVLU 4008 Plants, Ecosystems and Design

The examination of cultural and technical aspects of designing with plants will be explored in an urban context through field investigations, lectures, seminars and assignments. Issues of plant identification, planting design types, their application to contemporary landscape architecture, technical requirements, planting details and ecological intergration in the urban environment will be included.

EVLU 4010 Community Design Process and Method: Advanced Placemaking

An introduction to the integration of perception, intention and placemaking associated with manifestations of community, especially communities of interest, and systems of 'communities of communities'. A consideration of the relationship of space-place transformation and placemaking, via participatory design processes will be examined as part of a critical design and planning process.

EVLU 4012 Studio 5: Possible Urbanism(s)

A radical exploration of analytical, conceptual, and socio-political aspects of urban public place in an experimental studio setting. An emphasis will be placed on design as mediation between competition demands. The studio incorporates the theory and application of three dimensional simulation technology in design.

EVLU 4014 Studio 6: Emergent Futures

This studio integrates planning and design from the scale of urban infrastructure through to design detail in the context of landscape and urbanism. An emphasis is placed on the challenges of relevant equitable environmental and social design in the post-industrial world. The studio incorporates the theory and application of CAD and GIS technology in design.

EVLU 4016 History of Landscape and Urbanism

An historical survey of human made landscapes and urban settlement form, patterns, and types, including major themes and movements. Prerequisite: EVLU 3000.

EVLU 4018 Principles of Urban Design

This course will examine urban design principles, practices, and applications including political and social systems, and their impacts on the contemporary urban condition.

SECTION 4: Program and Graduation Requirements

4.1 Bachelor of Environmental Design

4.1 Bachelor of Environmental Design,
The Bachelor of Environmental Design Degree is a four year program of studies consisting of two years of common 'Foundation Studies' (ED1 /U1 and ED2) followed by two years of 'pre-professional 'Intermediate Studies' (ED3 and ED4). The third and fourth years are referred to as the 'Option Years' and include Architecture, Interior Environments and Landscape + Urbanism (a shared option between City Planning and Landscape Architecture). Typically students entering the Environmental Design Program are admitted after completion of the admission requirements.

			Foundation Studies
Apply to University 1			ED1 / U1
Apply to Environmental Design Program			ED2
			Intermediate Studies (Option Years)
Apply to Option	ED 3 Arch Option	or	ED 3 IE Option	or	ED 3 L + U Option
	ED 4 Arch Option	or	ED 4 IE Option	or	ED 4 L + U Option

The Foundation Studies of the Environmental Design Program provide a solid grounding in the basic knowledge and language shared by all of the environmental design disciplines. It also provides opportunity to develop interdisciplinary perspectives through the other academic units in the University of Manitoba. Students come to understand the holistic nature of environmental design and, at an early stage, begin to establish a rich and multidisciplinary dialogue with their peers in the Faculty of Architecture. It also enables students to discover their strengths and interests relating to a particular environmental design discipline.

The Intermediate Studies of the Environmental Design Program provide opportunities to pursue a specific professional design discipline including Architecture, City Planning, Interior Design and Landscape Architecture. The third and fourth years are spent studying in the Option Years where students are exposed to, and challenged by, academic and professional design theories and practices specific to a particular design discipline.

Overall, the curriculum is structured around a design studio sequence that provides a forum for exploring the complex relationships between humans and the natural and built environments that constitute the places and artifacts of cultural production. Over a four year period, a student will develop the necessary knowledge and skills to pursue work in a wide variety of design practices.

The professional options are an important curriculum link to the graduate programs. Students holding a B.Env.D degree are eligible to apply to the graduate departments of Architecture, City Planning, Interior Design and Landscape Architecture and to other graduate programs globally. Students who have completed a design degree may be eligible to apply to the graduate program. Interested students should consult the Graduate Calendar, Faculty of Architecture.

In order to be eligible for the Bachelor of Environmental Design Degree students must complete ED2, ED3 and ED4 (total 99 credit hours). Admission enrollment is limited to 100 students on a competitive basis.

Students who intend on pursuing graduate studies in Landscape Architecture at the University of Manitoba should complete EVLU 4002 Construction Materials and EVLU 4008 Plants, Ecosystems and Design in their 4th year

Electives,

University credit courses may be taken as electives. They may come from the Faculties of Arts, Science, Engineering, Fine Arts, Management, Agricultural and Food Sciences among others, or with the permission of the Environmental Design Program Chair in special circumstances.

Supplies and Expenses,

The Faculty of Architecture has introduced an Information Technology Program Fee of $400.00 for all enrolling students. The Information Technology Program Fee includes $100.00 to go to a technology endowment fund. Remaining funds will be expended on current technology items of direct benefit to students.

In addition to tuition, student fees, and related expenses, the estimated cost of materials, equipment, and textbooks for students in Environmental Design is approximately $7,000 per year.

The Environmental Design Program offers Field Studies in Years 2, 3 and 4 either as stand alone courses or in conjunction with a design studio offering. These may be regional, national or international. All related costs are to be borne by the students. A valid passport is required. A visa may also be required.

The Environmental Design Program has revised its mandatory computer purchase policy for all students entering Year 2 of the Environmental Design Program, beginning September 2008. Please refer to the Environmental Design website to note laptop computer and software specifications.

The Environmental Design Program has introduced the Urban Media Lab Fee of $350.00 (replacing the Sketch Camp fee). The Urban Media Lab course is offered in Year 2 and is hosted off campus in advance of the regular academic session (late August to early September).

For information about professional studies leading to the degrees of Master of Architecture, Master of City Planning, Master of Interior Design and Master of Landscape Architecture, please refer to the Graduate Calendar.

4.2 Bachelor of Environmental Design - Architecture Masters Preparation Program (AMP)

4.2 Bachelor of Environmental Design Architecture Masters Preparation Program (AMP 1 and AMP 2),

This program is for applicants who have a recognized three or four year undergraduate degree in either a non-design discipline (such as Fine Art, Engineering, Science, Philosophy, Theatre, Psychology, Music, Film, English, History, Art History, Urban Studies, Geography, Commerce, etc)

OR

a design-related discipline (such as Interior Design, Landscape Architecture, Industrial Design, etc.) and wish to eventually apply to the graduate Master of Architecture Program.

General Eligibility: All applicants must meet the general admission and entrance requirements set by the Department of Architecture. The entry level into the program will be determined by the Department of Architecture Admissions Committee's evaluation of the individual's application and supporting documents.

Architecture Masters Preparation One (AMP 1): (For those with a background in one of the following: Fine Art, Industrial Design, Engineering, Science, Philosophy, Theatre, Psychology, Music, Film, English, History, Art History, Urban Studies, Geography, Commerce, etc.) For applicants who have little or no formal design education with a minimum three-year undergraduate bachelors degree in any disciplinary field from a recognized college or university. A minimum GPA of 3.0 or equivalent B in the last two full years (60 credit hours) of study is required. Upon successful completion of this two-year program students will be eligible to receive an Environmental Design undergraduate degree.

Architecture Masters Preparation Two (AMP 2): (For those with a background in one of the following: Interior Design, Interior Architecture or Landscape Architecture) For applicants who already have a three or four-year undergraduate bachelors degree in a design- of-the-environment related field from a recognized college or university. A minimum GPA of 3.0 or equivalent B in the last two full years (60 credit hours) of study is required. These applicants are considered on a case-by-case basis for placement into the second and final year of the undergraduate Architecture Masters Preparation undergraduate Program but will be ineligible to receive the Environmental Design degree.

NOTE: Upon successful completion of the Architecture Masters Preparation undergraduate Program (AMP 1 and AMP 2), students who wish to continue into the Master of Architecture Program must officially apply for graduate admissions. Evaluation is based on the student's progress in either the one or two-year Architecture Masters Preparation Program, as evidenced in a portfolio submission, GPA and a Faculty of Graduate Studies application.

 This includes 24 to 30 credit hours of study in University 1 before admission to Art History. No portfolio required.

SECTION 2: Admission Requirements

SECTION 2: Admission Requirements Intro,

The following is a summary of admission requirements in the School of Art. There is an annual admission quota and admission is competitive.

Entry requirements to the University of Manitoba are listed in the Admissions chapter of this Calendar.

All admission requirements, as well as application deadline dates and forms, are included in an applicant information bulletin available from the Admissions Office, Enrolment Services, 424 University Centre; this information is also posted on the university's website, www.umanitoba.ca/schools/art. Once there, select "Future Students".

An acceptance deposit of $100 is required and will be credited towards tuition when registration is complete.

2.1 Admission Requirements: Studio Programs

Bachelor of Fine Arts Studio – General Program

Initially, all students wishing to complete a Fine Arts studio degree are admitted to the Bachelor of Fine Arts General Program.

Admission to the School of Art is directly from high school or from University 1. Grade 12 Art is recommended. In addition to academic standing in high school of University 1, each applicant must submit a portfolio. Information about the admission and portfolio requirements is available on the School of Art website: umanitoba.ca/schools/art. Once there, select "Future Students".

Bachelor of Fine Arts Studio – Honours Program

To transfer to the Studio Honours program, a student must successfully complete 70 credit hours of study in the first two years of the General Program, with a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5 in the Fine Arts courses. Contact the School of Art Student Advisor to arrange for a transfer once the 70 credit hours have been achieved.

Diploma in Art

Admission to the Diploma in Art requires a high school diploma. Applicants must submit a portfolio and satisfy high school course requirements as described in the application bulletin available from the Admissions Office.

2.2 Admission Requirements: Art History Programs,
General Program

Students wishing to complete an Art History degree must first complete 24-30 credit hours in University 1, including 12 credit hours from the list that follows, and achieve a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.0. No portfolio required.

FAAH 1030 Introduction to Art 1A (3)

FAAH 1040 Introduction to Art 2A (3)

English Literature: ENGL 1310 Literary Topics (3); or ENGL 1200 Representative Literature (6); or ENGL 1300 Twentieth Century Literature (6).

HIST 1200 or PHIL 1200 or 1510 or ASIA 1420 and ASIA 1430 (6)

FA 1020, Math in Art or MATH 1020 or any other course that meets the University of Manitoba Math requirement (3)

A language course - French, German, or Italian recommended (6)

Science or Social Science elective (6)

Once University 1 regulations are met, students will initially be admitted to the Bachelor of Fine Arts Art History – General Program.

Honours Program

To transfer to the Art History Honours program, a student must successfully complete 70 credit hours of study in the General Program, with a cumulative GPA of 2.5 in the Fine Arts courses. Contact the School of Art Student Advisor to arrange for a transfer once the 70 credit hours have been achieved.

2.3 Additional Admission Categories,

Mature Students: A mature student is eligible to enter the School of Art as a student in the Diploma in Art program. A Diploma student may transfer into the degree program after completing 25 credit hours in the Diploma Program.

Transfer Students: A student seeking transfer to the School of Art from another faculty at the University of Manitoba should contact the School of Art Student Advisor regarding transfer of credit. Academic courses completed at other institutions will be assessed for equivalency only after a student is admitted to the School and paid the deposit. The maximum transferable to the B.F.A. General Program is 30 credit hours. The maximum transferable to the B.F.A. Honours Program is 60 credit hours.

Special Students: A special student is someone who is permitted by the Director of the School of Art to take courses for interest and whose basis of admission is normally possession of a first degree. The student should check with the School of Art Student Advisor first about the application; the student's course choice is dependent on previous courses taken as pre-requisites and space availability in the class.

Audit Students: Art history courses may be audited with the permission of the instructor. Studio courses cannot be audited.

Visiting Students: A visiting student can take courses in the School of Art on a letter of permission from the home university. The specific courses for which permission is granted must be listed in the Letter of Permission.

SECTION 3: Faculty Academic Regulations

SECTION 3: Faculty Academic Regulations Intro,

The provisions of the chapter General Academic Regulations and Requirements University Policies apply to all students. In addition, the School of Art has the following regulations and requirements.

3.1 Scholastic Standards, General Scholastic Standards

A minimum grade of "C" is required in all School of Art courses unless otherwise stated.

If a course is repeated, the grade and hours of credit for the repeated course are substituted for those of the original attempt in calculating the Cumulative GPA.

A student placed on probation at the end of an academic year must clear the probationary status by the end of the next academic session or will be required to withdraw permanently from the School of Art.

Specific Scholastic Standards: Studio

Bachelor of Fine Arts General:

Students must maintain a cumulative GPA as follows:

First year	1.5
Second year	1.8
Third year	2.0
To Graduate	2.0

Bachelor of Fine Arts Honours:

A student must maintain a cumulative GPA as follows:

Third year Honours	2.2
Fourth year Honours	2.5
To Graduate	2.5

To register for a studio major course, a minimum grade of "C+" must be achieved in the appropriate prerequisite course.

To register for BFA Thesis (STDO 4880) a minimum grade of "B" must be achieved in the appropriate prerequisite studio major course.

Students must complete all required courses in their third year (103 credit hours) prior to registration in the Thesis (STDO 4880) and Thesis Seminar (STDO 4890) courses. A minimum grade of "B" is required in the Thesis and Thesis Seminar courses.

Studio First Class Honours: Upon completion of the requirements for the BFA Honours Program, a student who achieves a cumulative GPA of 3.5 in courses applicable to the last two years of the Honours program will be awarded the BFA Honours Degree First Class.

Diploma in Art:

To continue in the Diploma Program, a student must maintain a cumulative GPA as follows:

First Year Diploma	1.5
Second Year Diploma	1.8
Third Year Diploma	2.2
Fourth Year Diploma	2.5
To Graduate	2.5

To register for a studio major course, a minimum grade of “C+” must be achieved in the appropriate prerequisite course.

To register for a Diploma Workshop course, a minimum grade of “B” must be achieved in the appropriate prerequisite Major Studio course.

Specific Scholastic Standards: Art History

Bachelor of Fine Arts Art History - General:

Students must maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.0. For all School of Art courses, the minimum passing grade is “C”. For courses taken in other faculties, the minimum passing grade is “D”.

Bachelor of Fine Arts Art History Honours:

To continue in the Program, a student must maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.5.

Art History First Class Honours: Upon completion of the requirements for a BFA Art History Honours Program, a student who achieves a cumulative GPA of 3.75 in courses taken in the last two years will be awarded BFA Art History Honours Degree First Class.

Field Trip Policy

The Field Trips are a requirement for all School of Art programs. Exemption is granted only on compassionate, medical or legal grounds. In case of accommodation, the student must register for the field trip and pay the fee and an alternate assignment must be completed successfully for credit. It is the student’s responsibility to acquire all necessary travel documentation at least three months prior to departure. This includes a valid passport, and for international students, a travel visa for the United States. Students under the age of eighteen require written parental or guardian permission. Students with questions should check with Canada Border Services Agency to determine the correct documentation required for their citizenship status (www.cbsa-asfc.gc.ca).

3.2 University Written English and Mathematics Requirement, Students in the BFA Studio and Art History Programs are required to complete, within the first 60 credit hours of their programs, the Written English and Mathematics requirements.

The School of Art accepts only English Literature courses to fulfil the written English requirement. For BFA General students, this can be met through ENGL 1200 Representative Literary Works (6) or ENGL 1300 Literature since 1900 (6) or ENGL 1310 English Literary Topics (two courses at 3 credit hours each). Students in the BFA Art History General and Art History Honours Degree Programs require three credit hours of English Literature.

The Mathematics requirement for all Studio and Art History Degree Programs in the School of Art can be met through FA 1020 Mathematics in Art, or any other university course designated as satisfying the mathematics requirement.

Students in the Diploma Program do not need to fulfil the Written English or Mathematics requirement.

Refer to the chapter on General Academic Regulations and Requirements of this Calendar for the complete Written English and Mathematics policy.

3.3 Attendance,

Regular attendance is expected in all courses. Letters of warning may be issued for unexcused absences in excess of three for a course in one term. Unexcused absences in excess of four for a course that meets twice a week or five for a course that meets three times a week in one term may result in suspension.

3.4 Voluntary Withdrawal Policy,

Refer to the general policy on voluntary withdrawal from programs and courses in the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements.

3.5 Residency Requirement,

Studio Programs:

In addition to the University of Manitoba general residency requirement, one-half of the studio course requirements beyond the first year must be taken at the University of Manitoba. All thesis and workshop courses must be taken at this university.

3.6 Dean's Honour List,

School of Art students who achieve a Sessional GPA of 3.3 and carry the minimum required credit hours in the current year of study will be included on the Dean's Honour List. Students holding incomplete or deferred status are not eligible for the Honour List.

SECTION 4: Program and Graduation Requirements

4.1 Bachelor of Fine Arts Studio Programs,

Please note that year one program requirements are under revision. New requirements will be listed on the School of Art’s website (www.umanitoba.ca/schools/art). Once there, select “Future Students”.

The School of Art offers degrees that cover the history, theory, and techniques of art. Students must also take elective courses outside the School of Art. These programs provide a general cultural background as well as the technical education necessary to become an educator, or a professional creative artist in fine art or applied fields. The programs reflect the assumption that in a time of fluctuating cultural values, technical training alone is not sufficient for significant work in any branch of the arts.

The first two years offer basic instruction in the fundamental principles of drawing, design and representation. In the fine arts studio electives in second year, the student selects a program that provides specialization in one or more of the following: ceramics, drawing, graphic design, painting, photography, printmaking, sculpture and video.

The school reserves the right to retain temporarily or permanently any work done by students in fulfilment of course requirements.

A student who fails to achieve the standing required for continuance in the BFA Honours program can transfer back to the BFA General program.

NOTES:

A student planning to enter the Honours program once the required 70 credit hours have been accumulated, should register for the 9 credit hours Major Studio course in the area in which he/she wishes to specialize (Ceramics, Drawing, Graphic Design, Painting, Photography, Printmaking, Sculpture, Video). The Major course is required in order to take the Thesis in the final Honours year.

The three credit hour Mathematics requirement must be taken in either the first or second year as part of the elective subject(s).

A student planning to enter the Faculty of Education after obtaining a Fine Arts degree should consult the Faculty of Education for advice in selecting appropriate elective courses.

One of STDO 2210 Sculpture 1 or STDO 2230 Ceramics 1 must be taken as one of the elective Fine Art studios in either second or third year to fulfil the 3D requirement.

Honours Studio Degree

The third-year Fine Arts major and the thesis in the fourth year will be done as advanced work in one area of study to which the student has been introduced through a course in that area taken in the first or second year.

NOTES: Students in the General and Advanced degree programs may complete a double Major. See Section 3.1.4 or 3.2.4 for information on the declaration of a double Major in the respective degree program. Effective September 2009 Arts students may complete Minor programs offered by other Faculties/Schools not listed above providing the Minor program consists of a minimum of 18 credit hours and all other degree requirements are satisfied. Students in the B.A.I.S. degree program may complete Minor programs offered by other Faculties/Schools to satisfy the Concentration requirement providing the Minor program consists of a minimum of 18 credit hours.

*Concentrations other than the Option in Aging (which is open to all Arts students) are available only to students in the B.A.I.S. degree program.

SECTION 2: Faculty of Arts B.A. General, Advanced or Honours Degree Programs

Admission to the Faculty of Arts B.A. General, Advanced or Honours Degree Programs,

The following is a summary of the admission requirements. All admission requirements, as well as application deadline dates and forms, are included in the Faculty of Arts Applicant Information Bulletin that is available from the Admissions Office, Enrolment Services, 424 University Centre; this information is also posted on the University of Manitoba's website.

Completion of a minimum of 24 credit hours of university level courses is required. Depending on the academic performance on the courses acceptable for credit, students may be admitted to or transit into the Faculty in good standing or on academic warning.

At the point of admission or transfer to the Faculty of Arts all students proceeding to an undergraduate B.A. degree are automatically in the General degree program. Subsequently, students may apply through the Faculty of Arts General Office for admission to either the Advanced degree program or the Honours degree program.

The specific requirements for the General, Advanced and Honours degree programs are given in Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Each department and program outlines its entry and requirements in Section 8: Departments in, and Programs and Courses Offered by, the Faculty of Arts.

2.1 Admission from University 1,

University 1 students in good standing (2.00 cumulative grade point average) may transit to the Faculty of Arts or Science subject to the following conditions:

- Students in good standing who have completed at least 24 credit hours may choose to transit to the Faculty of Arts or Science.
- Students in good standing who have completed 30 credit hours or more of courses must choose to transit to Arts or Science, if not admitted to another faculty or school, prior to the next regular term of registration.
- Students who have completed 24 credit hours or more and who have not achieved a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.00 may be eligible for special consideration and therefore should contact the Faculty of Arts for further information on transiting upon "Recommendation of the Dean."
- Students who have exceeded 30 credit hours of "F" grades or have more than a combined 42 credit hours of "F" and "D" grades are not admissible. Students may contact the Faculty of Arts for further information and advice.

2.2 Admission as a Transfer Student,

Students transferring to the Faculty of Arts from another faculty or school at the University of Manitoba are called "internal transfers." Students transferring to the Faculty of Arts from another university or college are called "external transfers."

Transfer students must apply for admission to the Faculty of Arts at the Admissions Office or on-line at www.umanitoba.ca/applnow by the application deadline date.

For the University of Manitoba's general policy on external transfer students and advanced standing, see the chapter on Admission to the University of Manitoba in this Calendar.

Students who apply to transfer to the Faculty of Arts must have completed no fewer than 24 credit hours of university level coursework and must have achieved a minimum grade point average of 2.00. Students who have completed 24 credit hours or more and who have not achieved at least a 2.00 grade point average may be eligible for special consideration and should contact the Faculty of Arts for information and advice. Students who have exceeded the maximum number of "F" and "D" grades permitted on courses acceptable for credit in Arts (see Section 5.10) will be considered for admission only if they have served the equivalent of a one year suspension.

Anyone who has been placed on academic suspension by another faculty, school, or external institution will not normally be admissible if less than one year has elapsed since he/she had been placed on suspension. The waiting period will be increased to two years if the student has been placed on suspension more than once in consecutive years. For information regarding transfer credit see Sections 5.2.1 and 5.2.2.

2.3 Admission as a Student Seeking a Second Degree,

A student who holds an undergraduate degree from a recognized university program may apply for admission to pursue a second undergraduate degree. For information regarding possible transfer credit see Section 5.14.

2.4 Admission as a Visiting Student,

A "visiting" student is one who is pursuing a degree at another institution and whose basis of admission is a Letter of Permission from his/her home institution granting permission to register at the University of Manitoba. Previously admitted visiting students can register in a subsequent term without applying for admission, provided they have a Letter of Permission and have not changed their home institution. Certain restrictions may be placed on the kind and number of courses in which they will be allowed to register.

2.5 Admission as a Special Student,

A student who holds a first degree and who wishes to take courses out of interest may apply for admission as a "special" student.

SECTION 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs

Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs,

For academic regulations related to graduate degrees, see the Graduate Calendar of the Faculty of Graduate Studies. For academic regulations pertaining to the following degrees, Baccalauréat ès Arts (Latin-Philosophie), Baccalauréat ès Arts (Spécialisé en français), and Baccalauréat ès Arts (Spécialisé en traduction), which are also offered under the Faculty of Arts but with instruction available only at Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface, see the Annuaire of the Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface.

Students are encouraged, prior to reading the faculty regulations which follow, to review the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, in this Calendar.

It is highly recommended that all students entering the Faculty of Arts to pursue a General, Advanced or Honours degree complete six credit hours in each of five different subject fields within the first 30 credit hours, and that, if possible, they include among those courses the subject fields in which they will probably specialize because future choices may be limited by the initial choice of courses a student makes. Also, students must meet a subject field requirement to qualify for entrance to both the Advanced and Honours programs (see Section 3.2 and 3.3).

Combinations of courses for the Major, Minor and Honours programs, other than those listed, may be permitted with written consent of the department head or program coordinator and consent from the Faculty of Arts General Office. Similarly, Honours courses may be taken by students in the General or Advanced Major programs with the written consent of the department head or program coordinator.

3.1 General Degree Program,

3.1.1 Its General Purpose

This program is aimed at training students to evaluate information, reach conclusions, and act on these conclusions. The training is intended to result in flexibility and objectivity in problem-solving, sensitivity to the social and physical environment, breadth of learning, and an appreciation of our cultural, political, and economic milieu.

3.1.2 Entrance into the B.A. General Degree Program

1) At the point of admission or transfer to the Faculty of Arts all students proceeding to an undergraduate B.A. degree are automatically in the General degree program. Subsequently, students may apply through the Faculty of Arts General Office for admission to either the Advanced degree program or the Honours degree program.

2) All students who have completed 30 credit hours of coursework are encouraged to declare a Major and a Minor. Once the Major(s) or Minor is declared it can be changed to a different subject field at some later registration. Students may also declare a double Major in lieu of a Minor. Students who want to declare a double Major must complete a double Major declaration form available in the Faculty of Arts General Office or on the Faculty of Arts website. Students should note that for entry into most Majors/Minors, the faculty requirement is a grade of "C" or better in the prerequisite course(s).

For entry into a Major(s)/Minor requiring courses from more than one department, the faculty requirement is an average of "C" or better in all courses which are eligible to count towards the Major(s)/Minor.

For detailed information regarding entry and specific course requirements for Majors and Minors, see the specific listing for the relevant department in Sections 8 and 9 of this Calendar.

Students who have not declared a Major or Minor by the time 60 credit hours of coursework have been completed, will not be able to continue registration until a Major/Minor is declared.

3.1.3 Requirements for Continuing in the B.A. General Degree Program

1) By the time students complete 60 credit hours, they should have six credit hours in each of five different subject fields.

2) Students admitted to the Faculty of Arts, must by the time they have completed 60 credit hours have successfully completed or be registered for at least three credit hours in a course with significant content in written English and at least three credit hours in a course in mathematics. (See the Chapter General Academic Regulations and Requirements, Appendix A: List of Approved Written English and Mathematics Courses, or search Aurora Student for the course attributes "Written English Requirement" or "Mathematics Requirement.")

3) Students must meet the minimum performance level as outlined in Section 5.10.

3.1.4 Ten Faculty Requirements for Graduating with a B.A. General Degree

1) A student must successfully complete 90 credit hours of courses acceptable for credit in the Faculty of Arts (see Section 5.2) with a minimum Grade Point Average of 2.00 (i.e. "C" or better) on these 90 credit hours.

The 90 credit hours of passed coursework must include the remaining nine faculty requirements.

2) There must be at least six credit hours from subject fields designated Humanities and at least six credit hours from subject fields designated Social Science, and at least six credit hours from subject fields offered by the Faculty of Science (see Section 5.1.1).

3) There must be at least six credit hours completed in each of five different subject fields (as listed in Section 5.1.1). In addition, a subject field may also satisfy the requirement for a Humanity, or Social Science, or Science and at the same time satisfy the Mathematics or Written English requirement.

4) Major: There must be 30 credit hours which constitute a Major in one of the subject fields approved by the Faculty of Arts (see Section 5.1.1). The student must also have a Cumulative Grade Point Average of 2.00 (i.e. "C") or better in courses where a final grade is recorded and that are used toward the Major including only the last grade of any course that has been repeated and excluding any failed course(s). A student who declares only one Major must also complete a Minor. A student who declares two Majors will not be required or allowed to complete a Minor, but must complete five full course equivalents as specified by the Major department (i.e. 30 hours of credit in each subject field). Students who have questions about a Major in a particular subject are strongly urged to consult an instructor in the appropriate department. A Major may be declared once the prerequisite is satisfied.

Students who declare and complete a Major in Global Political Economy will not be required nor allowed to complete a separate field for a Minor for purposes of satisfying the degree requirements.

5) Minor: There must be 18 credit hours which are in a subject field that is different from that of the declared Major, and which constitute a Minor in one of the subject fields approved by the Faculty of Arts (see Section 5.1.1). A student who declares only one Major must also complete a Minor. A student who declares two Majors will not be required nor allowed to complete a Minor. A Minor may be declared once the prerequisite has been satisfied. A student who has 18 credit hours in more than one subject field can declare only one of them as a Minor (that is, it is not possible to declare a "double Minor"). No course can be used to satisfy both the Major and the Minor requirement. A Minor may be declared once the prerequisite is satisfied.

6) There must be at least 30 credit hours of coursework taken and successfully completed outside the Major(s) and Minor subject fields.

7) Except for six special cases, a student's Major and Minor cannot be from the same department. (For details on these six exceptions, see the departmental listings in Section 8 for Classics; English, Film, and Theatre; French, Spanish and Italian; German and Slavic Studies; Judaic Studies; and Native Studies.)

8) There must be at least 60 credit hours that have been taught by the Faculty of Arts (may include up to 24 credit hours from the Department of Mathematics, Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music List A or Art History courses considered as Humanities, see Section 5.1.1), or which have been accepted on transfer as equivalent to courses taught by the Faculty of Arts.

9) There must be at least 30 credit hours numbered at or above the 2000 level.

10) Residency Requirement: A student in the B.A. General degree program must complete University of Manitoba residency requirements (see Section 5.3 for details).

3.2 Advanced Degree Program, 3.2.1 Its General Purpose

This program is intended primarily to serve students who desire a general education along with a reasonable degree of specialization in one area of study through the Major.

3.2.2 Entrance to the B.A. Advanced Degree Program

1) To enter an Advanced program, a student must complete an application form which is available in the Faculty of Arts General Office or on-line at <http://umanitoba.ca/faculties/arts/student/index.html> and have it approved by an academic advisor.

Once admitted to the Faculty of Arts it is possible to enter this program at any point up to one month prior to graduation provided the student has successfully completed six credit hours in each of four different subject fields.

2) All students are required, upon entering the Advanced degree program, to declare a Major and Minor. Students may also declare a double Advanced Major in lieu of a Minor. Students who want to declare a double Advanced Major must complete a double Advanced Major declaration form available in the Faculty of Arts

General Office or on the Faculty of Arts website. Students should note that for entry into a Major(s) requiring courses from only one department, the faculty requirement is a grade of "C" or better in the prerequisite course(s).

For entry into a Major(s) requiring courses from more than one department, the faculty requirement is that the student must have an average of "C" or better in all courses which are eligible to count towards the Major.

For additional information regarding entrance into Majors (such as which courses are eligible for counting as fulfilling the Major) see the specific list-ing for the relevant department in Sections 8 and 9. Students with ques-tions about an Advanced Major in a particular subject should consult an instructor in the appropriate department.

3) For entry to the Minor a grade of "C" or better in the prerequisite course(s) is required.

3.2.3 Requirements for Continuing in the B.A. Advanced Degree Program

1) Students admitted to the Faculty of Arts, must by the time they have com-pleted 60 credit hours have successfully completed or be registered for at least three credit hours in a course with significant content in written Eng-lish and at least three credit hours in a course in mathematics. (See the Chapter General Academic Regulations and Requirements, Appendix A: List of Approved Written English and Mathematics Courses, or search Au-rora Student for the course attributes "Written English Requirement" or "Mathematics Requirement.")

2) When students register again after completing 90 credit hours, they will be expected to indicate when they plan to graduate. Students should have completed all requirements for the General degree by this point.

3) Students must meet the minimum performance level as outlined in Sec-tion 5.10.

3.2.4 Ten Faculty Requirements for Graduating with a B.A. Advanced Degree

1) A student must successfully complete 120 credit hours from among the courses acceptable for credit in the Faculty of Arts (see Section 5.2), with a minimum Grade Point Average of 2.00 (i.e. "C" or better) on these 120 credit hours.

The 120 credit hours of passed coursework must include the remaining nine faculty requirements.

2) There must be at least six credit hours in Humanities subject fields and at least six credit hours in Social Science subject fields, and at least six credit hours in courses taught by the Faculty of Science (see Section 5.1.1).

3) There must be at least six credit hours completed in each of five different subject fields (as listed in Section 5.1.1). In addition, a subject field may also satisfy the requirement for a Humanity, or Social Science, or Science and at the same time satisfy the Mathematics or Written English require-ment.

4) Major: There must be at least 48 credit hours which constitute a Major in one of the subject fields approved by the Faculty of Arts (see Section 5.1.1). The student must have a Grade Point Average of 2.00 (i.e. "C") or better in courses where a final grade is recorded that are used toward the Major including only the last grade of any course that has been repeated and excluding any failed course(s). A student who declares only one Ad-vanced Major must also complete a Minor. A student who declares two Ad-vanced Majors will not be required nor allowed to complete a Minor, but must complete the second Advanced Major in accordance with the requirements as specified by the Major department. A Major may be declared once the prerequisite has been satisfied.

Note: Not every department offers an Advanced Major. See the depart-mental listings in Sections 8 and 9 for information.

Students with an Advanced Major in Global Political Economy will not be required nor allowed to complete a separate field for a Minor for purposes of satisfying the degree requirements.

5) Minor: There must be 18 credit hours in a field that is different from the Advanced Major, and which constitute a Minor in one of the subject fields approved by the Faculty of Arts (see Section 5.1.1). A student who declares only one Advanced Major must also complete a Minor. A student who declares two Advanced Majors will not be required nor allowed to complete a Minor. No course can be used to satisfy both the Advanced Ma-jor and the Minor requirement. A student having 18 credit hours in more than one subject field can declare only one of them as his/her Minor. A Minor may be declared once the prerequisite has been satisfied.

6) A student who declares a single Advanced Major with a Minor must have at least 42 credit hours in subjects other than those used towards the Advanced Major and Minor subject fields. Similarly, a student who de-claims two Advanced Majors must have at least 42 credit hours in subjects other than those used towards their two Advanced Major subject fields.

7) Except for six special cases, a student's Advanced Major and Minor can-not be from the same department. (For details on these six exceptions, see the departmental listings, in Section 8, for Classics; English, Film and The-atre; French, Spanish and Italian; German and Slavic Studies; Judaic Stud-ies; and Native Studies.)

8) There must be at least 81 credit hours that have been taught by the Fac-ulty of Arts (may include up to 36 credit hours from the Department of Mathematics, Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music List A or Art History courses considered as Humanities, see Section 5.1.1), or which have been accepted on transfer as equivalent to courses taught by the Faculty of Arts.

9) There must be at least 42 credit hours numbered at or above the 2000 level.

10) Residency Requirement: A student in the B.A. Advanced degree pro-gram must complete University of Manitoba residency requirements (see Section 5.3 for details).

3.3 Honours Degree Program,

3.3.1 Its General Purpose

This program is designed to provide a high degree of specialization in a subject field. The entrance requirements and evaluation of performance are at a higher level than the General or Advanced programs. The Honours program is the preferred program for students seeking entrance to graduate study.

3.3.2 Entrance to the B.A. Honours Degree Program

To enter an Honours program, a student must complete an application form which is available in the Faculty of Arts General Office. Students must have successfully completed six credit hours in each of four different sub-ject fields (see Section 5.1.1), with a minimum Grade Point Average of 3.0 (3.25 for entry to Psychology) on all courses including failed and repeated courses. In addition, students are to have a Grade Point Average of 3.0 (3.25 for entry to Psychology) or better in all course(s) in the intended Hon-ours subject field(s) including failed and repeated courses. Students apply-ing for Honours History must have a grade of "B" or higher in all 3000 and 4000 level History courses.

3.3.3 Requirements for Continuing in the B.A. Honours Degree Program

1) Prior to each registration, Honours students must have their programs approved by the department, and then by the Faculty of Arts General Of-fice, and cannot make any subsequent changes without receiving prior per-mission from their department and the faculty general office.

2) Students admitted to the Faculty of Arts, must by the time they have completed 60 credit hours have successfully completed or be registered for at least three credit hours in a course with significant content in written English and at least three credit hours in a course in mathematics. (See the Chapter General Academic Regulations and Requirements, Appendix A: List of Approved Written English and Mathematics Courses, or search Aurora Student for the course attributes "Written English Requirement" or "Mathematics Requirement.").

3) To continue in an Honours program, the student must maintain a Degree Grade Point Average of 3.0 (3.25 for Psychology) at each point of assessment on all courses where a final grade is recorded (as well as meet any additional departmental requirements there may be). In order to continue in Honours History students must also maintain a "B" grade or higher in each History course at the 3000 and 4000 levels.

Students who fail to maintain the required minimum Degree Grade Point Average are required to withdraw from the Honours program. They will be automatically placed in the General degree program and will have the following academic assessment permanently recorded on their transcript: "Required to Withdraw from the Honours Program." These students may be eligible to apply to the Advanced degree program.

3.3.4 Four Faculty Requirements for Graduating with a B.A. Honours Degree

It should be noted that not every department has an Honours program. For specific information on available single and double Honours, please consult the specific listing for the relevant department in Section 8.

Note: Students in an Honours program who satisfy the requirements for a Minor (in accordance with the Minor requirements listed under the B.A. General degree; Section 3.1.4, point 5 - Minor) may request to have the Minor recorded on their transcript. These students must come to the Faculty of Arts General Office to formally declare their intention to have their Minor recorded on their transcript.

1) The number of credit hours which a student must successfully complete in order to receive an Honours degree ranges from 108 to 120, depending on the specific requirements of the individual department. Information on the specific course requirements for the individual departments will be found in Section 8.

2) In order to graduate a student in the B.A. Honours degree program must satisfy the University of Manitoba residency requirements (see Section 5.3 for details) and attain a minimum Degree Grade Point Average of 3.0 on all coursework where a final grade is recorded.

3) Included among the courses presented for graduation there is to be at least six credit hours completed in each of five different subject fields (as listed in Section 5.1.1).

4) Among the courses presented for graduation there must be at least six credit hours in Humanities subject fields and at least six credit hours in Social Science subject fields, and at least six credit hours in courses offered by the Faculty of Science (see Section 5.1.1).

REQUIREMENT 10: Graduating Grade Point Average (GPA)
- 2.00 Grade Point Average on 90 credit hours of passed coursework offered for degree credit	- 2.00 Grade Point Average on 120 credit hours of passed coursework offered for degree credit	- 3.00 Grade Point Average on total passed credit hours offered for degree credit

SECTION 4: Admission Requirements and Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. Integrated Studies (B.A.I.S.) Degree Program

4.1 General Purpose,

The Bachelor of Arts Integrated Studies is a 90 credit hour degree program which is geared to serve working adults who have completed some post secondary education. The degree requires areas of Concentration rather than the traditional Major/Minor requirement, providing a more flexible path for degree completion but also ensuring academic rigor (e.g., appropriate writing and quantitative skills, breadth requirements, and an appropriate percentage of upper level courses).

4.2 Admission Requirements for the B.A.I.S. Degree Program,

Students must complete one of the following:

- a) University of Manitoba Certificate in Financial and Management Accounting (FMA)
- b) University of Manitoba Certificate Program in Human Resources Management (HRM)
- c) University of Manitoba Certificate in Adult and Continuing Education (CACE)
- d) Canadian Institute of Management Certificate Program in Management and Administration (CIM) from any accredited post-secondary institution
- e) University of Manitoba diploma program (as defined by the Non-Degree Program Taxonomy approved by Senate) or a diploma completed at any accredited post-secondary institution
- f) Successful completion of a minimum of 24 credit hours of university level coursework

Applicants must also submit with their application for admission all of the following:

-A resumé providing evidence of normally three (3) years of full-time workplace experience (i.e., ≥ 30 hours/week) preferably with the same employer. [Applicants who do not strictly fall into this definition of workplace experience may request special consideration from the B.A. Integrated Studies Admissions Committee.]

-Two letters of support (normally one must be from the current or most recent employer). [Applicants who are unable to supply the two letters of support as stipulated may request special consideration from the B.A. Integrated Studies Admissions Committee to consider alternate sources for letters of support.]

-A letter of intent. The letter of intent must be no fewer than 250 and no more than 1000 words and include the applicant's rationale and suitability to enter the program. For example, why has the applicant chosen this program instead of other degree programs at the University of Manitoba? Why does the applicant see a good fit between herself/himself and the program? How does the applicant envision successful completion of this degree enhancing her/his career development? The letter of intent and resumé must provide evidence of satisfactory writing and problem-solving skills.

Students who hold a first undergraduate degree in the Faculty of Arts may not apply for the B.A. Integrated Studies degree program.

For detailed admission information, including required averages for admission and application deadline dates, please refer to the Faculty of Arts Applicant Information Brochure at http://www.umanitoba.ca/student/admissions/media/arts_bulletin.pdf.

4.3 General Structure of the B.A.I.S. Degree Program,

The Bachelor of Arts Integrated Studies Program is comprised of 90 credit hours divided into three components: Foundation Courses (21 credit hours), Area of Concentration (18 credit hours) and electives (51 credit hours).

Foundation Courses

ARTS 1110	Introduction to University	3
EDUA 1560	Adult Learning and Development	3
SWRK 2080 or ENGL 0930	Interpersonal Communication Skills English Composition	3 3
A three credit hour course that satisfies the mathematics requirement ¹		3
ARTS 1160	Leadership: An Interdisciplinary Approach	3
Six credit hours of introductory courses from the Departments of Psychology or Sociology or Anthropology or Political Studies ²		6
Total credit hours		21
Notes: ¹ See Appendix A, List of Approved Written English and Mathematics courses found under the heading General Academic Regulations and Requirements in the Undergraduate Calendar. ² Students who wish to take courses beyond the 1000 level in these departments should consult the course descriptions to ensure the necessary prerequisites are satisfied.

Students may not substitute another course for a Foundation course.

Area of Concentration

Each student must complete the course requirements of at least one Concentration. For purposes of this degree program all Minor programs offered by the Faculty of Arts will be referred to as Concentrations. All Concentration programs consist of 18 credit hours of required or specified courses. There are some Concentrations that are not also offered as Minors. For a listing of the Minors and Concentrations offered by the respective departments in the Faculty of Arts, please see Section 1.2 and also refer to the departmental entries in Section 8 and 9. For entry into most Concentrations, the faculty requirement is that the student must have a grade of "C" or better in the prerequisite course(s).

A student in the B.A. Integrated Studies degree may also fulfill the requirements of a Concentration by completing the specified requirements of Minor programs offered by other Faculties and Schools providing the Minor program consists of a minimum of 18 credit hours. A Minor program offered by other Faculties/Schools will be referred to as a Concentration for purposes of the B.A. Integrated Studies degree program. For details on such Concentration (Minor) programs please refer to the relevant Faculty/School's chapter in the Undergraduate Calendar.

A Concentration may be declared once the prerequisite has been satisfied. A course that satisfies the Foundation requirement of the program cannot also be used towards a Concentration. An alternate course/credit hours within the Concentration field must be completed. For example, if PSYC 1200 (6) is taken to satisfy the Foundation requirement, and the student has chosen to complete a Psychology Concentration, then PSYC 1200 will not form part of the 18 credit hours required for the Concentration. The student will complete 6 credit hours of other Psychology courses in lieu of PSYC 1200.

Students who wish to take additional courses from a second Concentration may do so within their elective component. Students who complete the requirements of a second Concentration may submit a written request to the Dean's Office to have a second Concentration.

Electives

Students must complete 51 credit hours of electives outside the Foundation courses and those courses used to satisfy an area of Concentration.

4.4 Requirements for Continuing in the B.A.I.S. Degree Program,

1) By the time students complete 60 credit hours, they must normally have three credit hours in each of five different subject fields.

2) Students must by the time they have completed 60 credit hours have successfully completed or be registered for at least three credit hours in a course with significant content in written English and at least three credit hours in a course in mathematics. (See the Chapter in the Undergraduate Calendar entitled General Academic Regulations and Requirements, Appendix A: List of Approved Written English and Mathematics Courses, or search Aurora Student for the course attributes "Written English Requirement" or "Mathematics Requirement."

3) Students must meet the minimum performance level as outlined in Section 5.10.

4.5 Eight Faculty Requirements for Graduating with a B.A.I.S. Degree,

1) A student must successfully complete 90 credit hours of coursework acceptable for credit in the Faculty of Arts (see Section 5.2) with a minimum Grade Point Average of 2.00 (i.e. "C" or better) on these 90 credit hours.

The 90 credit hours of passed coursework must include the remaining seven faculty requirements.

2) There must be at least six credit hours from subject fields designated Humanities and at least six credit hours from subject fields designated Social Science, and at least six credit hours from subject fields offered by the Faculty of Science (see Section 5.1.1).

3) There must be at least three credit hours completed in each of five different subject fields (as listed in Section 5.1.1). In addition, a subject field may also satisfy the requirement for a Humanity, or Social Science, or Science and at the same time satisfy the Mathematics or English requirement.

4) Concentration: There must be 18 credit hours which constitute a Concentration in one of the subject fields approved by the Faculty of Arts (see Section 5.1.1) or by other Faculties and Schools. A Concentration may be declared once the prerequisite has been satisfied. A student who has 18 credit hours in more than one subject field can declare only one of them as a Concentration. No course can be used to satisfy both a Foundation requirement and the Concentration requirement. A student who has completed the requirements for a second Concentration may apply at the Faculty of Arts General Office to have the second Concentration recorded on their transcript.

5) There must be at least 51 credit hours which are taken and successfully completed in subject fields outside the Foundation and Concentration courses.

6) There must be at least 30 credit hours that have been taught by the Faculty of Arts (may include up to 12 credit hours from the Department of Mathematics, Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music List A or Art History courses considered as Humanities, see Section 5.1.1) or which have been accepted on transfer as equivalent to courses taught by the Faculty of Arts.

7) There must be at least 15 credit hours numbered at or above the 2000 level plus 6 credit hours at or above the 3000 level.

8) Residency Requirement: A student in the B.A. Integrated Studies degree program must complete University of Manitoba residency requirements (see Section 5.3 for details).

4.6 Additional Faculty Regulations and Policies,

Students in the B.A. Integrated Studies degree program are subject to the regulations and policies found in Section 5, Section 6, Section 7, Section 8 and Section 9.

SECTION 5: Additional Faculty Regulations and Policies Applicable to All Degree Programs in the Faculty of Arts

5.1 Recognized Subject Fields,

5.1.1 Five-subject Field Requirement and Humanity/Social Science/Science Requirement

Faculties and Schools offer a number of courses covering a variety of subjects. To satisfy the subject field requirement for any B.A. degree (with the exception of the B.A. Integrated Studies) a student must complete 6 credit hours in each of 5 different course subjects. For example: 6 credit hours in Psychology plus 6 credit hours in German plus 6 credit hours in Mathematics plus 6 credit hours in Music plus 6 credit hours in Biological Sciences. Students in the B.A. Integrated Studies degree program must complete 3 credit hours in each of 5 different course subjects.

Each course subject in the Faculty of Arts has been further categorized as either a Humanity or Social Science. Courses offered by the Faculty of Science will satisfy the Science requirement. Therefore a course may satisfy both the subject field requirement as well as the requirement for the Humanity/Social Science/Science.

Listed below are the categories of Humanities, Social Sciences, Sciences and the course subjects that belong to each category.

Humanities

1) Course subjects taught by the Faculty of Arts that can be used towards the Humanities requirement: Arabic, Asian Studies, Canadian Studies, Catholic Studies, Classical Studies, English (excluding ENGL 0930, ENGL 0940, ENGL 2000, ENGL 2001), Film Studies, French, German, Greek, Hebrew, History, Hungarian, Icelandic, Italian, Judaic Civilization, Latin, Native Languages, Native Studies, Philosophy, Polish, Portuguese, Religion, Russian, Spanish, Theatre, Ukrainian, and Yiddish. In addition the following courses may be used: Women's and Gender Studies WOMN 1500, WOMN 2530, WOMN 2570, WOMN 2600, WOMN 3600, WOMN 3610 and WOMN 3620.

2) Course subjects offered by other units which can be used towards the Humanities requirement: Music (i.e. all courses listed for Advanced Major and Minor programs except ensemble courses) and History of Art (i.e. all courses listed with course prefix FAAH). (For details, see Section 9).

Social Sciences

3) Course subjects taught by the Faculty of Arts that can be used towards the Social Science requirement: Anthropology, Economics, Global Political Economy courses GPE 2700, GPE 4700, Labour Studies, Linguistics, Political Studies, Psychology, and Sociology. In addition the following courses may be used: Women's and Gender Studies WOMN 1600, WOMN 2500, WOMN 2510, WOMN 2560, WOMN 3510, WOMN 3550, WOMN 3560 and Others ARTS 1160. Note: Geography courses completed prior to September 1, 2006 will be considered a Social Science.

Sciences

4) Course subjects taught by the Faculty of Science that can be used towards the Science requirement: Astronomy, Biological Sciences, Biotechnology, Botany, Chemistry, Computer Science, Forensic Science, Mathematics, Microbiology, Physics, Statistics, and Zoology. (For details, see the Faculty of Science chapter of this Calendar.) Note: Environmental Science and Geological Sciences courses completed prior to September 1, 2006 will be considered a Science.

5.1.2 Major, Minor (Concentration) or Honours Programs

1) The Faculty of Arts offers various Majors, Minors (Concentrations) and Honours programs. For a listing of the programs see Section 1.2 and also refer to the respective departmental entries in Section 8 and 9.

2) Major and Minor (Concentration) programs offered by other Faculties or Schools are listed in Section 9. These include a General Major, Advanced Major and Minor (Concentration) offered by the Department of Mathematics, a General Major and Minor (Concentration) in History of Art offered by the School of Art, and an Advanced Major and Minor (Concentration) offered by the Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music.

An Arts student may declare a Minor (Concentration) (dependent on the student's program) offered by any Faculty and School providing the Minor (Concentration) program consists of a minimum of 18 credit hours. For details on those Minor (Concentration) programs please refer to the relevant Faculty/ School's chapter in this Calendar.

5.2 Courses Acceptable for Credit in the Faculty of Arts,

In addition to all courses offered by the Faculty of Arts there are two other categories of courses acceptable for credit in the Faculty of Arts:

5.2.1 Courses Offered by Other Faculties or Schools at the University of Manitoba:

Effective September 2007, all degree credit courses offered by other Faculties or Schools at the University of Manitoba are acceptable for credit in Arts (excludes Pass/Fail courses) subject to the Faculty of Arts overall degree requirements.

If a student was registered in another faculty or school within the University of Manitoba prior to registering in the Faculty of Arts, all courses in which the student received a final grade will be treated in the same way as they would have been had they been taken by a student already registered in the Faculty of Arts. That is, all of these courses will count in determining eligibility for admission to Arts in accordance with Sections 2.1, 2.2 and 5.10 and they will all be taken into account when determining the student's Grade Point Averages in accordance with Sections 5.8 and 5.10. In addition, they will all count towards the minimum number of credit hours required for graduating, provided the student received a passing grade in each of them, and the courses did not conflict with some other graduation or continuing regulation (such as the Residency Requirement).

5.2.2 Courses Offered at Other Universities and Colleges:

Effective September 2007, all courses offered at other universities and colleges which are evaluated as equivalent to University of Manitoba courses (excludes Undergraduate Studies Pass/Fail courses) will be used when determining eligibility for admission and transfer credit.

There are two groups of courses that are taken at other universities or colleges and which can be used for credit in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Manitoba, namely: a) those taken by students who are already registered in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Manitoba, and b) those taken by students prior to transferring to the Faculty of Arts at the University of Manitoba.

a) Students who are already registered in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Manitoba, and who wish to take courses at another university or college to count towards their University of Manitoba degree are required to obtain a Letter of Permission from The Registrar's Office prior to registering at that other institution; see the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements. The Letter of Permission will not be approved for a student who has not completed at least 24 hours of coursework at the University of Manitoba or who is on academic warning or academic suspension. As of September 1999 grades earned in courses at other universities are taken into account in the cumulative hours when determining the Grade Point Averages at the University of Manitoba. Grades earned at other universities will not be used in determining eligibility for awards (see Section 5.11 and 5.12 for details).

b) All completed courses that are deemed acceptable for credit in any degree program at the University of Manitoba (excludes Pass/Fail courses) which were taken by a student registered at another university or college prior to transferring to the Faculty of Arts, will be used when determining eligibility for admission and transfer credit. That is, all of these courses will count in determining admissibility, in accordance with Sections 2.1, 2.2 and 5.10.

As of September 1999 the applicable courses (credits and attempts) in both a) and b) are included on the University of Manitoba record, the external courses are counted as attempts and external grades are taken into account when determining the University of Manitoba Grade Point Average as well as count towards the maximum number of "F" and "D" grades permitted in an Arts degree (see Section 5.10). Grades earned at other universities will appear on the University of Manitoba transcript and will not be used in determining eligibility for awards (see Section 5.11 and 5.12 for details). There is no limit on attempts in any degree program.

All completed courses that are deemed acceptable for credit in any degree program at the University of Manitoba (excluding Pass/Fail courses), which were taken by a student at another university or college prior to transferring to the Faculty of Arts and are outside the ten-year period prior to admission and registration in the Faculty of Arts, will not be used for purposes of determining admissibility, advanced standing or transfer credit. (Some exceptions may be considered for students in the B.A. Integrated Studies degree program.)

Students who wish to request a review or reassessment of transfer credit must do so within eight months of the initial determination of transfer of credit to the University of Manitoba.

5.3 Residency Requirement,

As indicated in Section 3 and Section 4, each of the four undergraduate degree programs has a residency requirement which requires that a minimum number of credit hours must be taken at the University of Manitoba itself in order to qualify for the degree. Effective September 2009, students admitted to the Faculty of Arts B.A. General, Advanced and Honours degree programs will also be required to satisfy a residency requirement on the Major(s), Advanced Major(s) or Honours subject(s) in addition to the residency requirement on the degree. Similarly students admitted to the B.A. Integrated Studies degree program will be required to satisfy a residency requirement on the Concentration in addition to a residency requirement on the degree.

1) B.A. General Degree

a) Degree: There are two ways in which the Residency Requirement for the B.A. General degree may be satisfied: either by successfully completing at the University of Manitoba no fewer than 48 credit hours of the required 90 credit hours (these 48 credit hours may be taken at various points in the student's career); or by successfully completing at the University of Manitoba itself no fewer than the last 30 credit hours of the required 90 credit hours.

b) Major: A minimum of 18 credit hours of the 30 credit hours required for the Major must be successfully completed at the University of Manitoba or through an approved University of Manitoba exchange.

2) B.A. Advanced Degree

a) Degree: To receive the B.A. Advanced degree, the student must successfully complete at least 60 credit hours of the required 120 credit hours at the University of Manitoba.

b) Advanced Major: Students must successfully complete at the University of Manitoba or through an approved University of Manitoba exchange program the hours of coursework in their Advanced Major as noted below:

- In an Advanced Major requiring 48 to 57 credit hours, 30 credit hours must be completed at the University of Manitoba or through an approved University of Manitoba exchange program.
- In an Advanced Major requiring more than 57 credit hours, 36 credit hours must be completed at the University of Manitoba or through an approved University of Manitoba exchange program.

3) B.A. Honours Degree

a) Degree: In order to graduate with a B.A. Honours degree, students must take and successfully complete the hours of coursework offered by the University of Manitoba as noted below:

- In Honours programs requiring 108 credit hours, 48 credit hours must be from acceptable courses offered by the University of Manitoba;
 - In Honours programs requiring 114 credit hours, 54 credit hours must be from acceptable courses offered by the University of Manitoba;
 - In Honours programs requiring 120 credit hours, 60 credit hours must be from acceptable courses offered by the University of Manitoba.
- b) Honours Subject(s): Students must successfully complete at the University of Manitoba or through an approved University of Manitoba exchange program the hours of coursework in their Honours subject(s) as noted below:
- In a single Honours subject requiring 54 to 69 credit hours, 33 credit hours must be completed in the Honours subject.
 - In a single Honours subject requiring more than 69 credit hours, 39 credit hours must be completed in the Honours subject.
 - In a double or joint Honours subject requiring 42 to 45 credit hours in one Honours subject, 24 credit hours must be completed in that Honours subject.
 - In a double or joint Honours subject requiring less than 42 credit hours in one Honours subject, 21 credit hours must be completed in that Honours subject.
 - In a double or joint Honours subject requiring more than 45 credit hours in one Honours subject, 33 credit hours must be completed in that Honours subject.

c) Once admitted to an Honours program, students are expected to take all their courses at the University of Manitoba. For information on exceptions to this requirement, the student should consult the Faculty of Arts General Office.

4) B.A. Integrated Studies Degree

a) Degree: To receive the B.A. Integrated Studies degree, the student must successfully complete at the University of Manitoba no fewer than 36 credit hours of the required 90 credit hours (these 36 credit hours may be taken at various points in the student's career).

b) Concentration(s): A minimum of 9 credit hours of the 18 credit hours required for the Concentration must be successfully completed at the University of Manitoba or through an approved University of Manitoba exchange program.

Residency Requirement Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface:

In order to satisfy the University of Manitoba, Faculty of Arts residency requirement, students who transfer from Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface must complete the following minimum hours at the Fort Garry Campus.

- 1) In order to receive the B.A. (General) or (Advanced) degree, the student must successfully complete at least 30 credit hours at the Fort Garry campus.
- 2) In order to receive the B.A. (Honours) degree, the student must successfully complete the hours of coursework offered at the Fort Garry campus as noted below:
 - In Honours programs requiring 108 credit hours, 24 credit hours of acceptable coursework must be completed at the Fort Garry campus.
 - In Honours programs requiring 114 credit hours, 24 credit hours of acceptable coursework must be completed at the Fort Garry campus.
 - In Honours programs requiring 120 credit hours, 30 credit hours of acceptable coursework must be completed at the Fort Garry campus.

5.4 Year-of-Study Equivalents,

A student's progress towards a degree is measured in terms of credit hours passed rather than years of study completed. The following table may be used to determine the year equivalent.

Year Equivalent	Credit Hours Passed (General/Integrated Studies Degree)	Credit Hours Passed (Advanced/Honours Degree)
1	fewer than 24 credit hours	fewer than 24 credit hours
2	24 credit hours to fewer than 54 credit hours	24 credit hours to fewer than 54 credit hours
3	54 credit hours or more	54 credit hours to less than 84 credit hours
4	not applicable	84 credit hours or more

5.5 Maximum Number of Courses During a Term,

Normally a student may attempt a maximum of 15 credit hours during a Fall or Winter term. If, however, a student takes at least 15 credit hours in any term and has obtained a Degree Grade Point Average of 2.75 and is in good standing, he/she may apply at the Faculty of Arts General Office to be allowed to take 3 additional credit hours per term.

5.6 Prerequisite, Corequisite, and Course Availability,

Prerequisite: Minimum grades of "C" are required in all courses listed as prerequisites, except as otherwise noted in the course descriptions published in each department and program section of this chapter. If a course is a prerequisite for a second course, the prerequisite must be met in order to continue in the second course.

Some course descriptions will indicate that a specific course is a pre- or corequi-site for the course in which you wish to register. If you have not previously taken the specific course, you may register for it in the same term.

Corequisite: Where a course identifies another course as a corequisite, both courses must be taken at the same time.

Course availability: All courses listed in this Calendar are not offered every year. The course(s) being offered for the current terms are available at umanitoba.ca

5.7 Challenge for Credit,

Some departments in the Faculty of Arts offer courses by means of challenge for credit. Since the courses offered in this manner may vary from year to year, students interested in this method of attaining credit should consult the Challenge for Credit section in the Faculty of Arts Registration Information located on the Faculty of Arts website. The Academic Schedule in the front of this Calendar contains the relevant registration deadline dates appropriate to challenge for credit. Students on academic warning or academic suspension are not permitted to challenge courses for credit.

5.8 Repeating a Course,

A student will normally be permitted to repeat a course only once. If a student wishes to repeat a course, he/she should be aware of the following:

- To repeat a course, a student must request permission to do so from the Faculty of Arts General Office or on-line at <http://umanitoba.ca/faculties/arts/student/index.html>.

- All completed courses will appear on the student's transcript and will be used to calculate the student's attempted hours. Courses that have been repeated will appear on the transcript but only the grade on the last attempt will be used in the calculation of the grade point average in the Major field, the cumulative grade point average and in the calculation of the grade point average required for the degree.

- Repeating a course will not remove the original course or grade from the transcript.

- All courses with "F" and "D" grades that are repeated count towards the limit of "F" and "D" grades permitted in an Arts degree as outlined in Section 5.10.

5.9 Statute of Limitations,

Students who have not been registered at the University of Manitoba (or any other post-secondary institution) for a period of five years or longer immediately preceding an admission to Arts may submit a written appeal to the General Office to be allowed to "start afresh" a Faculty of Arts degree. If the appeal is granted, all courses listed on the University of Manitoba record will remain but all previous work will not count towards satisfying degree requirements nor affect the degree GPA calculation. The following notation will appear under the term of readmission:

"Having discontinued attendance at post-secondary institutions for a period of five years or more, this student has been permitted to start afresh on recommendation of the Dean. All previous credits have been forfeited."

5.10 Maximum Number of "F" and "D" Grades Permitted on Courses Acceptable for Credit in Arts,

Each student in the Faculty of Arts will be placed on academic suspension regardless if there has been evidence of improved performance if they have:

more than 30 credit hours of "F" grades, or more than 42 credit hours of a combination of "F" and "D" grades.

Following the one year suspension, the student may return upon application to the Faculty of Arts General Office by selecting one of the following irreversible options:

(a) to continue with no possibility of further "F" or "D" grades. Any further "F" or "D" grades will result in academic suspension for two years. (Following the two year suspension, the student may apply to the Faculty of Arts General Office to return to start afresh.)

Or

(b) start afresh, with their previous work not counting towards satisfying degree requirements.

(In either case this does not mean that the previous coursework will be removed from the student history or transcript.)

5.11 Dean's Honour List and Graduating with Distinction or First Class Honours, Dean's Honour List

To qualify for this list a student must be registered in one of the four degree programs offered by the Faculty of Arts and complete at least 9 credit hours offered by the University of Manitoba during a term and attain a minimum Term Grade Point Average of 3.55. The notation "Dean's Honour List" will be included on the student's transcript specific to that term.

With Distinction

Students graduating with a B.A. General or a B.A. Integrated Studies degree as a first degree will have their degree granted "With Distinction" if they have a minimum Degree Grade Point Average of 3.80 on all coursework taken at the University of Manitoba and provided a minimum of 60 credit hours of acceptable coursework is completed at the University of Manitoba. (Students seeking a second degree will be eligible for this recognition provided they complete a minimum of 60 credit hours of acceptable coursework at the University of Manitoba following admission to their second degree program.)

Students graduating with a B.A. Advanced degree as a first degree will have their degree granted "With Distinction" if they have a minimum Degree Grade Point Average of 3.80 on all coursework taken at the University of Manitoba and provided a minimum of 90 credit hours of acceptable coursework is completed at the University of Manitoba. (Students seeking a second degree will be eligible for this recognition provided they complete a minimum of 90 credit hours of acceptable coursework at the University of Manitoba following admission to their second degree program.)

This distinction will be noted on the parchment and on the student's transcript.

First Class Honours

Students graduating with a B.A. Honours degree will have their degree granted with "First Class Honours" if they have a minimum Degree Grade Point Average of 3.80 on all acceptable coursework completed at the University of Manitoba and have met the following residency requirements:

- Students must have completed a minimum of 78 credit hours of acceptable coursework at the University of Manitoba in a 108 credit hour Honours program;

- Students must have completed a minimum of 84 credit hours of acceptable coursework at the University of Manitoba in a 114 credit hour Honours program;

- Students must have completed a minimum of 90 credit hours of acceptable coursework at the University of Manitoba in a 120 credit hour Honours program.

The notation "First Class Honours" will appear on both the parchment and the student's transcript.

5.12 University Gold Medal and Program Medals, Gold Medal

The Faculty of Arts will award the University Gold Medal to the student graduating with an Arts degree who:

1) has the highest Grade Point Average of all graduating students (with a minimum of 3.85) on all courses creditable in Arts attempted at the University of Manitoba over the last two Fall/Winter terms prior to graduation (with each Fall/Winter consisting of a minimum 24 hours of credit completed at the University of Manitoba) including any courses taken in the Summer Session between the last two Fall/Winter terms and

2) has a minimum Grade Point Average of 3.85 which is determined on the basis of all courses creditable in Arts attempted in completing the degree, including courses approved on transfer from other faculties/schools at the University of Manitoba.

Students who have up to 30 hours of external transfer credit (including failed courses) would be eligible providing they attain the minimum Grade Point Average of 3.85 on all courses completed at the University of Manitoba which are acceptable for credit in Arts.

The Gold Medal winner is ineligible for Faculty of Arts program medals.

For specific details on the tie-breaking mechanism, contact the Faculty of Arts General Office.

Program Medals

The Faculty of Arts will award a Program Medal to the student graduating in each of the General, Integrated Studies, Advanced and Honours degree programs who:

1) has the highest Grade Point Average of all graduating students (with a minimum of 3.75) on all courses creditable in Arts attempted at the University of Manitoba over the last two Fall/Winter terms prior to graduation (with each session consisting of a minimum of 24 hours of credit completed at the University of Manitoba) including any courses taken in the Summer Session between the last two Fall/Winter terms and

2) has a minimum Grade Point Average of 3.75 which is determined on the basis of all courses creditable in Arts attempted in completing the degree, including courses approved on transfer from other faculties/schools at the University of Manitoba.

Students who have up to 30 hours of external transfer credit (including failed courses) are eligible providing they attain the minimum Grade Point Average of 3.75 on courses completed at the University of Manitoba which are acceptable for credit in Arts.

The Gold Medal winner is ineligible for Faculty of Arts program medals.

For specific details on the tie-breaking mechanism, contact the Faculty of Arts General Office.

5.13 Evaluation of Undergraduate Student Coursework,
A copy of the Faculty of Arts Regulations for the Academic Evaluation of Student Coursework is available to students for perusal in the Faculty of Arts General Office or website. This booklet includes regulations concerning the method of student evaluation, final examinations and/or term tests, final grades, etc. It should in particular be noted that there are no Supplemental Examinations in the Faculty of Arts. For information on Incompletes, Deferred Examinations, Debarment, Undergraduate Studies

Academic Dishonesty, etc., see the chapter General Academic Regulations and Re-quirements in this Calendar.

5.14 Seeking a B.A. as a Second Degree,
Once a Bachelor of Arts degree has been awarded by the University of Manitoba Senate, it cannot be revoked or "turned in" towards another degree.

Students who have completed an undergraduate degree may apply and be admitted to the Faculty of Arts seeking a second undergraduate degree. Students who hold a first degree from the Faculty of Arts may not apply for the B.A. Integrated Studies degree program as a second degree.

Effective the 2002-2003 Regular Session and thereafter, students who have graduated with a first undergraduate degree from the University of Manitoba will be allowed to transfer up to 60 credit hours of coursework from their first degree toward a second degree program in the Faculty of Arts. Courses taken in a qualifying program will be considered part of the first degree. Courses extra to the first degree, excluding courses taken in a qualifying program or another awarded degree, diploma or certificate, may be transferred in addition to the 60 credit hours.

Students with first degrees awarded by external institutions will be eligible for up to 60 credit hours of transfer credit providing the degree was awarded and the courses were taken within the 10 year period prior to admission and registration in the Faculty of Arts (see Section 5.2.2).

Once admitted students must satisfy all relevant undergraduate degree requirements except for the Written English and Mathematics requirements.

Students may not be admitted to the Faculty of Arts or complete a Bachelor of Arts Degree while concurrently pursuing a degree in another Faculty or School.

No transfer credit will be awarded to students seeking a third, fourth, etc., degree.

Students cannot obtain a second degree in the same discipline at the same or lower level as any of their previously awarded degree(s).

5.15 Application to Graduate with a B.A. Degree,
In order to officially receive a degree in any of the four programs leading to a B.A., students must indicate their intention to graduate by the relevant deadline date listed below. This process applies to students in each of the following three categories.

Category 1: Those students currently registered in the Faculty of Arts in either the B.A. General degree, B.A. Integrated Studies degree or the B.A. Advanced degree program must indicate their intention to graduate using Aurora Student.

Those students currently registered in the Faculty of Arts in the B.A. Honours degree program must indicate their intention to graduate at the point of registration for their last set of courses when they complete the Registration Worksheet.

Category 2: Those students currently registered in the Faculty of Arts in either the B.A. Advanced or a B.A. Honours degree program who decide to revert to the B.A. General degree in order to graduate, must submit a request in writing to graduate to the General Office, Faculty of Arts. For graduation in May, the request must be received by April 30. For graduation in October, the request must be received by September 30. For graduation in February, the request must be received by January 30.

Category 3: Those students previously admitted to and registered in one of the respective degree programs in the Faculty of Arts and who have completed all of the requirements for the degree while registered in the Faculty of Arts, but who are currently registered in another Faculty or School at the University of Manitoba (excluding Extended Education) may submit a request in writing to graduate to the Faculty of Arts General Office.

Deadline Dates to declare expected Graduation Date by Aurora Student:

May Graduation: end of registration revision period for Winter Term

October Graduation: August 1

February Graduation: end of registration revision period for Fall Term

SECTION 6: Student Responsibilities

6.1 Students' Code of Responsibilities,

6.1.1 A Community of Scholars

The Faculty of Arts at the University of Manitoba defines itself as a community of scholars, all citizens of which must commit themselves to the advancement of learning, the dissemination of knowledge, and the well-being of all its members. Essential to these goals is each individual's commitment to the following values:

The affirmation of the dignity, worth, and equality of all citizens in the community;

The importance of reasoned debate and inquiry in all academic pursuits;

The practise of ethical conduct and personal integrity in all aspects of academic life.

Students who enrol in the Faculty of Arts voluntarily choose to join this community of scholars, and in doing so they accept the responsibilities as well as the benefits of living within it.

The Faculty of Arts offers its students remarkable opportunities for the acquisition of knowledge, the development of skills, and the free exchange of ideas that will shape their future lives. The scholarly community also provides a forum for extra-curricular activities, personal growth and social relationships that are equally important to one's sense of fulfilment. This should be an exciting process of discovering new goals, new points of view, and, indeed, a new and better sense of one's ideals and potential. But it is also a process of coming to recognize the value and special nature of the academic community itself.

The dynamic freedom of student life in the Faculty of Arts carries a special obligation that each individual act in such a way as to promote the well-being of other members — to accept willingly the categorical imperative of behaving in such a way that, if everyone else did the same, the good of all would prevail. This is a matter of accepting the differences of others, respecting the rights of others, and not abusing the resources that the faculty and the university put at your disposal. It is also a matter of acting honourably in all personal and academic relationships, and not tolerating through diffidence or neglect any violations of such obligations on the part of others. Our common commitment as citizens of the scholarly community will then work to enhance every individual member's experience and likelihood of success. Only with such a commitment from everyone can the Faculty of Arts fulfil its mission at the core of a public institution charged with educating the leaders of tomorrow's society. And only with such a commitment can we make wise use of the public funds for which we are accountable.

6.1.2 Rights and Responsibilities

As a student in the Faculty of Arts you are entitled to the use of all appropriate resources (human and other) for the successful completion of your studies. But you are also responsible for the use of those resources in a manner that is honest, fair and equitable. For example, when you enrol in a course you implicitly accept the terms of a contract whereby the professor is committed to teaching to the best of his/her ability, while you and the other students are committed to learning to the best of yours. Repeated absences, or the neglect of reading or writing assignments, are not just matters of individual concern; because they undermine the effectiveness of discussion for others as well, they are a failure to honour the academic and social contract that is implicitly a part of your membership in this community. Similarly, borrowing a book from the library is a direct commitment to honour the rules and regulations governing the circulation of such material. To damage a library book by writing in it, highlighting, or worse, is not just an act of individual vandalism; it is the wilful partial destruction of a resource that other students (and even other generations of students) have the right and the need to consult. It is to forget, in other words, that public property is not no one's property; it is everyone's property.

Similar obligations to ethical conduct are an inherent part of all the academic work you do as requirements of your program. Participation in the free exchange of ideas, upon which the scholarly community depends, obligates all members of that community to complete honesty and to adequate documentation of their intellectual debts. Plagiarism, the representing of someone else's words or ideas as your own, or any other form of academic dishonesty such as cheating, is a betrayal not just of individual honour, but of the whole basis of civilized discourse upon which all other members of the community depend.

The Manitoba Code of Human Rights guarantees everyone the right to be free of discrimination on the basis of gender or sexual orientation, age, ancestry, religion, family status, physical or mental handicap, and political beliefs. The rights and responsibilities of students thus go well beyond the classroom, library, or computer facility. Every student in the Faculty of Arts is at all times entitled to pursue his/her activities and program of study free of any social discrimination, harassment, exploitation or abuse of power on the part of others, staff or students. Consequently, every student also has a reciprocal obligation to act in a similarly ethical fashion toward all other members of the community. In order that we all be fully empowered to take advantage of the pursuit of knowledge, the development of skills and the special opportunities for personal growth offered by the faculty, there must be on everyone's part a commitment to avoid irresponsible behaviour that damages the academic potential or self-esteem of others.

6.1.3 Rules and Regulations

It is the intention of the Faculty of Arts to discourage any conduct that is detrimental to the welfare of the scholarly community and its individual members. In this Undergraduate Calendar there are many regulations governing the expectations and standards of academic work in the faculty, and there are mechanisms of appeal at the department and faculty level for those who feel that the application of these regulations has been unfair or unjust. There are also rules and regulations governing the use of university resources and facilities, and others governing the social conduct of members of the community — for example, a policy on sexual harassment and a policy banning weapons from campus. Any violations of these rules and regulations should be reported to the appropriate administrative agency or authority (e.g., the director of Libraries, the sexual harassment investigation officer or the Security Services). It must be remembered, too, that all federal, provincial and municipal laws (regarding, for example, violence, alcohol, and drugs) are enforced on campus.

There are, however, some kinds of behaviour that fall between these academic and legal concerns, which are nevertheless inappropriate in the context of an academic community. Any disruptive action or physically or verbally aggressive behaviour that serves to threaten or intimidate another member of the community (staff or student) should be immediately reported to the relevant head of department or dean. Persons who are found to have violated the rights of other individuals, or to have subverted the welfare of the academic community, will face disciplinary action, which may include expulsion from the faculty. It is important to recognize, though, that such discipline is always less effective than a common commitment to respect the rights of others.

6.1.4 Conclusion

The foregoing statement of responsibilities applies to all student members of the Faculty of Arts. Faculty members and support staff are governed by a number of university, Senate and faculty policies that set out similar standards of ethical and professional conduct. This code is meant to give the students in the Faculty of Arts a sense of the relation that exists between their rights and their responsibilities and how these rights and responsibilities in turn sustain the welfare of the whole academic community.

6.2 General Responsibilities,

Every effort is made to ensure that students in the Faculty of Arts have access to sound information and individual advice and guidance. Within this context and within the framework of faculty and department requirements indicated above, students are personally responsible for course selection and conforming to regulations regarding continuation in, and graduating from, the three undergraduate programs.

Students should take special care to ensure:

That each time they register that the courses they choose meet all requirements for graduation;

- That the courses they choose meet prerequisite conditions;
- That the courses they choose are not exclusions of, or the equivalent of, other courses already taken;
- The accuracy of their registration records, including all changes; and
- That they have noted and are following all deadlines and procedures published in the Calendar and elsewhere.

A copy of the Policy on Disclosure and Security of Student Academic Records is available for students to read in the Faculty of Arts General Office.

SECTION 7: Special Circumstances and Appeals of Matters Regarding Academic Regulations

Section 7: Special Circumstances and Appeals of Matters Regarding Academic Regulations,

Students should promptly consult the Faculty of Arts General Office when special circumstances warrant consideration of exceptions to regulations. In addition, the Academic Regulations Appeals Committee meets throughout the year to consider appeals from students who request special consideration with respect to rules and regulations governing their programs of study and qualifications for graduation.

Students who intend to appeal matters concerning regulations or decisions of the Faculty which may affect their registration must arrange to submit a written appeal including all pertinent documentation to the secretary normally within three months following the term in which the course was taken or from the date of the academic decision. Appeals will not be considered beyond three years after the end of the course or from the date of the academic decision:

Deadline to Submit Appeal	ARAC Meeting Date
June 30	Third week of August
October 1	Third week of November
December 1	Third week of February
April 1	Third or fourth week of May

Deadlines falling on a Saturday or Sunday will be observed on the preceding Friday.

Meeting dates are subject to change by the chair.

Appeals should be addressed to: The Secretary of the Academic Regulations Appeals Committee, c/o Faculty of Arts General Office. Special forms are available in the General Office.

8.1.1 Program Information

8.1.1 Program Information,

Anthropology is a science that examines human issues from both cultural and biological perspectives. The most fundamental concern of this discipline is the survival of humanity and the conditions of continuity and change for all human life. The department offers courses in socio-cultural anthropology or ethnology, archaeology, language and culture, and biological or physical anthropology. While academic staff of the department have research interests that range from northern climates to the tropics and from Asia to the Americas, the department is also involved in research that sheds light on Manitoba and its people.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in both ANTH 1210 and ANTH 1220 (or ANTH 1520). For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in both ANTH 1210 and ANTH 1220 (or ANTH 1520).

Introductory Courses

The general introductory courses (ANTH 1210, and ANTH 1220 or ANTH 1520) present the major ideas and findings of Anthropology. It is equally appropriate for those planning to take further courses in this field and for students from other departments or faculties.

Specializations

Anthropology courses are arranged into groups or areas of study as follows:

- A: Introductory Anthropology
- B: Cultural Anthropology
- C: Physical Anthropology
- D: Archaeology
- E: Applied Anthropology

8.2.1 Program Information,

Asia is home to approximately 60 percent of the world’s population. Asian nations have emerged as major economic powers while their populations are asserting their own cultural and historical identities. With this comes an expectation that Western nations will take an interest not only in the economic potential of the continent but also in its rich cultural heritage.

The Asian Studies Centre was established in 1990 to stimulate and organize teaching and research on Asia. Faculty attached to the centre offer instruction in the languages and culture of China, India and Japan. As well, specialists in other departments offer Asia-related courses that can be used for a Major or Minor in Asian Studies.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in both ASIA 1420 (HIST 1420) and ASIA 1430 (HIST 1430). For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in both ASIA 1420 (HIST 1420) and ASIA 1430 (HIST 1430).

8.3.1 Program Information,

This is an interdisciplinary program that offers a comprehensive and focused approach to the study of Canada. Students will examine Canadian politics, economics, society and culture within a national and international context. A knowledge of French is an asset but it is not required.

The "List of Approved Courses in Canadian Studies" below identifies courses that may be used toward partial fulfillment of the requirements for Canadian Studies. These courses are also identified on Aurora Student with the course attribute of "Canadian Studies Requirement."

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Program.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in six credit hours from the list of approved courses in Canadian Studies. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in a six credit hours from the list of approved courses in Canadian Studies.

Honours Program

For entry to the Honours Program, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Single Honours

Single Honours will consist of:

1) 54 credit hours from the list of approved courses in Canadian Studies, to be taken in the three Honours years, of which a maximum of 24 credit hours and minimum of 12 credit hours must be taken in any one department. At least 24 credit hours must be taken in courses designated as Honours courses. One of these may be a 4000-level interdisciplinary Honours seminar in Canadian Studies.

2) The minimum total credit hours that students must hold in order to complete an Honours program in Canadian Studies are 30 in Year 1; 30 in Year 2; 24 in Year 3; and 24 in Year 4.

Double Honours

Double Honours shall consist of:

1) 36 credit hours in one of the participating departments, not necessarily courses in the Canadian field, selected in accordance with the regulations of that department.

2) 36 credit hours chosen from the list of approved courses in Canadian Studies. At least 18 credit hours from the 36 must be Honours courses. One of these may be a 4000-level interdisciplinary seminar in Canadian Studies.

3) The minimum total credit hours that students must hold in order to complete a Double Honours program in Canadian Studies are 30 in Year 1; 30 in Year 2; 24 in Year 3; and 24 in Year 4.

A reading knowledge of French, while not required, is recommended. Students should note that, for certain specific Honours courses in the Canadian field, a reading knowledge of French is, in fact, a prerequisite.

Each of the participating departments is represented by at least one member on the Canadian Studies Program Committee. The initial academic advisor for the program is the committee as a whole or any one of its members. Students who are interested in Canadian Studies may obtain further information from the Canadian Studies Program Coordinator. Students should consult the appropriate department upon entering the program regarding prerequisites for specific courses.

8.4.1 Program Information,

The story of the Roman Catholic Church and its members, and the story of their interactions with history, the arts and sciences, human thinking and belief – all these together, in the dynamism and richness of their interplay, form the substance of the human culture which is Catholicism. That culture is the subject matter of Catholic Studies.

8.4.3 Catholic Studies Course Descriptions

CATH 1190 Introduction to Catholic Studies

(Formerly 160.119) An initiation into diversity, richness, and significance of Roman Catholicism in its many different forms and expressions, seeking to highlight the resources and techniques available for pursuing an interdisciplinary study of Catholicism as a field of intellectual inquiry.

CATH 2000 Special Topics in Catholic Studies

The subject matter of this course will vary from year to year, but it will deal with a special topic of current interest in the interdisciplinary program in Catholic Studies. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in CATH 1190 (160.119)] or written consent of program coordinator. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

CATH 2010 Literature and Catholic Culture 1

The course will focus on the portrayals of Catholic Culture in literature of the 20th Century prior to Vatican II Council. Students will also study the formal features of poetry, drama, and prose focusing on the Catholic Tradition. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in ENGL 1200 (004.120) or ENGL 1201 (004.120) or ENGL 1300 (004.130) or ENGL 1301 (004.130)] or [a grade of "C" or better in each of ENGL 1310 (004.131) and ENGL 1340 (004.134)] or written consent of instructor.

CATH 2020 Literature and Catholic Culture 2

The course will focus on the portrayals of Catholic Culture in literature of the 20th and 21st Century following Vatican II Council. Students will also study the formal features of poetry, drama, and prose involving the Catholic Tradition. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in ENGL 1200 (004.120) or ENGL 1201 (004.120) or ENGL 1300 (004.130) or ENGL 1301 (004.130)] or [a grade of "C" or better in each of ENGL 1310 (004.131) and ENGL 1340 (004.134)] or written consent of instructor.

CATH 2100 Field Studies in Catholic Culture

Offered as part of the Summer Session, this course consists of on-campus study followed by travel to major sites and museums. Prerequisite: none, but CATH 1190 (160.119) is recommended.

8.5.1 Program Information,

The disintegration of the former Soviet Union has altered the social, political, and economic environment of Central and Eastern Europe. The emergence of new independent countries and the transition from an environment dominated by communist political and economic structures continue to reshape Europe. This program offers an array of courses from five departments. It explores past and present issues in the region.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in both six credit hours of Russian, German, Polish, Ukrainian or Yiddish and six credit hours from the list of approved courses in Central and East European Studies below. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in both six credit hours of Russian, German, Polish, Ukrainian or Yiddish and six credit hours from the list of approved courses in Central and East European Studies below.

Honours Program (Double Honours Only)

For entry to the Honours program, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

This program is only available to students registered in the Honours program in Economics, History or Political Studies.

Courses used toward the Major, Minor (Concentration) or Honours may not also be used toward a Major, Minor (Concentration) or Honours in the department in which they are offered.

8.6 The Changing Workplace Program,
Program Coordinator: Arts General Office

Program Office: 3rd Floor Fletcher Argue

Telephone: 204 474 9100

E-mail: arts_inquiry@umanitoba.ca

8.6.1 Program Information,

The Changing Workplace is a Concentration only available to students in the B.A. Integrated Studies degree program. This program is not available as a Minor program.

The Changing Workplace is an interdisciplinary concentration and has been developed in response to information received from employees and mid-career working adults interested in pursuing a degree. Successful completion of this concentration provides learners with an understanding of the workplace in its current context and its changing nature.

Concentration Program

For entry to the Concentration, the prerequisite is a minimum grade of "C" or better in the first 6 credit hours of courses required for the Concentration.

The Concentration in The Changing Workplace will consist of 18 credit hours from the following list of courses. Students must meet the departmental prerequisites for entry into any course in this list. No course can be used to satisfy more than one Concentration.

8.7.1 Program Information,

Classics programs focus on the languages, literature and material cultures of ancient Greece and Rome. The two cultures are considered for their formative role at the beginnings of western civilization and for their continuing influence on modern civilization. Although courses, and entire programs, are available to students without any Latin or Greek, those intending to pursue specialist studies in any field of classical studies are urged to begin study of the languages as early as possible. The department, through academic staff members with expertise in art history and archaeology, offers a variety of opportunities for travel courses and fieldwork overseas.

The Department of Classics offers Major and Minor (Concentration) programs in Classical Studies, Greek, and Latin.

8.7.2 Classical Studies,

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in the first six credit hours in Classics or the first six credit hours from the list of approved courses offered by other departments as noted below. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in both CLAS 1270 and CLAS 1280, or written permission of the department head.

8.7.8 Classics Course Descriptions-Classical Studies-1000 Level

CLAS 1270 Introduction to Ancient Greek Culture (Formerly 003.127) Ancient archaeological and literary evidence (in English translation) is the basis for a survey of the major social, political, religious, intellectual, artistic and literary institutions and achievements of the Greeks from the Bronze Age to the early Roman Imperial Period. The Greeks are studied in the context of the ancient Mediterranean world but also with reference to their continuing contributions to world civilization.

CLAS 1280 Introduction to Ancient Roman Culture (Formerly 003.128) Ancient archaeological and literary evidence (in English translation) is the basis for a survey of the major social, political, religious, intellectual, artistic and literary institutions and achievements of the Romans, from the period of the monarchy to the onset of the Middle Ages. The Romans are studied in the context of the ancient Mediterranean world but also with reference to their continuing contributions to world civilization.

8.7.8 Classics Course Descriptions-Classical Studies-2000 Level

CLAS 2140 Greek History: Pre-Classical Greece, 1200-479 BC This course covers the crucial formative centuries which prefigured the Classical period of Greek history. It focuses upon the Dark Age (ca. 1200-700), when the political framework of later Greece was established, and the subsequent cultural renaissance of the seventh and sixth centuries BC.

CLAS 2150 Greek History: Classical Greece, 479-323 BC This course covers the heyday of imperial, democratic Athens, her crushing defeat by Sparta, now allied with Persia, and the ensuing crisis of the city-state which culminated in Greek subjection to Macedonian kings, Philip and Alexander.

CLAS 2160 Roman History: The Roman Republic, 753-30 BC This course covers the history of Rome from its supposed foundation in 753 BC to the end of the Republic in 30 BC. The course considers not only the events of Roman Republican history but also how historians of ancient Rome interpreted these events.

CLAS 2170 Roman History: The Roman Empire, 30 BC-AD 337 This course covers the history of Rome under emperors, from the ascension of Augustus to the death of Constantine, the first Christian emperor, in AD 337. An important theme in the course is the rise of Christianity.

CLAS 2460 Field Studies in Greek Archaeology and History (Formerly 003.246) Offered as part of the Summer Session, the course consists of three weeks of on-campus study followed by three weeks of travel to major sites and museums. Prerequisite: none, but one or more of CLAS 1270 (003.127) or CLAS 1280 (003.128) or CLAS 2140 or CLAS 2150 or CLAS 2670 (003.267) is recommended. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

CLAS 2490 Field Studies in Roman Archaeology and History (Formerly 003.249) Offered as part of the Summer Session, the course consists of three weeks of on-campus study followed by three weeks of travel to major sites and museums. Prerequisite: none, but one or more of CLAS 1270 (003.127) or CLAS 1280 (003.128) or CLAS 2160 or CLAS 2170 or CLAS 2680 (003.268) is recommended. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

CLAS 2520 Greek and Roman Mythology (Formerly 003.252) A survey of Greek and Roman myths of creation and the gods with attention to the nature and definition of myth; Greek and Roman legends; the connections of mythology with religious beliefs and cults; and with the literature and arts of Western civilization.

CLAS 2612 Greek Literature in Translation A survey in English of selected works of such major figures in Greek literature as Homer, Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Aristophanes, Herodotus, Thucydides, and Plato. The course includes discussion of these and other works on the arts and literature of the world. Students may not hold credit for both CLAS 2612 and the former CLAS 3610 (003.361).

CLAS 2622 Latin Literature in Translation A survey in English of selected works of such major figures in Latin literature as Vergil, Ovid, Terence, Livy, Cicero, Horace and Seneca. The course includes discussion of the influence of these and other works on the arts and literature of the world. Students may not hold credit for both CLAS 2622 and the former CLAS 3620 (003.362).

CLAS 2670 Greek Art and Archaeology (Formerly 003.267) A survey, illustrated with slides, of the Minoan, Mycenaean, and classical Greek civilizations. The relevant archaeological sites and artistic works will be studied.

CLAS 2680 Roman Art and Archaeology (Formerly 003.268) A survey, illustrated with slides, of the civilization and art of the Roman world. The Etruscan civilization and archaeological sites of Hellenistic Greece as they influence the art of Republican and Imperial Rome will be studied.

CLAS 2710 Greek and Latin Elements in English (Formerly 003.271) A systematic study of the contribution of the classical languages to modern English, including the vocabulary of the sciences. The course is intended as a practical means of enhancing English vocabulary while it also emphasizes that the linguistic contributions are a reflection of the broad historical and cultural influences of classical antiquity on the modern world.

8.7.8 Classics Course Descriptions-Classical Studies-3000 Level

CLAS 3250 Aegean and Italian Prehistory

This course provides a detailed archaeological and historical view of Mediterranean culture and society from the Neolithic period of the sixth millennium BC through the early centuries of the first millennium BC. The course ends with a look ahead to the Early Iron Age.

CLAS 3260 Hellenistic Civilization: History and Archaeology

The Hellenistic period spans the years from the death of Alexander the Great in 323 BC to the death of the Ptolemaic queen Cleopatra VII in 31 BC. This course explores both the political and, more generally, the cultural history of the period using both textual and archaeological sources.

CLAS 3270 The World of Late Antiquity: History and Archaeology

This course examines the later Roman Empire, beginning with the reign of Constantine in the early fourth century and ending in the early fifth century. It combines historical and archaeological sources for the study of political, religious and social developments within the period.

CLAS 3650 Religion in Ancient Greece

(Formerly 003.365) The religious beliefs and practices of the Greeks from the prehistoric period through the beginnings of the Hellenistic period as related to their political, social, intellectual, and domestic institutions; based on the study of both literary and archaeological evidence.

CLAS 3660 Religion in Ancient Rome

(Formerly 003.366) The religious beliefs and practices of the Romans from earliest times until the reign of Constantine as related to their political, social, intellectual, and domestic institutions; based on the study of both literary and archaeological evidence from Italy and the rest of the Roman world.

CLAS 3680 Studies in a Classical Literary Genre 1

(Formerly 003.368) The content of this course will vary, being devoted each time to a particular type of Greek and Roman literature such as epic, tragedy, comedy, satire, rhetoric, the novel, historical writings, scientific writing, etc. Lectures and discussions of the literature and its influence will be based on readings in English translation. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

CLAS 3710 Aspects of Classical Culture 1

(Formerly 003.371) The content of this course will vary, being devoted each time to the investigation of a special area of Classical civilization such as athletics, technology, the erotic, the occult, cuisine, law, medicine, architecture, education. Lectures and discussions will be based on the study of both archaeological and literary evidence. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

8.9.1 Program Information,

The economy is important to all Canadians, and economics is the field of study that helps us understand our world: wages and employment, economic growth, productivity, wealth and poverty, government budgets and taxation, resource exploitation, business practices, inflation, recession, regional economic differences. In economics we study the history and current reality of these issues. We learn the principles and techniques necessary to gain a sound understanding of the choices and problems facing us during our lifetime.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the General or Advanced Major, the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in both ECON 1010 and ECON 1020, or both ECON 1210 and ECON 1220, or the former ECON 1200. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

Undergraduate Studies

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in both ECON 1010 and ECON 1020, or both ECON 1210 and ECON 1220, or the former ECON 1200.

Honours Program

For entry to the Honours program, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

It is recommended that students complete ECON 2800, ECON 3800, and ECON 3810 before attempting ECON 4430.

Where it appears appropriate, a senior Honours student may be allowed to substitute a graduate course for an undergraduate course in Economics.

Honours students are advised to select their ancillary options from the following disciplines: Geography, History, Mathematics, Political Studies, Statistics, Sociology and Philosophy. However, other fields may be selected to satisfy study or career interests.

Preparation for Graduate Studies

Honours students contemplating graduate work should normally seek to obtain a good background in both mathematics and statistics. For mathematics, it is strongly recommended that they take ECON 2530 Introduction to Mathematical Economics and seriously consider ECON 3730 Topics in Mathematical Economics. For a good statistics background, ECON 4120 Intermediate Econometrics and ECON 4130 Seminar in Econometrics in combination with some basic statistics courses are highly desirable. Such students are also advised to include at least one course in economic history in their program. These, or equivalents, are required of doctoral candidates at the University of Manitoba.

Other

No student may hold credit for more than six credit hours from the following: ECON 2450(3), ECON 2460(3), ECON 2700(3), ECON 3700(3). No student may hold credit for more than six credit hours from the following: ECON 2470(3), ECON 2480(3), ECON 2800(3), ECON 3800(3).

Combinations of courses for the Major, Minor and Honours programs, other than those listed below, may be permitted by written consent of the department head. Similarly, Honours courses may be taken by students in the General Major or Advanced Major programs with the written consent of the instructor and the department head; an average grade of "B" in all Economics courses is normally required before such consent may be given.

Students may offer the cross-listed courses ABIZ 2390 Introductory Environmental Economics (same as ECON 2390), ABIZ 3080 Introduction to Econometrics (same as ECON 3180), and ABIZ 4120 Intermediate Econometrics (same as ECON 4120) toward any of the above programs.

For information regarding the Canadian Studies program, see Section 8.3; for the Central and East European Studies program, see Section 8.5.

NOTES:
¹ For the purposes of satisfying program requirements in the Major, Advanced Major and Minor (Concentration) programs, and of satisfying course prerequisites,

Honours courses are acceptable as substitutes for general courses according to the following schedule: ECON 2700 for ECON 2450; ECON 3700 for ECON 2460; ECON 2800 for ECON 2470; ECON 3800 for ECON 2480. For each pair, students may hold credit for only one course.

² In cases where students have been granted three hours of unallocated transfer credit in Economics at the 1000 level, and have achieved additional credits in Economics from The University of Manitoba, and wish to declare Economics as a General Major without having full credit in ECON 1200, then the Years 2-3 requirement for a Major in Economics will be ECON 2450 and ECON 2470, plus an additional 18 credit hours in Economics of which at least 6 hours must be at the 3000 level.

³ Students in the Advanced Major are urged to take ECON 2450, ECON 2460, ECON 2470 and ECON 2480 in Year 2, but must take at least two of these courses in Year 2.

⁶ To meet a minimum required background in mathematics, Single Honours students must complete 6 credit hours in Mathematics in Year 2 (or Year 3 with departmental approval). Students contemplating entering the Single Honours Program in Economics are advised to take the Mathematics requirement in their first year of studies. Students contemplating graduate work in Economics should refer to the notes above "Preparation for Graduate Studies."

⁷ Students contemplating Double Honours in Economics and Mathematics are advised to consult the Department of Economics for specific details.

⁸ A maximum of 6 credit hours at the 1000 level may be used towards a Major, Minor (Concentration) or Honours Program.

⁹ Ancillary options are courses taken from outside the Honours field of study.

¹⁰ Honours courses: ECON 2700, ECON 2800, ECON 3700, ECON 3800, ECON 3810 and all 4000 level courses.

8.9.1 Program Information

8.9.1 Program Information,
The economy is important to all Canadians, and economics is the field of study that helps us understand our world: wages and employment, economic growth, productivity, wealth and poverty, government budgets and taxation, resource exploitation, business practices, inflation, recession, regional economic differences. In economics we study the history and current reality of these issues. We learn the principles and techniques necessary to gain a sound understanding of the choices and problems facing us during our lifetime.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the General or Advanced Major, the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in both ECON 1010 and ECON 1020, or both ECON 1210 and ECON 1220, or the former ECON 1200. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in both ECON 1010 and ECON 1020, or both ECON 1210 and ECON 1220, or the former ECON 1200.

Honours Program

For entry to the Honours program, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

It is recommended that students complete ECON 2800, ECON 3800, and ECON 3810 before attempting ECON 4430.

Where it appears appropriate, a senior Honours student may be allowed to substitute a graduate course for an undergraduate course in Economics.

Honours students are advised to select their ancillary options from the following disciplines: Geography, History, Mathematics, Political Studies, Statistics, Sociology and Philosophy. However, other fields may be selected to satisfy study or career interests.

Preparation for Graduate Studies

Honours students contemplating graduate work should normally seek to obtain a good background in both mathematics and statistics. For mathematics, it is strongly recommended that they take ECON 2530 Introduction to Mathematical Economics and seriously consider ECON 3730 Topics in Mathematical Economics. For a good statistics background, ECON 4120 Intermediate Econometrics and ECON 4130 Seminar in Econometrics in combination with some basic statistics courses are highly desirable. Such students are also advised to include at least one course in economic history in their program. These, or equivalents, are required of doctoral candidates at the University of Manitoba.

Other

No student may hold credit for more than six credit hours from the following: ECON 2450(3), ECON 2460(3), ECON 2700(3), ECON 3700(3). No student may hold credit for more than six credit hours from the following: ECON 2470(3), ECON 2480(3), ECON 2800(3), ECON 3800(3).

Combinations of courses for the Major, Minor and Honours programs, other than those listed below, may be permitted by written consent of the department head. Similarly, Honours courses may be taken by students in the General Major or Advanced Major programs with the written consent of the instructor and the department head; an average grade of “B” in all Economics courses is normally required before such consent may be given.

Students may offer the cross-listed courses ABIZ 2390 Introductory Environmental Economics (same as ECON 2390), ABIZ 3080 Introduction to Econometrics (same as ECON 3180), and ABIZ 4120 Intermediate Econometrics (same as ECON 4120) toward any of the above programs.

For information regarding the Canadian Studies program, see Section 8.3; for the Central and East European Studies program, see Section 8.5.

8.9.7 Economics Course Descriptions-1000 Level

ECON 1010 Introduction to Microeconomic Principles

This course introduces students to the study of microeconomics. Topics include: demand and supply, price determination, market structure and resource allocation; the behaviour of consumers and firms; and market intervention by government. Selected economic topics are examined such as: welfare programs, environmental regulation, the economics of discrimination, pay equity, and taxation. Students may not hold credit for ECON 1010 and any of: ECON 1011 or ECON 1210 (018.121) or ECON 1211 (018.121) or ECON 1220 (018.122) or ECON 1221 (018.122) or the former ECON 1200 (018.120) or the former ECON 1201 (018.120).

8.10.1 Program Information,

English literature connects us in vital ways to times, places, and cultures, including our own; engages us in important moral and social questions; encourages us to reflect upon the capacities of the human mind and imagination; invites us to probe connections between language, form, structure, and meaning; and entertains, surprises, shocks, and moves us. Through its offerings of courses in contemporary and historical literature and in creative writing, our program promotes the study of English from this wide range of perspectives.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in ENGL 1200 or ENGL 1300 (or the former 004.126) or both ENGL 1310 and ENGL 1340. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate, including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in ENGL 1200 or ENGL 1300 (or the former 004.126) or both ENGL 1310 and ENGL 1340.

Honours Program

For entry to the Honours Program see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs. A grade of “B” or better is required in ENGL 1200 or ENGL 1300 (or the former 004.126) or in both ENGL 1310 and ENGL 1340; ENGL 1200 is strongly recommended. Students may also be admitted to Honours in English in the third year of undergraduate study, in consultation with the department. Honours students must have their programs approved by the department each year. Normally, to continue in the Honours Program, a minimum grade of “B” must be obtained in all English courses.

Honours courses are also open to students who have been accepted into the pre-M.A. program and to students who have obtained the written consent of the department head.

Honours students who revert to a general program in English must meet the literature prior to the 1900 requirement for a Major or Minor, and they should consult the department head before continuing.

Students taking Single Honours should, if possible, take at least 12 credit hours in one of the following languages: French, German, Greek, Icelandic, Italian, Latin, Russian, Spanish.

Notes

ENGL 0930, ENGL 0940, ENGL 1061 and ENGL 1071 are not designed to teach English as a second language.

For students who need help with basic writing skills, the Department of English, Film, and Theatre offers two half courses: ENGL 0930 English Composition and ENGL 0940 Writing About Literature. These courses are limited in size. Both ENGL 0930 and ENGL 0940 are acceptable for credit towards a degree in Arts or Science, but they may not be counted for credit in the 48 hours for a Major (Advanced), the 30 hours for a Major (General), or the 18 hours for a Minor (Concentration). Either or both will, however, be included in the total number of hours a student is allowed to take in the combined Major and Minor. There is no prerequisite for entry into ENGL 0930 or ENGL 0940, and these courses are not required for admission to subsequent English courses.

Study Resources

All students taking English should own a writing handbook and a good dictionary such as Webster’s New Collegiate, Funk and Wagnall’s Standard College, The Concise Oxford, The Gage Canadian, or The New World. Students will also find useful The MLA Handbook and M.H. Abrams, A Glossary of Literary Terms.

8.10.4 Program Information,

Film is the most important popular culture art form of the twenty-first century. Our knowledge and perception of the modern world is shaped by film or its related media — video and television. Film is a social, cultural, and historical document that, in addition to being worthwhile for study as an artistic medium, also shares issues with philosophy, sociology, political studies, and other disciplines. Instructors include people who have made and written about films and who are well prepared to discuss film history, film as cultural artifact and the connections between film and other disciplines.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Program Chair: William Kerr

Program Office: 364 University College

Telephone: 204 474 9581

E-mail: theatre@umanitoba.ca

8.10.7 Program Information,

Theatre is a way of finding out what it means to be human and is therefore a very effective component of a liberal, humanist education. While the Theatre Program does not prepare students for a career, it can assist in helping students discover whether they have the talent and the determination to pursue that goal later. Students will study dramatic expression, dramatic writing, and become part of the Black Hole Theatre Company, which stages 7 or 8 productions each year.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 4: Basic Faculty Regulations for the Three Programs Leading to a B.A.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in THTR 1220.

Other

The faculty also offers a General Major and an Advanced Major in Drama. See Section 8.10.13. Students are encouraged to consult the Chair of the Theatre Program or the Head of the Department of English, Film, and Theatre.

8.10.10 Program Information,

This program is comprised of theatre courses and courses in English and Film Studies. The Majors in Drama are valuable for further studies at the academic, practical, or professional training level.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the General Major, the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in THTR 1220. For entry to the Advanced Major, the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in THTR 1220 and a grade of “C” or better in ENGL 1200 or ENGL 1300 (or the former 004.126) or both ENGL 1310 and ENGL 1340. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

It is not possible to have a Major in Drama and Minor in Theatre.

Courses used toward the Major in Drama may not be used for a Minor in the other areas (English or Film Studies) and no more than 6 credit hours numbered at the 1000 level in addition to THTR 1220, may be credited towards a Drama Major.

8.10.14 Theatre Course Descriptions-1000 Level

THTR 1001 Initiation à l'improvisation théâtrale

Ce cours vise à initier les étudiants aux aspects fondamentaux de l'improvisation théâtrale. À ce titre, il aborde différents aspects de l'improvisation comme l'expression des sentiments et du corps, la mise en scène, le jeu à partir d'un motif, la créativité, l'écoute du public, la capacité d'attention, l'initiative, la réceptivité, la spontanéité sur scène et l'utilisation des accessoires.

THTR 1021 Introduction à l'analyse du texte théâtral

S'il est indéniable que le texte de théâtre a beaucoup progressé depuis une trentaine d'années, en revanche la pratique du théâtre demeure encore souvent marquée par la difficulté de saisir le texte comme tel, comme s'il fallait toujours s'en remettre à la représentation pour que le texte théâtral soit considéré comme un véritable objet d'études. Ce cours permettra à l'étudiant-e de combler cette lacune tout en l'initiant aux aspects les plus saillants du texte théâtral. On pourra ainsi se demander s'il existe une spécificité du texte de théâtre, si l'étude du théâtre peut se passer de la représentation ou du texte théâtral. Cette investigation permettra d'aborder des questions qui touchent aussi bien à l'organisation et à la structuration du texte théâtral, qu'à la fiction, l'espace, le temps, l'énoncé, l'énonciation, le personnage et l'action.

THTR 1220 Introduction to Theatre

(Formerly 154.122) A study of plays both as literature and as texts for stage presentation. The course will include practical work in studio sessions.

8.10.14 Theatre Course Descriptions-2000 Level

THTR 2150 Theatrical Techniques: Onstage

(Formerly 154.215) Advanced acting and an introduction to the fundamentals of directing. Lectures on dramatic and theatrical theory, and the analysis of representative plays; workshops on acting and directing, including the presentation of scenes; participation in the current Black Hole Theatre season. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in THTR 1220 (154.122)] and written consent of instructor.

THTR 2160 Theatrical Techniques: Backstage

(Formerly 154.216) An introduction to the backstage arts and crafts of the Theatre: set, props, and costume design and construction; lighting and sound design and execution; stage management; company management. Practical projects required in conjunction with the current Black Hole Theatre season, the nature of the projects to be determined by the student's interests and the need of the company. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in THTR 1220 (154.122)] and written consent of instructor.

THTR 2170 Specialized Practical Training 1

(Formerly 154.217) Two special workshops, such as voice, stage movement, mime, or directing, from the Prairie Theatre Exchange Adult Program and approved in advance by the University of Manitoba Theatre Program. Students may hold credit for only two of: THTR 2170 (154.217) or THTR 2180 (154.218) or THTR 2490 (154.249). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in THTR 1220 (154.122)] and written consent of the Theatre program chair.

THTR 2180 Specialized Practical Training 2

(Formerly 154.218) Two special workshop courses, other than those credited for THTR 2170 (154.217), from the Prairie Theatre Exchange Adult Program and approved in advance by the University of Manitoba Theatre Program. Students may hold credit for only two of: THTR 2170 (154.217) or THTR 2180 (154.218) or THTR 2490 (154.249). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in THTR 1220 (154.122)] and written consent of the Theatre program chair.

THTR 2470 Fundamentals of Dramatic Analysis

(Formerly 154.247) This course aims at developing critical and analytic skills specific to the understanding of dramatic texts, through an introduction to key concepts, terminology and critical methods. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in THTR 1220 (154.122) or ENGL 1200 (004.120) or ENGL 1201 (004.120) or ENGL 1300 (004.130) or ENGL 1301 (004.130)] or written consent of instructor.

THTR 2480 Theatre History

(Formerly 154.248) A study of plays, theatre architecture, dramatic theory, acting theory, and the social context in which theatre was presented in an era in the history of the theatre (e.g. Classical Greek and Roman, British Medieval and Tudor, Restoration and Seventeenth Century French). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in THTR 1220 (154.122)] or written consent of instructor.

THTR 2490 Specialized Practical Training 3

(Formerly 154.249) An alternative method of taking THTR 2170 (154.217) or THTR 2180 (154.218). Two special workshops, other than those credited for THTR 2170 (154.217) or THTR 2180 (154.218), taken one each term in a single academic year, from the Prairie Theatre Exchange Adult Program and approved in advance by the University of Manitoba Theatre Program. Students may hold credit for only two of: THTR 2170 (154.217) or THTR 2180 (154.218) or THTR 2490 (154.249). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in THTR 1220 (154.122)] and written consent of the Theatre program chair.

THTR 2521 Art théâtral et techniques de scène

Ce cours vise à initier les étudiants aux équipements spécialisés de la scène. Il y a question d'éclairage (théorie de la lumière et de la couleur, fonctionnement des projecteurs, maîtrise de la console d'éclairage, création d'un ensemble scénique homogène) et des principes de la sonorité (fonctionnement des divers appareils: lecteurs, microphones, amplificateurs, réverbérateurs, etc.). Ce cours abordera aussi la sonorité: théorie du son, éventail de bruitages, utilisation d'effets sonores et de musique dans un spectacle, enregistrement. Enfin, ce cours se penchera sur la question de la régie: direction technique et direction de production théâtrale.

THTR 2531 Le jeu corporel

Ce cours vise à initier les étudiants aux diverses approches du corps comme langage scénique: les rapports entre le langage et le geste, les fonctions de la gestuelle dans un jeu équilibré. Il sera aussi question des rapports entre le corps et l'espace, le corps et les rythmes. Il s'agira enfin de mettre l'accent sur les grandes tendances qui se dégagent des problématiques actuelles sur les rapports entre le corps et le jeu.

THTR 2541 L'expression orale au théâtre

Étude de l'expression orale et de la communication sous leurs différents aspects. Étude des règles de la prononciation, de l'élocution et de la prosodie de français contemporain. Étude des diverses techniques de l'élocution théâtrale comme moyen de communication et comme moyen de l'art dramatique (registres tragique, dramatique et comique). Analyse des facteurs et des fonctions du langage et de la communication. Initiation aux techniques de lecture à première vue et aux textes à mémoriser. Initiation aux diverses techniques respiratoires et vocales.

THTR 2551 Improvisation théâtrale

Ce cours reprend les grands principes de l'improvisation théâtrale proposés dans le THTR 1000 (Initiation à l'improvisation théâtrale), mais il les applique cette fois à nombre de thématiques, de situations et d'aspects différents du jeu improvisé. À ce titre, ce cours aborde et explore d'autres dimensions de l'improvisation théâtrale, tout en se fondant sur les acquis du cours l'improvisation de première année.

THTR 2600 Special Studies 1

(Formerly 154.260) An extensive examination of selected topics that will vary from year to year, depending upon the needs and interests of the instructor and students. Prerequisite: written consent of instructor. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

THTR 2610 Special Studies 2

(Formerly 154.261) An extensive examination of selected topics that will vary from year to year, depending upon the needs and interests of the instructor and students. Prerequisite: written consent of instructor. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

8.10.14 Theatre Course Descriptions-3000 Level

THTR 3460 Theory of Drama and Performance

(Formerly 154.346) Studies in major theories of drama, performance and its reception from Aristotle to the present day. Theories will be studied in conjunction with an in-depth analysis of a number of dramatic texts. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in one of: THTR 2470 (154.247) or ENGL 2960 (004.296) or ENGL 2961 (004.296)] or written consent of instructor.

THTR 3470 Text and Performance

(Formerly 154.347) Explores the works of a significant playwright or group of playwrights, the appropriate dramatic theory/ies, the production and performance style involved. Students may be required to direct, act and/or design. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in THTR 2150 (154.215)] or [a grade of "C" or better in six credit hours from: THTR 2170 (154.217) or THTR 2180 (154.218) or THTR 2490 (154.249)] or written consent of instructor. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

THTR 3521 Interprétation, voix et expression orale

Étude de la voix sur le plan interprétatif et expressif. Les divers rapports entre la voix, l'expressivité individuelle, collective et le spectacle. Les rythmes de la voix (modulations, hésitations, accélérations...). Les rapports entre la voix, le corps et l'espace. Les principes de l'improvisation vocale et du jeu choral.

THTR 3531 Jeu et caméra

Ce cours vise à initier les étudiants au rôle créateur de la caméra. À ce titre, les rapports entre le jeu de l'acteur et les différents types de cadrages relatifs au septième art seront abordés. En outre, il y sera question de compréhension et d'interprétation de scripts, ainsi que de nombreux aspects relatifs au jeu de l'acteur sur un plateau de tournage: scènes de combat, essayage de costumes, apprentissage d'accents étrangers, maniement d'armes, principes de jeu avec des animaux ou des doublures. Du reste, ce cours accordera une attention particulière à la question des auditions.

THTR 3541 Le jeu réaliste

Techniques et esthétiques du jeu réaliste.

THTR 3551 Clown et masques

Ce cours vise à initier les étudiants aux aspects fondamentaux de l'art du clown et du rôle des masques dans l'engagement physique au théâtre. Aussi aborde-t-il les différents aspects du jeu du clown et de la pratique de jeu masqué (théâtre antique, Commedia dell'arte), comme la gestuelle, le langage, le mouvement, l'espace, l'utilisation des accessoires et l'importance de l'intégration du clown à la formation de l'acteur.

THTR 3561 Scénographie

Introduction à la scénographie du point de vue historique et évolutif (du théâtre de Undergraduate Studies l'Antiquité grecque au théâtre de la dérision). Introduction au travail d'agencement des moyens techniques et artistiques de la scénographie, en tenant compte des rapports entre le texte théâtral et l'espace de la scène. Mise en relief des différentes étapes de la conception scénographique (décors, costumes, jeu de lumières, effets scéniques, etc.). Réflexion sur le travail de scénographes réputés comme Walter Gropius, Yannis Kokkos et Wieland Wagner.

THTR 3571 Atelier de théâtre

Cours d'initiation à la pratique théâtrale dans son ensemble: jeu, scénographie, mise en scène. Ce cours constitue une synthèse de tous les aspects de l'art dramatique en prévision de scènes devant la salle de classe et/ ou pour des invitées à la fin du trimestre. Des aspects incontournables de l'art dramatique figureront au programme de ce cours: la concentration, l'écoute personnelle et collective, le monologue intérieur, la mémoire sensorielle et affective, l'analyse approfondie de scènes, la construction de personnages, le travail à l'extérieur des répétitions ainsi que le comportement lors de répétitions. Préalables: Avoir réussi l'un des deux cours consacrés à l'improvisation (THTR 1001, THTR 2551), 4 cours de 2e année et 2 cours de 3e année.

THTR 3610 Special Studies 3

(Formerly 154.361) An extensive examination of selected topics that will vary from year to year, depending upon the needs and interests of the instructor and students. NOTES:
¹ Students in Year 2 will normally take courses numbered at the 2000 level and students in Year 3 will normally take courses numbered at the 3000 level.
² Ancillary options are courses taken from outside the Honours field of study.
³ Honours courses: all 4000 level courses.

The three areas of study are identified in the course listings with the following letters in brackets after the course title:

- A: French Language
- B: French Literature
- C: French Civilization

NOTE: Civilization courses FREN 2810 and FREN 3850 may be counted as either French language or literature credits, but not both.

The language of instruction in all French courses except FREN 1150 and FREN 1200 is French. In courses FREN 1150 and FREN 1200, at the discretion of the instructor, English may be used to clarify difficult points of grammar and critical analysis of literature.

With written permission of the department head, students registered on the Fort Garry campus may take courses in French language and literature at Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface.

For information regarding Canadian Studies, see Section 8.3.

8.11.4 Spanish,

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in SPAN 1180, or a grade of “C” or better in both SPAN 1190 and SPAN 1262 (or SPAN 1290), or a grade of “C” or better in both SPAN 1280 and 3 credit hours from Spanish courses numbered at the 2000 level. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

It is recommended that students who wish to Major in Spanish take the introductory course in the Summer Session prior to entering the fall program, or take SPAN 1262 and SPAN 1272 (or SPAN 1290) in the Summer Session prior to their entry into the second year. This will allow for a wider variety of course selections in the final two years.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in SPAN 1180, or a grade of “C” or better in both SPAN 1190 and SPAN 1262 (or SPAN 1290), or a grade of “C” or better in both SPAN 1280 and 3 credit hours from Spanish courses numbered at the 2000 level.

Other

Students entering the university with prior knowledge of Spanish may be allowed ‘prerequisite standing’ in course SPAN 1180 by the Spanish section of the department. Special permission is required to enter a higher numbered course.

All Spanish courses except SPAN 1180 and SPAN 1190 are taught in Spanish.

With written permission of the department head, students registered on the Fort Garry campus may take courses in Spanish language and literature at Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface.

For information regarding the Minor program in Latin American Studies, see Section 8.19.

8.12 German and Slavic Studies

8.12 Department of German and Slavic Studies

Department of German and Slavic Studies,

8.12.1 Program Information,

This department's program covers two European cultural and language groups. German is the official language of five European countries and an understanding of German language and culture is essential to any understanding of European history. Courses are offered in German language, literature and culture. In Slavic Studies, the department offers language, literature and culture courses in Russian, Ukrainian and Polish — the three largest Slavic language groups. The Slavic countries of Eastern Europe exert an important influence on international affairs. In Canada, immigration from both German and Slavic language groups has contributed greatly to the country's cultural mosaic.

8.14 History

8.14 Department of History

8.14 Department of History ,

8.14.1 Program Information,

The study of history provides essential background for many disciplines and professions where research analysis, communications skills and an understanding of how past events influence the present are important. The department includes specialists in intellectual, cultural, social, medieval, Aboriginal, women's, and international history. A particular area of departmental specialization is Canadian and western Canadian history.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in the first six credit hours of History. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

When selecting 2000-level courses in Year 2, students should anticipate their future interests.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in the first six credit hours of History.

Honours Program

For entry to the Honours Program, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

In addition, students are to have a Grade Point Average of 3.0 or better in all History courses completed before admission.

To continue in the Honours program a 3.0 Grade Point Average, with minimum grades of "B" in all 3000- and 4000-level History courses, must be maintained. Normally, students who fail to maintain a minimum grade of "B" in all 3000- and 4000-level courses will be required to withdraw from the Honours program.

It is recommended that students complete History HIST 4400 or HIST 4580 in Year 4 if they intend to do graduate work.

8.18.1 Program Information,

This interdisciplinary program examines the social, economic and political realities of work. Social justice and fundamental rights, the way work is organized, the dynamics of power in the workplace and the political economy of labour are examined critically. We explore the past, present and future of the labour movement and the wide-ranging effects of globalization on our daily lives. Using theoretical and practical approaches, we examine the forces that shape working people's lives and our responses to them.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in both LABR 1260 (the former LABR 1270) and LABR 1290 (the former 153.128). For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor, the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in both LABR 1260 (the former LABR 1270) and LABR 1290 (the former 153.128).

All Programs

While ECON 1210 Introduction to Canadian Economic Issues and Policies and ECON 1220 Introduction to Global and Environmental Economic Issues and Policies, and SOC 1200 Introduction to Sociology are not required, they are highly recommended. 8.20 Linguistics

8.20 Department of Linguistics

8.20 Department of Linguistics ,

8.20.1 Program Information,

The linguistics approach to language is based on the analysis of sound, the structure of words and sentences, and the meanings they transmit. But it also has to deal with the way sounds change, words come and go, and meanings shift. Linguistics is the humanities discipline that is closest to being a science in the generally accepted sense of the word. Partly because human language, the subject of linguistics, is almost entirely acquired subconsciously, it is a massive and intricate structure that is free to develop in accordance with natural rather than with consciously determined social laws.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200 or written consent of the department head. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200, or written consent of the department head.

Other

In addition to its core concentration in Linguistic Theory and Analysis and such other areas of study as Applied Linguistics, Verbal Arts, etc., Linguistics also offers:

- A pre-professional concentration in Applied Linguistic Science, which will be of special interest to students planning a career in speech/language pathology; contact department general office for information; and
- A program in American Sign Language/English Interpretation, offered jointly with Red River College; see below for details.

Students intending to Major in Linguistics are strongly encouraged to undertake the in-depth study of a second language.

Program in Linguistics and American Sign Language/English Interpretation taught jointly with Red River College leading to a B.A. General Degree

Students who wish to pursue this program must seek separate admission to both the University of Manitoba and Red River College.

Students must successfully complete all requirements for Deaf Studies and the American Sign Language/English Interpretation Program at Red River College only. Specific courses (42 credit hours) completed in this program will be considered acceptable for university degree credit, will satisfy a humanities requirement and will become the declared Minor for purposes of the degree. For the purposes of satisfying the distribution requirement, completion of the Deaf Studies Certificate will qualify as six hours in a field and completion of the Joint ASL Program will qualify as six hours in a field.

The entire joint program is described below:

Deaf Studies Program (prerequisite) - RRC

Course No.	Credit Hours

8.20.3 Linguistics Course Descriptions-1000 Level

LING 1200 Introduction to Linguistics
(Formerly 126.120) Language as a communication system composed of sound, grammatical and semantic subsystems. Development of a theoretical framework. Exercises in a variety of languages.

LING 1340 Semantics
(Formerly 126.134) An introduction to linguistic approaches to meaning, with special emphasis on the analysis of lexical domains.

LING 1360 Languages of Canada
(Formerly 126.136) A survey of languages and linguistic problems encountered in North America, with particular attention to questions of relationship and classification. Examples will be drawn from both indigenous and immigrant languages.

LING 1380 General Phonetics
(Formerly 126.138) The articulatory and acoustic analysis of speech sounds. Transcription exercises in a variety of languages.

LING 1420 Language and Gender
(Formerly 126.142) In exploring the relationship between language and gender, this course addresses such questions as: how are gender differences manifested and perpetuated through language use?; is there such a thing as "women's language"?; how do gender differences influence communication between women and men?; how does gender interact with (for example) race, class and sexuality with respect to language use? In addition, we consider issues of language structure, including sexism in English and the relative success of gender-based language reform efforts.

LING 1440 Rules of English Grammar
(Formerly 126.144) What are the criteria that are used to distinguish "good" from "bad" grammar? What are the rules we need to know in order to speak and write "properly"? In focusing on basic concepts in traditional grammar, this course reviews parts of speech, the English tense system, sentence types (active vs. passive), question formation and types of embedded clauses. It examines the rules of traditional grammar and explores the linguistic structures that lie behind the rules. This course is not intended for students learning English; it presupposes native or near-native competence in English.

8.20.3 Linguistics Course Descriptions-2000 Level

LING 2200 Syntax
(Formerly 126.220) Sentences are complex arrangements of words and other elements, and syntactic structures have long been at the centre of theoretical controversy. A typological survey of syntactic patterns, introducing formal and functional approaches to syntactic analysis. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200 (126.120)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2420 Phonology
(Formerly 126.242) Each language relies on a finite set of distinctive sounds. Based on physical features which are universal, sound systems are language-specific, abstract structures. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200 (126.120)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2440 Analytic Techniques
(Formerly 126.244) Techniques for recognizing the structure of words and sentences in a variety of languages. The formulation of linguistic rules, especially at the interface of morphology and phonology. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200 (126.120)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2460 Morphology
(Formerly 126.246) The internal structure of words: the traditional distinction between inflection and derivation, types of word structures, word-formation rules, levels of word-formation. The relationship of morphology to phonology and syntax. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200 (126.120)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2600 Verbal Art
(Formerly 126.260) Puns, punchlines, slogans and the chant of the auctioneer are as much instances of verbal art as are rhetorical flourishes and formal literary structures. With spoken language as its major focus, this course draws on a variety of languages, sources and genres to study artistic and playful uses of language. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200 (126.120)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2620 Language in Society
(Formerly 126.262) Language is embedded in a social context: dialect variability, the choice of speech registers, the use of special-purpose languages, code-switching, sexual specialization are instances of language behaviour reflecting non-linguistic reality. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200 (126.120)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2640 Comparative Linguistics

(Formerly 126.264) Language change and its consequences; aspects of historical linguistics, language classification and linguistic prehistory. Examples from Indo-European and North American Indian languages. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200 (126.120)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2720 Applied Linguistics

(Formerly 126.272) The practical implications of linguistic analysis in such areas as the formal or informal acquisition of a second language, the establishment of standards for spoken and written usage, language maintenance and other aspects of language planning. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200 (126.120)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2740 Introduction to Interpretation Theory

(Formerly 126.274) A survey of interpretation theory, including specifics of language use and problems in the transfer of cultural context for both source and target language, the history of language awareness on the part of the interpreter, and the development of theories of interpretation. This course will draw heavily on the field of ASL/English interpretation for illustration. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200 (126.120)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2800 Communication Disorders

(Formerly 126.280) A general introduction to the major pathologies of speech, language and hearing as viewed against the background of normal linguistic structures and functions. The distinction between mechanically- and neurologically-based disorders is illustrated in terms of aetiology, diagnosis and approaches to treatment. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200 (126.120)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2830 Linguistic Anatomy and Physiology 1

(Formerly 126.283) An intensive survey of the principal organs of speech and hearing, their embryology, and the general features of their evolutionary history. Some consideration will also be given to their pathological impairment. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in both LING 1200 (126.120) and LING 1380 (126.138)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2850 Linguistic Anatomy and Physiology 2

(Formerly 126.285) A survey of the structures of the central and peripheral nervous systems as they relate to the production and perception of speech and the processing of language. Includes a survey of linguistic aphasiology and a review of neurological deficits associated with abnormal language behaviour. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in both LING 1200 (126.120) and LING 1380 (126.138)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2860 Language Acquisition

(Formerly 126.286) The study of first language acquisition from infancy through childhood. Aspects of phonology, morphology, pragmatics and syntax acquisition are discussed, as well as formal theories of acquisition, second language and bilingual acquisition, atypical development and the relationship of language acquisition with literacy. Also offered as PSYC 2860. Students may not hold credit for both LING 2860 (126.286) and PSYC 2860. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in LING 1200 (126.120) or PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 2880 Acoustic Phonetics

(Formerly 126.288) The physical principles involved in the production, propagation and reception of sound. The subjective characteristics of sounds (loudness, pitch and quality) are related to their objective parameters (intensity, frequency and spectrum). The physical methods and the types of equipment used to analyze the basic physical properties of sounds will be demonstrated. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in both LING 1200 (126.120) and LING 1380 (126.138)] or written consent of instructor.

8.20.3 Linguistics Course Descriptions-3000 Level

LING 3120 Syntactic Theory

(Formerly 126.312) Formal and functional analyses of specific syntactic issues, such as the representation of grammatical relations, the formulation and explanation of universals, the "learnability criterion" as a test for theoretical adequacy and the rôle of semantics and pragmatics in syntactic theory. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C+" or better in LING 2200 (126.220)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 3140 Phonological Theory

(Formerly 126.314) The nature of phonological representations: prosodic hierarchies, multi-tiered structures, the underspecification of segments. Types of phonological rules, rule ordering, the cycle. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C+" or better in LING 2420 (126.242)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 3200 The Structure of a non-Indoeuropean Language

(Formerly 126.320) Every "new" language challenges accepted doctrine and helps us to evaluate competing hypotheses: in this course, a non-Indoeuropean language (which may vary from Hua to Hungarian) is systematically explored on the basis of field records and descriptions which have become classics. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C+" or better in each of LING 2200 (126.220) and LING 2420 (126.242) and LING 2440 (126.244)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 3300 The Structure of ASL

(Formerly 126.330) An examination of ASL as a signed, as opposed to spoken, language. Topics include phonetic, phonological, morphological and syntactic structures. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C+" or better in each of LING 1200 (126.120) and LING 2200 (126.220) and LING 2460 (126.246)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 3400 Field Methods

(Formerly 126.340) Working with a speaker of an unfamiliar (and, usually, unrecorded) language, students are apprenticed in the collection, analysis and interpretation of raw data. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C+" or better in each of LING 2200 (126.220) and LING 2420 (126.242) and LING 2440 (126.244)] or written consent of instructor.

LING 3820 Special Topics

(Formerly 126.382) Topics of current interest in the language sciences. Prerequisite: written consent of instructor. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

LING 3840 Special Topics in ASL

(Formerly 126.384) Topics of current interest in ASL linguistics. Prerequisite: written consent of instructor. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

LING 3920 Special Studies

(Formerly 126.392) Supervised study. Prerequisite: written consent of instructor. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

8.21 Medieval and Renaissance Studies

8.21 Medieval and Renaissance Studies Program

8.21 Medieval and Renaissance Studies Program,

8.21.1 Program Information,

The millennium from the end of the Roman empire to the Renaissance is the formative period of European civilization. The Middle Ages and the Dark Ages were periods of human drama full of change and growth and a struggle to regain a civilized way of life. The Age of Chivalry with its crusades, the flowering of the arts and architecture, and the emergence of new philosophical concepts and ideologies found culmination in the Renaissance. For those interested in the pre-modern world, this program permits a broad approach to the subject.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

The following entries contain information which is not contained in Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in 12 credit hours considered relevant to the Major by the program advisor.

A) General Major in Medieval and Renaissance Studies consists of 36 credit hours selected as follows:

- Nine credit hours in either Latin or Greek
- Six credit hours from the following History courses:

HIST 2080	The Byzantine Empire and the Slavic World (D)	3
HIST 2420	The Medieval World (D)	6
011.206*	The Emergence of the Medieval World (D)	3
011.207*	The Early and High Middle Ages (D)	3
011.209*	The Middle Ages in Decline (D)	3

* No longer offered

- 21 credit hours in courses dealing with the Medieval and/or Renaissance world, including a minimum of six credit hours to be selected from each of the following groups (a detailed list of courses may be obtained from the program advisor):

Group 1: History, Philosophy, Religion
Group 2: Literature, Language, Fine Arts (including Music)

B) Advanced Major in Medieval and Renaissance Studies consists of 12 credit hours in addition to the above, of which six must be in a modern language. The remaining six credit hours may be selected from Group 1 or Group 2.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration) program, the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in six credit hours considered relevant to the Minor by the program advisor.

A Minor (Concentration) in Medieval Studies will consist of 18 credit hours, and must include History course HIST 2420 The Medieval World (D) (6). The remaining 12 credit hours may be selected from Group 1 or Group 2, or from courses in either Latin or Greek. If Latin or Greek courses are chosen, a minimum of six credit hours is required in either Latin or Greek.

Other

Students should note that courses used towards the Major(s) or Minor (Concentration) in this area may not be used for Major, Minor (Concentration) or Honours in a second field.

8.22 Native Studies

8.22 Department of Native Studies

8.22 Department of Native Studies ,
 8.22.1 Program Information,

Courses in this department examine the history, art, literature, and the philosophical and religious traditions of Canada’s original inhabitants. Other courses explore the legal, political, and health care systems in relation to Aboriginal people. Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal students may specialize in either Native studies or Native languages, Cree and Ojibway.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in NATV 1200 or “C” or better in both NATV 1220 and NATV 1240. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

A) Native Studies

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in one of NATV 1200 or “C” or better in both NATV 1220 and NATV 1240.

B) Native Languages

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in both NATV 1250 and NATV 1260, or “C” or better in both NATV 1270 and NATV 1280, or “C” or better in NATV 2250 and NATV 2270.

Other

Students will be permitted to register for a Major in Native Studies and a Minor in Native Languages but may not complete both a Major and Minor in Native Studies.

Before registering for approved cross-listed courses, students should consult the Calendar or the departments regarding prerequisites for specific courses.

8.22.5 Native Studies Course Descriptions-1000 Level

NATV 1000 Orientation Course: The Colonizers and the Colonized (Formerly 032.100) The course which is offered as part of the summer session consists of an introduction to the colonization process as it regards Aboriginal people and the processes of decolonization undertaken by the people since 1970. Prerequisite: this is a special course designed for first year entering Aboriginal students. Registration is restricted and written consent must be obtained from the instructor prior to registration.

NATV 1200 The Native Peoples of Canada

(Formerly 032.120) A survey of the political, social, and economic situations of the contemporary Indian, Métis, and Inuit peoples of Canada. Students may not hold credit for both NATV 1200 (032.120) and any of: NATV 1220 (032.122) or NATV 1240 (032.124).

NATV 1220 The Native Peoples of Canada, Part 1

(Formerly 032.122) A survey of the political, social, and economic situations of the contemporary Indian, Métis, and Inuit peoples of Canada from pre-contact to 1945. Students may not hold credit for both NATV 1220 (032.122) and NATV 1200 (032.120).

NATV 1240 The Native Peoples of Canada, Part 2

(Formerly 032.124) A survey of the political, social, and economic situations of the contemporary Indian, Métis, and Inuit peoples of Canada from 1945 to the present. This course may include a field trip component. Students may not hold credit for both NATV 1240 (032.124) and NATV 1200 (032.120).

NATV 1250 Introductory Cree 1

(Formerly 032.125) Practical course intended for students who are not fluent in Cree. Emphasis will be on oral work for the purpose of learning basic sounds and grammatical patterns. Some attention will be given to the structural differences between Cree and English. Regular attendance and active participation are obligatory. This course is a prerequisite for NATV 1260 Introductory Cree 2.

NATV 1260 Introductory Cree 2

(Formerly 032.126) Continuation of NATV 1250 (032.125) Introductory Cree 1. Practical course intended for students who are not fluent in Cree. Emphasis will be on oral work for the purpose of learning basic sounds and grammatical patterns. Some attention will be given to the structural differences between Cree and English. Regular attendance and active participation are obligatory. Prerequisite: a grade of "C" or better in NATV 1250 (032.125).

NATV 1270 Introductory Ojibway 1

(Formerly 032.127) Practical course intended for students who are not fluent in Ojibway. Emphasis will be on oral work for the purpose of learning basic sounds and grammatical patterns. Some attention will be given to the structural differences between Ojibway and English. Regular attendance and active participation are obligatory. This course is a prerequisite for NATV 1280 Introductory Ojibway 2.

NATV 1280 Introductory Ojibway 2

(Formerly 032.128) Continuation of NATV 1270 (032.127) Introductory Ojibway 1. Practical course intended for students who are not fluent in Ojibway. Emphasis will be on oral work for the purpose of learning basic sounds and grammatical patterns. Some attention will be given to the structural differences between Ojibway and English. Regular attendance and active participation are obligatory. Prerequisite: a grade of "C" or better in NATV 1270 (032.127).

NATV 1290 Introductory Inuktitut

(Formerly 032.129) A practical course in conversational Inuktitut focusing on basic grammatical structures, everyday vocabulary, and using syllabics. This course is offered as part of the Pangnirtung Summer Travel/Study Program. Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

8.23 Philosophy

8.23 Department of Philosophy

8.23 Department of Philosophy ,
8.23.1 Program Information,

Philosophy is composed of several areas of study: these include logic, metaphysics, ethics, political philosophy, philosophy of science, philosophy of language, and aesthetics. Philosophers use the tools of rigorous logic and clear conceptual analysis. Their goal is to understand things such as the nature of reason, the physical universe, right and wrong, the human mind, and sometimes even the meaning of life. There are good arguments and bad arguments. Training in philosophy will help the student not only consider these important questions but also to improve his or her clarity of expression and ability to think critically.

8.24 Political Studies

8.24 Department of Political Studies

8.24 Department of Political Studies ,
8.24.1 Program Information,

Political Studies examines the dynamics of human interaction in which individuals and groups compete to achieve their goals. The study of politics involves a consideration of the interactions between the individual, the state, government, public affairs and public policy. Political Studies examines the dynamics of these interactions in the context of competing visions, values and interests, particularly in the pursuit of varying public goals, including the quest for political power and the control of government. Politics is thus both a study of conflict between competing interests and a study of how these competing interests achieve compromise and cooperation.

8.25 Department of Psychology,

8.25.1 Program Information,

Psychology is a discipline that examines questions concerning behaviour and mental processes. Cognitive processes such as perceiving, learning, re-membering, thinking, talking, and social interactions as well as the biological basis for behaviour and human development are among the issues explored. Psychology on the one hand helps us understand human and animal behaviour, but on the other also provides insights that can help and benefit individuals and society. A degree program is also offered in the Faculty of Science.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 or a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 and PSYC 1221. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 or a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 and PSYC 1221, or written consent of the department head.

Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 2470 Learning Foundations of Psychology
(Formerly 017.247) Examines basic learning processes, along with examples of how psychologists study them. Emphasis is placed on how knowledge of basic learning processes can help us understand complex human behaviour. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 2480 Cognitive Processes
(Formerly 017.248) An introduction to the higher mental processes from an information processing perspective. Topics include attention, cognitive development, imagery, language, memory and problem-solving. Extensive reference will be made to recent experimental findings. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 2480 (017.248) and PSYC 2481 (017.248). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 2481 Processus cognitifs
(L'ancien 017.248) Une introduction aux processus langage, supérieurs dans une perspective de traitement de l'information. Les sujets abordés incluent l'attention, le développement cognitif, l'imagerie, le langage, la mémoire et la résolution de problèmes. Le cours sera basé sur de nombreuses références aux résultats expérimentaux récents. L'étudiant(e) ne peut se faire créditer à la fois le PSYC 2481 (017.248) et le PSYC 2480 (017.248). Préalable: [une note minimale de C dans le PSYC 1200 (017.120) ou le PSYC 1201 (017.120)] ou [une note minimale de C dans tous les deux PSYC 1211 (017.121) et PSYC 1221 (017.122)] ou l'autorisation écrite du professeur. Donné au Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface.

PSYC 2500 Elements of Ethology
(Formerly 017.250) This course involves one three-hour lecture meeting and one laboratory per week and concerns the study of animal behaviour through lectures, films, and field trips. Parakeets, flies, and/or ducklings plus one animal of the student's choice will be observed. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 2510 Comparative Psychology
(Formerly 017.251) This course examines the viability of comparative psychology today, the type of subjects used in comparative psychology research, its history and background, some applications and contemporary viewpoints, and its current status. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 2520 Orientations to Psychological Systems
(Formerly 017.252) Examines and contrasts humanistic, psychodynamic, cognitive, and behavioural psychology with regard to consciousness vs. the unconscious, free-will vs. determinism, holism vs. analysis, purpose vs. past influences, transcendentalism vs. physicalism, and focus on the person vs. focus on problems. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 2860 Language Acquisition
The study of first language acquisition from infancy through childhood. Aspects of phonology, morphology, pragmatics and syntax acquisition are discussed, as well as formal theories of acquisition, second language and bilingual acquisition, atypical development and the relationship of language acquisition with literacy. Also offered as Linguistics LING 2860. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 2860 and LING 2860 (126.286). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or LING 1200 (126.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of instructor.

8.25.3 Psychology Course Descriptions-3000 Level

PSYC 3130 Introduction to Health Psychology
This course offers a survey of psychological issues in health and illness. Major topics will include the biopsychosocial approach, mental models of illness, pain, stress and coping, health-damaging and health-promoting behaviours, and psychological issues in medical care. Students may not hold credit for PSYC 3130 and any of: PSYC 3131 or PSYC 3530 when titled "Health Psychology." Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)].

PSYC 3131 Psychologie de la santé
Introduction au domaine de la psychologie de la santé. On y étudie comment les interactions complexes entre des facteurs environnementaux, psychologiques, neurologiques et immunitaires contribuent au maintien de la santé et, par conséquent, au développement des maladies. Préalables: une note minimale de C dans le PSYC 1200 (ancien 017.120) ou une note minimale de C dans tous les deux PSYC 1211 (ancien 017.121) et PSYC 1221 (ancien 017.122). L'étudiant(e) ne peut se faire créditer à la fois le PSYC 3131 et le PSYC 3130

PSYC 3160 Perception and Attention

This lecture course will provide you with a basic introduction to the characteristics and processes of human perception. A scientific approach will be used with specific emphasis on exploring the relation between experimental evidence and theory. Topics to be covered include transmission of information through the visual and auditory systems, visual and auditory pattern recognition, selective and divided attention, and the role of attention and interpretation in perception. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 3160 and PSYC 3441 (017.344). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 3170 Research in Cognitive Psychology

This course will provide an introduction to conducting research in human perception and cognition. Students will gain experience in all facets of the research process including: critical reading of relevant literature, experimental design and preparation, data collection and analysis, and report writing. Activities may include critiques of published research, research proposals, individual and/or group projects, research reports, and individual and/or group presentations. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] and written consent of instructor.

PSYC 3200 Thinking Critically About Psychological Research

This course will teach students to apply critical thinking skills in the evaluation of psychological research. Core components will include the logic of research design, analysis and interpretation, the description of psychological studies, and the critical reading of published research. Activities will include the preparation of critiques of research claims published in both academic journals and in the main-stream press, sample research proposals, individual and/or group projects, and individual and/or group presentations. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in both of PSYC 2250 (017.225) and PSYC 2260 (017.226)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 2251 (017.225) and PSYC 2261 (017.226)] or [a grade of "C" or better in the former PSYC 2300 (017.230)].

PSYC 3340 Design and Analysis for Psychological Experiments

Methods for controlling sources of internal validity in psychological experiments, such as randomization, blocking, factorial configurations, and repeated measurements, will be discussed. Descriptive and multivariate methods of analysis will also be introduced. The use of statistical packages will be illustrated. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 3340 and the former PSYC 4570 (017.457). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 2250 (017.225) and PSYC 2260 (017.226)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 2251 (017.225) and PSYC 2261 (017.226)] or [a grade of "C" or better in the former PSYC 2300 (017.230)], and written consent of department head.

PSYC 3350 Behavioural Neuroscience

This course presents the fundamentals of the neurobiology of behaviour. Special importance is placed on the information-processing properties of the nervous system in order to provide a uniform framework for the understanding of such topics as perception, attention, sleep and wakefulness, motivation, and learning. Students may not hold credit for PSYC 3350 and any of: PSYC 3351 or the former PSYC 3330 (017.333) or the former PSYC 3331 (017.333). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 3351 Neurosciences du comportement

Ce cours présente les fondements de la neurobiologie du comportement. Une importance particulière est placée dans les propriétés du traitement de l'information du système nerveux de façon à offrir un cadre de référence à la compréhension de thèmes tels la perception, l'attention, le sommeil et la vigilance, la motivation et l'apprentissage. L'étudiant(e) qui détient les crédits du PSYC 3351 ne peut se faire créditer aucun des cours PSYC 3350 ou l'ancien PSYC 3331 (017.333) ou l'ancien PSYC 3330 (017.333). Préalable: [une note minimale de C dans le PSYC 1200 (017.120) ou le PSYC 1201 (017.120)] ou [une note minimale de C dans tous les deux PSYC 1211 (017.121) et PSYC 1221 (017.122)] ou l'autorisation écrite du professeur. Donné au Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface.

PSYC 3360 Experimental Child Psychology

(Formerly 017.336) Selected topics in child psychology are reviewed, such as infant learning and the development of memory processes. Students learn methods for observing child behaviour through laboratory assignments. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 3390 Thinking

(Formerly 017.339) A survey of psychological inquiries into complex mental processes. The course provides a conceptual integration of concept learning, problem-solving, creativity, and fantasy. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 3430 Sensory Processes

(Formerly 017.343) A review of the structure and function of biological receptor systems and how they mediate information about the environment. It includes such topics as receptor transduction, neural correlates of sensation, and neural models of sensory discrimination. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 or in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] and [a grade of "C" or better in one of the following: PSYC 2360 (017.236), or PSYC 3350, or PSYC 3351, or both BIOL 1020 and BIOL 1030, or both BIOL 1021 and BIOL 1031, or BIOL 2410, or the former ZOO 2530 (022.253), or the former PSYC 3330 (017.333), or the former PSYC 3331 (017.333)].

PSYC 3441 Perception

PSYC 3450 Psychology of Personality

(Formerly 017.345) The study of theory and research on the principles affecting personality development and structure. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 3450 (017.345) and PSYC 3451 (017.345). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 3451 Psychologie de la personnalité

(L'ancien 017.345) Étude de la théorie et de la recherche dans les principes qui gouvernent le développement de la personnalité. L'étudiant(e) ne peut se faire créditer à la fois le PSYC 3451 (017.345) et le PSYC 3450 (017.345). Préalable: [une note minimale de C dans le PSYC 1200 (017.120) ou le PSYC 1201 (017.120)] ou [une note minimale de C dans tous les deux PSYC 1211 (017.121) et PSYC 1221 (017.122)] ou l'autorisation écrite du professeur. Donné au Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface.

PSYC 3460 Abnormal Psychology

(Formerly 017.346) The study of theory and research on abnormal human behaviour. The major forms of psychological disturbance are discussed. An introduction to the prevention and treatment of psychological disturbances is given. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 3460 (017.346) and PSYC 3461 (017.346). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 3461 Psychologie de l'anormal

(L'ancien 017.346) Étude de la théorie et de la recherche dans le domaine du comportement anormal de l'homme. On discute les formes principales des troubles psychologiques, leur prévention et leur traitement. L'étudiant(e) ne peut se faire créditer à la fois le PSYC 3461 (017.346) et le PSYC 3460 (017.346). Préalable: [une note minimale de C dans le PSYC 1200 (017.120) ou le PSYC 1201 (017.120)] ou [une note minimale de C dans tous les deux PSYC 1211 (017.121) et PSYC 1221

PSYC 3480 Social Learning and Psychopathology

(Formerly 017.348) This course emphasizes the manner in which pathological and maladaptive behaviour patterns are transmitted to the individual by his/her environment. The major focus is on the way in which various psychosocial forces contribute to specific disorders such as schizophrenia and psychosomatic illnesses. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 3490 Individual Differences

(Formerly 017.349) This course is concerned with the systematic way in which individuals vary. Topics include individual differences as a function of sex, age, race, and socioeconomic status. Specific behaviours to be studied include reaction-time differences, differences in intelligence, differences in aptitudes and interests, and differences in motor abilities. The reasons for some of these differences will also be delineated. Hence genetic and physiological factors, as well as psychological explanations for individual differences, will be studied. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 3511 Psychologie industrielle et organisationnelle

Examen des modèles théoriques contemporains et de la recherche portant sur les aspects psychologiques impliqués dans le comportement en milieu de travail. Les thèmes abordés incluent la sélection du personnel, les processus de groupes, la satisfaction, la productivité et la culture organisationnelle. On ne peut se faire créditer PSYC 3511 et PSYC 3510 (017.351). Préalable: [une note minimale de C dans le PSYC 1200 (017.120) ou le PSYC 1201] ou [une note minimale de C dans tous les deux PSYC 1211 (017.121) et PSYC 1221 (017.122)] ou l'autorisation écrite du professeur.

PSYC 3520 Independent Research in Psychology 1

(Formerly 017.352) Students carry out a research project and write a paper. Research may include historical, theoretical or experimental analyses of psychological problems. Normally available only to third and fourth year students who are in Honours Psychology or who are Psychology Majors and have completed one of: both PSYC 2250 (017.225) and PSYC 2260 (017.226), or both PSYC 2251 (017.225) and PSYC 2261 (017.226), or the former PSYC 2300 (017.230). A student may not hold credit for more than two of PSYC 3520 (017.352) or PSYC 3560 (017.356) or PSYC 3590 (017.359). Prerequisite: prearranged written consent of an individual instructor and written consent of department head.

PSYC 3530 Contemporary Issues 1

(Formerly 017.353) The content of this course will vary from year to year, but in general it will entail either some specific topic of prominent interest in psychology or a psychological analysis of some problem of current public interest. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 3530 (017.353) and PSYC 3531 (017.353). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

PSYC 3531 Problèmes contemporains 1

(L'ancien 017.353) Le contenu de ce cours variera d'année en année, mais traitera généralement d'un sujet spécifique d'actualité concernant la psychologie, ou de l'analyse psychologique d'un problème d'intérêt public. L'étudiant(e) ne peut se faire créditer à la fois le PSYC 3531 (017.353) et le PSYC 3530 (017.353). Préalable: [une note minimale de C dans le PSYC 1200 (017.120) ou le PSYC 1201 (017.120)] ou [une note minimale de C dans tous les deux PSYC 1211 (017.121) et PSYC 1221 (017.122)] ou l'autorisation écrite du professeur. Le contenu variera d'année en année alors l'étudiant(e) peut se faire créditer ce cours plus d'une fois. Donné au Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface.

PSYC 3540 Contemporary Issues 2

(Formerly 017.354) The content of this course will vary from year to year, but in general it will entail either some specific topic of prominent interest in psychology or a psychological analysis of some problem of current public interest. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 3540 (017.354) and the former PSYC 3541 (017.354). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

PSYC 3560 Supervised Field Study in Psychology

(Formerly 017.356) Students usually do supervised field work in a community setting and write a paper. Normally available only to third and fourth year students who are in Honours Psychology or who are Psychology Majors. A student may not hold credit for more than two of: PSYC 3520 (017.352), PSYC 3560 (017.356), PSYC 3590 (017.359). Prerequisite: prearranged written consent of an individual instructor and written consent of department head.

PSYC 3580 Language and Thought

(Formerly 017.358) An examination of recent investigations of human language behaviour. Emphasis will be placed on natural language phenomena, which will be examined within the framework of modern theories of thought. Some of the topics considered include communication, the development of language, and natural language comprehension. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 3590 Independent Research in Psychology 2

(Formerly 017.359) Students carry out a research project and write a paper. Research may include historical, theoretical or experimental analysis of psychological problems. Normally available only to third and fourth year students who are in Honours Psychology or who are Psychology Majors and have completed one of: both PSYC 2250 (017.225) and PSYC 2260 (017.226), or both PSYC 2251 (017.225) and PSYC 2261 (017.226), or the former PSYC 2300 (017.230). A student may not hold credit for more than two of: PSYC 3520 (017.352), PSYC 3560 (017.356), PSYC 3590 (017.359). Prerequisite: prearranged written consent of an individual instructor and written consent of department head.

PSYC 3610 Memory

(Formerly 017.361) Selected topics in human memory are reviewed, including the physiological and chemical bases for learning and memory, primary determinants of forgetting, memory models, nonverbal memory, organization in memory, and the use of mnemonic schemes to improve memory. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 1200 (017.120) or the former PSYC 1201 (017.120)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 1211 (017.121) and PSYC 1221 (017.122)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 3630 Psychological Measurement and Assessment

(Formerly 017.363) A study of the basic concepts of measurement in psychology and the application of these concepts in selected areas of psychology. The principal topics of the course will be historical foundations, basic concepts such as reliability, validity, and invariance, the use of different tests and instruments, scaling, and the unique aspects of measurement encountered in different areas of psychology. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 3630 (017.363) and PSYC 3631 (017.363). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in both of PSYC 2250 (017.225) and PSYC 2260 (017.226)] or [a grade of "C" or better in both PSYC 2251 (017.225) and PSYC 2261 (017.226)] or [a grade of "C" or better in the former PSYC 2300 (017.230)] or written consent of department head.

PSYC 3631 Mesure et évaluation en psychologie

(L'ancien 017.363) Étude et application des principes de la mesure dans divers domaines psychologiques. On étudiera les concepts de validité, de constance, d'échelonnement, de variance, et on offrira une introduction à la construction et l'utilisation de différents tests psychologiques. L'étudiant(e) ne peut se faire créditer à la fois le PSYC 3631 (017.363) et le PSYC 3630 (017.363). Préalable: [une note minimale de C dans le PSYC 2300 (017.230)] ou [une note minimale de C dans tous les deux PSYC 2250 (017.225) et PSYC 2260 (017.226)] ou [une note minimale de C dans tous les deux PSYC 2251 (017.225) et PSYC 2261 (017.226)] ou l'autorisation écrite du professeur. Donné au Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface.

PSYC 3641 Introduction à la neuropsychologie

le PSYC 1200 (017.120) ou le PSYC 1201 (017.120)] ou [une note minimale de C dans tous les deux PSYC 1211 (017.121) et PSYC 1221 (017.122)] ou l'autorisation écrite du professeur. Donné au Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface.

PSYC 3650 Introduction to Clinical Psychology
(Formerly 017.365) Clinical psychology is presented as both a scientific and an applied discipline. Such topics as assessment, intervention, research, and professional issues are covered. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 4400 and PSYC 4540 (017.454) with the topic "Theories of Close Relationships." Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4410 Cross-cultural Social Psychology
Cross-cultural psychology is the critical and comparative study of the linkages between cultural norms and thoughts, feeling and behaviour. This course focuses on Cross-cultural Social Psychology. Therefore the assigned readings deal with topics that Social Psychology, in general, examines. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 4410 and PSYC 4540 (017.454) with the topic "Cross-cultural Social Psychology." Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4420 Neuroimaging: Imaging Thoughts
This course will explore how neuroimaging can illuminate our models of various aspects of cognition, including attention, vision, language, memory and learning, executive functions, emotion and various neuropathologies. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 4420 and PSYC 4540 (017.454) with the topic "Imaging Thoughts." Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4430 Vision: Perception and Action
An intensive review of current research and theories in visual processes. Both behavioural and physiological aspects of vision will be considered. Course goals are directed at offering a better understanding of visual perception and the visual control of action. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 4430 and PSYC 4540 (017.454) with the topic "Vision Science." Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4440 Readings in Autism Spectrum Disorders
Students will read recent research in Autism Spectrum Disorders, acquire skills to critically evaluate empirical evidence, and examine implications for practice. Among the topics covered will be assessment, diagnosis, epidemiology, and applied behaviour analysis early intervention. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 4440 and PSYC 4540 (017.454) with the topic "Autism Spectrum Disorders." Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4450 Animal Behaviour 1
(Formerly 017.445) The nature-nurture controversy will be discussed, followed by a survey of the diverse behaviours relating to the physical environment (e.g., food storage); predation (e.g. trapping); defence (e.g., camouflage); and migration. Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4460 Animal Behaviour 2
(Formerly 017.446) A more detailed analysis of selected topics including communication, animal populations, and the social use of space in humans and Undergraduate Studies infrahumans. Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4490 Comparative Psychology
(Formerly 017.449) A survey of similarities and differences of behaviour at various phylogenetic levels. Topics include evolution, genetics, sensory processes, neuropsychology, learning processes, and social behaviour. Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4510 Applied Behaviour Analysis in Developmental Disabilities
Students will read recent applied behaviour analytic research in behavioural assessments and interventions for people with developmental disabilities, acquire skills to critically evaluate empirical evidence, and examine implications for practice. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 4510 and PSYC 4540 (017.454) with the topic "Research in Developmental Disabilities." Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4520 Honours Research Seminar
(Formerly 017.452) In first term there will be an examination of important experimental issues, and several experimental assignments. In addition, each student will propose a research project of greater scope to be conducted under the supervision of a Psychology staff member. In second term, students will carry out their projects and report their findings. Prerequisite: [90 credit hours towards honours program, including a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 3200, and three credit hours in PSYC 3630 (017.363) or PSYC 3631 (017.363) or PSYC 3340 or the former PSYC 4500 (017.450) or the former PSYC 4570 (017.457)], and written consent of department head.

PSYC 4540 Contemporary Issues 1
(Formerly 017.454) Course content may vary from year to year, but in general it will entail either some specific topic of prominent interest in psychology or a psychological analysis of some problem of current public interest. Prerequisite: written consent of department head. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

PSYC 4560 Health Psychology
(Formerly 017.456) This course focuses on understanding how psychological factors contribute to the promotion and maintenance of good health, to the prevention and treatment of illness, and to recovery from or adjustment to existing illness. Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4562 Social Psychology and Health
This course uses theories and concepts from social/personality psychology to gain a better appreciation of what health is and how to achieve it, at the individual and population levels. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 4562 and PSYC 4540 (017.454) with the topic "Social Psychology and Health." Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4564 Self-regulation and Health
This course examines how self-regulatory processes such as goal-setting and self-awareness can affect behaviours that promote or undermine human health. A wide range of health-related behaviours is considered such as smoking, exercise, safe-sex practices, and eating. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 4564 and PSYC 4540 (017.454) with the topic "Self-regulation and Health." Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4566 Psychology of Health and Aging
This course considers how adults adapt to the challenges of aging and the accompanying health problems. Seminar discussions will focus on selected psychological theories and related empirical literature regarding belief systems that operate in the face of health- and age-related challenges. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 4566 and PSYC 4540 (017.454) with the topic "Health and Aging." Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4580 Elements of Behavioural Pharmacology
(Formerly 017.458) Data and theories related to psychoactive agents are introduced, with emphasis on therapeutic drug classes, drugs of abuse, and methodological issues in drug research. The focus is on the behavioural analysis of drug action, but a neuropharmacological analysis is developed where it has a firm relationship to the behavioural analysis. Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4590 Selected Topics in Social Psychology
(Formerly 017.459) A seminar in Social Psychology whose content shall vary from year to year. A description of the course is available in advance at the Psychology general office. Prerequisite: written consent of department head. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

PSYC 4600 Selected Topics in Developmental Psychology
(Formerly 017.460) The specific content of this course will vary from year to year. A description of the course is available in advance at the Psychology general office. Prerequisite: written consent of department head. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

PSYC 4610 Social Cognition
(Formerly 017.461) Focus on the processes determining how people perceive themselves and others in their social world. From topics such as causal attribution, psychological control, person memory, and social inference, the course will address selected issues from theoretical and empirical perspectives. Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4620 Community Mental Health
(Formerly 017.462) A seminar covering contemporary issues in community mental health and their relation to psychological services. Topics include the history of the community mental health movement, de-institutionalization as a social policy, the etiology and epidemiology of mental disorders, recognition of and response to mental disorders, mental health systems, community-based mental health services, and prevention of mental disorders. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 4620 (017.462) and PSYC 4540 (017.454) offered as Community Mental Health. Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

PSYC 4630 Behavioural Endocrinology
(Formerly 017.463) A comparative approach is adopted to examine how hormones influence a diversity of behaviours through their actions on brain function, the physiological substrates of the behaviours, and their development as evolutionary adaptations. Techniques used by behavioural neuroscientists to study the behavioural and neuroendocrine interactions are surveyed. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in PSYC 3350 or PSYC 3351 or the former PSYC 3330 (017.333) or the former PSYC 3331 (017.333)] and written consent of department head.

PSYC 4640 Person X Situation Interactionism
We will first explore research demonstrating the impact of personality and situations, separately, on behaviour. We then examine the debate that arose about whether understanding the person or situation would have the most scientific merit. We spend the remainder (and the majority) of the course discussing the theories and research that arose from that debate. The majority of this research has an interactionist perspective, taking both the person and his/her situation into account. Students may not hold credit for both PSYC 4640 and PSYC 4540 (017.454) with the topic "Person X Situation Interactionism." Prerequisite: written consent of department head.

8.26 Religion

8.26 Department of Religion

8.26 Department of Religion ,
8.26.1 Program Information,
We are a world religions department. Our approach is interdisciplinary and engages a wide range of human activity commonly deemed "religious," seeking to understand how religions function, how religious discourse evolves, why certain religious perspectives gain prominence and how they are contested. We research and teach about a range of religions, past and present, from around the world, investigating the languages, ethical systems, practices, organizations, and institutions within which such religions are defined, refined, rejected, or renewed. Given the diversity of this study, such theoretical and methodological questions are viewed as central to the coherence of our courses, programs, and fields.

For entry, continuation and graduation requirements for the General Degree, Advanced Degree and Honours Degree, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Major Program

Undergraduate Studies

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in six credit hours in Religion. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A maximum of 12 credit hours in Religion courses numbered at the 1000-level may be used toward the 30 credit hours for the Major.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in six credit hours in Religion.

A maximum of 12 credit hours in Religion courses numbered at the 1000-level may be used toward the 18 credit hours for the Minor.

Honours Program

For entry to the Honours Program, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Other

For the purpose of the Honours and the Major programs, the three areas of study are identified in the course listing with the following letters in brackets after the course title:

- A: Western Religious Traditions
- B: World Religions
- C: Religion and Culture

In addition to courses numbered at the 1000-level, the Department of Religion offers a number of upper-level courses for which there are prerequisites; see course descriptions.

It is not necessary for students to enter the offerings in Religion by way of courses numbered at the 1000-level. Students in any year or program may register for any course in Religion provided they satisfy course and program prerequisites. With written permission of the department head students may take courses numbered at the 4000-level.

In cooperation with St. Paul's College, the Department of Religion offers an arrangement of courses with special emphasis in Catholic studies as an option for students intending to Major or Minor in Religion. This special emphasis involves completing course RLG N 2850 Contemporary Issues in Roman Catholicism and selecting relevant courses offered in the Faculty of Arts and the School of Art. Contact the Department of Religion prior to registration in order to select appropriate courses.

8.27 Sociology

8.27 Department of Sociology

8.27 Department of Sociology .
8.27.1 Sociology Program Information,
Sociology examines the patterns of interaction among individuals and the group activity that emerges from such interaction. A basic premise is that social behaviour, and society itself, cannot be fully understood simply by studying the individuals involved. Sociology has a special interest in all those intermediate forms of association between the family and the state which together comprise much of the basis for social solidarity and cohesion. Whether individuals cooperate, compete, or fight is in large measure determined by forces outside themselves, by social forces that encourage or restrain their behaviour.

For entry to the Major, the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in each of two 3 credit hour courses in Women's and Gender Studies. It is suggested that students wishing to Major in Women's and Gender Studies take both WOMN 1500 and WOMN 1600. For students who have taken additional courses toward the Major, then a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is required on all courses including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 in all courses that comprise the Major is required to graduate including the higher grade of repeated courses and excluding failed courses.

Minor (Concentration) Program

For entry to the Minor (Concentration), the prerequisite is a grade of "C" or better in each of two 3 credit hour courses in Women's and Gender Studies.

Honours Program

For entry to the Honours Program, see Section 3: Basic Faculty Regulations for the B.A. General, Advanced and Honours Degree Programs.

Coordinated Programs in Women's and Gender Studies

Students may take courses in the Women's and Gender Studies program at the University of Winnipeg and, where applicable, have these courses credited to their degree at the University of Manitoba. The coordinated program offers students access to more faculty resources, greater course selection and additional library facilities and thus can enrich their Women's and Gender Studies program.

Students are advised to consult with the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator for information on courses available for credit in Women's and Gender Studies.

In addition, special courses under the rubric of selected topics or contemporary issues may be available in various Arts departments, particularly Anthropology, English, Psychology, and Sociology, for Women's and Gender Studies credit in any given academic term.

8.29.3 Women's and Gender Studies Course Descriptions-1000 Level

WOMN 1500 Introduction to Women's and Gender Studies in the Humanities

Examination of the central concerns of women and gender in the Humanities. A focus on representation, voice, knowledge, and subjectivity. Students may not hold credit for both WOMN 1500 and the former WOMN 1530 (156.153).

WOMN 1600 Introduction to Women's and Gender Studies in the Social Sciences

Examination of women's historical and contemporary roles in the economy, family, and society from the perspective of the social sciences. Introduction of feminist theories, with emphasis on the role of gender. Topics covered focus on the social conditions of women's lives: work, health, violence and organizing for change. Students may not hold credit for both WOMN 1600 and the former WOMN 1540 (156.154).

8.29.3 Women's and Gender Studies Course Descriptions-2000 Level

WOMN 2000 Feminist Thought

Survey of the varieties of historical and contemporary feminist ideas. Students may not hold credit for both WOMN 2000 and the former WOMN 2520 (156.252). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in a minimum of three credit hours of Women's and Gender Studies courses] or written consent of the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator.

WOMN 2500 Race, Class and Sexuality

(Formerly 156.250) An exploration of the various ways race, class, and sexual orientation impact on women's lives and identities. Focus is on how racism, classism and heterosexism are produced and reproduced both within and outside of the feminist movement. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in a minimum of three credit hours of Women's and Gender Studies courses] or written consent of the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator.

WOMN 2510 Women and Education

(Formerly 156.251) An examination of school knowledge and organization as they affect the experiences of girls and women as students and teachers. Includes an exploration of the interaction between schooling and women's work as mothers, and between education and femininity.

WOMN 2514 Unallocated Credit

Campus Manitoba course.

WOMN 2530 Writing Women's Lives

(Formerly 156.253) Examination of the ways that traditional scripts for women have been rewritten in literature and film. Topics include coming-of-age, madness, utopia, motherhood, and romantic love as represented in fairytales, autobiographies, documentaries, contemporary novels, and Hollywood films.

WOMN 2540 Special Topics in Women's Studies

(Formerly 156.254) Course content will vary according to the needs and interests of students and instructors. Consult the Women's and Gender Studies Program office for information as to specific topics offered. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

WOMN 2560 Women, Science and Technology

(Formerly 156.256) An overview of women's historical and contemporary participation in science, issues in science and math education, feminist critiques and theories on science and gender, and the impact of technology on women's lives.

WOMN 2570 Soap Operas, Harlequins, and Talk Shows

(Formerly 156.257) This course looks at gender-specific forms of entertainment that Undergraduate Studies have been identified with women. Using postmodern feminist approaches to media, the course looks at how these forms are scripted for TV and cheap paperbacks, and at how the media constructs women as a marketing category for cultural and product consumption. Students may not hold credit for both WOMN 2570 (156.257) and WOMN 2540 (156.254) with the topic "Soaps, Harlequins, Talk Shows."

WOMN 2600 Sex, Gender, Space and Place

An examination of how we use places and spaces in our everyday lives to produce and maintain social differences of gender, sexuality, race, class, and citizenship. Drawing on perspectives from feminist geography and history, this course explores ideas about places (for example, homes) and spaces (for example, regions), as well as historical claims that women belong in place but men should control space. Students may not hold credit for both WOMN 2600 and WOMN 2540 (156.254) with the topic "Sex, Gender, Space and Place."

8.29.3 Women's and Gender Studies Course Descriptions-3000 Level

WOMN 3000 Interdisciplinary Research in Women's and Gender Studies

An introduction to the approaches scholars use to challenge the dominant theories of knowledge and the major methodologies used to produce it. The course examines the influence of gender theory and feminism on the research questions we ask, the types of materials we use, and the methods we employ. Students may not hold credit for both WOMN 3000 and the former WOMN 3580 (156.358). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in a minimum of three credit hours of Women's and Gender Studies courses] or written consent of the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator.

WOMN 3500 Selected Topics in Women's Studies

(Formerly 156.350) Course in which content varies from year to year according to needs and interests of students and instructors. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in a minimum of three credit hours of Women's and Gender Studies courses] or written consent of the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

WOMN 3510 International Feminisms

(Formerly 156.351) An examination of the social, political, economic and cultural realities facing women around the world, with emphasis on "Third World" women. A major focus will be on feminist struggles for change, international organizing and transnational solidarity efforts. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in a minimum of three credit hours of Women's and Gender Studies courses] or written consent of the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator.

WOMN 3530 Readings in Women's Studies

(Formerly 156.353) Directed readings in a range of Women's Studies literature. This is an independent study course. Prerequisite: written consent of instructor and Women's and Gender Studies coordinator. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

WOMN 3540 Readings in Women's Studies

(Formerly 156.354) Directed readings in a range of Women's Studies literature. This is an independent study course. Prerequisite: written consent of instructor and Women's and Gender Studies coordinator. As the course content will vary from year to year, students may take this course more than once for credit.

WOMN 3550 Feminist Community Organizing: Theories and Practices

(Formerly 156.355) Overview of organizing efforts and techniques, community issues and strategies that women have developed in North American and especially Canadian communities. Focus is on a synthesis of thought and action, theory and practise. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in a minimum of three credit hours of Women's and Gender Studies courses] or written consent of the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator.

WOMN 3560 Feminist Perspectives on Violence Against Women

(Formerly 156.356) An overview of feminist research and theories on violence against women as an integral component of our social structure, and on issues of social change to alleviate the problem. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in a minimum of three credit hours of Women's and Gender Studies courses] or written consent of the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator.

WOMN 3600 Good Girls/Bad Girls

(Formerly 156.360) This course challenges the good girl/bad girl binary as a way of defining the complex reality of women's lives by closely examining regimes of mental and physical hygiene. The course also considers how the media use this binary to sensationalize women like Princess Diana, Madonna, Amy Fisher, and Monica Lewinsky. Students may not hold credit for both WOMN 3600 (156.360) and WOMN 3500 (156.350) with the topic "Good Girls/Bad Girls." Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in a minimum of three credit hours of Women's and Gender Studies courses] or written consent of the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator.

WOMN 3610 Dream Girls, Show Girls, Riot Grrrls

(Formerly 156.361) A feminist survey of women's performances in media in a sexist society. The course explores the relation between women putting on a show and being on show: e.g., Las Vegas revues, Madonna's videos, 90's supermodels, gynecologists' offices, radical feminist street protests, Playboy centerfolds, Riot Grrrl music, and performance art. Students may not hold credit for both WOMN 3610 (156.361) and WOMN 3500 (156.350) with topic "Good Girls/Bad Girls - The Sequel." Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in a minimum of three credit hours of Women's and Gender Studies courses] or written consent of the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator.

WOMN 3620 Masculinities

An introduction to the key debates in masculinity studies from a feminist perspective. Considering the idea of "hegemonic masculinity" and the practice of creating a typology of masculinity, this course examines the changing forms of masculinity as a political and cultural category, using historical examples from the 19th century and the 1970s and considers the influence of feminist theories on men's engagement with masculinity in North America. Students may not hold credit for both WOMN 3620 and WOMN 3500 (156.350) with the topic "Masculinities." Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in a minimum of three credit hours of Women's and Gender Studies courses] or written consent of the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator.

8.29.3 Women's and Gender Studies Course Descriptions-4000 Level

WOMN 4100 Honours Thesis

WOMN 4120 Practicum in Feminist Organizing

(Formerly 156.412) Between September and March, the student will complete a minimum of 80 hours of unpaid independent work in a feminist or woman-centered organization and meet regularly with the instructor and other practicum students. Students will reflect critically on the work experience in course assignments. Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in at least 24 credit hours in Women's and Gender Studies courses] and written consent of the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator.

WOMN 4200 Seminar in Women's and Gender Studies

An advanced seminar on a contemporary theme in Women's and Gender Studies. The theme will vary from year to year in accordance with the research interests of the instructor and new developments in the field. Student presentations and discussions will be emphasized. Students may not hold credit for both WOMN 4200 and the former WOMN 4110 (156.411). Prerequisite: [a grade of "C" or better in WOMN 2000 or the former WOMN 2520 (156.252)] and written consent of the Women's and Gender Studies coordinator.

NOTES:

¹ MATH 2600 has a prerequisite of COMP 1010.

² MATH 2750 may be substituted for MATH 2720 and MATH 2730.

For entry to either Major in Mathematics, the prerequisite is a grade of “C+” or better in six hours of Mathematics courses taken.

For entry to the Minor in Mathematics, the prerequisite is a grade of “C” or better in six hours of Mathematics courses taken.

A detailed listing of courses in the Department of Mathematics is available in the Calendar entries of the Faculty of Science.

Equivalent Honours courses may sometimes be substituted for the courses listed above. In this way, a Major degree can be considerably strengthened. For more detailed advice students should talk to a faculty member in the department.

9.5 Interfaculty Option in Aging

9.5 Interfaculty Option in Aging , The Interfaculty Option in Aging Concentration is available to students in all B.A. degree programs.

This Concentration is offered by: Arts; Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources; Human Ecology; Nursing; Kinesiology and Recreation Management; and Social Work. To complete the Concentration, Arts students will need to complete each of the following: a) The Social Aspects of Aging, HMEC 2650 or REC 2650 or SWRK 2650; and b) Health and Physical Aspects of Aging, NURS 2610 or KIN 2610; and c) an additional twelve credit hours from the following courses:

1.2 The Profession of Dental Hygiene,

Dental hygiene is a self regulated health service profession concerned primarily with the prevention of oral disease and the promotion of optimum oral health. As a licensed professional, the dental hygienist's scope of practice is regulated by provincial legislation. The dental hygiene process of care consists of five components: assessment, dental hygiene diagnosis, planning, implementation, and evaluation. Current practice settings include: Private dental practice, community health centres, institutions (e.g., hospitals, long-term care facilities), primary health care centres, home care and other outreach programs, educational institutions (e.g., universities, community colleges), the military, research, and industry. Dental hygienists acquire competence through instruction in basic sciences, oral health sciences, the humanities and clinical practice. Through more than 600 hours of a competency-based clinical curriculum, students are prepared to meet the needs of a broad range of population groups.

The School of Dental Hygiene Mission Statement: In a dynamic environment of excellence and progressive learning, the University of Manitoba, School of Dental Hygiene prepares future dental hygienists to enhance the health and well being of the public through oral health promotion, disease prevention and therapeutic means; and are active members of the global health care community.

Practice Requirements

After successful completion of the National Dental Hygiene Certification Board Examination, in Manitoba, graduates must apply to the College of Dental Hygienists of Manitoba for a licence to practice as a dental hygienist. Dental hygienists must fulfil the requirements of the respective provincial regulatory authorities licensing bodies. The minimum educational credential for licensure in the province of Manitoba is the Diploma in Dental Hygiene. Licensed dental hygienists may continue their education by completing a Bachelor of Science Degree in Dental Hygiene.

SECTION 2: Admission Requirements

2.1 Diploma in Dental Hygiene,

The following is a summary of the admission requirements. Equivalent academic courses completed at recognized universities elsewhere will be considered. All admission requirements, as well as application deadline dates and forms, are included in an applicant information bulletin that is available from the Admissions Office, Enrolment Services, 424 University Centre; this information is also posted on the university's website.

ENGL 1310

CHEM 1300 and CHEM 1310 or CHEM 1320

PSYC 1200

BIOL 1410 and BIOL 1412

STAT 1000

6 credit hours of electives (Sociology is strongly recommended) for a total of 30 credit hours.

Other Requirements

High school prerequisites: REQUIRED: Mathematics 40S (pre-calculus or applied), Chemistry 40S; and Biology 40S, or eligibility as a mature student to the University of Manitoba.

Interview: An interview may be part of the admission process.

Minimum GPA for consideration: 3.00 with no grade less than C, with the exception of English which requires the minimum grade of C+. Admission is competitive.

Selection criteria: 100 per cent based on academic standing for the Regular Applicant Category. Interview and Letters of Reference are considered within the Special Applicant Category. Preference will be given to Manitobans in the Special Applicant Category and on the alternate list.

It is recommended that all applicants attend an orientation session. Orientation for dental hygiene takes place at the School of Dental Hygiene, Bannatyne Campus.

2.2 Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene, Degree Completion Program,

The program will be available to dental hygiene diploma graduates of the University of Manitoba or other accredited dental hygiene educational institutions wishing to complete requirements for the baccalaureate degree on a full-time or part-time basis. Transfer of credit for courses completed at other institutions will be possible through appropriate University procedures. The School will evaluate credits from other institutions on an individual basis. The following is a summary of the admission requirements. All admission requirements, as well as application deadline dates and forms, are included in an applicant information bulletin that is available from the Admissions Office, Enrolment Services, 424 University Centre; this information is also posted on the university's website.

Admission to the degree completion program requires of students that:

- They must possess a Diploma in Dental Hygiene from either a university or community college program accredited by either the Commission on Dental Accreditation of Canada or the American Dental Association's Commission on Dental Accreditation.
- They must possess the National Dental Hygiene Certification Board (NDHCB) Certificate
- They must hold current licensure to practice dental hygiene in Canada and be eligible for licensure to practice in Manitoba.
- They must possess all the pre-requisite course requirements prior to admission (see prerequisite requirements, options A & B below)

Prerequisite Requirements
Option A
This option is for those graduate of accredited dental hygiene programs who completed a proscribed pre-professional year of university studies prior to entry into their dental hygiene program
Required Prerequisites (minimum C grade in each course)	Research methods (REHB 2450; PSYC 2250) or equivalent	3 credit hours
	Basic Statistical Analysis (STAT 1000; PSYC 2260) or equivalent	3 credit hours
	Total	6 credit hours
Option B
This option is for dental hygienists who are graduates of accredited two year programs which did not require a pre-professional year of university studies
Required Prerequisites (minimum C grade in each course)	Research Methods (REHB 2450) or equivalent	3 credit hours
	Basic Statistical Analysis (STAT 1000) or equivalent	3 credit hours
	Free choice electives	15 credit hours
	TOTAL	21 credit hours

The required minimum grade for specified prerequisite courses including electives is a C. There is a required minimum overall grade point average of 3.0 (B) in the candidates Diploma in Dental Hygiene or Associated Degree Program.

Selection is competitive. In the event of a surplus number of applicants, selection will be based on the grade point average (GPA) over the most recently completed 60 credit hours of study completed at the accredited post secondary level.

SECTION 3: Faculty Academic Regulations

SECTION 3: Faculty Academic Requirements Intro,

All students are asked to note that some academic policies and regulations are under review and are subject to change. Please check the Web Calendar at umanitoba.ca for updated information.

The provisions of the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, and the chapter, University Policies, apply to all students. In addition, the School of Dental Hygiene has regulations and requirements, published below, that apply specifically to its students.

3.1 Diploma in Dental Hygiene,

3.1.a Immunization and Bloodborne Diseases Policy

Note: This policy is under review. Please consult the School of Dental Hygiene for further information.

All Diploma students enrolled in dental hygiene must be immunized against the following diseases: diphtheria/tetanus, polio, rubella, measles, mumps, chicken pox and hepatitis B. Students must be tested for tuberculosis if a suspected exposure occurs. Students who cannot be immunized because of allergies or other reasons must provide a physician's certificate to verify these reasons.

Before the first day of classes all students must complete the University of Manitoba Immunization Record Form, provided by the dental hygiene office. Immunization records must be signed by a physician or nurse verifying that all immunizations are up-to-date.

All students are responsible for updating their immunizations as needed.

Students will not be permitted to attend clinics until all immunization requirements are up-to-date.

3.1.b Criminal Record/Child Abuse Registry

An adult criminal record and child abuse registry self-declaration will be required of all applicants at the time of application. A formal Adult Criminal Record Check (including vulnerable sector screening) and a formal Child Abuse Registry Check is required at the time of registration, and annually thereafter keeping in accordance with existing policies of other health, education and social service programs at the University of Manitoba.

3.1.c CPR Certification

Accepted candidates will be required to show proof of CPR certification by October 15 of each year. The CPR Certification level required by the School of Dental Hygiene is: Health Career Provider \(HCP CPR Level C\). This certification must be maintained on a yearly basis up to the date of graduation.

3.1.d Instruments, Computer, Textbooks and Uniforms

Diploma students are responsible for the purchase of instruments ('kit') and other clinic educational fees as may be necessary or required*. Items in the instrument Kits are the property of Dental Hygiene students*. Students are also required to purchase one lab coat. Some laboratory equipment is loaned by the school. In addition, students entering the School of Dental Hygiene will be expected to possess/purchase a laptop computer with minimum specifications as well as purchase textbook software.

The school is unable to accept returns of any student computer, software, kit and clinic fees and/or kit items should a student leave the school for whatever reason and upon graduation.

* Under review, please contact the School of Dental Hygiene for further information.

3.1.e Examinations and Promotions

Regular attendance in all courses as well as a satisfactory record completed during the term will be required to qualify a student to sit for the annual or other grading examination.

To obtain standing in any year, a student must attain a minimum Term Grade Point Average (GPA) of 2.0 in all courses of that year. If a student is registered for less than 100% of the courses listed for the year, a minimum Term GPA of a 2.0 must also be obtained.

A student who has obtained a grade of "F" in more than two subjects or who fails to obtain a Term GPA of 2.0 will be regarded as having failed the year and will be required to repeat the work of that year in a succeeding annual session. The student must re-apply for admission to the school if the failed year is the first year.

No student will be allowed to register for the full work of any one year who has a condition remaining from a previous year.

Students are prohibited from interviewing individual members of the school with reference to examination standing at any time prior to the posting of official grade lists.

For details on final examinations, see the Chapter General Academic Regulations and Requirements of this Calendar.

For appeals process, see the Chapter General Academic Regulations and Requirements.

For a description of the grading system, see the Chapter General Academic Regulations and Requirements.

3.1.f Supplemental Examinations

A student who has failed in not more than two subjects at the regular final examinations of any year, or who fails to obtain a Term GPA of 2.0 in courses of the year, may upon application and at the discretion of the Dental Faculty Council be awarded the privilege of one or two supplemental examination(s).

The Faculty Council will specify in which subjects the student may write supplemental examinations. The passing grade in supplemental examinations is "C" in each subject.

A student must maintain a minimum Term GPA of 2.0 each year in order to be eligible for supplemental privileges.

A student who, having exercised supplemental privileges, has not more than one condition remaining, may in the ensuing annual session, be allowed to take only that one course in the Dental Hygiene program. If the condition is removed in that session, the student will be regarded as having completed the year to which the condition applied.

Supplemental examinations are held prior to the opening of the session in the autumn, and application must be made to the Registrars Office no later than those deadline dates listed in this Calendar.

3.1.g Challenge for Credit

There are a number of courses which may be challenged for credit. Information on the specific courses involved may be obtained from the director of the School of Dental Hygiene. Requests for course challenge must be received prior to the commencement of the term in which the course will be offered.

3.1.h Honours and Awards

Dean's Honours: awarded to students in each year of the dental hygiene Diploma program who have achieved a minimum sessional (fall & winter term combined) G.P.A. of 3.8. In addition, only students registered for 80 per cent or more of the normal course load during a regular session are eligible for Honours Standing.

A student who fails in one or more subjects, or who fails the year at the regular final examination, is not eligible to obtain Honours Standing or to receive any awards for the work of that year.

A student repeating a year's work is not eligible to obtain Honours Standing or to receive any awards for the work of that year.

The following policy applies to the eligibility of part-time students for academic awards:

A student who is carrying less than 80 per cent of the normal course load for the year is only eligible for an award in the individual subjects taken by him/her.

A student who is repeating a course may not be eligible for an award in that subject.

3.1.i Voluntary Withdrawal

Students intending to withdraw from a portion or all of their courses must report immediately in person or in writing to the Director's Office. Please note: Computer Software, Clinic and Kit fees and/or kit items are non-refundable. See also the chapter, on General Academic Regulations and Requirements.

Students who withdraw from the School of Dental Hygiene without notice will be considered to have terminated their connection with the school. If a subsequent application for registration is approved, they will be required to conform to the rules and regulations, fee schedules, sequence of courses, etc., in effect at the time of such subsequent application.

In cases where a student is obliged to withdraw after the final date of withdrawal published in the Calendar because of ill health or other sufficient reasons, their cases will be considered by the Director of the School.

3.1.j E-Mail Accounts

All students are expected to have an e-mail account with the University of Manitoba and check it regularly. The School of Dental Hygiene does not support communications with its students through external e-mail addresses.

3.1.k Registration exceptions

Diploma students who have a failing grade/s registered against them and/or have other outstanding academic matters (i.e. deferred or supplemental examinations, modified program, etc.) in regards to the previous academic session will not be allowed to register using Aurora Student. Students who fall into this category should contact the student advisor for further information. A student advisor is available in D028 Dental Building or by calling (204) 789-3484.

3.2 Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene, Degree Completion Program, 3.2.a Academic Progress

A minimum Degree Grade Point Average of 2.0 must be maintained in the Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene for clear standing. A grade of C is considered a passing grade for all courses applied towards degree requirements. Students who do not maintain a minimum GPA of 2.0 may be required to withdraw from the program.

3.2.b Licensure

Students in the Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene program must maintain professional licensure during their registration at the School of Dental Hygiene. Students should also note that licensure with the College of Dental Hygienists' of Manitoba may be required for registration within certain core courses (example: teaching practicum) of the program. Students are responsible for all fees associated with the maintenance of current licensure as well as application for licensure within Manitoba as may be required.

3.2.c Criminal Record/Child Abuse Registry

An adult criminal record and child abuse registry self-declaration will be required of all applicants at the time of application. A formal Adult Criminal Record Check (including vulnerable sector screening) and a formal Child Abuse Registry Check is required at the time of registration, and annually thereafter keeping in accordance with existing policies of other health, education and social service programs at the University of Manitoba.

3.2.d Writing Skills

Undergraduate Studies

Once in the program, students who do not exhibit ability to communicate in writing may be required to seek remediation in writing skills.

3.2.e Transfer of Credit

The School may consider University credits earned outside of dental hygiene diploma programs or earned as part of an incomplete degree for transfer credit. If a student earned credit for a required course in the baccalaureate program as part of a diploma in dental hygiene or as part of another degree, an alternative course must be submitted for consideration.

3.2.f Residence Requirements

Baccalaureate Degree-Completion Program students are required to complete at least 30 credit hours of University of Manitoba courses of the total 120 credits for the degree, with the minimum grade of "C" in each course.

3.2.g Clinic Attire

Students in the B.Sc.Dental Hygiene program must maintain appropriate clinic attire when participating in clinical activities. Students will be required to purchase clinic uniforms as specified at the time of registration.

3.2.h Program Length/Registration

Students in the Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene, Degree Completion Program should note that after initial registration, the length of time to complete the B.Sc.D.H. program is variable dependent upon whether courses are taken full-time or part-time. Part-time students would be expected to complete the program within two to three (2-3) years. Students should be aware that the B.Sc.D.H. program tuition fee does not include tuition fees assessed against registration in courses administered outside of the Dental Hygiene Program (non HYGn courses). Further information on fees may be obtained from the University of Manitoba's web-site: umanitoba.ca

3.2.i Voluntary Withdrawal

Students intending to withdraw from a portion or all of their courses must report immediately in person or in writing to the Director's Office. Please note that all program tuition fees for the Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene program are non-refundable. See the chapter, on General Academic Regulations and Requirements for further information on voluntary withdrawal.

Students who withdraw from the School of Dental Hygiene without notice will be considered to have terminated their connection with the school. If a subsequent application for registration is approved, they will be required to conform to the rules and regulations, fee schedules, sequence of courses, etc., in effect at the time of such subsequent application.

In cases where a student is obliged to withdraw after the final date of withdrawal published in the Calendar because of ill health or other sufficient reasons, their cases will be considered by the Director of the School.

3.2.j E-Mail Accounts

All students are expected to have an e-mail account with the University of Manitoba and check it regularly. The School of Dental Hygiene does not support communications with its students through external e-mail addresses.

3.2.k Registration exceptions

Bachelor of Science Students who will be taking courses outside of the School of Dental Hygiene will be required to follow registration regulations/restrictions governed by the faculty in which those courses reside. Normal course repeat rules and restrictions will apply. Students in the B.Sc. program will also be responsible to ensure that they have verified their initial access time for registration; consulted with an advisor and/or obtained required program approval for outside courses as necessary; checked for timetable updates for all external courses; registered and assessed their fees after registration in all courses. A student advisor is available in D028 Dental Building or by calling (204) 789-3484.

Note for the purposes of admission to the Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene Program the total credit hours for the Diploma in Dental Hygiene program is 101. This total includes credit hours obtained in the pre-professional year undertaken prior to Admission to the Diploma program.

4.2 Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene, Degree Completion Program, Accredited dental hygiene programs in Canada and the U.S. have been traditionally offered as either stand-alone two year programs with direct entry from high school, or as two-year programs requiring a pre-professional year of studies prior to admission into the professional program. In order to provide access to a broad range of potential degree completion students, two options have been developed.

Option A. This option is for those graduates of accredited dental hygiene programs who have completed a proscribed pre-professional year prior to entry into their dental hygiene program.

Dental hygienists from the University of Manitoba who graduated between 1993 and 2007 must complete 21 credit hours

Dental hygienists from the University of Manitoba who graduated after 2007 must complete 19 credit hours

Graduates of other (non-University of Manitoba) dental hygiene programs who completed a pre-professional year prior to entry into their dental hygiene program, may be granted up to 15 credit hours from the pre-professional year and 75 credit hours from the 2-year dental hygiene program towards their degree. These graduates will be required to complete 30 hours of University of Manitoba credits in order to complete the degree and satisfy the residency requirement.

Option B. Dental hygienists who are graduates of accredited two year programs without the pre-professional year, must complete the 21 credit hours as described below plus 24 credit hours of free-choice electives. This requirement applies to graduates from the University of Manitoba (prior to 1993) as well as other accredited two-year dental hygiene programs in North America with no pre-professional year. As in Option A, the residency requirement of 30 credit hours for those non-University of Manitoba graduates will be upheld.

University of Manitoba Graduates

Students with diplomas in dental hygiene from the University of Manitoba will complete 19 credit hours if they graduated after 2007 and 21 credit hours if they graduated between 1993 and 2007. Dental hygienists who graduated from the University before 1993 will complete 24 credit hours of electives in addition to 21 dental hygiene baccalaureate credit hours (total 45).

SECTION 5: Dental Hygiene Course Descriptions-1000 Level

HYGN 1232 Oral and Dental Anatomy

This course consists of a self-study CD and laboratory work dealing with the normal development, morphology, structure, and functions of the dentition and related structures. Corequisites: HYGN 1234 and HYGN 1236.

HYGN 1234 Preclinical Dental Hygiene

This introductory course teaches the necessary dental hygiene skills in laboratory and preclinical settings. Students are introduced to foundational assessment and implementation skills necessary to begin client care at the novice level. Corequisites: HYGN 1232 and HYGN 1236.

HYGN 1236 Dental Hygiene Theory and Practice 1

This introductory course provides the necessary foundational knowledge requisite for preclinical experience and early client care. It includes the theory and principles underlying the practice of dental hygiene based on the four phases of the Dental Hygiene Process of Care and the concept of Professionalism. Corequisites: HYGN 1232 and HYGN 1234.

HYGN 1238 Dental Hygiene Clinical Practice I

The course focus is on the cognitive, psychomotor and affective knowledge and skills requisite to the dental hygiene process of care. It includes the principles underlying the practice of dental hygiene and facilitates the development of a self-directed and self-aware professional. Prerequisites: HYGN 1234 and HYGN 1236. Corequisite: HYGN 1242.

HYGN 1242 Dental Hygiene Theory and Practice II

A continuation of foundational knowledge requisite for clinical care on less complicated clients that includes the theory and principles underlying the practice of dental hygiene based on the Dental Hygiene Process of Care. Prerequisites: HYGN 1234 and HYGN 1236. Corequisite: HYGN 1238.

HYGN 1262 Dental Radiology

An introduction to the production of x-rays, radiation biology, radiation protection, imaging materials, imaging techniques, recognition of radiographic landmarks and structures, and quality control of radiographs. Corequisites: HYGN 1234 and HYGN 1238.

HYGN 1270 Biology of the Head and Neck

HYGN 1280 Microbiology and Infectious Diseases

(Formerly 070.128) A study of different types of microorganisms. Infectious diseases will be discussed in terms of reservoirs, transmission, pathogenesis, treatment and prevention. Emphasis will be given to common communicable diseases, the oral microflora and its role in disease and health.

HYGN 1292 Dental Hygiene Preclinical Restorative Techniques

A study of the principles and techniques of restorative dentistry. Introduction information on restorative dentistry specialties.

HYGN 1320 Dental Materials

(Formerly 070.132) A study of the properties of materials used in the oral environment for restorative, prosthetic, orthodontic and preventive purposes. Laboratory demonstrations and exercises are designed to demonstrate the correct preparation and handling of dental materials.

HYGN 1340 Communications

(Formerly 070.134) This course provides an introduction to basic principles of communication in relation to everyday and professional interactions. The students are sensitized to the process of communication, its complexities and its related dynamics. Particular attention is given to enabling students to develop effective professional communication skills that have the potential to promote client compliance and harmonious working relationships.

HYGN 1352 Community Health I

An introductory, participatory course in community oral health promotion intended to inspire a sense of community responsibility in students as health professionals responding to community needs through classroom teaching, interviews and debates.

HYGN 1360 Periodontology I

(Formerly 070.136) A study of the normal tissues of the periodontium, and an introduction to periodontal diseases, their etiology, epidemiology and treatment, especially as these relate to dental hygiene practice. A critical analysis of periodontal cases included.

SECTION 5: Dental Hygiene Course Descriptions-2000 Level

HYGN 2100 Dental Hygiene Portfolio

This two credit hour course houses the evaluation component of the programmatic portfolio of student competencies that all students commence at enrolment and complete prior to graduation.

HYGN 2280 Pharmacology

(Formerly 070.228) Drugs used in clinical practice; a general knowledge of drugs by groups with emphasis on agents such as local anesthetics, analgesics, and antibiotics used extensively in the practice of dentistry.

HYGN 2300 Pathology

(Formerly 070.230) A study of the principles of general and oral pathology involving pathologic mechanisms, disorders of physiologic systems, and pathologic conditions and diseases affecting oral and para-oral structures.

HYGN 2312 Dental Hygiene Clinical Practice II

This competency-based clinical course amalgamates theoretical knowledge and clinical skills in both general clinical and community based clinical settings. Students provide care to clients with moderate oral health needs. This course is evaluated on a pass/fail basis. Prerequisites: HYGN 1238 and HYGN 1242. Corequisite: HYGN 2314.

HYGN 2314 Dental Hygiene Theory and Practice III

Learning, motivation, and behaviour modification theories are applied to oral health promotion. Dental hygiene care plans are developed using a human needs model and process of care. Ethics, jurisprudence and practice standards are discussed. Prerequisites: HYGN 1238 and HYGN 1242. Corequisite: HYGN 2312.

HYGN 2316 Dental Hygiene Clinical Practice III

This course advances the student's clinical dental hygiene skills to a level of minimal competency. Students provide dental hygiene care to clients with high oral health needs to facilitate their attainment of optimal oral health. This course is evaluated on a pass/fail basis. Prerequisites: HYGN 2312 and HYGN 2314. Corequisite: HYGN 2318.

HYGN 2318 Dental Hygiene Theory and Practice IV

The oral health needs of persons with disabilities and the development of dental hygiene care plans to address those needs are discussed as well as issues of access to dental hygiene care, employment, quality assurance, and professional growth and development. Prerequisites: HYGN 2312 and HYGN 2314. Corequisite: HYGN 2316.

HYGN 2340 Periodontology II

(Formerly 070.234) Continuation of the study of etiology, diagnosis and treatment of periodontal disease.

HYGN 2350 Biology of Oral Tissues

(Formerly 070.235) Consideration of physiology of the oral environment and its microflora in relation to health, dental caries and periodontal diseases.

HYGN 2362 Community Health II

Student abilities to deliver community oral health education/promotion programs, with attention given to barriers and strategies used to meet the unique needs of target populations less likely to have optimal oral health are further developed. Prerequisite: HYGN 1352.

HYGN 2370 Nutrition in Dentistry

(Formerly 070.237) A physiological, psychological, and social insight into the principles of nutrition and their relation to preventive dental practice.

HYGN 2380 Pain Management

(Formerly 070.238) This course is designed to enhance the dental hygiene student's knowledge of the mechanisms of pain control through the administration of topical and local anesthetic agents. Emphasis will be placed on the pharmacology of dental anesthetic agents and their interaction with the client's current conditions and medications.

SECTION 5: Dental Hygiene Course Descriptions-4000 Level

HYGN 4460 Community Health Independent Study

This course is a practicum and/or independent study course focusing on the design and/or implementation and evaluation of the health promotion program process in; the field. Students may choose to host an oral health awareness raising event for the public, provide community-based oral health promotion activity at a selected site, develop a small-scale oral health promotion program for an underserved population group or a similar community-based project.

HYGN 4470 Community Health Independent Study II

This course is a continuation of HYGN 4460 (Community Health Independent Study) and provides a further opportunity for the student to build on the previous independent study course or focus on the design and/or implementation and evaluation of an additional health promotion program. In either case, students may choose from oral health awareness raising event for the public, community-based oral health promotion activity, small-scale oral health promotion programming or similar community oral health project.

HYGN 4500 Advanced Oral Pathology

A web-based CD-ROM distance education course designed to present the clinical and pathobiologic aspects of diseases that affect oral and maxillofacial tissues or present with significant oral manifestations of systemic diseases. This course is presented in conjunction with the University of Manitoba and the University of British Columbia.

HYGN 4510 Microbiology and Immunology

This Web CT course is offered in conjunction with the University of British Columbia. Microbiological and immunological concepts that are the scientific basis for understanding human response in health and disease will be explored. This course builds on knowledge acquired from dental hygiene entry-to-practice level education and dental hygiene practice.

HYGN 4520 Advanced Independent Study I

This course will enable the degree-completion student to explore issues or areas of interest in dental hygiene with the mentorship of a dental hygiene faculty member. Dependent upon the extent of the project, students may enroll in either three or six hours of study.

HYGN 4530 Teaching Practicum

This course provides students with a seminar course in clinical teaching methodologies and the opportunity to practice teach within an undergraduate dental hygiene program under the supervision and mentorship of dental hygiene faculty members.

HYGN 4540 Advanced Teaching Practicum

This course is a continuation of HYGN 4530 (Teaching Practicum) and provides the opportunity to extend the practice teaching experience into a second term, thus strengthening the individual's skills as a dental hygiene educator. This experience will occur under the supervision and mentorship of dental hygiene faculty members.

HYGN 4550 Advanced Independent Study II

This course is a continuation of HYGN 4520 (Advanced Independent Study) and provides the opportunity for the student to pursue a more complex project which cannot be completed within the first course. Students will have selected their project topic in HYGN 4520 and will continue their exploration and write-up of this topic with the guidance of a dental hygiene faculty mentor.

1.2 The Profession of Dentistry,

The Faculty of Dentistry is dedicated to educating dental, dental hygiene and graduate students in a progressive learning environment, conducting research in oral health, and serving the community and the oral health professions as a source of knowledge and expertise. The faculty serves as a bridge between the fundamental scientific foundation of the profession and its translation into health care for the public. Dentists enhance and promote the total health of patients through oral health management. Dentists are concerned with promoting oral health and preventing and alleviating the effects of oral diseases and conditions in order to contribute to the well-being of their patients.

The curriculum is designed to ensure that students graduate as competent dentists prepared to meet the oral health care needs of their patients. It provides the knowledge of basic biomedical, behavioural and clinical sciences and biomaterials, the cognitive and behavioural skills, and the professional and ethical values necessary for practice as a dental professional.

Information on the Dental Hygiene program is in the chapter, School of Dental Hygiene.

Licensing Requirements

A graduate of the Faculty of Dentistry is entitled to apply to the Manitoba Dental Association to obtain a license to practice within the province of Manitoba. For information on licensing requirements and the application process please contact: The Registrar, Manitoba Dental Association, 103 698 Corydon Avenue, Winnipeg, Manitoba R3M 0X9; telephone (204) 988 5300.

National Examining Body

Graduates of this faculty are required to sit a written examination and an objective structured clinical examination during the calendar year of their graduation, administered by the National Dental Examining Board of Canada. The NDEB certification granted to graduates who pass these examinations, entitles them to apply for a license to practice in all provinces of Canada. The provinces of Ontario and Quebec have additional requirements. For information contact: The Registrar, National Dental Examining Board, 203 - 100 Bronson Avenue, Ottawa, Ontario K1R 6G8; telephone (613) 236 5912.

Other Licensing Bodies

For regulations governing licensure in other areas (e.g., other provinces, the United States), candidates are advised to write the licensing body in the province/state in which they are interested.

SECTION 2: Admission Requirements

2.1 Doctor of Dental Medicine,

Minimum time to graduation: Six years (University 1, plus one year, plus four years in the Faculty of Dentistry).

The following is a summary of the admission requirements. Equivalent academic courses completed at recognized universities elsewhere will be considered. All admission requirements, as well as application deadline dates and forms, are included in an application bulletin that is available from the Admissions Office, Enrolment Services, 424 University Centre; this information is also posted on the university's website (umanitoba.ca/dentistry).

After University 1, most students choose the Faculty of Science because the pre-Dentistry requirements easily fit Science degree programs.

Minimum 60 credit hours of pre-Dentistry study including:

BIOL 1020 and 1030

CHEM 1300 and CHEM 1310

CHEM 2210 and 2220

CHEM 2360 and CHEM 2370 or MBIO 2360 and MBIO 2370

PHYS 1020 and 1030 or PHYS 1050 and 1070

6 credit hours of English

24 credit hours of electives, 6 of which must be in the non-applied sciences or non-pure sciences.

All science courses must include the laboratory component.

Other requirements

High school prerequisites: Chemistry 40S, Mathematics 40S, Physics 40S and Biology 40S.

The 6 credit hours of English satisfies the written English requirement; the mathematics requirement must be met in the first 60 credit hours even though it is not a specific admissions requirement.

The English Canadian Dental Aptitude Test (DAT) must be written.

A personal interview is required.

Admission is competitive.

Information on the admission process may be accessed through the Faculty of Dentistry's web page (umanitoba.ca/dentistry) or by requesting an Information Application Bulletin from either the Faculty of Dentistry or the umanitoba.ca/admissions (Enrolment Services)

Selection criteria: Grades, interview and DAT score equally weighted.

Undergraduate Studies

2.2 Bachelor of Science in Dentistry,

In addition to the basic professional degree, the faculty offers the Bachelor of Science in Dentistry to interested dental students wishing to undertake research during their undergraduate program. The program is designed to assure that participation in it will not interfere with the student's dental degree. Through active participation in a research program, the students will be given the opportunity to develop skills in applying scientific knowledge to dental practice and an interest in dental research. In addition, the program will serve as a preparatory step for entry into various graduate programs. Information on admission to this program is available from the Dean's Office and through the Faculty of Dentistry's web page (umanitoba.ca/dentistry).

2.3 International Dentist Degree Program (IDDP),

The Faculty of Dentistry, University of Manitoba, offers the International Dentist Degree Program (IDDP) to a maximum of 7 graduates of international dental programs that are not accredited by the Commission on Dental Accreditation of Canada. After a 6 to 8 week summer orientation program, students enter the 3rd year of the regular dental program of the Faculty. Upon satisfactory completion of the 3rd and 4th years of the dental program, IDDP participants will be awarded the Doctor of Dental Medicine (DMD) degree. All graduates of DMD programs in Canada, once having passed the National Dental Examining Board of Canada (NDEB) examinations, are eligible for licensure/registration as a dentist in all provinces in Canada.

Requirement to the IDDP program can be found at the Faculty of Dentistry's website at: umanitoba.ca/dentistry/IDDP. Please note that there are two tracks which may be applied to.

Should you have specific questions that cannot be answered from the above website, please call the IDDP Coordinator at (204) 977-5611.

SECTION 3: Faculty Academic Regulations

SECTION 3: Faculty Academic Regulations Intro,

All students are asked to note that some academic policies and regulations are under review and are subject to change. Please check the Web Calendar at umanitoba.ca for updated information.

The provisions of the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, and the chapter, University Policies, apply to all students. In addition, the Faculty of Dentistry has regulations and requirements, published below that apply specifically to its students.

3.1 Instruments Computers and Textbook ,

Students entering the Faculty of Dentistry will be expected to own or purchase a laptop computer and Vital Source Technology software. This expenditure may be approximately $3500 within the first year of the program if the laptop computer has to be purchased. Each following year of the program, students will be required to purchase additional software licensing/ updates for a cost of approximately $900/year. These costs replace former textbook expenditures.

Students are responsible for the purchase of instruments ('kit') and other clinic educational fees as may be necessary or required. Over the four years of dentistry, the cost of such instruments/fees has been approximately $40,000 (see fee schedule); the bulk of the expenditure is incurred in the first two or three years*. Items in the Dental Kits are the property of Dental students*. The faculty is unable to accept returns of any student computer software, clinic and/or kit fee or kit items should a student leave the faculty for whatever reason and upon graduation.

* Under review, please contact the faculty for further information.

3.2 Criminal Record/Child Abuse Registry,

An adult criminal record and child abuse registry self-declaration will be required of all applicants at the time of application. A formal Adult Criminal Record Check (including vulnerable sector screening) and a formal Child Abuse Registry Check is required at the time of registration, and annually thereafter keeping in accordance with existing policies of other health, education and social service programs at the University of Manitoba

3.3 Immunization and Bloodborne Diseases Policy ,

Note: This policy is under review. Please consult the Faculty of Dentistry for further information.

All students enrolled in the Faculty of Dentistry must be immunized against the following diseases: diphtheria/tetanus, polio, rubella, measles, mumps, chicken pox and hepatitis B. Students must be tested for tuberculosis if a suspected exposure occurs. Students who cannot be immunized because of allergies or for other reasons must provide a physician's certificate to verify these reasons.

Before the first day of classes, all students must complete the University of Manitoba Immunization Record Form provided by the Admissions Office. A physician or nurse must sign immunization records. All students are responsible for updating their immunizations as needed.

Students will not be permitted to attend clinics until all immunization requirements are up-to-date

3.4 CPR Certification ,

Accepted candidates will be required to show proof of CPR certification by October 15 of each year. The CPR Certification level required by the Faculty of Dentistry is: Health Career Provider (HCP CPR Level C). This certification must be maintained on a yearly basis up to the date of graduation.

3.5 Attendance,

See the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements. The Faculty of Dentistry has additional regulations that can be found in the Student Handbook, available on-line via the Faculty's web page (umanitoba.ca/dentistry).

3.6 Voluntary Withdrawal,

Students intending to withdraw from a portion or all of their courses must report immediately in person or in writing to the Dean's Office. No fees will be refunded without the authorization of the dean. Please Note: Computer Software, Clinic and Kit fees and/or kit items are non-refundable. See also the chapter on General Academic Regulations and Requirements.

Students who withdraw from the Faculty of Dentistry without notice will be considered to have terminated their connection with the faculty. If a subsequent application for registration is approved, they will be required to conform to the rules and regulations, fee schedules, sequence of courses, etc., in effect at the time of such subsequent application.

In cases where a student is obliged to withdraw after the final date of withdrawal published in the Calendar because of ill health or other sufficient reasons, their cases will be considered by the dean of the faculty.

3.7 Required Withdrawal,

The Senate of the university has approved bylaws granting certain faculties and schools the authority to require a student to withdraw on the basis of unsuitability for the practice of the profession to which the program of study normally leads. Senate has approved such a bylaw for the Faculty of Dentistry, and is available from the Dean's Office.

3.8 Decisions Concerning Academic Promotions ,

Undergraduate Studies

The letter grade "D" is the lowest acceptable level of performance in each undergraduate course leading to the degree of D.M.D. when the work of any given year is being taken for the first time. (In the case of a repeated year, the minimum passing grade in each course is "C".)

A student who has a failing grade registered against him/her may not register for the program of the subsequent year, but may, at the discretion of Dental Faculty Council, be permitted to repeat the failed year.

A minimum term GPA of 2.0 in each year is required to qualify a student for standing in that year.

A student who fails to obtain a minimum term GPA of 2.0 and who is not granted supplemental privileges will be considered to have failed the year.

Except by special permission of Dental Faculty Council, no student may repeat more than one year in Dentistry, nor may any year be repeated more than once.

The work requirements of any repeated year may be modified, even increased, at the discretion of the Dental Faculty Council.

The passing grade in each course of a repeated year in Dentistry is "C".

If a student receives an "F" grade in a fourth year clinical course, they will be required to register and pay a fee for the entire repeated year, and the work in that year may be modified or even increased by Dental Faculty Council.

3.9 Incomplete Standing in the Faculty of Dentistry,

The incomplete "I(F)" designation is restricted to clinical courses.

Successful completion of course requirements is through extended clinics rather than supplemental assessment.

A student who is unable to complete the quantitative clinical requirements in a course by the end of the academic year may apply for an incomplete grade classification ["I(F)"] and extension of time. Details of this application procedure can be found in Dentistry's "Student Handbook" (on-line).

3.10 Supplemental Examinations,

A "Supplemental Examination" is an examination which may be offered as a privilege to a student who has failed a course or failed to achieve a satisfactory result. Such examinations are offered in order to grant the student an opportunity to rectify the inadequacy without repeating the course.

Information on Supplemental Examinations can be found in the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements at the beginning of this Calendar. Specific information on The Faculty of Dentistry's supplemental privileges can be found in Dentistry's "Student Handbook" (on-line).

3.11 Honours and Awards,

Dean's Honour List: awarded to students in each year of the dental program who have achieved a minimum sessional (fall & winter term combined) G.P.A. of 3.8.

To qualify for Graduation with Honours, a candidate for the D.M.D. degree must qualify for the Dean's Honour List in both third and fourth year.

A student who repeats a year at his/her own request, i.e., not at the request of Dental Faculty Council, is not eligible for the Dean's Honour List or to receive any awards for the work in that repeated year.

The following policy applies to the eligibility of part-time students for academic awards: in allocating any award, the only academic performance of a student to be considered is that attained during the year(s) for which the award is made.

Therefore, a part-time student is not eligible for any purely academic award, other than one in an individual course. However, a part-time student who is carrying 80 per cent or more of the normal course load for the year is eligible for any award where conditions other than academic merit apply, and further, subject to the provisions set forth above, any part-time student is eligible for any award in the individual courses taken in the year for which the award is made.

3.12 E-Mail Accounts,

All students are expected to have an e-mail account with the University of Manitoba and check it regularly. The Faculty of Dentistry does not support communications with its students through external e-mail addresses.

3.13 Financial Aid ,

A number of loan and bursary funds are available to dental students. Applications and further information are available in the Dean's Office and through the University of Manitoba's Financial Aid and Awards Office.

3.14 Registration Exceptions,

Students who have a failing grade/s registered against them and/or have other outstanding academic matters (i.e. deferred or supplemental examinations, modified program, etc.) in regards to the previous academic session will not be allowed to register using Aurora Student. Students who fall into this category should contact the student advisor for further information. A student advisor is available in D028 Dental Building or by calling (204) 789-3484.

Registration holds will also be placed on students who have outstanding non-academic matters (i.e. outstanding criminal record and child abuse registry checks, CPR requirements, Vital Source fees, etc.)

SECTION 5.1 Oral Biology Course Descriptions

ORLB 1050 Cell and Tissue Biology

(Formerly 100.105) Structure, function and chemical composition of eucaryotic cells and bacteria will be studied. Molecular interactions within and between cells and the immune system will be described in detail.

ORLB 1060 Head, Neck and Nervous System, Part 1

(Formerly 100.106) Gross anatomy of the head and neck are described and observed by regional dissection. Overviews of the nervous system and surface anatomy of the mouth are included.

ORLB 1070 Head, Neck and Nervous System, Part 2

(Formerly 100.107) An introduction to the structure and function of the central and peripheral nervous systems and associated structures, the neurophysiology and the stomatognathic system, pain and analgesics.

ORLB 1080 Human Growth and Development

(Formerly 100.108) Human development from the origin of the reproductive cells through fertilization, conception, embryonic/fetal development, birth, growth and aging. Particular emphasis is given to development and growth of structures of the head and neck.

ORLB 1090 Development, Structure and Function of Oral Tissues

(Formerly 100.109) A study of development, structure and function of hard and soft oral tissues, the role of organic constituents in them, and their importance to the practice of dentistry.

ORLB 2070 Structure and Function of Major Organ Systems

(Formerly 100.207) This course emphasizes the basic structure at both organ and cellular levels of a number of organ systems and an understanding of their role in total body function.

ORLB 2090 Cariology and Plaque Associated Diseases
(Formerly 100.209) A study of the various dietary, host and microbial factors involved in the etiology of dental caries and periodontal disease, and a discussion of the various methods of plaque control.

ORLB 2100 Pathology and Microbiology 1
(Formerly 100.210) Study of the basic mechanisms of microbial pathogenicity and general pathology as they relate to dentistry and dental treatment. Includes the pathogenesis of bacterial, viral and fungal infections and the aetiology of neoplastic, inflammatory and metabolic diseases.

ORLB 2150 Nutrition in Dentistry
(Formerly 100.215) The course covers the role of nutrition in general health and disease with emphasis on the prevention and management of oral problems in Dentistry.

ORLB 3020 Pathology and Microbiology 2
(Formerly 100.302) A study of selected infectious diseases and the application of general diagnostic pathology to dental practice.

ORLB 3060 Pharmacology and Dental Therapeutics
(Formerly 100.306) A discussion of the basic pharmacology of dental and medical therapeutic agents, their therapeutic uses and adverse effects and potential impact on the treatment of dental patients.

ORLB 7030 Glandular Metabolism and Secretion
(Formerly 100.703) Lectures and seminars dealing with all aspects of membrane transport and processes associated with transport within the cell.

ORLB 7090 Pharmacology and Therapeutics
(Formerly 100.709) A combined lecture and seminar course on the pharmacological basis of therapeutics. Special attention will be paid to drugs used commonly in the practice of dentistry, their side effects and their interaction.

ORLB 7100 Oral Microbial Ecology
(Formerly 100.710) Study of principles of ecology in relation to the various ecosystems in the oral cavity. In depth examination of the taxonomic relationships of oral bacterial species. Emphasis will be placed on the growth and metabolic activities of oral bacteria which lead to successful colonization of the mouth.

ORLB 7110 Infectious Diseases and the Oral Cavity
(Formerly 100.711) The description of the aetiology of microbial infections in the mouth and infections elsewhere in the body which involve oral bacteria. The control of such infections by vaccines, antibiotics and antimicrobial drugs. Treatment of infections in the immuno-suppressed, post operative infections and nosocomial infections. The relationships of host immune system to the oral flora.

ORLB 7120 Special Problems in Oral Biology
(Formerly 100.712) Each student will be required to carry out a minor research project in an area of oral biology other than that of their thesis work. The results of this project will be presented in a seminar and submitted as a written report.

ORLB 7130 Macromolecular Interactions of Connective Tissue in Health and Disease
(Formerly 100.713) A comprehensive study of the macromolecular constituents of connective tissue, of their synthesis, metabolism, macromolecular interaction in health and disease, and of their regulatory mechanisms.

ORLB 7150
This course deals with the molecular pathology of the oral cavity and maxillofacial complex.

ORLB 7162 Neurophysiology of Pain
This course examines the peripheral and central mechanisms associated with pain. Endogenous pain control systems and the pharmacological treatment of pain will also be covered.

ORLB 7180 Recent Advances in Oral Biology
(Formerly 100.718) This course is given by staff in the form of lectures and tutorials. Additional lectures may be given by visiting scientists. Students are expected to familiarize themselves with the relevant literature and are examined for an in-depth appreciation of the topics covered.

ORLB 7190 Communication Skills in Dental Research
(Formerly 100.719) A course to develop written, visual and oral communication skills in scientific and clinical disciplines related to dentistry.

ORLB 1330 Human Growth and Development
Human development from the origin of the reproductive cells through fertilization, conception, embryonic/fetal development, birth, growth and aging. Particular emphasis is given to development and growth of structures of the head and neck. May not be held with ORLB 1080.

ORLB 1340 Oral Tissues, Structure and Function
This course is designed to present the normal morphology, developmental biology, biochemical structure, metabolism and functions of the dentition and para oral tissues, cartilage, bone and exocrine glands of the head and neck. Structural functional aspects of oral anatomy, biochemistry/molecular biology and physiology will be included. May not be held with ORLB 1090.

ORLB 1302 Cell and Tissue Biology
Structure, function and chemical composition of eucaryotic cells and oral bacteria will be studied. Taste signaling, diseases, and molecular interactions within and between cells and the immune system will be described in detail. May not be held with ORLB 1050.

ORLB 1310 Head, Neck and Nervous System, Part 1
Gross anatomy of the head and neck are described and observed by regional dissection. Overviews of the nervous system and surface anatomy of the mouth are included. May not be held with ORLB 1060.

ORLB 7140 Cell Membrane and Cell Signaling
This course will cover the structure and function of cell membrane receptors. The mechanisms and regulation of membrane coupled signal transduction pathways including those stimulated by oral tastants and drugs will also be covered.

SECTION 5.2 General Dentistry Course Descriptions

DENT 1010 Early Clinical Experience
(Formerly 066.101) A series of lectures and clinical participation sessions designed to introduce the student to clinical dentistry and the relevance of basic science courses in the dental curriculum. Course evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

DENT 1202 Early Clinical Experience
A series of lectures and clinical participation sessions designed to introduce the student to clinical dentistry and the relevance of basic science courses in the dental curriculum. May not be held with DENT 1010. Course evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

DENT 2430 Introduction to Comprehensive Care
(Formerly 066.243) This course is an introduction to an integrated, patient-centered program with patient needs as the primary focus. The course introduces students to clinical protocol and patient record documentation and communication. Students receive experience in comprehensive treatment planning as well as basic treatments in periodontics, operative dentistry, and pain control. Course evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

DENT 4020 Interdisciplinary Case Studies
(Formerly 066.402) Lectures and development of portfolio case designed to enable the student to obtain, organize and critically evaluate information in order to facilitate treatment planning.

DENT 4030 General Practice Clinic
(Formerly 066.403) This course consists of an integrated, patient-centered clinical program with patient needs as the primary focus. Patients will be assigned to students and organized to provide the required clinical experiences typical of a contemporary general dental practice.

SECTION 5.3 Dental Diagnostic and Surgical Sciences Course Descriptions

DDSS 1020 Periodontology 1
(Formerly 103.102) A laboratory course designed to introduce students to periodontal examination procedures and to basic periodontal instrumentation.

DDSS 1100 Periodontology 1

Predominately a pre-clinical laboratory course designed to introduce students to periodontal examination procedures and to basic non-surgical periodontal therapy. May not be held with DDSS 1020.

DDSS 1110 Radiology 1

A series of lectures which introduces the student to: the elementary principles of dental radiology; radiation physics, radiation biology, imaging techniques, x-ray equipment and radiation protection. May not be held with DDSS 1140.

DDSS 1140 Radiology 1

(Formerly 103.114) A series of lectures which introduces the student to: the elementary principles of dental radiology; radiation physics, radiation biology, imaging techniques, x-ray equipment, and radiation protection.

DDSS 2010 Oral Pathology

(Formerly 103.201) A series of lectures emphasizing recognition, description, etiopathogenesis, clinical and/or radiographic features, biologic behaviour, treatment and/or management of oral and paraoral pathologic conditions.

DDSS 2020 Pain and Anxiety Control 1

(Formerly 103.202) A series of lectures to introduce the student to: local anaesthetics, local anaesthesia techniques, avoidance and management of complications and selection of appropriate drugs and techniques.

DDSS 2120 Periodontology 2

(Formerly 103.212) An introductory course with emphasis on periodontal structures in health and disease, the etiology and diagnosis of periodontal disease, as well as the role of occlusion.

DDSS 2180 Radiology 2

(Formerly 103.218) A series of lectures in the theoretical and practical principles of radiographic interpretation of common oral pathologic conditions as well as selected examples of pathologic conditions exhibiting important radiographic principles.

DDSS 3030 Medicine

(Formerly 103.303) Lectures or seminars describing the basic mechanisms, symptoms, diagnosis, and management of various disease processes included in internal medicine and their dental correlations.

DDSS 3190 Temporomandibular Disorders and Orofacial Pain

The course reviews the foundational clinical sciences in pain biology, and function of the masticatory muscles and TMJ. It discusses the contemporary classification, diagnosis and management of Temporomandibular disorders and related orofacial pain disorders.

DDSS 3200 Oral Diagnosis and Radiology 1

(Formerly 103.320) This course includes a lecture component covering history-taking, clinical examination, diagnosis and treatment of soft and hard tissue lesions, emergency treatment, dental treatment of patients with systemic disease, and clinical experience.

DDSS 3210 Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery 1

(Formerly 103.321) This course consists of lectures, seminars and clinics, covering all aspects of oral and maxillofacial surgery with an emphasis on those procedures performed by the general practitioner.

DDSS 3220 Periodontology 3

(Formerly 103.322) This combined didactic and clinical course is designed to provide experience which will allow students to apply their earlier and current didactic learning to the clinical environment. The lecture periods concern themselves principally with verbal descriptions of treatment modalities and techniques, including non-surgical, surgical intervention and temporomandibular joint problems. Inter-relationships with other clinical disciplines also receives considerable attention.

DDSS 3230 Pain and Anxiety Control 2

(Formerly 103.323) This course consists of lectures/seminars and clinical experience in: physiology of pain and psychology of anxiety, management of medical emergencies, parenteral injections, and therapeutics of the various modalities of pain and anxiety control.

DDSS 4130 Hospital Dentistry

(Formerly 103.413) This course is designed to provide the student with a familiarization with hospital protocol, reinforcement of understanding in medicine, surgery, pharmacology and therapeutics, the dental treatment of medically compromised patients at the Health Sciences Centre, and handicapped patients in other institutional settings. Course evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

DDSS 4200 Oral Diagnosis and Radiology 2

(Formerly 103.420) This clinical course is designed to give the student clinical experience with: treatment planning; diagnostic techniques, differential diagnosis, emergency treatment and non-surgical management related to oral pathologic conditions.

DDSS 4210 Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery 2

(Formerly 103.421) This course consists of lectures, seminars and clinics covering all aspects of oral and maxillofacial surgery with an emphasis on those procedures performed by the general practitioner.

DDSS 7010 Biology and Pathology of the Periodontium

(Formerly 103.701) Selected topics in cell biology precedes a comprehensive and detailed survey of the periodontium, its constituent tissues and its function; the cell dynamics of inflammation and wound healing and the histopathology of the early and advanced periodontal lesion.

DDSS 7050 Oral Medicine and Oral Diagnosis

(Formerly 103.705) This course provides the student, through clinical rotations, with the opportunity to enhance diagnostic and non-surgical management of oral pathologic conditions including mucosal and intrabony lesions, temporomandibular joint disorders, and oral manifestations of systemic disease in both otherwise healthy and medically compromised patients.

DDSS 7120 Advanced Clinical Periodontics

(Formerly 103.712) This seminar course will review contemporary clinical periodontics by considering assigned readings in current texts and review articles. This course is intended to assure that students have a comprehensive overview of conventional periodontal therapy early in their education.

DDSS 7130 Occlusion

(Formerly 103.713) A seminar series devoted to the diagnosis, treatment planning and management of patients with craniomandibular disorders.

DDSS 7150 Review of Periodontal Literature

(Formerly 103.715) This course will consider the concepts underlying the current practice of periodontics by reviewing assigned readings from the scientific literature. Students will be expected to apply principles of critical evaluation in order to identify and appreciate the limitations of these studies and thus the limitations of the current concepts derived from them.

DDSS 7210 Clinical Practice in Periodontics

(Formerly 103.721) Designed to provide the clinical experience which is essential for specialty practice in Periodontics (circa 1600 hours).

DDSS 7220 Essay/Research Project

(Formerly 103.722) An essay/research project is required for each student. It is selected in consultation with, and approved by the department head. This course is graded pass/fail.

DDSS 7230 Advanced Oral Pathology

(Formerly 103.723) The four major etiopathogenic categories of diseases affecting the oral and paraoral structures are discussed with emphasis on common conditions and entities significant to various dental specialties. Lectures cover epidemiology, clinical and laboratory features and management principles with supplementation by seminars or laboratories.

DDSS 7240 Advanced Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Seminar 1

(Formerly 103.724) This course includes a thorough review of the applied scientific basis for the practice of oral and maxillofacial surgery and emphasizes surgical anatomy and pathology, diagnosis and technique. Instruction will be given by means of lectures, seminars, case presentations and a critical review of current literature.

Year I.

DDSS 7250 Clinical Advanced Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery 1 (Formerly 103.725) The first year of hospital residency includes training in history taking and physical diagnosis; hospital protocols and ward procedure; minor oral surgery procedures and pain control techniques; operating room procedures and general in-patient care. Year I.

DDSS 7260 Advanced Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Seminar 2 (Formerly 103.726) Lectures, seminars, case presentations and reviews of current literature will emphasize the state of current knowledge regarding the clinical practice of advanced oral and maxillofacial surgery. Year 2.

DDSS 7270 Clinical Advanced Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery 2 (Formerly 103.727) The second year of the hospital residency training program includes training in minor oral surgery, including dento-alveolar, pre-prosthetic surgery and implantology. It also provides an introduction to advanced oral and maxillofacial surgery and maxillofacial imaging. A rotation to Internal Medicine is included. Year II.

DDSS 7280 Clinical Advanced Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery 3 (Formerly 103.728) The third year of the hospital residency training program includes rotations in Anaesthesia, Internal Medicine, General and Plastic Surgery, Surgical Intensive Care and Emergency Room. It also includes training in advanced oral and maxillofacial surgery. An elective rotation may also be arranged. Year III.

DDSS 7290 Clinical Advanced Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery 4 (Formerly 103.729) The fourth year of the hospital residency training program is devoted to advanced oral and maxillofacial surgery. The student is designated chief resident and assumes a greater degree of responsibility in patient care and administrative activities. Year IV.

DDSS 7300 Dental Implantology (Formerly 103.730) A seminar course devoted to providing an in-depth understanding of the basic and applied aspects of the placement of dental root form implants in humans. This course is a prerequisite to the actual surgical placement of implants undertaken in DDSS 7210 (or 103.721).

SECTION 5.4 Preventive Dental Science Course Descriptions

PDS 1020 Orthodontics - 1 (Formerly 101.102) A series of seminars and tutorials designed to introduce the student to: growth and development of craniofacial structures, relationship of craniofacial growth to general body growth, cephalometric and facial analysis, etiology and classification of malocclusion, development of the dentition and preliminary wire bending and manipulation in orthodontics.

PDS 1400 Orthodontics 1
A series of lectures, workshops and practica designed to introduce the student to the orthodontic perspectives of applied: growth and development of craniofacial structures, relationship of craniofacial growth to general body growth, cephalometric and facial analysis, etiology and classification of malocclusion, development of the dentition, basic biomechanics and preliminary orthodontic wire bending and manipulation in orthodontics. May not be held with PDS 1020.

PDS 2020 Orthodontics - 2 (Formerly 101.202) A series of lectures and laboratories to introduce the student to: clinical protocol for examination, diagnosis and treatment planning of malocclusions, concepts of occlusion and biomechanics of orthodontic therapy, and fabrication of orthodontic appliances.

PDS 2070 Pediatric Dentistry - 1 (Formerly 101.207) A series of lectures and laboratories to introduce the student to: the fundamental principles of dental growth and development of children, introduction to operative dentistry and preventive techniques commonly used in dentistry for children.

PDS 2130 Dental Public Health (Formerly 101.213) A series of lectures dealing with dental epidemiology, demography, water fluoridation, and dental health education, program planning and evaluation. The organization of the Canadian health care system is examined with special reference to dental care and Aboriginal health issues.

PDS 3040 Orthodontics - 3 (Formerly 101.304) A series of seminars covering the analysis, diagnosis, treatment planning, and mechanotherapy using records of selected cases. The clinical component consists of the diagnosis and treatment planning for individuals seeking orthodontic treatment. The clinical experience includes exposure to removable and fixed appliance mechanotherapy, screening of patients seeking orthodontic care and follow-up of retention of completed cases.

PDS 3050 Pediatric Dentistry - 2 (Formerly 101.305) A series of seminars and clinics to give the student a basic understanding and some clinical experience with: clinical procedures, emergency treatment, psychological management, preventive medical considerations and the provision of total dental care to pediatric patients.

PDS 3140 Dental Public Health/Preventive Dental Science (Formerly 101.314) (a) Dental Public Health The course focuses on the social and psychological variables that impact on dental care for specific age and disease-related issues in the population. Patient utilization rates and program organization are reviewed. Lectures: 15 hours. (b) Preventive Dental Science Techniques and therapy used to prevent dental diseases are covered. The application of these modalities to specific patient categories follows.

PDS 4050 Pediatric Dentistry - 3 (Formerly 101.405) This course consists of clinical experience including exposure to common pediatric dentistry problems, caries preventive and control procedures, routine conservative procedures and the dental treatment of children in community-based clinics.

PDS 4060 Orthodontics - 4 (Formerly 101.406) This course consists of seminars on special topics related to the provision of orthodontic therapy. In addition, the clinical component including the diagnosis and treatment planning for individuals seeking orthodontic treatment as well as the continuation of treatment commenced in PDS 3040 (or 101.304). Clinical seminars cover the analysis, diagnosis, treatment planning, mechanotherapy and post-treatment evaluation of previously treated cases.

PDS 4080 Community Dentistry Externship (Formerly 101.408) This clinical program is centred in community clinics in Winnipeg and northern Manitoba. The clinics serve elderly, aboriginal, low income or northern patients. Health education seminars may be a requirement at some sites, prepared and delivered by the student interns. Course evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

PDS 7000 Neural Basis of Oropharyngeal Function (Formerly 101.700) A program of problem-oriented seminars on the sensory and reflex mechanisms affecting the respiratory and alimentary functions of the mouth and pharynx, mandibular posture and movement and respective application to oropharyngeal dysfunction and orthodontic therapy. One seminar per week for one term.

PDS 7020 The Mechanics of Orthodontic Therapy (Formerly 101.702) The mathematics of three dimensional space, force and moment systems are given as the basis for considering the mechanics of orthodontic treatment. The mechanical properties of some orthodontic materials are studied as a background for appliance design. The quantitative aspects of tooth movement are discussed in terms of patient treatment planning. Seminar and laboratory sessions.

PDS 7030 Biological Basis of Craniofacial Growth and Development (Formerly 101.703) A program of student-based seminars on the biophysical, biochemical and histological basis of growth and development of craniofacial structures.

PDS 7040 Clinical Craniofacial Growth and Development (Formerly 101.704) A program of student-based seminars on the morphogenesis of craniofacial structures and their significance to clinical problems.

PDS 7060 Cephalometric Analysis (Formerly 101.706) A seminar program on the application of cephalometric radiography to craniofacial morphological research, orthodontic diagnosis and case analysis.

PDS 7070 Biology of Orthodontics and Facial Orthopedics (Formerly 101.707) A program of student-based seminars and lectures on the biological basis of orthodontic and facial orthopedic diagnosis and therapeutic technique.

PDS 7101 Preventive Programs in Pediatric Dentistry
This course will be offered during the second year (term III). The prerequisite for this course will be the completion of the required courses in the first year of the program. In clinical terms this course will be taught with the following courses: Management and Restorative Treatment of Pediatric Patients II. Course is evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

PDS 7102 Hospital Pediatric Dentistry I
This course will be offered during the first year (term I and II). The prerequisite for this course will be the dental degree obtained prior to applying to the program. In clinical terms this course will be taught with the following courses: Management and Restorative Treatment of Pediatric Patients I and Special Needs and Emergency care in Pediatric Patients. Course is evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

PDS 7103 Hospital Pediatric Dentistry II
This course will be offered during the first year (term III and IV). The prerequisite for this course will be completion of the required courses in the first year of the program. In clinical terms this course will be taught with the following courses: Management and Restorative Treatment of Pediatric Patients II and Preventive Programs in Pediatric Dentistry. Course is evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

PDS 7104 Management and Restorative Treatment of Pediatric Patients I
This course will be offered during the first year (term I and II). The prerequisite for this course will be the dental degree obtained prior to applying to the program. In clinical terms this course will be taught with the following courses: Hospital Pediatric Dentistry I and Preventive and Community Pediatric Dentistry. Course is evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

PDS 7105 Management and Restorative Treatment of Pediatric Patients II
This course will be offered during the second year (term III and IV). The prerequisite for this course will be the completion of the required courses in the first year of the program. In clinical terms this course will be taught with the following courses: Hospital Pediatric Dentistry II and Preventive Programs in Pediatric Dentistry. Course is evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

PDS 7106 Preventive and Community Pediatric Dentistry
This course will be offered during the first year (term I). The prerequisite for this course will be the dental degree obtained prior to applying to the program. In clinical terms this course will be taught with the following courses: Management and Restorative Treatment of Pediatric Patients I. Course is evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

PDS 7107 Special Needs and Emergency Care in Pediatric Patients
This course will be offered during the first year (term I). The prerequisite for this course will be the dental degree obtained prior to applying to the program. In clinical terms this course will be taught with the following courses: Management and Restorative Treatment of Pediatric Patients I and Hospital Pediatric Dentistry I. Course is evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

SECTION 5.5 Restorative Dentistry Course Descriptions

RSTD 1070 Dental Materials - 1
(Formerly 102.107) This course introduces the materials commonly used in dental practice. Composition, chemistry, properties, manipulation and manipulative variables are covered by lecture, laboratory exercises and demonstrations.

RSTD 1100 Operative Dentistry - 1
(Formerly 102.110) A lecture and laboratory course introducing the fundamentals of tooth restoration. Hand and rotary instrumentation, principles of tooth preparation and restoration with amalgam, inlays and composite resin.

RSTD 1110 Dental Anatomy and Occlusion
(Formerly 102.111) A lecture and laboratory/seminar course introducing dental terminology, tooth identification, dental morphology and comparative anatomy in first term and the relationships of morphology to functional occlusion in second term.

RSTD 1120 Introduction to Dentistry
(Formerly 102.112) A series of lectures and seminars which introduce the student to the profession, its structure and governance. As well, communication skills and professional ethics will be introduced. Students will also experience the practice of dentistry through field trips and student presentations. Course evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

RSTD 1500 Dental Materials 1
This course introduces the materials commonly used in dental practice. Composition, chemistry, properties, manipulation and manipulative variables are covered by lecture, laboratory exercises and demonstrations. May not be held with RSTD 1070.

RSTD 1512 Operative Dentistry 1
A lecture and laboratory course introducing the fundamentals of operative dentistry. Lectures and laboratory exercises in the principles of cavity preparation, utilization of rotary and hand instruments and manipulation, placement and finishing of restorative materials are presented. May not be held with RSTD 1100.

RSTD 1520 Dental Anatomy
A lecture and laboratory/seminar course introducing dental terminology, tooth identification, dental morphology and concepts of dental anatomy as it relates to the intraoral functional relationship. May not be held with RSTD 1110.

RSTD 1530 Occlusion
A lecture and laboratory course designed to introduce the student to the concepts of dental occlusion and the relationship between the anatomy of the teeth and the TMJ. May not be held with RSTD 1110.

RSTD 1540 Introduction to Dentistry
A series of lectures and seminars which introduce the student to the profession, its structure and governance. Professionalism, dental ethics and communication skills are also introduced. May not be held with RSTD 1120. Course evaluated on a pass/fail basis.

RSTD 2020 Dental Materials - 2
(Formerly 102.202) This course develops a scientific basis for the selection, application, manipulation and clinical performance of dental materials. The relationship between the properties of a material and its manipulation, application and clinical behaviour is developed.

RSTD 2050 Operative Dentistry - 2
(Formerly 102.205) A lecture and laboratory course presenting modern and advanced techniques in tooth restoration. Composite resins, adhesion to tooth structure, esthetic restorations and protection of tooth vitality. Introduction to clinical treatment modalities and treatment priorities.

RSTD 2060 Endodontology - 1
(Formerly 102.206) Introduction to root canal therapy as a clinical practice, pulp and periapical pathology. The majority of the teaching is directed at the understanding and actual performance of practical endodontic techniques, performed in the laboratory setting on mannequins using extracted human teeth.

RSTD 2140 Fixed Partial Denture Prosthesis - 1
(Formerly 102.214) This course consists of lecture and laboratory instruction introducing basic fixed prosthodontic techniques.

RSTD 2220 Removable Partial Denture Prosthodontics
The didactic portion of this course presents the principles for the treatment of partially edentulous patients. The procedures and techniques founded on the basic principles make up the laboratory exposure.

RSTD 2230 Complete Denture Prosthodontics
The didactic portion of this course presents the principles for the treatment of edentulous patients. Emphasis is placed on techniques of treatment in the laboratory component.

RSTD 3020 Operative Dentistry - 3

(Formerly 102.302) A lecture and clinical course emphasizing diagnosis, treatment planning and the application of fundamental principles of operative and esthetic dentistry. Lectures and clinical treatments dealing with current restorative materials and techniques.

RSTD 3040 Fixed Partial Denture Prosthesis - 2

(Formerly 102.304) An introduction to the clinical practice of fixed prosthodontic techniques. An emphasis is placed on diagnosis and treatment-planning. Clinical exposure is supplemented by lecture materials.

RSTD 3050 Endodontology - 2

(Formerly 102.305) This course emphasizes the rationale and biologic basis for the practical techniques previously taught. Techniques are discussed in greater detail and are applied to treatment of patients. The second part of the course deals with pulp biology and periapical pathology to prepare the student for understanding the rationale behind pulpal protection, prevention and treatment of pulpal disease. Laboratory exercises are performed on more complex root canal systems in preparation for General Practice Clinic.

RSTD 3090 Complete and Removable Partial Denture Prosthesis

(Formerly 102.309) This course consists of a series of lectures and clinics. Theories of applied prosthodontics are discussed and applications of this knowledge are made concurrently through the clinical treatment of patients.

RSTD 4060 Endodontic Seminars

(Formerly 102.406) Seminars designed to enhance the clinical endodontics experience with literature review of diagnosis, more complex treatment methods and materials, case selection and student evidence-based literature and case presentations.

RSTD 4160 Dental Jurisprudence

(Formerly 102.416) This course provides an overview of the Canadian legal system. It defines and discusses legal concepts relevant to dentistry including issues in negligence, contracts, confidentiality, business and human rights. Identifying a dentist's legal responsibilities to patients, peers, employees, profession and society will underlie the entire course.

RSTD 4170 Practice Management

(Formerly 102.417) The management, evaluation, economics, organization, design, location, selection and marketing of a dental practice are covered by lectures and seminars. In addition, ethical considerations of dental practice, the options available to new dental graduates and the role of professional associations are discussed.

RSTD 7100 Dental Materials

(Formerly 102.710) This course consists of lecture, seminar and laboratory periods. The student will examine the current literature relevant to the program and will gain experience in the testing procedures used to evaluate dental materials. A project involving the evaluation of a dental material will be required of each student.

RSTD 7150 Orthodontic Materials

(Formerly 102.715) Students will examine in depth through lectures, seminars and research of the current literature, those materials used by orthodontists in their clinical practice. The relationship between materials properties and clinical performance will be emphasized.

Post Baccalaureate Diploma in Education	1	30

* Requires previous degree for entry.  This includes two years (67 credit hours) of study in the Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music.

The educational objective of the Faculty of Education is to prepare students for a career in the teaching profession. Attaining the B.Ed. degree leads to professional certification by Manitoba Education and the opportunity to attain initial employment as a classroom teacher in Manitoba and elsewhere. Those desiring other roles in education can achieve the professional requirements via the Post Baccalaureate Diploma in Education (PBDE) or graduate degrees in education (M.Ed. or Ph.D.).

1.1.1 After Degree Bachelor of Education: Early Years, Middle Years (Including a Weekend College Middle Years Scheduling Option) and Senior Years

Following a first degree, the After-Degree Bachelor of Education program consists of 60 credit hours (two years) of course work taken within the Faculty of Education and leads to general certification and a Bachelor of Education degree. The Weekend College Middle Years scheduling option takes three years of study to complete 60 credit hours. Unless otherwise stated, the Weekend College scheduling option follows the same regulations as Middle Years. The Faculty anticipates an intake to the Weekend College Middle Years Scheduling Option every three years (subject to enrolment). The next proposed intake will be September 2014. Current certification requirements for the Province of Manitoba require 24 weeks of practicum which are completed as part of the 60 credit hours required for the Bachelor of Education degree.

1.1.2 Bachelor of Music/Bachelor of Education Integrated

A program leading to general certification and preparing of teachers for specialist Music and classroom teaching. Both degrees are awarded upon completion of the program.

1.1.3 Post Baccalaureate Diploma in Education (PBDE)

Designed for teacher professional development, the PBDE is a 30 credit hour program following the completion of an undergraduate degree, normally a B.Ed.

1.1.4 Certificate in Adult and Continuing Education (CACE)

The following four courses in addition to 100 hours in elective courses offered through Extended Education completes a Certificate in Adult and Continuing Education (CACE). For further information contact Sandra Stechisen at (204) 474-6685 or Sandra_stechisen@umanitoba.ca.

1.1.6 Internationally Educated Teachers (IET) Program

The Academic and Professional Bridging Program for Internationally Educated Teachers (also known as the "IET Program") is a University of Manitoba, Faculty of Education pilot program and therefore is subject to funding. It is designed for individuals with international teaching credentials who require additional coursework in Education to be certified to teach in Manitoba. For further information, email ietprogram@umanitoba.ca.

1.1.7 Special Students

The Faculty of Education does not normally admit students to this category.

1.1.8 Students Enrolled in Other Faculties/Schools

Students currently enrolled in other faculties/schools at the University of Manitoba may take Education complementary courses (see Section 7). Students who hold a recognized degree from an accredited institution may also take 5000-level courses, however, students must obtain permission by completing the form 'PBDE & Graduate Permission Slip' available at website umanitoba.ca/education/current/index.shtml or from Room 227 Education Building. These courses cannot be applied towards a B.Ed. degree, Integrated B.Mus./B.Ed. degree or towards the IET program.

1.2 Professional Teacher Certification Requirements for Manitoba Education, During the final year of the B.Ed. degree, the university will provide a list of potential Bachelor of Education graduates to the Professional Certification Unit, Manitoba Education and make a recommendation that they be granted the Professional Certificate which is permanent and entitles the holder to teach any subject at any level (K-12) in Manitoba. Students are required to apply for certification. The application form and specific requirements for certification can be found online at www.edu.gov.mb.ca/k12/profcert/bedgradap.html.

SECTION 2: Faculty of Education Programs

2.1 After Degree Bachelor of Education,

The Bachelor of Education program is a two year program following the completion of a first degree of at least 90 credit hours (three years in duration). See admission requirements for detailed information.

2.2 Integrated Degrees: Bachelor of Music/Bachelor of Education,

The Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music offers a degree program that integrates the requirements of its degree program with those of the Faculty of Education. See sections 1 and 4 of the chapter for the Marcel A. Desautels Faculty of Music for information. The integrated programs are five years in length. Students are awarded both degrees upon completion.

2.3 Post Baccalaureate Diploma in Education ,

Designed for teacher professional development, the Post Baccalaureate Diploma in Education is a 30 credit hour program following completion of a Bachelor's degree, normally a B.Ed.

2.4 Visiting Students,

See the chapter, Registration and Fees, of this Calendar and contact the Student Services Office, Faculty of Education, for admission procedure.

SECTION 3: After-Degree Bachelor of Education

3.1 Admission Requirements ,

Early and Middle Years

A first degree of a minimum of 90 credit hours and the requirements for two different teachable subjects plus a breadth component as follows:

- 18 credit hours in a teachable major,
- 12 credit hours in a teachable minor,
- 6 credit hours English or French literature,
- 6 credit hours Social Studies (History or Geography),
- 9 credit hours Mathematics (or Statistics) and Science (Biology, Chemistry, Environmental Science, Geology or Physics).

Senior Years

A first degree of a minimum of 90 credit hours and the requirements for two different teachable subjects:

- 30 credit hours in a teachable major,
- 18 credit hours in a teachable minor,

Other requirements (currently under review)

Minimum admission GPA for consideration: 2.50 on university coursework with a minimum grade of C in each teachable major/minor course and in breadth component coursework, if required. The admission GPA is calculated on the most recent 30 credit hours of university coursework available at February 1 of admission year.

- Experience profile and writing skills exercise.
- References and a criminal record self-declaration.

Selection criteria: 69.0% on GPA; and 31.0% on writing skills.

To be eligible for this program, applicants must have a conferred first degree and teachable courses at the 1000 level or higher completed from a recognized institution by May of the year of application.

The Weekend College Middle Years scheduling option may not admit students each year; the next intake of students is anticipated for September, 2014.

Special Consideration Category

The Faculty of Education has a Special Consideration Category. The Faculty recognizes the importance of providing the highest quality of education to all students in Manitoba via a teaching force that is fully representative of the cultural, ethnic and racial diversity of the province.

As the largest teacher education institution in the province, the Faculty recognizes its responsibility to facilitate the development of such a teaching force.

Furthermore, the Faculty recognizes the need to ensure that its recruitment and admission policies and procedures do not inappropriately obstruct the achievement of such a goal, but rather actively promote its attainment.

In keeping with the above, the Faculty will admit up to 10 percent of the After Degree B.Ed. applicants under this category. The Special Consideration Category includes: Canadian Aboriginal peoples, members of a visible minority or persons with disabilities.

Canadian Aboriginal Peoples – An aboriginal person is either one who by birth is a Registered Indian as provided for in the Indian Act, or who is an Indian person without legal status by the Indian Act, or who is a Métis, or who is an Inuit person.

Visible Minority – Persons other than Aboriginal Peoples who, because of their colour, are a visible minority in Canada.

Persons with Disabilities – Persons with disabilities are those who would consider themselves disadvantaged by reason of any physical, intellectual, mental, sensory or learning impairment.

Information on admission within this category is included in the admissions bulletin.

All admission requirements are described in detail in an admissions bulletin that includes application deadline dates and application forms. This material is available from the Faculty of Education, 225 Education Building, or Enrolment Services, 424 University Centre or their website at:

umanitoba.ca/student/admissions/application/deadlines/education/.

The detailed admission information is also posted on the university website. The criteria outlined in this section are applicable for 2009-2010 session only. Please refer to the Faculty website for updates to the admission criteria for subsequent sessions.

3.1.1 Adult Criminal Records and Child Abuse Registry

The Minister of Education for the Province of Manitoba requires that background checks be conducted on all candidates for teacher education in Manitoba and on all applications for certification for this province. Accordingly, all applicants offered admission to Bachelor of Education programs will be required to complete the “Adult Criminal Records Self-Declaration” form as a condition of final acceptance to the program. Only adult criminal records must be disclosed, and the existence of such a record will not automatically exclude applicants.

In addition to the above self-declaration all successful applicants will be conditionally admitted pending clearance of an official Criminal Record Search and clearance from the Child Abuse Registry. Registration will not be permitted until these clearances are received. Failure to clear or failure to provide these documents by the stated deadline will result in admission offer being revoked.

Applicants should also be aware that the Professional Certification Unit will also require students graduating from the Bachelor of Education program to undergo a criminal record check, including vulnerable sector screening as part of the certification process. Information on the Adult Criminal Records Self-Declaration is included in the admission bulletin available from the Enrolment Services/Admissions, 424 University Centre and the website: umanitoba.ca/student/admissions/application/education/.

3.2 Admission Procedure,

Application forms are available online at umanitoba.ca/student/admissions/application/education. Completed applications with supporting documentation must be submitted by February 1.

3.3 Program Requirements,

REMINDER: While Education student advisors are available to clarify faculty and university regulations and degree requirements, it is the student’s responsibility to ensure that degree and program requirements are met.

Effective February 1, 2007 all continuing students are required to complete and submit a Self-Declaration of Adult Criminal Records and Listing on Child Abuse Registry form prior to registration for every year they are enrolled in the Bachelor of Education program.

Returning students planning to take School Experience (EDUB 1960, EDUB 1970, EDUB 1980, EDUB 2960, EDUB 2970, or EDUB 2980) during the upcoming Regular Session must make application for a School Placement no later than February 1. Forms will be available from the Student Services Office, Room 225 Education Building, Faculty of Education, beginning December 15. Failure to apply for School Placement by February 1 may result in students being denied a placement.

SECTION 5: The Academic and Professional Bridging Program for Internationally Educated Teachers (IET Program)

SECTION 5: The Academic and Professional Bridging Program Content, (currently under review)

The provisions of the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, and the chapter, University Policies, apply to all students. In addition, the Faculty of Education has regulations and requirements, published below, that apply specifically to its students.

The IET Pilot Program is intended to serve internationally educated teachers who have applied to the Manitoba Education Professional Certification Unit and have received official notification that they require additional university coursework to be certified to teach in Manitoba. The program will admit up to 12 applicants.

Courses and workshops will be held in the Education Building at the University of Manitoba. In-school experiences will take place in middle years (Grades 5-8) schools within one or more School Divisions in Winnipeg. The time to complete the program will depend on the number of courses required by the Manitoba Education Professional Certification Unit.

In order to be admitted to the program, and IET student must:

- be a permanent Manitoba resident;
- be a graduate of a degree program from an accredited university recognized by the University of Manitoba with a minimum overall grade point average of 2.0);
- have received a written evaluation of teaching credentials from the Manitoba Professional Certification Unit. The assessment must conclude that additional coursework in Education is required to be certified to teach in Manitoba;

- have successfully passed the Canadian Test of English for Scholars and Trainees (CanTEST)

SECTION 6: Academic Regulations for Bachelor of Education

SECTION 6: Academic Regulations for Bachelor of Education Intro, The provisions of the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, and the chapter, University Policies, apply to all students. In addition, the Faculty of Education has regulations and requirements, published below, that apply specifically to its students.

6.1 Academic Regulations for All Bachelor of Education Programs , (See also sections 6.2, 6.3)

Academic Requirement for Graduation

A Degree Grade Point Average (DGPA) of 2.50 is required for graduation in the Bachelor of Education.

Academic Standing

A minimum DGPA of 2.50 must be maintained in the Bachelor of Education for clear standing. A grade of "C" is considered a passing grade for Education courses.

Additional Academic Considerations

Each student in the Faculty of Education is presumed to be generally suited to a teaching program. Should this prove not to be the case, the Faculty reserves the right, at any time, to require a student to withdraw from the Bachelor of Education degree program. Unsatisfactory performance in School Experience courses may be considered reason to require a student to withdraw from the faculty. See Professional Unsuitability By-Law in this section.

Appeal Procedures

The general university policy for appeal of assigned grades applies to the Faculty of Education. See the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Policy, of this Calendar, Appeals of Assigned Grades. Information about admission decision appeals may be found in the chapter, Admissions.

Application Deadline for School Placement

Returning students planning to take School Experience (EDUB 1960, EDUB 1970, EDUB 1980, EDUB 2960, EDUB 2970 or EDUB 2980) during the upcoming Regular Session must make application for a School Placement no later than February 1. Forms will be available from the Student Services Office, Room 225 Education Building, Faculty of Education beginning December 15. Failure to apply for School Placement by February 1 may result in students being denied a placement.

Integrated B.Mus./B.Ed. students planning to take School Experience (EDUB 1940, EDUB 1950) during the Summer Session must make application for a School Placement no later than November 1. Forms will be distributed in mid-October. Failure to apply for School Placement by November 1 may result in students being denied a placement.

Assessment of Student Academic Performance

Academic performance is assessed at the end of each regular term in which the student is registered on all courses that are used for credit towards the B.Ed. degree. Decisions concerning academic standing are normally made upon initial completion of 15 credit hours.

Based on the Degree Grade Point Average attained in these courses, the following decisions with respect to the student's eligibility to continue as a Faculty of Education student will be made. Normally,

- The student with a minimum of 2.50 is eligible to proceed;
- The student who passes all courses, but whose DGPA is a 1.99 to 2.49 is placed on academic probation; and
- The student whose DGPA is less than 1.99 is required to withdraw on academic grounds (suspension).

Academic Probation

Students placed on academic probation may continue on probation until he or she has completed an additional 15 credit hours of required degree coursework. To clear probation, a student must raise his/her DGPA to 2.50 by the end of the probationary period. Normally, students on probation who fail to raise the DGPA to at least 2.50 will be required to withdraw on academic grounds (suspension) for a period of two years.

Academic Suspension

Students who have been required to withdraw on academic grounds will be informed via registered mail. These students may not register at the university for two academic years. Following this period, students wishing to pursue a Bachelor of Education degree, must make a written request for reinstatement. The following will apply in such cases:

- No application for reinstatement will be considered before a minimum period of two academic years has lapsed from the effective date of the required withdrawal to the effective date of the requested reinstatement.
- The applicant will be expected to demonstrate that he or she will now be able to meet the academic requirements of the program
- The Associate Dean (Undergraduate) will take into consideration:
 - performance in pass/fail courses;
 - use of academic and personal supports in the program; and
 - life circumstances affecting academic performance
- If the student is reinstated after the time limit for program completion has expired (see Statute of Limitation), the Associate Dean (Undergraduate) shall determine which, if any, courses previously successfully completed shall be repeated or replaced.

Attendance at Class/Debarment

Regular attendance is expected of all students in all courses. An instructor can initiate procedures to debar a student from attending classes and from final examinations where unexcused absences in a single course exceed three hours of scheduled classes.

See the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, Attendance at Class and Debarment.

Continuing Students

See the chapter, University of Manitoba Admissions.

Dean's Honour List

Undergraduate Studies

Students registered in a minimum of 12 credit hours within a single term and who achieve a Term Grade Point Average of 3.90 or better will be included in the Dean's Honour List. Grades for coursework taken on a letter of permission and used towards the Bachelor of Education degree will be used in meeting the eligibility requirements for the Deans Honour List.

Students receiving failing grades in education coursework where such coursework is required to earn the Bachelor of Education degree and/or student teaching will not be eligible for the Dean's Honour List.

Eligible students must be enrolled in either the After Degree Bachelor of Education program or the Integrated Bachelor of Music/Bachelor of Education program.

Degree with Distinction

A student graduating from the Bachelor of Education program will have the degree granted "With Distinction" if a minimum DGPA of 4.20 has been attained on all courses that are used for credit towards the B.Ed. degree. This distinction will be noted on the parchment and on the student's transcript.

Gold Medal

The Gold Medal is awarded each year to the B.Ed. graduate who has the highest Grade Point Average (minimum 3.75) in the last 60 credit hours of the B.Ed. degree and who has completed at least 80 per cent of what is considered to be the normal full course load in each of the last two years of the program.

Grading Scale

Effective in 2000-2001 academic session, the Faculty of Education adopted the following grading scale:

Letter Grade	Grade Point	Level of Achievement	Percentage Range
A+	4.50	Exceptional	95 and above
A	4.00	Excellent	90-94
B+	3.50	Very Good	85-89
B	3.00	Good	80-84
C+	2.50	Satisfactory	75-79
C	2.00	Adequate	70-74
D	1.00	Marginal	60-69
F	0.00	Failure	Below 60

Incompletes

See the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, Academic Evaluation.

5000-level courses

Students enrolled in the B.Ed., the Integrated B.Mus./B.Ed. or the IET program are not permitted to take 5000-level courses.

Part-Time Programs

Opportunities for part-time study are available in all streams as well as the integrated programs. In any of the program streams, the curriculum and instruction courses and the practicum experience for each year must be taken concurrently. All Year 1 course requirements must be completed before proceeding to Year 2. Integrated B.Mus./B.Ed. students must complete Years 1 to 4 inclusive before proceeding to Year 5. When exceptions are permitted, they would normally only be allowed as a result of scheduling conflicts, unavailability of courses scheduled on a rotating basis, compassionate grounds or other exceptional circumstances. Part time students should note that not all curriculum and instruction courses are offered every year.

Students can begin part-time studies in the first year provided they successfully complete 3 credit hours of Education coursework from the Year 1 program requirements. Failure to do so will result in ineligibility to continue in program and require re-application and re-admission.

Professional Unsuitability By-Law

The Senate of the University has approved a by-law granting authority to the Faculty of Education to require a student to withdraw from the Faculty for reasons of professional unsuitability. A student may be required to withdraw from the Faculty when, at any time, the Professional Unsuitability Committee has determined that the student is unsuited, on consideration of competence or professional fitness, for the practice of teaching.

Copies of this by-law may be obtained from the Faculty of Education website.

Repeating a Course

Required courses which receive a grade of "D" must be repeated. Complementary courses which receive a grade of "D" must be repeated or replaced with other complementary courses. Courses which receive a "C" grade or higher grade may be repeated; but, only with the consent of the Associate Dean, Undergraduate Programs.

Education courses may only be repeated once. When a course is repeated, the last grade achieved will be used in calculating the Degree Grade Point Average.

Early Years and Middle Years students who fail a school experience course will normally be required to repeat all of the Curriculum and Instruction courses related to that year's practicum.

Weekend College Middle Years students who fail Curriculum and Instruction course(s) may not be able to complete their program through this scheduling option, given that a new intake is every other year.

Senior Years and Integrated B.Mus./B.Ed. students who fail a school experience course will normally be required to repeat the Curriculum and Instruction courses associated with that practicum. Students who fail a Curriculum and Instruction course will normally be required to repeat the practicum course associated with that curriculum area.

Statute of Limitation

The normal maximum time allowed for the completion of the B.Ed. degree is six years from the date of admission. (This regulation applies to those admitted September, 2002 or later.)

Supplemental Examinations

Supplemental examinations are not permitted in education courses.

Voluntary Withdrawals

See the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements.

Voluntary Withdrawal from Practicum Limit

All students admitted effective Sept. 2010 are permitted one voluntary withdrawal from each of the School Experience courses currently numbered as:

- EDUB 1940 Integrated Programs School Experience 1; EDUB 1950 Integrated Programs School Experience 2;
- EDUB 1960 Early Years School Experience 1; EDUB 2960 Early Years School Experience 2;
- EDUB 1970 Middle Years School Experience 1; EDUB 2970 Middle Years School Experience 2;
- EDUB 1980 Senior Years School Experience 1; and EDUB 2980 Senior Years School Experience 2.

Authorized Withdrawals (AWs) may be permitted on medical or compassionate grounds, subject to satisfactory documentation. Students must contact an Education Student Advisor to initiate an authorized withdrawal.

6.2 Academic Regulations for the After-Degree Bachelor of Education, Early Years, Middle Years (Including a Middle Years Weekend College Scheduling Option) and Senior Years (see also 6.1)

Transfer of Credit

Students may transfer a maximum of five full courses (30 credit hours) from another recognized university or college Professional Education program toward the After-Degree B.Ed. provided the courses are acceptable to the Bachelor of Education program.

Students admitted to the After-Degree B.Ed. program for September 2004 academic year and thereafter may not receive advance standing for any Education course which is more than six years old at the point of their admission to the Faculty of Education.

Courses taken as part of the Certificate in Teaching English as a Second Language (CTESL) or Certificate in Adult and Continuing Education (CACE) through Extended Education, U of M, may receive credit for some coursework. See 8.5 PBDE Transfer of Credit for a listing of equivalents.

Those students who are currently in the program and wish to register for a course at another university or college must complete an "Application for Letter of Permission" prior to registering.

Maximum Course Load (excluding Weekend College Middle Years Scheduling Option) (currently under review)

The maximum credit hour load for B.Ed. students is 30 credit hours in the regular session (September-April). Students wishing to take 33 credit hours of courses do not need permission. Students wishing to take courses above 33 credit hours may do so with the following conditions:

- Requests to complete 36 credit hours are approved by the student advisor provided the student's minimum Degree Grade Point average is 3.50.
- Requests to complete in excess of 30 credit hours where the student's degree grade point average is below the minimums noted above or where the student wishes to complete more than 36 credit hours must be approved by the Associate Dean, Undergraduate Programs. In this case, students must make formal request in writing to the Associate Dean, Undergraduate Programs.

Students in the Senior Years Stream may request written permission to complete additional Curriculum and Instruction courses, provided they have previously completed the course requirements for this additional major/minor and where there is space in that Curriculum and Instruction course. Where permission is granted, students may substitute this credit for three credit hours of complementary course work as outlined in their program plan. Students who choose to take more than the required two Curriculum and Instruction courses in their program have no guarantee that a practicum teaching experience will be provided in that additional teachable area.

6.3 Academic Regulations for the Integrated B.Mus./B.Ed. (see also 6.1), In addition to 6.1, the following regulations apply to the Integrated B.Mus./B.Ed. program.

Major/Minor Academic Requirements

Students must achieve a grade of C or greater in all courses which apply to the major and minor.

Transfer of Credit

Students may transfer a maximum of ten full course equivalents (60 credit hours) from another recognized university or college toward the Integrated B.Mus./B.Ed. degree provided the courses are acceptable to the program. Those students who are currently in the program and wish to register for a course at another university or college must complete an "Application for Letter of Permission" prior to registering.

University Written English and Mathematics Requirement for Students in the Integrated B.Mus./B.Ed.

All students admitted since September, 1997, are required to complete the university written English and Mathematics requirement. This requirement is described in the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements.

SECTION 7: Complementary Courses

SECTION 7: Complementary Courses Content, Not all courses are offered every year.

All students admitted to the Bachelor of Education degree program and the Internationally Educated Teachers program for September 2008 and beyond are expected to complete six (6) credit hours of specific Content Area comprised of three (3) credit hours of coursework in Aboriginal Education and three (3) credit hours of coursework in Special Education/Diversity as two of their complementary courses. The three (3) credit hours required for Aboriginal Education will be completed by taking one of EDUA 1500 Aboriginal Education or EDUB 1602 Aboriginal Perspectives and the Curriculum and the three (3) credit hours of coursework in Special Education/ Diversity will be completed by taking one of 1540 Cross Cultural Education, EDUB 1620 Principles and Procedures of Second Language Teaching, or EDUB 1820 Language and Content Instruction of ESL/Bilingual Students.

SECTION 8: Post Baccalaureate Diploma in Education

SECTION 8: Post Baccalaureate Diploma in Education Intro, The Faculty of Education offers a Post Baccalaureate Diploma in Education (PBDE) designed for teachers and other professionals.

The unique features of the PBDE program are that students can: design their own program of study and tailor it to their own areas of interest; take courses at the Faculty of Education as well as at other faculties and schools at the U of M or other approved institutions. A wide selection of courses is available through Summer Session, distance education, via the internet and summer institutes.

The PBDE is recognized by Manitoba Education for salary classification purposes. Further, the PBDE program provides the opportunity for teachers to follow courses of study leading to the school counsellor, special education and special education coordinator certificates, and to partial fulfilment of the requirements of the school administrators' (Level 1) and principals' (Level 2) certificates, all of which are issued by Manitoba Education. For information regarding specialist certificates, contact: Professional Certification Unit, Manitoba Education, Box 700, Russell, Manitoba, R0J 1W0; telephone toll free at: 1-800-667-2378, or 1-204-773-2998, or e-mail certification@gov.mb.ca, or web: www.edu.gov.mb.ca/k12/profcert/#clinician.

8.1 Admission Requirements ,

Applicants for Admission must possess:

- A Bachelor of Education degree and one of the following types of certificates granted by Manitoba Education: General Certificate, Limited Certificate, or Clinicians' Certificate; or equivalent from other provinces [See note 1 on teacher certification] or a bachelor's degree and two years of appropriate teaching/work experience (see note 2);
- A Grade Point Average of 2.00 in the bachelor's degree (including any after degree certification program).

Note 1:

Teacher Certification

The majority of applicants will possess a valid teaching certificate before being admitted to the Post Baccalaureate Diploma in Education Program.

The granting of a certificate to teach in the public schools of Manitoba is the prerogative of Manitoba Education and is based on a recognized program of teacher education. Individuals wishing to apply for such certification should contact the Professional Certification Unit, Manitoba Education.

Note 2:

Applicants must include a brief statement as to educational plans and a resume showing evidence of two years of appropriate full-time teaching or work experience.

8.2 Admission Procedure,

Applications may be obtained from the Graduate and PBDE Programs Office, Faculty of Education, or Enrolment Services, 424 University Centre. Applications can also be found at umanitoba.ca/education/programs/pbde.shtml. Completed applications must be returned to Enrolment Services/Admissions Office, 424 University Centre by:

Canadian/US Applicants

April 1 for classes beginning in May

June 1 for classes beginning in July

August 1 for classes beginning in September (Fall)

December 1 for classes beginning in January (Winter)

International Applicants

April 1 for classes beginning in September (Fall)

June 1 for classes beginning in January (Winter)

Undergraduate Studies

8.3 Program Requirements ,

REMINDER: While Education student advisors are available to clarify faculty and university regulations and degree requirements, it is the student's responsibility to ensure that diploma and program requirements are met.

The Post Baccalaureate Diploma in Education consists of 30 credit hours of coursework, subject to the following regulations:

- a) A minimum of 12 credit hours must be taken in the Faculty of Education at the 5000-level;
- b) A maximum of 18 credit hours may be taken in the Faculty of Education below the 5000-level;
- c) A maximum of 18 credit hours may be taken outside the Faculty of Education at the introductory or higher level of which six credit hours may be taken at the 1000-level. In the case of language study other than English or French, a maximum of 12 credit hours may be taken at the 1000-level provided both are in the same language.

8.4 Academic Regulations,

Appeal Procedures

The general university policy for appeal of assigned grades applies to the Faculty of Education. See the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Policy, of this Calendar, Appeals of Assigned Grades. Information about admission decision appeals may be found in the chapter, Admissions.

Assessment of Student Academic Performance

Academic performance is normally assessed at the completion of nine credit hours of course work and at the end of every session thereafter. A minimum grade of "C" is required for each course that is to be included in the student's diploma program. Effective September 2011, a student must maintain a minimum Degree Grade Point Average of 2.50 to continue in the program. A student whose Degree Grade Point Average falls below 2.50 will be placed on academic suspension for two years. Reapplication is required for readmission to the program.

Attendance at Class

Regular attendance is expected of all students in all courses. An instructor can initiate procedures to debar a student from attending classes and from final examinations where unexcused absences exceed three hours of scheduled classes in any one term.

Continuing Students

See the chapter, University of Manitoba Admissions.

Debarment

See the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, Attendance at Class and Debarment.

Grading Scale

Effective in 2000-2001 academic session, the Faculty of Education adopted the following grading scale:

Letter Grade Grade Point Level of Achievement Percentage Range

A+	4.50	Exceptional	95 and above
A	4.00	Excellent	90-94
B+	3.50	Very Good	85-89
B	3.00	Good	80-84
C+	2.50	Satisfactory	75-79
C	2.00	Adequate	70-74
D	1.00	Marginal	60-69
F	0.00	Failure	Below 60

Incompletes

See the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, Academic Evaluation.

Maximum Time Limits

The maximum time allowed for completing the PBDE is nine years. In addition, a student will not be permitted to count toward the diploma any course completed more than nine years prior to the completion date of the diploma. Students will be permitted to retake and use as PBDE credit Education courses beyond the nine years provided they have not been previously used elsewhere for credit toward a degree or diploma program. Courses from other faculties will need to be dealt with on an individual basis.

Repeating a Course

Courses for which a grade of “F” or “D” is obtained, must be repeated or replaced; however, courses in which a grade of “C” or higher is obtained may only be repeated with the consent of the Associate Dean, PBDE Program. When a course is repeated, the last grade achieved will be used in calculating the Degree Grade Point Average.

Supplemental Examinations

Supplemental examinations are not permitted in education courses.

Voluntary Withdrawals

See the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements.

Authorized Withdrawals (AWs) may be permitted on medical or compassionate grounds, subject to satisfactory documentation. Students must contact an Education Student Advisor to initiate an authorized withdrawal.

8.5 Transfer of Credit,
Subject to approval by the Faculty, transfer of credit may be granted on the basis of:

- completed university level courses that have not been previously used towards a degree,

- completed M.Ed. courses not used to satisfy requirements for the M.Ed. degree, and

- the following courses completed through the Certificate in Adult and Continuing Education (CACE), University of Manitoba:

CACE 43001 Foundations of Adult Education transferred as EDUA 1570 Foundations of Adult Education (3); CACE 43002 Program Planning in Adult Education transferred as EDUA 1580 Program Planning in Adult Education (3); CACE 43003 Adult Learning and Development transferred as EDUA 1560 Adult Learning and Development (3); CACE 43004 Facilitating Adult Education transferred as EDUA 1590 Facilitating Adult Education (3).

Completion of the CACE certificate is not required to receive individual credit.

- a maximum of 15 credit hours completed through the Certificate in Teaching English as a Second Language (CTESL), University of Manitoba from the following:

39301 Principles and Procedures of Second Language transferred as EDUB 1620 Principles and Procedures of Second Language Teaching (3); 39302 Teaching ESL Vocabulary and Pronunciation as EDUB 1640 Teaching ESL Vocabulary and Pronunciation (3); 39303 Teaching ESL Grammar as EDUB 1650 Teaching ESL Grammar (3); 39304 Practicum in Teaching English as a Second Language (TESL) as EDUB 1860 Practicum in Teaching English as a Second Language (TESL) (3); 39305 Content-based Second Language Instruction as EDUB 1820 Language and Content Instruction of ESL/Bilingual Students (3); 39306 Computers in Second Language Teaching as EDUB 1660 Computers in Second Language Teaching (3); 39307 English for Non-Native Speaking (NNS) Teachers of English as EDUB 1604 Academic and Professional English for Multilingual Teachers; 39308 Teaching ESL Literacy as EDUB 1606 Teaching ESL Foundational Literacy, Academics & Language (3); EDUB 1608 Assessment and Testing of EAL/ESL Learners 98592 Special Topics as parallel courses offered as EDUB 1840 Recent Developments in Curriculum, Teaching and Learning 1: eg. Adult ESL and the Canadian Language Benchmarks (3), or additional approved topics courses.

Completion of the CTESL certificate is not required to receive individual credit.

A maximum of 12 credit hours may be transferred from an institution other than the University of Manitoba. There is no maximum limit for courses completed at the University of Manitoba.

Courses transferred to the PBDE must fall within the nine year statute of limitation at the completion date, must be within the program requirements, and must have a grade of C or better.

SECTION 9: Additional Information

SECTION 9: Additional Information Content, Visiting Students

Students who are enrolled in a Faculty or School of Education at another institution and receive an appropriate Letter of Permission may seek permission to be a Visiting Student.

Students Registered in Other Faculties or Schools

Undergraduate students currently registered in other faculties/schools may take education complementary courses in the Bachelor of Education program. Written permission from the Faculty is not required.

5000 level courses are restricted to students holding a degree. Those students must obtain permission by completing the form 'PBDE & Graduate Permission Slip' available at website umanitoba.ca/education/current or from Room 227 Education Building.

Information Updates

Scheduling changes to courses and practicum will be updated to Aurora Student. Students are expected to check their Week-At-A-Glance on Aurora Student to confirm location, time, and instructor changes. Cohort meetings and faculty events will be posted on the faculty website. Students are encouraged to regularly refer to the website.

Registration, Voluntary Withdrawal and Fee Refund Deadlines

Education courses may have unique start and end dates. Students are referred to Aurora Student Class Schedule to view VW and fee refund dates.

Facility Use Fees

Some classes in physical education/movement curriculum and instruction courses (EDUB 1020, EDUB 2020, EDUB 1260, EDUB 2150, and EDUB 2310) may be held in the Frank Kennedy Centre gymnasiums. Students must pay a facility use fee to access the gymnasiums prior to the first scheduled class. The fee can be paid at the Frank Kennedy Centre or Max Bell Centre, Customer Service Desks.

Faculty Events

The faculty sponsors a number of lectures, workshops and forums. Details will be posted on the "News and Events" of the faculty's website: umanitoba.ca/education.

EDUA 3201 Diversité culturelle dans les écoles

Les écoles accueillent un grand nombre d'élèves provenant de groupes sociaux marginalisés selon, entre autres, leur race, leur ethnie, leur langue maternelle, leur religion, leur orientation sexuelle ou leur statut socioéconomique. Ce cours abordera donc la question de la diversité culturelle, prise dans un sens large, dans le contexte de l'enseignement. Il permettra aux étudiantes et aux étudiants d'acquérir les connaissances et de développer les attitudes et les stratégies nécessaires pour favoriser l'équité et la qualité des apprentissages des élèves, peu importe leurs antécédents, leurs particularités ou leurs circonstances.

EDUA 3303 Intégration et identité professionnelles

Développement de l'habileté à faire le lien entre la pratique et la théorie et à mettre en œuvre une gestion efficace de sa pratique pédagogique.

EDUA 3313 Perspectives autochtones en contexte scolaire

Introduction aux perspectives culturelles autochtones et métisses en contexte scolaire : dimensions historique, anthropologique, éthique et pédagogique. Développement de compétences professionnelles relatives à l'enseignement dans un environnement autochtone et métis.

On ne peut se faire créditer le EDUA 5851 (ancien 129.585) et l'ancien 043.526. Préalable : le EDUB 5761 (ancien 132.576) ou l'ancien EDUB 5281 (ancien 081.528) ou l'autorisation du titulaire du cours, ou l'ancien 043.306.

EDUA 5900 Education and the Developmental Process 1 (Formerly 129.590) A survey of the developmental process from conception to pubescence. Specific emphasis will be placed upon biological foundations, cognitive development, and social aspects of behaviour as related to the educational process. Not to be held with the former 043.506.

EDUA 5901 Éducation Et Processus Du Développement 1 (Ancien 129.590) Survol du processus du développement de la conception à la puberté. Importance accordée aux fondements biologiques, au développement cognitif et aux aspects sociaux du comportement dans leurs rapports au processus éducatif. On ne peut se faire créditer le EDUA 5901 (ancien 129.590) et l'ancien 043.506.

EDUA 5910 Education and the Developmental Process 2 (Formerly 129.591) A study of growth and development in the post-pubescent period with specific emphasis on implications for the secondary school. Not to be held with EDUA 5911 or the former 043.507.

EDUA 5911 Éducation Et Processus De Développement 2 (Ancien 129.591) Étude de la croissance et du développement à l'âge postérieur à la puberté. Attention particulière accordée à leurs effets sur l'apprentissage au niveau secondaire. On ne peut se faire créditer le EDUA 5911 (ancien 129.591) et l'ancien 043.507.

EDUA 5921 Le Jeu Chez L'enfant (Ancien 129.592) Examen du rôle du jeu dans l'apprentissage chez l'enfant, en incluant la perspective historique. Discussion du jeu en tant que partie intégrante du développement de l'enfant. Distinction entre les activités ludiques et non ludiques, considération des attributs conceptuels, perceptuels, linguistiques et physiques du jeu. On ne peut se faire créditer le EDUA 5921 (ancien 129.592) et l'ancien 043.529.

EDUA 5930 Observing Child Behaviour (Formerly 129.593) The use of qualitative observation techniques, especially in educational settings, to understand children's behaviour, thinking, and motivations. Not to be held with EDUA 5930 or the former 043.530.

EDUA 5931 Observation Du Comportement De L'enfant (Ancien 129.593) Étude des techniques d'observation qualitatives qui peuvent être utilisées en milieu scolaire pour mieux comprendre le comportement de l'enfant, ses modes de penser et ses motivations. On ne peut se faire créditer le EDUA 5931 (ancien 129.593) et l'ancien 043.530.

EDUA 5940 Language and Symbolic Process (Formerly 129.594) The focus in this course is on the role of symbolic learning in the development of the young child. A study of theories on symbol formation is intended to serve as a framework for examining the emergence of representational capacities in movement, gesture, play, drawing and three dimensional media. Not to be held with the former 043.541. Prerequisite: former 043.307.

SECTION 10: Collège universitaire de Saint-Boniface

EDSB 5011 L'ÉDUCATION BILINGUE ET L'ACQUISITION D'UNE LANGUE SECONDE

(Ancien 120.501) Étude du développement linguistique de l'enfant tout en considérant un grand nombre de facteurs socioaffectifs et cognitifs qui influencent le développement linguistique, facteurs permettant de réfléchir à toute la question de l'immersion et d'appliquer ces connaissances à la situation qui existe au Manitoba.

EDSB 5031 HISTOIRE DE L'ÉDUCATION FRANÇAISE AU MANITOBA

(Ancien 120.503) Les fondements de l'éducation française au Manitoba. Examen, dans une perspective historique, des événements majeurs, de nature sociologique et politique, qui ont marqué le développement de l'éducation française au Manitoba. On ne peut se faire créditer le EDSB 5031 (ancien 120.503) et l'ancien 116.503.

EDSB 5041 THÉORIES D'APPRENTISSAGE EN SITUATION D'IMMERSION

(Ancien 120.504) Étude des connaissances théoriques concernant les processus, les mécanismes et les facteurs reliés à l'apprentissage d'une langue seconde. Développement d'une compréhension plus englobante de l'expérience pratique en immersion. Préalable : le EDSB 5011 (ancien 120.501) ou le EDSB 5021 (ancien 120.502).

EDSB 5051

EDSB 5061 THÉORIES D'APPRENTISSAGE EN MILIEU MINORITAIRE

(Ancien 120.506) Familiarisation avec les recherches en éducation compensatoire et bilingue et dégagement des implications en regard de l'apprentissage en milieu minoritaire.

EDSB 5071 DIFFICULTÉS DANS L'ENSEIGNEMENT DU LANGAGE ÉCRIT

EDSB 5081 STAGE ET SÉMINAIRES DE RECHERCHE-ACTION

(Ancien 120.508) Utilisation du processus et des méthodes de recherche-action en vue de la résolution de problèmes éducatifs pratiques. Cours qui exige un minimum de 150 heures consacrées au stage de recherche. Pour s'inscrire à ce cours, il faut être en fonction dans le milieu éducatif.

1.3 The Profession of Engineering,

Engineers use fundamental principles and energy sources from the natural world and direct them to the benefit of people. They interpret science in terms of material human needs and manage personnel, money, and materials. The profession is involved in all aspects of construction and manufacturing, including conceptualization, design, preparation of plans and specifications, and fabrication of products to meet predetermined standards of reliability and performance. Engineers acquire competence through instruction in basic sciences, mathematics, and engineering sciences; by introduction to the processes of synthesis and design; by complementary studies in the humanities, social sciences, and management; and by learning from the skills and experience of more senior engineers during the early years of employment.

The educational objective in the Faculty of Engineering is to prepare students for positions of leadership in a world where engineering, science, and management are of major importance.

SECTION 2: Admission to the Faculty of Engineering

SECTION 2: Admission to the Faculty of Engineering Content,

Direct admission into the Faculty of Engineering from high school:

Applicants who have completed Chemistry 40S, Mathematics 40S (pre-calculus), and Physics 40S with a minimum overall average of 85 per cent, and no grade lower than 60 per cent in any one course, may be admitted to Engineering directly from high school.

From University 1 and/or other Faculties:

Undergraduate Studies

A minimum of 8 of the 12 courses in the preliminary engineering program, section 4.2, each with a minimum grade of "C", and a minimum Adjusted Grade Point Average (AGPA) of 2.0. Acceptance to a department is competitive. Courses must be completed within ten years of the application date in order to be considered for transfer credit.

Other requirements

The university written English and mathematics requirements are satisfied by the English (ENGL 1310) and mathematics (MATH 1510, MATH 1710 and MATH 1210) courses in the preliminary engineering program.

Chemical Engineering at the University of North Dakota

The University of Manitoba has an agreement with the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, N.D., which allows students to obtain a degree in chemical engineering from the University of North Dakota by taking the Preliminary Engineering program at the University of Manitoba and three years at the University of North Dakota. The chemical engineering program at the University of North Dakota is accredited by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology in the United States and is recognized by the Association of Professional Engineers and Geoscientists of Manitoba. Information on this program may be obtained from the Student Advising Office, E1-284 EITC.

SECTION 3: Academic Regulations

SECTION 3: Academic Regulations Intro,

The provisions of the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, and the chapter, University Policies, apply to all students. In addition, the Faculty of Engineering has regulations and requirements, published below, which apply specifically to its students. Notwithstanding the regulations given in this section, the Faculty Council of Engineering reserves the right to rule on individual cases in exceptional circumstances.

3.1 Appeals ,

Students who feel that they have received unfair treatment in a course should appeal to the instructor. If the matter is not thereby resolved, it should be raised with the Department Head, or the Associate Dean (Undergraduate). Students wishing to appeal their academic status should write to the Associate Dean (Undergraduate), Committee on Standing and Appeals, E1-284 EITC before August 15th. Information regarding this process is available from the Student Advising Office, E1-284 EITC.

3.2 Attendance ,

When the number of unexcused absences recorded against a student in the Faculty of Engineering in any course exceeds 10 per cent of the number of lectures and laboratories for that course the instructor may report the case to the Dean of Engineering. When a student's attendance or work continues to be unsatisfactory, the instructor has the authority to exclude the student from classes, or examinations, or both. Such cases shall be reported to the Faculty Council of Engineering at the first opportunity. Students who are excluded from an examination for inadequate attendance in a compulsory course are required to repeat the course.

3.3 Categories of Students,

A student shall normally register for three to six courses in a term. Registration for more than six or fewer than three courses in a term must be approved by the Department Head or, in the preliminary program, by the Associate Dean (Undergraduate).

Full-Time Student: Full-time students are those who are registered in at least 15 credit hours (considered 100 per cent) for the regular academic term of their specific programs. 80 per cent of a full course load is 12 credit hours; 60 per cent is 9 credit hours.

Part-Time Student: Part-time students are those who are registered for less than 15 credit hours for the regular academic term.

3.4 Complementary Studies Electives,

Complementary studies electives are an integral part of the curriculum. Their purpose is to broaden the student's experience beyond the purely scientific and technical content of engineering. They include studies in engineering economics and the impact of technology on society, as well as the central issues, methodologies and thought processes characteristic of the humanities and social sciences. Opportunities for development of the student's oral and written communication skills are also provided. The coursework requirements may vary from one department to another. XXX.09X0 courses will not be allowed as complementary studies electives ARTS 1110 Introduction to University may not be used for credit in the Faculty of Engineering.

3.5 Course Selection,

When arranging a program of study, a student must satisfy the following requirements:

- All prerequisite and corequisite course requirements must be met.
- All previously failed compulsory courses must be repeated. Students will require assistance with registration due to a block on the AURORA registration system which does not allow more than two repeats.
- Students are not normally allowed to repeat courses graded "C" or higher, except under special circumstances with the approval of the Department Head.
- Failed elective courses may be repeated or replaced with alternative elective courses.

Prerequisite Course: A prerequisite course must have been completed with a "C" grade or better before a subsequent course can be attempted. Under exceptional circumstances, a course instructor may waive, subject to approval by the Department Head (or designate), a prerequisite requirement.

Corequisite Course: A corequisite course must be taken concurrently or before its companion course. Under exceptional circumstances, a course instructor may waive, subject to approval by the Department Head (or designate), a corequisite requirement.

3.6 Examinations,

Deferred Examinations

Deferred Examinations (See Chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements of this Calendar for details) are normally scheduled to take place within 30 working days from the end of the examination series from which the examination was deferred. The date of the deferred examination for a particular course will be set by the Dean's Office no later than January 15, May 15 or July 7, and in consultation with the instructor.

Special Examinations

A student who has attempted to meet all requirements for the degree and has a single failure in their final session, in an engineering course, can apply for a special examination in that course. Special examinations may not be requested for any other reason. However, a special examination may be given on the recommendation of a Board of Examiners under exceptional circumstances. A special examination is given in addition to the regular examination. The grades from both examinations are retained on the student's record, and both are used in the calculation of TGPA and DGPA. The results of special examinations must be reported to the Faculty Council of Engineering. The special examination privileges apply only to courses offered by the Faculty of Engineering.

Supplemental Examinations

Undergraduate Studies

The Faculty of Engineering does not provide supplemental examinations.

Challenge for Credit

Courses offered in Engineering may not be challenged for credit.

3.7 Foreign Language Requirements for co-op and non-co-op Students,

There are some opportunities for undergraduate co-op and non-co-op students to work in foreign countries. However, there are foreign language requirements that must be fulfilled before placement can be considered. Students interested in foreign work assignments should acquaint themselves with these language requirements by consulting with their department head as soon as possible after their entry into the Faculty of Engineering.

3.8 Grading and Assessment,

All grades awarded by instructors for undergraduate courses offered in the Faculty of Engineering are reviewed by examiners' boards, which comprise all of the instructors in the student's program year. After approval by department councils, they are presented to the Faculty Council of Engineering for acceptance. Following is a list of assessments which will occur at end of each of the terms (fall, winter, and summer):

Term Grade Point Average (TGPA)

The TGPA is computed from all of the final grades in all courses completed during a given academic term.

Degree Grade Point Average (DGPA)

The DGPA is computed from the final grades obtained in all courses attempted as part of a student's current degree program and courses transferred from other faculties and other institutions. Where a course has been repeated or replaced by an approved equivalent course only the last grade shall be included in the computation.

Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA)

The CGPA is computed from the final grades in all undergraduate courses attempted at the University of Manitoba and courses transferred from other faculties and other institutions.

Dean's Honour List

A continuing student who achieved a Term Grade Point Average (TGPA) of 3.50 or higher in their most recent academic assessment will be placed on the Dean's Honour List. The assessment is based on a minimum of 12 credit hours. The list will be updated at the end of each of the two regular session terms. A graduating student who achieved a Degree Grade Point Average (DGPA) of 3.50 or higher in their final academic evaluation will graduate on the Dean's Honour List.

Awards

A number of scholarships, bursaries and other academic awards are available to Engineering students. For information concerning awards (prizes, scholarships, and bursaries), please visit the Faculty website, umanitoba.ca/faculties/engineering

3.9 Minors in Engineering,

Arts Minor

A minor in Arts is available to Engineering students. The minor consists of 18 credit hours of Arts courses, including a minimum of 6 credit hours in the Humanities and six credit hours in the Social Sciences; students must meet all pre-requisite requirements. Depending on the approval of the Engineering department, courses used for the minor may also be used to fulfil course requirements in Engineering.

Computer Science Minor

A Minor in Computer Science is available to Engineering students. The minimum requirement is 18 credit hours of computer science courses subject to the following constraints: (1) Courses COMP 1010, COMP 1020, and COMP 2140 are compulsory; (2) 9 additional credit hours of COMP courses at the 2000 or 3000 level; and (3) registration in computer science courses will be controlled by normal pre-requisites and class size restrictions.

Geological Sciences Minor

The minor includes the following set of courses:

1. GEOL 1340 Dynamic Earth or GEOL 2250 Geology for Engineers

2. One of the following three courses:

GEOL 1400 Time Trekker's Travelog: Our Evolving Earth

GEOL 1410 Natural Disasters and Global Change

GEOL 1420 Exploring the Planets

3. GEOL 2540 Introductory Mineralogy with Essential of Mineral Optics

4. Nine (9) credit hours of 2000-level or above courses in Geological Sciences

Management Minor

The minor in Management offered by the Faculty of Management is available to Engineering students. The minor consists of any 18 credit hours of Management courses; students must meet all prerequisite requirements. Depending on the approval of the Engineering department, courses used for the minor may also be used to fulfill course requirements in Engineering. Admission requirements for the minor are based on all courses transferred to Engineering or completed while in Engineering; the requirements are a minimum of 30 credit hours with a minimum Degree Grade Point Average (DGPA) of 3.00. Up to 10 spaces are available each year for engineering students on a competitive basis. Applications can be made in the Engineering Dean's office up to May 30th.

Mathematics Minor

A Minor in Mathematics is available to Engineering students. The minimum requirements are 24 credit hours of mathematics courses subject to the following constraints: (1) the students must notify their home department that they are pursuing the minor; (2) up to 12 credit hours of mathematics courses in a student's engineering program may be counted toward the minor; (3) the student must complete at least 6 credit hours of courses from the mathematics department at the 3000 level or higher that are not included as part of the curriculum in the student's engineering program; and (4) approval of the Department of Mathematics is required for courses outside of the regular engineering program.

Music Minor

Music Minor: (new minor beginning September 2007): The music minor requirement is 18 credit hours of music courses subject to the following constraints: 1) courses MUSC 1110 (Music Theory 1) and MUSC 1120 (Music Theory 2) are compulsory; OR MUSC 1280 (Musical Style and Structure 1) and MUSC 1290 (Musical Style and Structure 2) ii) Students may take ensemble course but in order to earn credit toward the minor all three of the courses MUSC 2180 (Ensemble) or MUSC 1290, MUSC 3180 (Ensemble), and MUSC 4180 (Ensemble) must be completed. These three courses will count for 6 of the 18 required credit hours. iii) Any course offered by the Faculty of Music may be used for credit toward the minor. However, permission to register for any course must be granted by the Faculty of Music.

3.10 Professional Registration ,

In order to practice engineering in any province or territory in Canada, it is necessary to be a member of the professional engineering association of that province or territory. The requirements for membership are acceptable academic preparation and a subsequent period of acceptable engineering experience gained under the supervision of a registered professional engineer. The undergraduate programs in Biosystems, Civil, Computer, Electrical, Manufacturing, and Mechanical Engineering are accredited by the Canadian Engineering Accreditation Board (CEAB), reflecting acceptable academic preparation for membership in the association of professional engineers in any province or territory in Canada. Through a mutual recognition agreement, the programs are recognized as satisfying accreditation requirements in the United States, the United Kingdom, Ireland, New Zealand, Australia, and Hong Kong.

Graduates of an accredited program are eligible to apply for membership as an engineer-in-training, in the association of professional engineers in their province of residence in Canada. After a period of acceptable experience, they are eligible to apply to the association for registration as a professional engineer in that province.

3.11 Requirements for the Bachelor's Degree ,

The requirement for a Bachelor degree in Engineering is a grade of "C" or better in all required and elective courses in the student's program. All other students are governed by the rules in effect at the time of their first registration in Engineering.

A student must complete at least 50 per cent of an engineering degree program as a full-time student in the Faculty of Engineering. Unless otherwise approved by the Dean of Engineering, students must complete all degree requirements within seven calendar years after being accepted into an Engineering department.

Degree with Distinction

A student who on graduation achieves a Degree Grade Point Average (DGPA) of 3.80 or higher is awarded the degree "With Distinction."

Criteria for Medal Awards

The Faculty of Engineering Program Gold Medal shall be awarded to the graduating student in each engineering program who has achieved the highest Degree Grade Point Average (DGPA) (minimum of 3.80) with no distinction as to full- or part-time status. The program Medal will be awarded at spring Convocation to the student who has completed that program in the past academic year (including October and February graduands).

The University Gold Medal for the Faculty of Engineering shall be awarded to the graduating student in the Faculty of Engineering who has achieved the highest Degree Grade Point Average (DPGA) (minimum of 3.80) for the entire program with no distinction as to full- or part-time status.

3.12 Student Progress and Academic Status,

Students shall be evaluated at the conclusion of each academic term in which they receive a final grade in a minimum of 6 credit hours of course material (excluding Special Student credit hours), with the assessment being based on the resulting Term Grade Point Average (TGPA) in those courses. This assessment shall be based on only those courses which form part of the student's Engineering Program. The academic assessments are as follows:

Good Academic Standing

A student with a TGPA of 2.00 or higher is in Good Academic Standing.

Academic Warning Letter

The first time the student's TGPA drops below 2.00, he/she will receive an Academic Warning. Students who receive such a warning are required to meet with an academic advisor from their department or, in the preliminary program, with the Associate Dean (undergraduate).

Academic Probation

The second time that a student's TGPA drops below 2.00, the student will be placed on Academic Probation.

Required to Withdraw

The third time that a student's TGPA drops below 2.00, the student will be Required to Withdraw. Students who receive such a suspension shall be ineligible to take Engineering courses from the end of the term for which the suspension was issued through to the start of that same term in the subsequent academic year (normally, a period of 8 months.)

In order to be reinstated following the suspension period, the student must submit a written application for reinstatement to the Associate Dean (Undergraduate). Applications must be made by August 14, for reinstatement by September 1, or December 7 for reinstatement by January 1.

Ineligible to Proceed in Engineering

A student shall be Ineligible to Proceed in Engineering under either of the following conditions:

- a) The student's TGPA drops below 2.00 for a fourth time, or;
- b) The ratio of credit hours passed to credit hours attempted for that student drops below 75%, and the student has attempted a minimum of 72 credit hours.

Starting Afresh

Students who have become Ineligible to Proceed in Engineering may apply to the Dean for permission to start their degree afresh, should they wish to return to the Faculty of Engineering.

At the discretion of the Dean, a student may start afresh in an engineering program after a minimum period of two years from their last academic assessment by the Faculty of Engineering, and may request to transfer up to 40 credit hours in which a minimum grade of "C+" was achieved. All previous courses will remain on the student's academic transcript, but will not be applied to their new program.

3.13 Limit on Time in the Preliminary Engineering Program, Students admitted to the Faculty of Engineering shall have two years to complete the minimum course requirements and submit a program declaration form for transit into an Engineering department. In the case of students admitted to the faculty through the Engineering Access Program the limit shall be three years.

Students who fail to meet this criterion shall be required to withdraw from Engineering. Such students may subsequently apply to be reinstated after successfully completing all courses forming the Preliminary Engineering Program.

3.14 Students Transiting to Departments,

Students will be accepted into department programs based on the following criteria. Direct entry or University 1 students who have completed 8-12 Preliminary program Undergraduate Studies courses by May 1st of each academic year will be ranked and admitted on a competitive basis based on the average of the best eight marks in courses in the Preliminary Engineering program.

Students transferring in from programs, faculties, or colleges will have all courses or equivalent courses that are required in a particular engineering program transferred in, including failed grades ("D's" and "F's") in those courses. In addition, students should be aware that the Faculty evaluates an individual's eligibility to proceed in an Engineering program based on credit hours passed versus credit hours attempted, as described in Section 3.12. Students are advised to consult with the Undergraduate Student Services Office (Engineering) if there is concern as to their standing under this rule.

Direct entry students must complete a program declaration form by May 1st in order to indicate their program of choice. Students from University 1 and other faculties must apply by May 1st through the Admissions Office.

3.15 Use of Calculating Devices ,

For courses offered by the Faculty of Engineering in which the use of devices capable of calculations is permitted in tests or examinations, such devices must be incapable of receiving and/or transmitting signals. Instructors wishing to restrict devices to certain capabilities must inform students, in writing, within the first week of term. Questions concerning the suitability of any given device should be directed to the course instructor(s).

3.16 Withdrawal from Courses,

The responsibility for initiating withdrawals rests solely with the student, and no voluntary withdrawals are permitted after the deadlines for voluntary withdrawal without academic penalty (see the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, of this Calendar). For documented medical or compassionate reasons, Authorized Withdrawals may be permitted by the Dean.

A student who, after registering for courses, in any term, becomes ineligible to proceed in Engineering or receives an Engineering Suspension will be withdrawn from his or her Intersession/Summer Session program.

The Engineering Access Program (ENGAP) recognizes that students of Aboriginal ancestry may be challenged with geographic and economic barriers, and/or lack of access to academic preparation, which may make them unable to meet the faculty's admission requirements. ENGAP serves as a specifically designed post-secondary program that provides an opportunity for students to complete their Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering. The program accomplishes this objective by offering upgrading courses in mathematics, chemistry, and physics, as well as providing academic advice, personal and family counselling along with financial supports.

Aboriginal students who do meet the regular requirements may still wish to join the program to benefit from these supports.

The Preliminary Engineering Program is common to all programs in engineering. Students in the preliminary engineering program or University 1 must complete at least 8 courses to be admitted to a degree granting engineering program. A student must complete the following list of 12 courses in order to graduate with a BSc degree from any of the engineering programs.

Course No.	Credit Hours
CHEM 1300 Structure and Modelling in Chemistry	3
COMP 1012 Computer Programming for Science & Engineers	3
ENG 1430 Design in Engineering	3
ENG 1440 Introduction to Statics	3
ENG 1450 Introduction to Electrical and Computer Engineering	3
ENG 1460 Introduction to Thermal Sciences	3
ENGL 1310 Literary Topics 1	3
MATH 1210 Techniques of Classical and Linear Algebra	3
MATH 1510 Applied Calculus 1 or equivalent (Note 1)	3
MATH 1710 Applied Calculus 2 or equivalent (Note 2)	3
PHIL 1290* Critical Thinking 1	3
PHYS 1050 Physics 1: Mechanics	3

*PHIL 1290 Critical Thinking is the recommended complementary studies elective. However, students may select any course from the Faculty of Arts or the Faculty of Management at the 1000 level or above, with the exception of ARTS 1110 Introduction to the University which may not be held for credit within the Faculty of Engineering.

Note:

- (1) MATH 1500 and MATH 1510 are regarded as equivalent to each other.
- (2) MATH 1700 and MATH 1710 are regarded as equivalent to each other.
- (3) MATH 1690 may be regarded as being equivalent to one course from (1) and one course from (2).
- (4) MATH 1300 is not an acceptable equivalent to MATH 1210

University Written English and Mathematics Requirements

All students are required to complete the university written English and mathematics requirement within the first 60 credit hours of their program. This requirement is described in the chapter, General Academic Regulations and Requirements, of this Calendar. In the Engineering programs the mathematics requirement is satisfied by one of MATH 1510 or MATH 1710 (or an equivalent), and the written English requirement by ENG 1310.

4.3 Common Courses Taught by the Faculty of Engineering-ENG 1000 Level

ENG 1130 Introduction to Engineering
 (Formerly 130.113) The Engineering Profession from the Perspective of Students and Practising Professionals. Academic, Legal and Ethical Considerations.

 Prerequisite: Acceptance to Engineering or permission of the Instructor.

ENG 1400 Engineering Design

(Formerly 130.140) Part A: The Creative Process; The Design Process; Working in a Team. Part B: Drawing, Sketching and Computer-Aided Drawing (CAD); Descriptive Geometry; Design Studio; Graphics Tutorials. Prerequisites: A minimum grade of 60% in pre-calculus Mathematics 40S, or the former Mathematics 40S, Physics 40S, and Chemistry 40S, or permission of the Instructor.

ENG 1420 Engineering Processes for Non-Engineering Students

(Formerly 130.142) Develops a basic understanding of the engineering profession with emphasis on basic technical principles, Systems Engineering, and Project Management. Special emphasis will be placed upon the interface between management and engineering and the role management plays in the conduct of technical projects and manufacturing. NOTE: This course is not available for credit to students registered in the Faculty of Engineering.

ENG 1430 Design in Engineering

The Creative Process; The Design Process; Working in a Team. The Engineering Profession from the Perspective of Students and Professionals. Academic, Legal and Ethical considerations. Not to be held with the former 130.113 or 130.140. Prerequisite: A minimum grade of 60% in pre-calculus mathematics 40S, physics 40S, and chemistry 40S, or their equivalents.

ENG 1440 Introduction to Statics

Statics of Particles; Rigid Bodies, Equilibrium of Rigid Bodies; Analysis of Structures; Distributed Forces. Not to be held with the former 130.135. Prerequisites: A minimum grade of 60% in pre-calculus Mathematics 40S, or the former Mathematics 40S, Physics 40S, and Chemistry 40S.

ENG 1450 Introduction to Electrical and Computer Engineering

Part I: Current, voltage, energy, potential, power Ohm's law; independent sources; capacitor, inductor, ideal diode, op-amp; Kirchoff's law; simple circuits (Resistive, RC, RL, OP-Amp; Diode); introduction to ac theory (Sinusoidal waveform, phase relations of voltage and current waveforms for R,L,C. RL and RC circuits). Part II: Applications (Digital Logic, motors). Not to be held with the former 130.118. Prerequisites: A minimum grade of 60% in pre-calculus Mathematics 40S, or the former Mathematics 40S, Physics 40S, and Chemistry 40S.

ENG 1460 Introduction to Thermal Sciences

Properties of pure substances; First Law for Closed Systems; First Law for Open Systems; Second Law; Examples of Power Cycles and Refrigeration Cycles. Not to be held with the former 130.112. Prerequisites: A minimum grade of 60% in pre-calculus Mathematics 40S, or the former Mathematics 40S, Physics 40S, and Chemistry 40S.

ENG 1900 Occupational Health and Safety Awareness

Occupational health and safety will be discussed from the perspectives of various professions to understand 1) the issues relevant to individual professions and 2) how these individual perspectives may conflict. The overall goal for the course is to ensure that the student gains an appreciation for the importance of occupational health and safety to society.

4.3 Common Courses Taught by the Faculty of Engineering-ENG 2000 Level

ENG 2010 Technical Communications

(Formerly 130.201) Students work collaboratively in teams and develop strong project management skills. Focus is on the connection between engineering and communication design; the importance of audience analysis; a clear definition of the technical issues and the criteria by which to measure a design or solution; well-designed graphic aids which support the text; and clear writing and speaking. Prerequisite: ENGL 1310 (or equivalent), and ENG 1430

ENG 2020 Engineering CAD Technology for Biosystems

Instruction in the use of current CAD technology for conveying design through the use of graphics. Students will gain knowledge in technical drawing, 3D modelling techniques, production technology, and visual communication. Prerequisite: BIOE 2580.

The Department of Biosystems Engineering offers an accredited degree program in Biosystems Engineering. Biosystems Engineering emphasizes the application of engineering principles to biologically-based systems (plants, animals, and microorganisms). The program is designed to give students knowledge of the basic principles of engineering and, in particular, an adequate training and education in the fundamentals and professional applications of Biosystems Engineering. The program is offered in both a traditional and a co-operative education format. The department currently offers an Environmental Option, although no new students will be admitted to the Environmental Option effective September 2012 because the Environmental Option has been replaced with a Specialization. The department now offers five Specializations (Agricultural, Biomedical, Bioprocessing, Environmental, and Sustainable Building Systems) and one Minor (Agribusiness). With the appropriate selection of elective courses, the bachelor's degree in Biosystems Engineering meets the requirements for admission to the Faculty of Medicine.

The undergraduate curriculum in Biosystems Engineering is an academic program in the Faculty of Engineering. Students wishing to study in the program in Biosystems Engineering must be admitted to the Faculty of Engineering. They are required to complete the Preliminary Engineering Program as a prerequisite to the courses in Biosystems Engineering.

4.4 Complementary Studies Electives

4.4 Complementary Studies Electives, Complementary Studies Electives

Complementary studies electives are required to give the engineering student exposure to topics outside the fields of science and engineering. There are many university courses that fulfill this requirement. Any course at the 1000-level or above from the faculties of Arts or Management, or the Department of Agribusiness and Agricultural Economics can be used as a complementary studies elective. However, ARTS 1100 Introduction to University may not be used for credit in the Faculty of Engineering. Other university courses which do not cover topics of science or engineering may also be acceptable. Please consult with the department head (or his/her designate) for approval of such courses.

Free Electives

Any university course at the 1000-level or above can be used as a free elective. However, ARTS 1100 Introduction to University may not be used for credit in the Faculty of Engineering.

Environmental Option

The departments of Biosystems Engineering and Civil Engineering offer an Environmental Option which provides an opportunity for students to focus on environmental engineering related courses. Successful completion of the Environmental Option will be indicated on graduates' transcripts. Students selecting the Environmental Option within the Biosystems Engineering department will have the knowledge to solve problems associated with the natural environment (groundwater contamination, soil degradation, pollution of rivers and lakes, air pollution, environmental impact assessment) as well as the built environment (building air quality, temperature and humidity control). Biosystems Engineering students will gain a thorough understanding of the fundamental concepts and interactions between biology, engineering science and engineering design to prepare them well for a career in environmental engineering. No new students will be admitted to the Environmental Option effective September 2012.

4.4 Agricultural Specialization

4.4 Agricultural Specialization, Agricultural Specialization

Students who obtain a grade of "C" or better in the courses listed below will receive a notation of "agricultural specialization" on their transcript at the time of graduation.

Group A: Science Electives

Within the two science slots in the core program, choose:

SOIL 4060 Physical Properties of Soil

AGRI 2200 Principles of Plant and Animal Physiology

Group B: Biosystems Engineering Design Electives

Choose at least three of the following courses from the list of available design electives:

BIOE 4412 Design of Light-Frame Building Systems

BIOE 4420 Crop Preservation

BIOE 4590 Management of By-Products from Animal Production

BIOE 4600 Design of Water Management Systems

Group C: Complementary Studies & Free Electives

Choose 9 credit hours (minimum of 3 credit hours of complementary studies marked by*) from the following list of courses:

ABIZ 1000 Introduction to Agribusiness Management*

ABIZ 3530 Farm Management*

AGRI 1500 Natural Resources and Primary Agricultural Production

AGRI 1510 Production, Distribution and Utilization of Agricultural Products

BIOE 2090 Machinery for Agricultural Production

BIOE 2222 Precision Agriculture Concepts and Applications

ENTM 3170 Crop Protection Entomology

PLNT 2500 Crop Production

PLNT 2510 Fundamentals of Horticulture

SOIL 3520 Pesticides: Environment, Economics and Ethics

Bioprocessing Specialization

Students who obtain a grade of “C” or better in the courses listed below will receive a notation of “bioprocessing specialization” on their transcript at the time of graduation.

Group A: Science Electives

Within the two science slots in the core program, choose:

SOIL 4060 Physical Properties of Soil

AGRI 2200 Principles of Plant and Animal Physiology

Group B: Biosystems Engineering Design Electives

Choose at least three courses from the list of available design electives:

BIOE 4420 Crop Preservation

BIOE 4390 Unit Operations 1

BIOE 4440 Bioprocessing for Biorefining

BIOE 4590 Management of By-Products from Animal Production

BIOE 4630 Pollution Prevention Practices

Group C: Complementary Studies & Free Electives

Choose 9 credit hours (minimum of 3 credit hours of complementary studies marked by*) from the following list of courses:

ABIZ 1010 Economics of World Food Issues and Policies*

ENG 1900 Occupational Health and Safety Awareness*

FOOD 1000 Food Safety Today and Tomorrow

FOOD 3010 Food Process 1

FOOD 4260 Water Management in Food Processing

HNSC 1200 Food: Facts and Fallacies

HNSC 2160 Principles of Food Preparation and Preservation

Biomedical Specialization

Students who obtain a grade of “C” or better in the courses listed below will receive a notation of “biomedical specialization” on their transcript at the time of graduation.

Group A: Science Electives

Within the two science elective slots in the core program, choose:

BIOL 1410 Human Anatomy (rather than SOIL 4060)

Within the two science slots in the core program, choose:

BIOL 1412 Physiology of the Human Body (rather than AGRI 2200)

SOIL 4060 Physical Properties of Soil

AGRI 2200 Principles of Plant and Animal Physiology

Group B: Biosystems Engineering Design Electives

Choose the following three courses from the list of available design electives:

BIOE 4414 Imaging and Spectroscopy for Biosystems

BIOE 4610 Design of Assistive Technology Devices

BIOE 4640 Bioengineering Applications in Medicine

Group B: Biosystems Engineering Design Electives

BIOE 4460 Air Pollution Assessment and Management

BIOE 4480 Environmental Impact Assessment

BIOE 4590 Management of By-Products from Animal Production

BIOE 4600 Design of Water Management Systems

BIOE 4620 Remediation Engineering

BIOE 4630 Pollution Prevention Practices

Group C: Complementary Studies & Free Electives

Choose 9 credit hours (minimum of 3 credit hours of complementary studies marked by *) from the following list of courses:

BIOL 2410 Human Physiology 1

BIOL 2420 Human Physiology 2

BIOL 4470 Sensory-Motor Physiology

ECE 4610 Biomedical Instrumentation and Signal Processing

ENG 1900 Occupational Health and Safety Awareness*

HIST 4660 History of Health and Disease (6)*

HIST 4680 History of Health and Disease in Modern Canada (6)*

KIN 2330 Biomechanics

KIN 4330 Advanced Biomechanics

NATV 3240 Native Medicine and Health*

PHIL 2740 Ethics and Biomedicine*

Group C: Complementary Studies & Free Electives

Choose 9 credit hours (minimum of 3 credit hours of complementary studies marked by *) from the following list of courses:

ABIZ 2390 Introduction to Environmental Economics* (or equivalent)

AGEC 2370 Principles of Ecology (or equivalent)

CIVL 3690 Environmental Engineering Analysis

CIVL 3700 Environmental Engineering Design

CIVL 4350 Hazardous Waste Treatment

GEOG 2250 Introduction to Geographic Information Systems

GEOG 2520 Geography of Natural Resources*

PHIL 2750 Environmental Ethics*

Environmental Specialization

Students who obtain a grade of “C” or better in the courses listed below will receive a notation of “environmental specialization” on their transcript at the time of graduation.

Sustainable Building Systems Specialization

Students who obtain a grade of “C” or better in the courses listed below will receive a notation of “sustainable building systems specialization” on their transcript at the time of graduation.

EVDS 1660 History of Culture, Ideas and Environment*

Agribusiness Minor

A minor in agribusiness is available to Biosystems Engineering students. The minimum requirement is 18 credit hours consisting of ECON 1010 Introduction to Microeconomic Principles (3 credit hours), ECON 1020 Introduction to Macroeconomic Principles (3 credit hours), ABIZ 1000 Introduction to Agribusiness (3 credit hours), ABIZ 2510 Introduction to Agricultural and Food Marketing (3 credit hours), ABIZ 2520 Introduction to Management Sciences (3 credit hours) and at least three additional credit hours from the Department of Agribusiness and Agricultural Economics (students must meet all prerequisite requirements). A maximum of 2 courses (6 credit hours) of courses used for the minor may also be used to fulfill course requirements in Biosystems Engineering.

Admission to Medicine

The bachelor's degree in Biosystems Engineering provides the background to meet eligibility requirements for admission into the Faculty of Medicine. Students planning to apply for entrance to Medicine after completing the B.Sc. in Biosystems Engineering are advised to take PHIL 2740 Ethics and Biomedicine as one complementary studies elective, CHEM 2210 Organic Chemistry 1 and CHEM 2360 Biochemistry 1 as their two free electives.

Co-operative Education Program in Biosystems Engineering

Coordinator: N. (Nazim) Cicek

Co-operative education is a process of learning which formally integrates the student's academic study with work experience in industry, government, and the profession. The work terms provide you with practical experience, help finance your education, and provide guidance for further career specialization. At the time of your first placement, you will have completed 80 credit hours of your program and be in a position to make a contribution in the workplace. You must be in good academic standing to enter the co-operative education program.

Students typically start their first co-op work term in May after completion of the winter term of their second year. The work term is 4 months, but can be extended to 8 months. In this case, students would replace one academic term with a work term. Students generally enter their next co-op work term in May of the following year. September and January starting times may be possible if students are willing to postpone an academic term.

Acceptance into the program is dependent upon the student re-ceiving a job placement in consultation with the department's cooperative education coordinator. Once a job placement has been secured through the coordinator, the student is accepted into the program and enrolls in course BIOE 2000 Cooperative Work Study 1, BIOE 3000 Cooperative Work Study 2, or BIOE 4000 Cooperative Work Study 3 as appropriate. To pass these courses, students must prepare a work term report. The cooperative education coordinator assigns faculty advisors to mark work term reports; reports are given grades of "Pass" or "Fail." In order to remain in the co-operative education program, a student must maintain a minimum DGPA of 2.00 and must obtain a grade of "pass" for each work term report. All rules and regulations of the Faculty of Engineering apply. Students who do not maintain these standards may not remain in the co-operative education program. Each successfully completed cooperative education course carries one credit hour. A graduate who successfully completes BIOE 2000, BIOE 3000, and BIOE 4000 will have the words "Co-operative Education" appear on their transcript.

4.5 Biosystems Engineering Course Descriptions-2000 Level

BIOE 2000 Coop Work Study 1

Work assignments in business, industry or government for cooperative education students in Biosystems Engineering. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month work period.

BIOE 2090 Machinery for Agricultural Production

(Formerly 034.209) Farm machinery selection. Machine performance. Ownership and operating costs. Analysis of machine functions for safety and efficiency.

BIOE 2110 Transport Phenomena

(Formerly 034.211) Principles of heat transfer, solar radiation, psychometrics, molecular diffusion, mass transfer and refrigeration and their application to biosystems. Prerequisite: ENG 1460 (or 130.112).

BIOE 2222 Precision Agriculture Concepts and Applications

Precision agriculture is a philosophy of agricultural management that has been enabled by modern technology. This course examines the technology and the techniques of precision agriculture including GPS, GIS, variable rate technologies, and yield monitoring that can be used to improve the efficiency of agricultural operations by decreasing costs, increasing profits, and decreasing hazards to the environment.

BIOE 2580 Biosystems Engineering Design Trilogy 1

(Formerly 034.258) Biosystems Engineering and its place in the professions of engineering and agronomy. Design concepts, with an emphasis on team building and technical communication skills. Philosophy of project planning. Preparation of a conceptual design by teams in response to design assignment submitted by industry. Written report presented orally. Prerequisite: ENG 1430 OR THE FORMER ENG 1400 (OR 130.140).

BIOE 2590 Biology for Engineers

(Formerly 034.259) Provide theories and principles of Biology to engineering students and present applications of biological principles to engineering problems. Fundamental theories involved in cell structure and function, metabolism, genetics and heredity, bacteria and virus structure and function, plant and animal structure and function are covered. An introduction to animal and plant physiology is also provided. Laboratory sessions and term assignments focus on the engineering applications of these basic theories and principles to provide a good understanding of the role of Biology in Engineering. Prerequisite: CHEM 1300 (or 002.130).

4.5 Biosystems Engineering Course Descriptions-3000 Level

BIOE 3000 Cooperative Work Study 2

Work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students in Biosystems Engineering. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month work period. Not to be held with the former BIOE 3550 or 034.355. Prerequisite: BIOE 2000.

BIOE 3200 Environmental Engineering for Non-Engineers

This course will discuss air pollution and odor control, remediation of contaminated soil and ground water, waste-water and solid waste treatment, and the role of biotechnology in these processes. Consent of Instructor required.

BIOE 3270 Instrumentation and Measurement for Biosystems

(Formerly 034.327) Basic instrumentation for measuring electrical and non-electrical quantities associated with biosystems engineering and industry; transducers for automatic control. Prerequisites: [MATH 2132 (or the former MATH 2110 (or 136.211))] and [ENG 1450 or the former ENG 1180 (130.118)].

BIOE 3320 Engineering Properties of Biological Materials

Engineering properties of biological and interacting materials within the system. Relationship between composition, structure, and properties of plant, animal, and human tissues. Definition and measurement of mechanical, thermal, electromagnetic, chemical and biological properties and their variability. Use of these properties in engineering calculations. Prerequisites: Math 2130 (or Math 2100 or 136.210), CIVL 2800 (or 23.280) or MECH 2222 (or Mech 2220 or 025.222) BIOE 2580 (or 034.258). Not to be held with the former 034.323.

BIOE 3530 Engineering Fundamentals

(Formerly 034.353) Principles of heat transfer, steam, psychometrics, fluid mechanics, material balances, electricity and refrigeration. Cannot be held for credit in the Faculty of Engineering. Not to be held with the former 034.329. Prerequisite: [MATH 1300 or equivalent] and [MATH 1500 or equivalent] or the former MATH 1680 (136.168).

BIOE 3580 Biosystems Engineering Design Trilogy 2

BIOE 3580 Biosystems Engineering Design Trilogy 2 Cr.Hrs.4 (Formerly 034.358) Advanced design concepts associated with Biosystems Engineering, with emphasis on the principles of safety and human factors engineering. Theory of project planning. Preparation of a preliminary design by design teams in response to a design assignment submitted by industry. Written report with engineering drawings presented orally. Prerequisites: BIOE 2580 (or 034.258 or 034.214). Not to be held with the former 034.326.

BIOE 3590 Mechanics of Materials in Biosystems

BIOE 3590 Mechanics of Materials in Biosystems Cr.Hrs.4 (Formerly 034.359) In this course students will be exposed to both the theory and physical behaviour of materials when subjected to loads. The course will be delivered using a combination of lectures and hands-on labs. The materials presented include a wide range of design biosystems engineers may be involved with, including plastics, bone, wood, concrete, steel, other biological materials and composites. Prerequisite: CIVL 2800 (or 023.280), or consent of instructor. Not to be with the former 034.324

4.5 Biosystems Engineering Course Descriptions-4000 Level

BIOE 4000 Coop Work Study 3

Work assignments in business, industry or government for cooperative education students in Biosystems Engineering. Requires submission of a written report covering work completed during the four-month work period. Not to be held with the former BIOE 4550 (or 034.455). Prerequisite: BIOE 3000.

BIOE 4240 Graduation Project

Either an independent or a directed study including at least one of: a comprehensive literature review, an experimental research project, or an engineering design problem. The project is to be concluded by a formal report or thesis. Prerequisites: BIOE 3270 (034.327) or approval of department.

BIOE 4390 Unit Operations 1

Equipment and systems used in handling, mixing, size reduction, separation and size enlargement of value-added food products. Prerequisites: CIVL 2790 (or 023.279) or MECH 2262 (or 025.226). Corequisites: BIOE 3320 (or 034.332 or 034.323), BIOE 3270 (or 034.327).

BIOE 4412 Design of Light-Frame Building Systems

Light-frame buildings as a structural and environmental system; structural loads in building systems; energy (heat), moisture and air contaminants in building systems; built-environment for building occupants. Hands-on labs of constructing small-scale structures for students to gain an understanding of building construction techniques. Prerequisites: BIOE 2110 (or 034.211) and BIOE 3590 (034.359).

BIOE 4414 Imaging and Spectroscopy for Biosystems

The purpose of this course is to familiarize senior Biosystems Engineering students with the fundamentals of imaging and spectroscopy for biosystems. Techniques of image acquisition, storage, processing, and pattern recognition will be taught. Various spectroscopy techniques and their applicability to biological materials will be discussed. Analysis of data using statistical, artificial neural networks and chemometric methods will be covered. Offered in alternate years. Prerequisite: BIOE 3270 (034.327)

BIOE 4416 Topics in Biosystems Engineering

This course will cover contemporary topics in Biosystems Engineering. The specific topics and a detailed outline will be available at the time of registration. Prerequisite: Permission of the department.

BIOE 4420 Crop Preservation

(Formerly 034.442) Biological and physical deterioration during storage. Methods of preserving and storing cereals, oilseeds, and other agricultural crops. Prerequisite: BIOE 2110 (or 034.211). Not offered in 2005-2006.

BIOE 4440 Bioprocessing for Biorefining

This course will provide students with an understanding of the principles involved in the design of proper conditions for processing of biomaterials for production of high-quality biofuels and bioproducts. The content of this course is built on the principles of physics, transport phenomena, thermodynamics, reaction, kinetics, fermentation, and industrial unit operations. Prerequisite: BIOE 2110 (or 034.211). Pre-or corequisite: BIOE 3320 (or 034.332 or 034.323)

BIOE 4460 Air Pollution Assessment and Management

Air pollutant sources and characteristics, their impact on the environment, their behaviour in the atmosphere. Methods of sampling and measurement and the basic technological alternatives available for separation/removal and control. Particular problems of regional interest are discussed. Corequisites: CIVL 2790 (or 023.279) or MECH 2262 (or MECH 2260 or 025.226).

BIOE 4480 Environmental Impact Assessment

(Formerly 034.448) Basic methodologies for conducting impact assessments, including physical, chemical and ecological impacts. Prerequisites: approval of department. Not offered in 2005-2006.

BIOE 4500 Water Management

(Formerly 034.450) Introduction to the design of irrigation and drainage systems. Topics in irrigation include sprinklers, laterals, mainline and pumps. Drainage topics cover both the surface and subsurface systems. Analysis of precipitation and runoff. Environmental impacts of water management. Offered alternate years.

BIOE 4520 Crop Preservation and Handling

(Formerly 034.452) Interaction of biological and physical factors related to methods of preserving, storing, and handling cereals, oilseeds, and other agricultural crops. Offered alternate years.

BIOE 4530 Analysis and Design of Biomachinery

Design of machines for bioprocessing; traction mechanics and tractor chassis mechanics; power transmission components; functional requirements for field and process machines; fluid power hydraulics. Prerequisite: BIOE 2580 (or 034.258).

BIOE 4560 Structural Design in Wood

(Formerly 034.456) Design using wood as a structural material in light-frame buildings. Consideration of design constraints associated with sawn lumber as well as based composite materials. Emphasis on use of computer based design aids. Prerequisites: CIVL 3770 (or 023.377) or BIOE 3590 (034.359) or 034.324.

BIOE 4580 Biosystems Engineering Design Trilogy 3

(Formerly 034.458) Advanced design concepts, with emphasis on the principle of quality control. Application of project planning techniques. Principles of owning and operating an engineering consulting company. Preparation of a final design by design teams in response to a design assignment submitted by industry. Written report with cost of services rendered, presented orally. Prerequisite: BIOE 3580 (or 034.358) or 034.326. Not to be held with the former 034.413.

BIOE 4590 Management of By-Products from Animal Production

Topics covered include solid and liquid manure, manure characteristics, manure collection, storage, land application and utilization, biological treatment, design of equipment and facilities for manure handling. Environment issues, such as odour and water pollution associated with manure management will also be discussed. Prerequisites: CIVL 2790 (or 023.279) or MECH 2262 (or MECH 2260 or 025.226).

BIOE 4600 Design of Water Management Systems

(Formerly 034.460) To introduce the basic theoretical principles in the design of irrigation and drainage systems. Topics covered include the determination of irrigation depth and interval, evapotranspiration, measurement and analysis of precipitation, design of sprinkler and drip irrigation systems, selection of pumps, surface and subsurface drainage design, water quality issues, salinity management, and the environmental impact of water management practices. Corequisite: SOIL 4060 (or 040.406) or CIVL 3730 (or 023.373) or consent of instructor.

BIOE 4610 Design of Assistive Technology Devices

(Formerly 034.461) Application and design of technology for individuals with disabilities; emphasizing the development of the requisite knowledge, skills, and attitudes to evaluate, design, and implement client-centred assistive technology. A multi-disciplinary approach to learning and applying knowledge will be emphasized with engineering and medical rehabilitation students collaborating on a design project. Prerequisite: ZOOL 1330 or 022.133.

BIOE 4620 Remediation Engineering

The theoretical basis for the engineering design of different remediation technologies to treat contaminated soil and groundwater will be introduced. Methods for site characterization, monitoring of progress in remediation, and modeling of the remediation process will be presented. Different methods such as soil washing, air sparging, bioremediation, phytoremediation, constructed wetlands, electrokinetic remediation, reactive barriers will be discussed. Prerequisite: CIVL 2790 (or 023.279) or MECH 2262 (or MECH 2260 or 025.226).

BIOE 4630 Pollution Prevention Practices

To give students an understanding of pollution prevention as it relates to solids and hazardous waste management, air and water pollution, energy usage, and resource depletion. To evaluate practices on improved manufacturing operations, present fundamentals of pollution prevention economics, examine waste minimization incentives, design improvements to existing systems, and investigate overall sustainability of industrial practices. Prerequisite: CIVL 2790 (or 023.279) or MECH 2262 (or MECH 2260 or 025.226).

BIOE 4640 Bioengineering Applications in Medicine

This course surveys bioengineering applications and medicine from a clinical engineering perspective. Topics include: clinical engineering practice; device development legislation; biomedical sensors; biosensors; biomaterials and biocompatibility; as well as the principles of and design for medical imaging equipment. Prerequisites: ZOOL 1320 (022.132) and ZOOL 1330 (022.133) and BIOE 3320 (0343.332).

BIOE 4700 Alternative Building Design

This course will provide students with experience in the design of structures that utilize natural and green building materials and techniques. Students will get hands-on lab experience with various natural building materials such as straw, straw light clay, cob and stackwall. Prerequisites: BIOE 3590 (or 034.359) or CIVL 3770 (or 023.377).

4.6 Civil Engineering

4.6 Civil Engineering,
4.6.1 Civil Engineering,

The Department of Civil Engineering offers a fully accredited degree program in Civil Engineering. Graduates of the Civil Engineering program are academically qualified to register as Engineers-in-Training in engineering licensing bodies in Canada.

The Civil Engineering program is designed to give students a broad knowledge of engineering principles and professional practice. The program has a strong core component that provides exposure to a range of areas in Civil Engineering, including – but not limited to – the design of building and bridges, the design of facilities and methods for treatment of water, waste water and solid waste, the design of foundations and earthworks such as dams and river bank protection, transportation planning, the design of roads and pavement, the design of hydraulic structures such as sewers, canals, and spillways, and the management of surface and ground water. In the last years of the program, there are some opportunities for specialization through selection of technical elective courses.

A cooperative education option allows students to include practical work experience in their program.

Civil Engineering Degree Program

Students are to consult with the department for four and five-year program plans. Students are expected to follow the program plans when possible, as timetabling and course offerings are based on these plans.

Environmental Engineering Option

An option in Environmental Engineering provides an opportunity for students to focus on environmental engineering related courses.

Student Support

Summer employment for a limited number of undergraduate students may be offered by the Department of Civil Engineering. Typical duties include assisting academic staff members with their research projects.

Laboratory Safety

Students entering Civil Engineering are required to attend a seminar on laboratory safety. The seminar will normally be held in September.

Preliminary Engineering Program

Common to all Engineering programs. (See Section 4.2 for details.)

1) Students are required to take any course from the Faculty of Arts or Faculty of Management, at the 1000 level or above, as a complementary studies elective. However,

ARTS 1110 Introduction to University may not be used for credit in the Faculty of Engineering.

2) Students may take one technical elective course with a significant engineering science and/or design component from another department, subject to the approval by the head (or designate) of Civil Engineering

Co-operative Education Option in Civil Engineering

The Department of Civil Engineering offers a co-operative education option that provides a combination of education and experience by alternating academic terms with work terms.

Students generally apply for the co-op program in their fourth term of engineering studies. Entry into the program is competitive. Acceptance is based on GPA and general aptitude, and is contingent upon receiving a work term placement through the co-op office. The Department of Civil Engineering reserves the right to determine and select the best-qualified applicants.

Undergraduate Studies

Students who are unable to maintain the standards of the co-op program will be transferred back into the regular program.

The course and grade requirements for completion of the Co-operative Education

Option are the same as those required for the regular program.

However, in order to satisfy course prerequisite requirements, timetables may differ from the regular program. Co-op students are evaluated in the same manner as regular students and all rules and regulations of the Faculty of Engineering apply.

Written reports must be completed at the end of each work term. Each successfully completed work term and its corresponding work term report receives a Pass/Fail grade. Co-op graduates with a passing grade in at least three work terms will have the Co-operative Education Option acknowledged on their B.Sc. (C.E.) graduation parchment.

4.7 Civil Engineering Course Descriptions-2000 Level

CIVL 2770 Civil Engineering Materials

(Formerly 023.277) Principles of testing; testing standards; instrumentation; data acquisition systems; mechanical properties of steel, iron, cement, concrete, asphalt, wood and composites; classification and particle size analysis of soils and aggregates. Prerequisite: ENG 1440 (or 130.144). Corequisite: CIVL 2800 (or 023.280).

CIVL 2780 Civil Engineering Systems

(Formerly 023.278) Introduction to applied systems analysis approach. Use of applied systems analysis in Civil Engineering. Optimization techniques: linear programming; dynamic programming; other techniques. Evaluation: decision analysis. Prerequisite: (MATH 1710 (or 136.171) or MATH 1700 (or 136.170)) (C)

CIVL 2790 Fluid Mechanics

(Formerly 023.279) Definition of fluid; fluid properties; variation of pressure in a fluid; hydrostatic forces; buoyancy; kinematics of flow; control volumes; continuity; Bernoulli's equation; momentum equation; energy equation; flow in closed conduits; open channel flow. Prerequisite: ENG 1440 (or 130.144).

CIVL 2800 Solid Mechanics 1

(Formerly 023.280) Analysis of deformable bodies; stress and strain in three dimensions; equilibrium equations and strain-displacement relations; constitutive relations and mechanical behaviour of materials; radially symmetric and plane problems in elasticity; relevant experimental demonstrations. Prerequisite: ENG 1440 (or 130.144).

CIVL 2830 Graphics for Civil Engineers

Orthographic Drawing: Object Orientation and Views, Space Dimensions, Surfaces, Lines, and Hidden Features. Computer-based Drawings. Applications: Steel and Reinforced Concrete Structures, Digital Terrain Models, Ethical, Legal and Professional Issues. Not to be held with the former 130.140. Co-requisite: CIVL 2840 Civil Engineering Geomatics.

CIVL 2840 Civil Engineering Geomatics

Geomatics in civil engineering, map-making, map-reading, computerized maps; leveling; distance measurement angles, directions, traverses; coordinate geometry; electronic survey instruments; global positioning system; geographic information systems; digital photogrammetric methods and data; aspects of route surveying. Not to be held with the former 023.281 or 023.282 or CIVL 2820. Pre or Co-requisite: MATH 1210 (C), Co-requisite: CIVL 2830 Graphics for Civil Engineers.

CIVL 2900 Co-op Work Term 1

Work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment. (Pass/Fail Grade) May not be held with CIVL 3560.

4.7 Civil Engineering Course Descriptions-3000 Level

CIVL 3590 Numerical Methods in Engineering Analysis

(Formerly 023.359) Variety of numerical techniques applicable to solutions of problems in civil engineering. Students may not hold credit for CIVL 3590 (023.359) and MATH 2120 (or 136.212). Prerequisite: COMP 1010 (or 074.101) (C). Pre or Co-requisite: MATH 2132, MATH 2100 (or 136.210)

CIVL 3690 Environmental Engineering Analysis

(Formerly 023.369) Introduction to environmental engineering analysis concept; risk assessment; colloidal dispersions; mass balances, reaction kinetics and reactor design principles. Water pollution and water quality in rivers and lakes. Physical, chemical and biological unit operations and processes applied in water and/or wastewater treatment. Meteorology and air pollution; atmospheric dispersion. Solid waste management issues. Prerequisites: (CHEM 2560 (C) or CIVL 2760 (or 023.276) (C)), STAT 2220 (or 005.222) (C)

CIVL 3700 Environmental Engineering Design

(Formerly 023.370) Design principles are developed for water, solid/soil and air pollution control. Application of the principles in design projects which may include surface and groundwater remediation, solid waste management, landfilling, soil remediation and site assessment; municipal and industrial wastewater treatment; odour and air pollution abatement facilities. Prerequisite: CIVL 3690 (or 023.369).

CIVL 3710 Finite Element Analysis

(Formerly 023.371) One-dimensional analysis of fluid flow, seepage and heat transfer; truss, beam and frame elements; two-dimensional problems; isoparametric elements and Gauss quadrature; time-dependent problems, diffusion, consolidation, and time integration methods; introduction to commercial packages; solution of problems in civil engineering (seepage, dams, pavements). Prerequisites: CIVL 2790 (or 023.279) (C), CIVL 2800 (or 023.280) (C), CIVL 3590 (or 23.359) (C)

CIVL 3730 Geotechnical Materials and Analysis

(Formerly 023.373) Geotechnical Materials and Analysis (3-1.5T:0-0) 4 Soil and rock properties: laboratory and field techniques; in situ states of stress and consolidations; constitutive models; stress beneath loaded areas and around tunnels; analysis of simple retaining structures and slopes; stability and settlement of shallow and deep foundations in soil and rock. Prerequisites: GEOL 2250 (or 007.225), CIVL 2770 (23.277), CIVL 2800 (or 023.280).

CIVL 3740 Hydraulics

(Formerly 023.374) Hydraulics of uniform and gradually varied flow; backwater computation and classification of surface water profiles; hydraulics jumps, spillways, and stilling basins; flow over weirs; hydraulic models; theory of turbomachinery. Prerequisite: CIVL 2790 (or 023.279).

CIVL 3750 Hydrology

(Formerly 023.375) Basic hydrological processes; precipitation; evapotranspiration; infiltration and runoff; analytical methods; hydrograph theory and application; application to reservoir design; project floods and flow forecasting; statistical analysis. Prerequisite or corequisite: STAT 2220 (or 005.222).

CIVL 3760 Structural Analysis

(Formerly 023.376) Different structural forms and load distribution, analysis of Undergraduate Studies cables; statically determinate curved, beams and frames; influence lines; energy methods and deflections of structures; flexibility and stiffness methods; computer-aided structural analysis; introduction to structural dynamics. Prerequisite: CIVL 2800 (or 023.280).

CIVL 3770 Structural Design 1

(Formerly 023.377) Introduction to design of steel structures; loading, structural configurations; design of simple members and connections; building code requirements. Prerequisites: CIVL 2770 (or 023.277) (C), CIVL 3760 (or 23.376) (C).

CIVL 3790 Transportation Engineering 1

(Formerly 023.379) Introduction to transportation. Overview of Canada and U.S. transport systems. Fundamentals of transport systems analysis. Introduction to sequential demand modeling. Analysis and evaluation of uninterrupted flow on highways. Basics of geometric design of highways. Basics of design of at-grade intersections. Introduction to computer applications in transportation engineering. Basics of pavement engineering and design. Prerequisites: CIVL 2820 (or 023.282) or CIVL 2840, CIVL 2770 (or 023.277), CIVL 2780 (or 023.278), STAT 2220 (or 005.222).

CIVL 3910 Co-Op Work Term 2

Work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment. Prerequisite: CIVIL 2900. (Pass/Fail Grade). May not be held with CIVL 3570.

4.7 Civil Engineering Course Descriptions-4000 Level

CIVL 4020 Masonry Design and Construction

Introduction to the building codes that govern masonry design. Advanced design procedures for masonry members and structures. Single-story and multi-story building design. Prerequisite: CIVL 3760.

CIVL 4030 Structural Design 3

(Formerly 023.403) Prestressed concrete structures; fibre-reinforced concrete structures; bridge loading, analysis and design in steel and concrete; special topics in structural engineering. Corequisite: CIVL 2770 (or 23.277), CIVL 2800 (or 23.280), CIVL 3760 (or 23.376), CIVL 3770 (23.377), CIVL 4390 (or 023.439).

CIVL 4040 Structural Dynamics

(Formerly 023.404) Dynamic loads in civil engineering; overview of structural dynamics; single-degree-of-freedom systems; free-vibration, harmonic, periodic and impulsive loads; multi-degree-of-freedom systems; distributed systems; beam vibrations; steady-state vibrations of foundations; introduction to earthquake engineering; elastic waves in soils, response and design spectrums; wind vibrations. Prerequisite: CIVL 3760 (or 023.376).

CIVL 4050 Engineering Economics

(Formerly 023.405) Introduction to engineering economics. Time value of money and discounted cash flow calculations. Comparing alternatives. Replacement analysis and life-cycle costing. Public sector engineering economy studies. Private sector engineering economy studies. Before and after-tax analysis. Applications in cost-estimating. Applications in asset management systems. Basic accounting. Accommodating capital limitations. Dealing with inflation. Dealing with risk and uncertainty. Prerequisite: STAT 2220 (or 005.222).

CIVL 4100 Engineering Management and the Environment

(Formerly 023.410) Teams of students apply environmental management techniques, such as: impact assessment, site assessment, and auditing to selected engineering construction projects and operations; several oral and written reports are required. Corequisite: CIVL 3700 (or 023.370).

CIVL 4180 Environmental Systems

(Formerly 023.418) Development of a river water quality model; waste allocation modelling; modelling of the sites selection process; analysis of environmental impact using technical and non-technical (i.e. sociological, ethical, aesthetic) parameters. Prerequisites: CIVL 2780 (or 023.278), CIVL 3690 (or 023.369), CIVL 3750 (or 023.375).

CIVL 4200 Groundwater Contamination

(Formerly 023.420) Introduction to the principles of groundwater chemistry; chemical evolution of natural groundwater flow systems; sources of contamination; mass transport processes; hydrochemical behaviour of contaminants; nuclear waste disposal; non-aqueous phase organics; aquifer remediation. Prerequisites: CIVL 4250 (or 023.425), GEOL 2250 (or 007.225).

CIVL 4220 Geotechnical Design

(Formerly 023.422) Site characterization; design and construction of surface footings, deep foundations, tunnels, earth and rock support systems; design and remediation of slopes; frozen soils and foundation design; geosynthetics and geofabrics in geotechnical construction; reinforced earth; geoenvironmental issues; tailing dams, clean-up, and remediation. Prerequisite: CIVL 3730 (or 023.373).

CIVL 4230 Geotechnical Engineering

(Formerly 023.423) Case-history approach to geotechnical engineering practice from civil and mining engineering; relationship between predicted and observed behaviour; surface and shallow footings; propped walls and bulkheads; rock and soft ground tunneling; deep foundations; rock and soil slopes; culverts; geoenvironmental problems. Prerequisite: CIVL 3730 (or 023.373).

CIVL 4250 Groundwater Hydrology

(Formerly 023.425) Introduction to theory of groundwater flow; flow nets; regional groundwater flow; well hydraulics; role of groundwater in geologic and engineering processes; multiphase flow. Prerequisites: GEOL 2250 (or 007.225), CIVL 2790 (or 23.279), MATH 2130 (or MATH 2110), MATH 2132 (or MATH 2100).

CIVL 4330 Graduation Project

(Formerly 023.433) The student will undertake an original study involving engineering design, procedure, or experimental investigation that emphasizes the student's initiative and judgement. The student must demonstrate an ability to plan, conduct and formally report on the study by written thesis and oral presentation. Pre-requisite: Completion of 120 credit hours, ENG 2010 (or 130.201).

CIVL 4350 Hazardous Waste Treatment

(Formerly 023.435) Sources and classification of hazardous and industrial wastes. Overview of the waste management problem. Theory and applications of various physical, chemical, and thermal, waste treatment processes. Waste elimination options and strategies. Prerequisite: CIVL 3690 (or 023.369).

CIVL 4380 Infrastructure Engineering and Construction Management

(Formerly 023.438) Infrastructure engineering; drainage systems, maintenance engineering and management. Construction and project management; workplace health and safety, construction site field trips, construction equipment, temporary facilities, project management. Elements of law for civil engineers. Prerequisites: CIVL 4050 (or 023.405).

CIVL 4390 Structural Design 2

(Formerly 023.439) Design in reinforced concrete; properties of materials; ultimate strength design; analysis and design of sections in bending; shear and development considerations; short- and long-term deflection; sections subjected to bending and axial stresses; design of simple floor systems; column footings. Prerequisite: CIVL 2770 (or 023.277), CIVL 2800 (or 023.280), CIVL 3760 (or 023.376), CIVL 3770 (or 023.377).

CIVL 4400 Transportation Engineering 2

(Formerly 023.440) Fundamentals of traffic control for highways. Capacity and level of service analysis on urban streets. Urban supplement to geometric design guide for Canadian roads. Modelling vehicle performance. Elements of railway engineering. Design for trucks. Transportation systems management. Application of intelligent transportation systems. Basic pavement design methods. Introduction to pavement management systems. Highway accidents and design for safety. Legislative and policy framework for transportation engineering. Prerequisite: CIVL 3790 (or 023.379).

CIVL 4410 Transportation Systems

(Formerly 023.441) Contemporary approaches to transportation planning. Data for transportation planning. Advanced demand analysis and modelling. Illustrative transport planning studies. Planning and design for public passenger transportation. Planning and design for barrier-free transportation and transport of disabled persons. Goods movement and trucking studies. Planning and design for motor carrier operations. Planning and design for grain handling and transportation. Transport planning in developing countries. Evaluating transport plans and projects. Transport and the environment. Transport and energy. Vehicle operating costs and engineering unit cost models. Prerequisite: CIVL 3790 (or 023.379).

CIVL 4420 Highway Pavement Design

(Formerly 023.442) Soil classification and properties; soil-moisture-density-strength relationships; earthwork operations and specifications; soil stabilization; granular bases; surface drainage; structural design of flexible and rigid pavements. Prerequisites: CIVL 2770 (or 023.277), CIVL 3790 (or 023.379).

CIVL 4460 Technology, Society, and the Future

(Formerly 023.446) Impact of technology and technological change on society - past, present, future; specific technologies, e.g. construction, machine power, computers, communications, medical, military: the process of technological change; invisible effects of technology; technology and resource use; sustainable development, limits to growth and the role of technology. Prerequisite: ENGL 1310 (or 004.131) or ENGL 1320 (or 004.132).

CIVL 4470 Watershed Processes

(Formerly 023.447) Rainfall-runoff processes, flood routing; characteristics and mechanics of flow in (natural) channels; computer modelling of watershed hydrology and hydraulics; influence of man-made structures; river morphology, sediment transport prediction, design of a stable channel; river ice processes. Prerequisites: CIVL 3750 (or 023.375), (or 023.375), Pre or co-requisite: CIVL 3740 (or 23.374).

CIVL 4590 Design Project

(Formerly 023.459) An interdisciplinary project-based course involving engineering design, teamwork and delivered in studio format. Students are expected to work in pre-assigned teams under the guidance of professional engineers on a pre-determined project. Lecture material will cover project management, construction, environmental and economic issues. Each team will be required to give an oral presentation of their design project. Prerequisite: CIVL 3770 (or 023.377), CIVL 3700 (or 023.370) and ENG 2010 (or 130.201).

CIVL 4900 Engineering Cooperative Education Assignment 3

CIVL 4910 Engineering Cooperative Education Assignment 4

CIVL 4920 Co-op Work Term 3

Work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment. Prerequisite: CIVL 3910 (Pass/Fail Grade). May not be held with CIVL 4900.

CIVL 4930 Co-op Work Term 4

Work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment. Prerequisite: CIVL 4920 (Pass/Fail grade). May not be held with CIVL 4910.

CIVL 4940 Co-op Work Term 5

Work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment. Prerequisite: CIVL 4930 (Pass/Fail Grade). May not be held with CIVL 4210.

Head: Dr. U. Annakkage, P.Eng.

Associate Head (Computer Engineering): Dr. W. Kinsner, P.Eng.

Associate Head (Electrical Engineering): Dr. C. Shafai, P.Eng.

The Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering offers two fully accredited degree programs, one in Electrical Engineering and one in Computer Engineering. Both programs may include an industry internship. The programs are designed to give students knowledge of the basic principles of engineering and, in particular, an adequate training and education in the fundamentals and professional applications of Electrical and Computer Engineering. It is recommended that students entering Electrical or Computer Engineering acquire their own computer.

Industry Internship Program (IIP)

Director: Dr. R. McLeod, P.Eng.

Coordinator: Elenor Friesen

The Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering offers an Industry Internship Program. This program is designed to complement and enrich the academic program with practical work experience. Preceding the final year, a student in either the Electrical Engineering or the Computer Engineering program has the option of spending a continuous work term period of 12 to 16 months in industry. This work term provides the student with practical experience, helps to finance the student's education, and provides guidance for further career specialization.

A student in good academic standing, who will have completed 120 credit hours of the academic program by the end of the session, may apply to participate in the Industry Internship Program. Acceptance in ECE 4720 Industry Internship is dependent upon the student receiving job placement.

Satisfactory work reports, which will be evaluated by faculty members in the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering, are required upon returning in order to have this participation recorded in the student's transcript.

Second Degree in Electrical or Computer Engineering

Requirements include:

1. The completion of all deficient third and lower year courses required for the second degree. If a student has already taken any of these courses as fourth year electives towards the first degree, then they will not have to repeat or replace the courses already taken.
2. The equivalent of a full fourth year program required for the second degree, i.e., twelve half courses. This must include:
 - i) A second thesis on a different topic relating to the field of the second degree
 - ii) All the fourth year course requirements of the second degree. If a student has already taken one or more of the required fourth year courses during their first degree, then they must replace these courses by other appropriate fourth year courses as approved by the Department Head. For example, core courses common to both programs must be replaced by fourth year electives from the Department.

Electrical Engineering Degree Program

The program in Electrical Engineering has a core-plus-elective structure. The core develops the necessary base in mathematics, the physical sciences, dynamics, thermodynamics, electric fields and circuits, and fundamental professional courses focused on energy conversion and transmission, electronics, materials and devices, Undergraduate Studies communications, and control systems. The final year includes a capstone group design project, control systems, and communication systems as core requirements, with the remaining program based on electives. A certain level of specialization is possible through the selection of elective courses offered in the final year.

The student's program must include a three credit hour complementary studies elective. Courses in engineering economics, technical writing, and ecology, technology and society are compulsory.

Students are encouraged to consult with the department for model four- and five-year programs. Students are strongly encouraged to follow the model programs when possible, as timetabling and course offerings are based on these.

NOTES:

1. Course continuing through both terms; credit given on completion of course.
2. The complementary studies elective can be any course at the 1000 level or above from either the faculties of Arts or Management. However, ARTS 1110 (formerly 099.111) Introduction to University may not be used for credit in the Faculty of Engineering.
3. A minimum of 4 electives are required from Group A; the other 3 electives may be taken from either Group A or B.

4. The Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering does not guarantee that all elective courses will be offered every session or that it will be possible to fit courses into all of the many possible timetable combinations of students taking the programs. The term in which an elective course is offered is specified each year in the online timetables on the Department website. There may be a maximum limit set on the number of students allowed to take a particular elective in a session. Similarly, there may be a minimum limit and if registration is below the minimum, the elective will be cancelled and those registered will be required to transfer to another elective before the deadline date for course changes.

5. Students are urged to discuss their program of courses with members of the instructional staff toward the end of their third year to obtain advice concerning the best choice of electives for their needs.

6. The science elective course is to be chosen from a list of courses approved by the department.

7. Requires permission of the Department.

8. Students who do not complete ECE 3730 are required to have taken both ECE 3710 and ECE 4240.

Focus Areas in Electrical Engineering

Students wishing to pursue more focused studies in an Electrical Engineering subject/research area have the choice of doing so through a Focus Area. Courses taken towards an Area take the place of some or all of the 7 Technical Electives required in Electrical Engineering. See <http://www.ece.umanitoba.ca/undergraduate> for a detailed description of each area and the courses required.

4.9 Electrical and Computer Engineering Course Descriptions-2000 Level

ECE 2160 Electronics 2E
(Formerly 024.216) Characteristics of integrated circuits and transistors; design of DC and AC amplifiers in the steady state. Prerequisite: ECE 2262.

ECE 2220 Digital Logic Systems
(Formerly 024.222) Boolean algebra and logic primitives, net-work simplification techniques, physical realizations, number systems and codes; analysis and design of asynchronous and synchronous sequential circuits; applications to computation, measurements, and control. Prerequisite ENG 1450

ECE 2240 Numerical Methods for Electrical Engineers
Numerical methods applied to Electrical Engineering problems; mathematical models of physical systems, solutions of linear and non-linear equations, numerical differentiation and integration methods and associated errors, introduction to solution analysis. May not be held with MATH 2120. Prerequisites ECE 2262, COMP 1010, MATH 2132

ECE 2262 Electric Circuits
The application of circuit concepts; network theorems and formal methods, steady state analysis, frequency and transient response, application of the Laplace transform in the analysis of linear time-invariant networks. Prerequisite: [ENG 1450 (or 130.118). Pre- or corequisite: MATH 2132 or [MATH 2100 or 136.210 and MATH 2110 or 136.211].

4.9 Electrical and Computer Engineering Course Descriptions-3000 Level

ECE 3010 Elements of Electric Machines and Digital Systems
Introduction to elementary concepts in ac circuits, electric machines, and digital sub-systems. Topics include electrical impedance, capacitors, inductors, electric motors, logic gates, decoders, multiplexing, flip flops, registers, microprocessor structures, I/O and data acquisition. Not available to students in Electrical or Computer Engineering. Prerequisite ENG 1450, MATH 2132, and a year class designation of Year 3 or Year 4.

ECE 3540 Advanced Circuit Analysis and Design
Application of the Laplace Transform in the analysis of linear time-invariant networks, poles, zeros and frequency response; natural frequencies; general network theorems; two ports; energy and passivity; transmission lines; time and frequency domain. Prerequisite: ECE 2262 (or ECE 2260) and MATH 3132 (or MATH 3100 or 136.310).

ECE 3580 Foundations of Electromagnetics
(Formerly ECE 2130) Fundamental laws of field theory; Maxwell's equations in integral and point form. Prerequisite: PHYS 2152, MATH 3132 (or MATH 3100)

ECE 3590 Electromagnetic Theory

Electrostatics; magnetostatics, Maxwell's equations and time-varying electromagnetic fields; polarization, boundary value problems; reflection and refraction; Poynting vector. Prerequisite: ECE 3580 (or the former ECE 2130).

ECE 3600 Physical Electronics

(Formerly 024.360) Basic solid state theory; properties of semi-conductors; principles of metal-semiconductor junctions, p-n junctions and transistors; optoelectronic processes. Prerequisites: PHYS 2152 or (PHYS 1070 or 016.107) and MATH 3132 or (MATH 3100 or 136.310), and ECE 3670 (or 024.367).

ECE 3610 Microprocessing Systems

(Formerly 024.361) Fundamentals of microprocessors and microcomputers; data flow; machine programming; architectures and instructions sets; stacks, subroutines, I/O, and interrupts; interfacing fundamentals; designing with microprocessors. Prerequisite: ECE 2220 (or 024.222).

ECE 3650 Electric Machines

Continuation of ECE 3720, including steady state and transient performance and introductory power systems theory. Prerequisite: ECE 3720

ECE 3670 Electronics 3E

(Formerly 024.367) Continuation of ECE 2160 (or 024.216), including device models, feedback, regulators, frequency effects, oscillators, and bistability and gates. Prerequisite: ECE 2160 (or 024.216).

ECE 3700 Telecommunication Network Engineering

(Formerly 024.370) This course will introduce modem concepts in telecommunications, including LANs, WANs, telephone networks, wireless and mobile networks, and Internet networks. Focus will be on design engineering, and management of networks, and on network programming for client server architectures. Prerequisite: COMP 2140 (or 074.214).

ECE 3710 Design of Engineering Software

(Formerly 024.371) This course will introduce various practical tools and techniques for developing engineering software. Topics to be covered include: Object oriented analysis and design, data structures, network programming, graphical user interfaces, and software engineering. Prerequisite: COMP 1010 (or 074.101).

ECE 3720 Electric Power and Machines

(Formerly 024.372) Principles and applications of electric power, energy conversion and machines. Prerequisite: ECE 2262 or ENG 1180 (or 130.118).

ECE 3730 Principles of Embedded System Design

This course will introduce students to the design and implementation of embedded systems. Topics include introduction to UML and data structures, A-to-D, D-to-A, serial bus architectures, embedded computing, bus-based computer systems, program design and analysis, networks, and hardware-software co-design. Prerequisites: ECE 2160, ECE 3610 and (COMP 1010 or COMP 1012).

ECE 3740 Systems Engineering Principles 1

(Formerly 024.374) Complexity and other system measures and analysis, system architectures and architectural elements for embedded systems, hardware and software, incremental design elaboration. Coding, testing, debugging, verification and validation. Project planning, cost analysis and maintenance. Real-time systems, graphical user interfaces and computational models. Prerequisite: COMP 2140 (or 074.214).

ECE 3750 Systems Engineering Principles 2

(Formerly 024.375) Reliability measures and analysis, software system architectures, system metrics, system verification for embedded systems. Coding practices for large scale embedded system development. Real-time systems, graphical user interfaces, and computational models. Prerequisite: ECE 3740 (or 024.374)

ECE 3760 Digital Systems Design 1

(Formerly 024.376) Register-transfer and control-sequence design using a hardware description language. Design of finite-state machines with data path definitions and algorithms and algorithmic state machine charts. Hard-ware-software co-design.

Prerequisite: ECE 4240 (or 024.424).

ECE 3770 Digital Systems Design 2

(Formerly 024.377) Executable system specification and a methodology for system partitioning and refinement into system-level components. Models and architectures, specification languages, translation to an HDL, system partitioning, design quality estimation, specification refinement into synthesizable models. Prerequisite: ECE 4240 (or 024.424) and MATH 3120 (or 136.312).

ECE 3780 Signal Processing 1

(Formerly 024.378) Introduction to signals and systems; spectral analysis (Fourier Series) of continuous-time periodic signals; spectral analysis of aperiodic signals (Fourier Transform); the impulse response and convolution operator; frequency analysis of linear time-invariant systems; applications to filtering, communications systems, and biological systems; A/D conversion; sampling. Laboratory periods will be used to give students hands-on experience in programming many of the techniques covered in the theoretical parts of the course. Prerequisites: ECE 2262 or ECE 2260 (or 024.226) and MATH 3132 or MATH 3100 (or 136.310).

ECE 3790 Engineering Algorithms

(Formerly 024.379) Numerical algorithms, optimization, statistical description of data random number generation, string processing, geometric algorithms, algorithm machines, dynamic programming and NP complete problems. Prerequisite: COMP 2140 (or 074.214). Pre- or Corequisite: MATH 3132 or MATH 3100 (or 136.310). May not be held with the former 24.451.

4.9 Electrical and Computer Engineering Course Descriptions-4000 Level

ECE 4100 Introduction to Microelectronic Fabrication

Introduction to the fabrication of integrated circuits (ICs). Emphasis is on silicon based devices. Topics include water preparation, oxidation, thin film deposition, diffusion and ion implantation, lithography, wet and dry etching and metallization. An introduction to MEMS and micromachining technology is given. Prerequisite: ECE 3670 (or 24.367).

ECE 4140 Power Transmission Lines; Field Effects and Insulation Coordination

(Formerly 024.414) AC and DC transmission line corona and its environmental effects. Electric field calculations; design methods to reduce electric field. Electrostatic and electromagnetic effects. Insulation design for power frequency, switching and lightning induced surges. Insulation coordination - conventional and probabilistic methods. Power apparatus testing - criteria and significance. Prerequisite: ECE 3720 (or 024.372).

ECE 4150 Control Systems

(Formerly 024.415) Principal methods of analysis and design for feedback control systems. Prerequisite: ECE 3780 (or 024.378) or 024.358.

ECE 4160 Control Engineering

(Formerly 024.416) Design of control systems by frequency domain and root locus method; state equations; introduction to nonlinear analysis. Prerequisite: ECE 4150 (or 024.415).

ECE 4180 Introduction to Robotics

This course provides fundamental concepts of robotics, including robot classification and applications, robot kinematics, sensor and actuators, sensor interfacing, motor control, trajectory planning, and robot programming. Prerequisites: ECE 4150 and ECE 4240.

ECE 4200 Electric Filter Design

Realizability theory, approximation of filtering characteristics, ladder networks and transmission zeros, active RC filter design with regard to sensitivity minimization, phase-shifting and time-delay filters, impulse response of filters, rudiments of digital filters. Prerequisite: ECE 3540 (or ECE 3530).

ECE 4240 Microprocessor Interfacing

(Formerly 024.424) Interfacing of microcomputers to the external world: interfacing of I/O devices with minimum hardware and software; data acquisition with and without microprocessors; data communication, transmission and logging with small computers. Prerequisite: ECE 2160 (or 024.216) and ECE 3610 (or 024.361).

ECE 4250 Digital Communications

(Formerly 024.425) Transmission of digital data; error rates, interference. Information measures, information rate and channel capacity. Coding. Prerequisite: ECE 4260 (or 024.426) and ECE 4830 (or 024.483) or 024.373.

ECE 4260 Communications Systems

(Formerly 024.426) Development and applications of random processes. Analysis and comparison of modulation schemes: AM, FM, PM, PCM. Prerequisites: ECE 3780 (or 024.378) and STAT 2220 (or 005.222).

ECE 4270 Antennas

(Formerly 024.427) Radiation fundamentals, linear antennas, point source arrays, aperture antennas, antenna impedance, antenna systems. Prerequisite: ECE 3590 (or 024.359).

ECE 4280 Engineering Electromagnetics

(Formerly 024.428) Plane, cylindrical and spherical waves, introduction to scattering and diffraction, waveguides, transmission line applications. Prerequisite: ECE 3590 (or 024.359).

ECE 4290 Microwave Engineering

(Formerly 024.429) Microwave circuit analysis; passive and active devices; communication system power budget and signal-to-noise ratio calculations. Prerequisite: ECE 3590 (or 024.359).

ECE 4300 Electrical Energy Systems 1

(Formerly 024.430) Power system component modelling and computational methods for system problems such as load flow, faults, and stability. Prerequisite: ECE 3650 (or 024.365).

ECE 4310 Electrical Energy Systems 2

(Formerly 024.431) Generating stations. Power system stability and optimal operation. EHV-ac and HVDC power transmission. Power system protective relaying and reliability evaluation. Prerequisite: ECE 4300 (or 024.430).

ECE 4370 Power Electronics

Thyristor device theory and operation, controlled rectifiers and line-commutated inverters, and forced commutation as applied to d/c choppers and a/c variable frequency and voltage inverters. Prerequisites: ECE 3720 and ECE 2160.

ECE 4390 Engineering Computations 4E

Development and application of numerical methods for the solution of electrical and computer engineering problems. Optimization techniques. Finite difference, finite element and boundary element methods. Solution of large systems of linear and non-linear equations. Prerequisite: MATH 3132, ECE 2240.

ECE 4420 Digital Control

(Formerly 024.442) Mathematical modelling of sampling switches. Z-transforms. Response and stability of systems involving sampling. Design of digital compensators. Prerequisites: ECE 4830 (or 024.483) or 024.373 and ECE 4150 (or 024.415).

ECE 4440 Computer Vision

(Formerly 024.444) Image formation and sensing, image compression, degradation and restoration, geometrical and topological properties, pattern classification, segmentation procedures, line-drawing images, texture analysis, 3-D image processing. Prerequisite: ECE 3780 (or 024.378).

ECE 4520 Simulation and Modelling

(Formerly 024.452) Monte Carlo Methods, random processes, simulation of complex systems in the design of computer systems. Use of statistical interference and measures of performance in hardware and software systems. Prerequisites: STAT 2220 (or 005.222) or 005.250 and COMP 2140 (or 074.214).

ECE 4530 Parallel Processing

(Formerly 024.453) Classification of parallel processors, SIMD vs. MIMD, multiprocessing Vs parallel processing, interconnection topology, communications, and node complexity, pipelining and vector processors, array processors, connection machines, multiprocessors, data flow and VLSI algorithmic machines. Prerequisites: COMP 2140 (or 074.214) and ECE 3760 (or 024.376).

ECE 4540 Wireless Networks

Introduction to wireless communications systems, network architectures, protocols and applications. Topics include mobile computation systems, signals propagation, channel modelling, modulation, and networking standards. Prerequisite: ECE 3700 (or 24.370) (or 24.370), ECE 3780 (or 24.378)

ECE 4580 Optoelectronics

(Formerly 024.458) Basic theory of quantum mechanics; solution of Schrodinger equations; interaction of radiation with matter; masers and lasers; propagation, modulation, excitation and detection in optical waveguides; introduction to fiber and integrated optics. Prerequisite: ECE 3600 (or 024.360).

ECE 4600 Group Design Project

(Formerly 024.460) The engineering curriculum must culminate in a significant design experience which is based on the knowledge and skills acquired in earlier course work and which gives students an exposure to the concepts of team work and project management. Prerequisites: ENG 2010 and ECE 3780; and either the four courses ECE 3580, ECE 3720, ECE 3670 and ECE 3610; or the four courses ECE 3670, ECE 3700, ECE 3760 and ECE 3740.

ECE 4610 Biomedical Instrumentation and Signal Processing

Introduction to biological systems and the application of engineering principles to medical problems. Students design systems to acquire and analyze biological signals in the laboratory. Content includes introduction to relevant physiology and anatomy of cells, skeletal muscles, heart and cardiovascular systems, human balance and biomechanics, recording and analyzing biological signals (ECG, EMG, respiratory sounds), design of instrumentation amplifiers for signal conditioning, medical instrumentation safety and health hazards. Prerequisites: ECE 2160 and ECE 3780.

ECE 4720 Industry Internship

(Formerly 024.472) Industry Internship Supervised work experience, normally of 12-16 month's duration, concluded by a work report. (Pass-Fail grade only).

ECE 4740 Digital Systems Implementation

(Formerly 024.474) Implementation methodologies and technologies for digital systems, including VLSI implementations, PCB implementations, and rapid prototyping (FPGA). Prerequisite: ECE 4240 (or 024.424). Not to be held with ECE 4500 (or 024.450).

ECE 4770 Topics in Electrical Engineering 3

(Formerly 024.477) This course will cover contemporary topics in Electrical Engineering via lectures and laboratory sessions. The specific topics and a detailed course outline will be available at the time of registration. Prerequisite: Permission of the Department.

ECE 4830 Signal Processing 2

(Formerly 024.483) Representation of discrete-time signals and systems in the time and frequency domains; the z-transform; application to various discrete-time linear time-invariant systems; design of digital filters. Laboratory periods will be used to give students hands-on experience in programming many of the techniques covered in the theoretical parts of the course. Prerequisite: ECE 3780 (or 024.378).

ECE 4850 Topics in Electrical and Computer Engineering 1

This course will cover contemporary topics in Electrical and Computer Engineering via lectures and laboratory sessions. The specific topics and a detailed course outline will be available at the time of registration. Prerequisite: Permission of the Department.

ECE 4860 Topics in Electrical and Computer Engineering 2

This course will cover contemporary topics in Electrical and Computer Engineering via lectures and laboratory sessions. The specific topics and a detailed course outline will be available at the time of registration. Prerequisite: Permission of the Department.

ECE 4870 Topics in Electrical and Computer Engineering 3

This lecture based course will cover contemporary topics in Electrical and Computer Engineering. The specific topics and a detailed course outline will be available at the time of registration. Prerequisite: Permission of the Department.

ECE 4880 Topics in Electrical and Computer Engineering 4

This lecture based course will cover contemporary topics in Electrical and Computer Engineering. The specific topics and a detailed course outline will be available at the time of registration. Prerequisite: Permission of the Department.

Associate Heads: M. Birouk and M. Tachie

The Department of Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering offers fully accredited degree programs in Mechanical Engineering and Manufacturing Engineering. Students entering the Mechanical Engineering program in September 2009 for the 2009/2010 regular session and thereafter may specialize with an option in Aerospace or Manufacturing, or a stream in Materials, Solid Mechanics, or Thermofluids. No new students will be accepted into the Manufacturing Engineering program as of September 2009. Students are urged to consult appropriate program requirements shown for each program/option.

The Mechanical Engineering program provides the education required by those who wish to practice in Mechanical Engineering that embraces, among other subdivisions, the design of mechanical devices and systems, manufacturing engineering and management, computer-aided design and computer-aided manufacturing, power generation and utilization, air conditioning, the material sciences, and the aeronautical sciences. The program places special emphasis on the use of computers in solving engineering problems.

The Manufacturing Engineering program is comprised of a thorough study in the engineering sciences followed by courses directly related to the field. The students will acquire creative and analytic skills to apply scientific approach to study macro/micro components of manufacturing systems. Advanced technologies such as robots, computer controlled machine tools, automation, mechatronics, production control methods and analysis of manufacturing systems and processes will be emphasized.

Both programs offer basic training in the sciences, mathematics and fundamental engineering subjects followed by more specialized discipline-related subjects. During the programs, arrangements are made for conducted visits to local power and industrial plants. Students are allowed to choose technical electives to suit their career objectives and are also required to take complementary studies electives related to social issues.

Co-operative Education Programs

Director: R. Derksen

Co-op Coordinator: Bernice Ezirim

The Department of Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering offers a Co-operative Education Program in which academic study is complemented and enriched with practical work experience. The work terms provide students with practical experience, assistance in financing their education, and guidance for future career specialization.

Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering Students who have successfully completed all courses in first year and first term of second year of Engineering are eligible to apply for admission into the program. Admission to Co-op occurs during the first academic term of second year for placement in May. Final acceptance into the program is dependent upon the student receiving a job placement through the Co-operative Education office. Students may seek employment on their own, but must consult with the Co-op Coordinator before doing so. Upon acceptance, Mechanical Engineering students enrol in the course MECH 2050, Mechanical Engineering Co-operative Education Assignment (and subsequently, MECH 3050, MECH 4050, and the optional MECH 4060) for the specific work term of employment. Corresponding courses for the Manufacturing Engineering program are MECH 3910, MECH 3920, MECH 4910, and the optional MECH 4920.

Each successfully completed work term and its corresponding work term report are rated at one credit hour. Graduates who successfully complete at least three work terms and the required work term reports will have the words "Co-operative Education Option" printed on their diplomas. For more information regarding the Co-op Program requirements, please see the Co-op Coordinator.

Mechanical Engineering Industry Internship Program (MEIIP)

The Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering Department offers an Industry Internship Program in Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering. Upon successful completion of 120 credit hours, a student has the opportunity of spending a continuous work term period of twelve to sixteen months in industry. Interested students may apply in the first term of third year. After an internship placement has been secured the student registers for course MECH 4930. One technical report is submitted upon completion of the internship. Students may obtain additional information from the Co-op Coordinator.

Mechanical Engineering Program - NEW

4.10.1 Mechanical Engineering Program - NEW,

Mechanical Engineering Program – NEW For students entering Mechanical Engineering as of September 2009

Preliminary Engineering Program

Common to all Engineering Programs. (See Section 4.2 for details.)

Program Core Courses:

Course No.	Credit Hours
CHEM 2240 Applied Chemistry for Engineers	3
OR
CHEM 1310 An Introduction to Physical Chemistry	3
CIVL 4050 Engineering Economics	3
CIVL 4460 Technology, Society, and the Future	3
OR
ANTH 2430 Ecology, Technology and Society (B)	3
ECE 3010 Elements of Electric Machines and Digital Systems	4
ENG 2010 Technical Communications	3
MATH 2120 Introductory Numerical Methods for Engineers	4
MATH 2130 Engineering Mathematical Analysis 1	3
MATH 2132 Engineering Mathematical Analysis 2	3
MATH 3132 Engineering Mathematical Analysis 3	3
MECH 2012 Computer Aided Design and Manufacturing Processes	4
MECH 2202 Thermodynamics	4

MECH 2272 Engineering Materials 1	4
MECH 3170 Project Management	4
MECH 3420 Vibrations and Acoustics	4
MECH 3430 Measurements and Control	4
MECH 3460 Heat Transfer	4
MECH 3482 Kinematics and Dynamics	4
MECH 3492 Fluid Mechanics and Applications	4
MECH 3502 Stress Analysis and Design	4
MECH 3542 Engineering Materials 2	4

MECH 3980	Mechanical Engineering Laboratory (full year)	4
MECH 4650	Machine Design 4M	4
MECH 4860	Engineering Design	5
PHYS 1070	Physics 2: Waves and Modern Physics	3
STAT 2220	Contemporary Statistics for Engineers	3
5	Technical Electives (TE)	4
1	Complimentary Studies Elective (CE)	3

NOTES:

1. A student's selection and timetabling of electives are subject to the following conditions:

- Only one complementary elective is required upon completion of Critical Thinking (PHIL 1290) and English (ENGL 1310) in the preliminary program.

- The complementary studies elective can be any course at the 1000-level or above from the faculties of Arts or Management. However, ARTS 1110 Introduction to University may not be used for credit in the Faculty of Engineering.

2. For courses continuing through both terms, credit is given on completion of course.

3. A minimum of 20 credit hours of technical electives is required.

4.10 Aerospace Option

4.10.2 Aerospace Option - NEW,

Aerospace Option – NEW as of September 2009-2010

Choose all 5 courses.

Course No.		Credit Hours
MECH 3520	Aerodynamics	4
MECH 4182	Aerospace Structures: Analysis and Design	4
MECH 4192	Aerospace Materials and Manufacturing Processes	4
MECH 4200	Gas Turbine Propulsion Systems	4
MECH 4452	Aircraft Performance, Dynamics, and Design	4

4.10 Manufacturing Option

4.10.3 Manufacturing Option - NEW,

Manufacturing Option – NEW as of September 2009

Choose 5 from the following 10 courses. Some courses will be offered in alternating years.

Course No.		Credit Hours
MECH 3550	Robotics and Computer Numerical Control	4
MECH 3562	Introduction to Optimization	4
MECH 3570	Manufacturing Automation	4
MECH 3582	Manufacturing Planning and Quality Control	4
MECH 3592	Simulation Modelling and Facilities Planning	4

4.10 Materials Stream

4.10.4 Materials Stream - NEW,

Materials Stream – NEW as of September 2009

Choose 3 from the following 5 courses. Choose the remaining two TEs from the Undergraduate Studies same stream, other TEs, or thesis. Some courses will be offered in alternating years.

Course No.		Credit Hours
MECH 4192	Aerospace Materials and Manufacturing Processes	4
MECH 4350	Topics in Materials 1	4
MECH 4360	Topics in Materials 2	4
MECH 4620	Corrosion of Metals and Alloys	4
MECH 4870	Fracture and Failure of Engineering Materials	4

4.10 Solid Mechanics Stream

4.10.5 Solid Mechanics Stream - NEW,

Solid Mechanics Stream – NEW as of September 2009

Choose 3 from the following 6 courses. Choose the remaining two TEs from the same stream, other TEs, or thesis. Some courses will be offered in alternating years.

Course No.		Credit Hours
MECH 4182	Aerospace Structures: Analysis and Design	4
MECH 4470	Mechanical Vibration	4
MECH 4510	Fundamentals of Finite Element Analysis	4
MECH 4532	Advanced Strength of Materials	4
MECH 4550	Noise Control	4
MECH 4672	Advanced Mechanical Design	4

4.10 Thermofluids Stream

4.10.6 Thermofluids Stream - NEW,

Thermofluids Stream – NEW as of September 2009

Choose 3 from the following 8 courses. Choose the remaining two TEs from the same stream, other TEs, or thesis. Some courses will be offered in alternating years.

Course No.		Credit Hours
MECH 4292	IC Engines	4
MECH 4412	Heating, Venting, and Air Conditioning	4

NOTES:

1. The Department of Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering may not be able to offer all technical electives listed above. Students are urged to consult the Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering office for a current list of technical electives.

2. Core courses in Manufacturing Engineering that are not part of the core program in Mechanical Engineering will be accepted as technical electives in Mechanical Engineering. Similarly, core courses in Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering that are not part of the core program in the Aerospace option will be accepted as technical electives in the Aerospace option. The associate head of Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering must approve these electives.

3. There will normally be a minimum registration limit of six students for each technical elective. If registration is below the minimum, the elective will be cancelled for the session, and those registered will be required to transfer to another course before the course-changing date.

4. Students are urged to discuss their elective courses with members of the instructional staff toward the end of their second year in order to obtain advice concerning the best choice of electives to meet their needs.

5. MECH 3602 will be offered through Red River College as an equivalent course. Credit will be granted upon completion of the RRC course taken on a Letter of Permission. See department for details.

- The complementary studies elective can be any course at the 1000-level or above from the faculties of Arts or Management. However, ARTS 1110 Introduction to Uni-versity may not be used for credit in the Faculty of Engineering.

2. For courses continuing through both terms, credit is given on completion of course.

3. Students must be in their graduating year to register for MECH 4160 Graduation Thesis. For those students graduating in December, register in A01 (first term) section of MECH 4160, and if graduating in May, register in A02 (second term) section of MECH 4160.

4. For students in Manufacturing Engineering, there is a choice between graduation thesis and a technical elective from List B (see below).

5. Students are required to take a total of two technical electives (one from List A and one from list B) from the approved list of technical electives for Manufacturing Engi-neering. If the student elects to do a graduation thesis (MECH 4160), then only one technical elective (List A) is required.

4.10 Technical Electives in Manufacturing Engineering

4.10.12 Technical Electives in Manufacturing Engineering.

NOTES:

1. Core or technical elective courses in Mechanical Engineering that are not part of the core program in Manufacturing Engineering will be accepted as technical elec-tives in Manufacturing Engineering.

2. The Department of Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering may not be able to offer all of the technical electives that are shown. Students are urged to consult the Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering office for a list of technical electives that will be offered in that year.

3. There will normally be a minimum registration limit of six students for each technical elective. If registration is below the minimum, the elective will be cancelled for the session, and those registered will be required to transfer to another course before the final date for registration revisions.

4. MECH 3602 will be offered through Red River College as an equivalent course. Credit, therefore, will be granted upon completion of the RRC course. Students should consult the department regarding scheduling.

5. Courses from the Faculty of Management that do not appear in the list above may be used as a technical elective for List B subject to approval by the Department of Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering.

4.11 Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering Course Descriptions-2000 Level

MECH 2012 Computer Aided Design and Manufacturing Processes
Provide instruction on the application of computer aided design software packages. The students will work in groups in the design and development of a product using CAD packages. The course will be delivered through a combination of lectures and tutorials. ENG 1430 (formerly 130.113 or 130.140). Not to be held with MECH 2010 or CIVL 2830.

MECH 2050 Mechanical Engineering Coop Education Assignment 1
Special work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment, and in-depth presentation of related engineering problems. Not to be held with the former 025.205. (Pass/Fail grade only)

MECH 2202 Thermodynamics

Cycles, transient flow processes, entropy, gas mixtures, psychrometry combustion. Prerequisites: ENG 1460 (or 130.112), (MATH 1500 (or 136.150) or MATH 1510 (or 136.151) and MATH 1700 (or 136.170) or MATH 1710 (or 136.171) Not to be held for credit with MECH 2200 or 025.220

MECH 2222 Mechanics of Materials

Topics covered in this course include: axial and torsional loading, stress-strain and deformation in statically determinate/indeterminate systems, thermally induced stress, and stresses in beams (including reinforced beams) under pure bending and bending with shear. The mechanical properties of materials under various loading modes will be addressed. Prerequisites: [PHYS 1050 (or 016.105)] and [ENG 1440 (ENG 1350 or 130.135)] and COMP 1010 or COMP 1012 (074.101) and [MATH 1710 (136.171) or MATH 1700 (136.170)].

MECH 2262 Fundamentals of Fluid Mechanics

Fundamental concepts used in the analysis of fluid behaviour, pressure in stationary fluids, forces on submerged surfaces, buoyancy, integral methods, Bernoulli equation, pipeline analysis. Prerequisites: MATH 2130 or MATH 2110 (formerly 136.211). Pre or Co requisite: MATH 2132 or MATH 2100 (formerly 136.210). Not to be held for credit with MECH 2260 (or 025.226)

MECH 2272 Engineering Materials 1

Introduction to engineering materials; defects, strengthening mechanisms, and plasticity in engineering metals and alloys; fundamentals and application of heat treatment of metallic materials including topics such as diffusion, phase diagram, phase transformation, and thermal processing; mechanical properties of engineering metallic materials and their relationship to structure, defects, various strengthening mechanisms, and processing; structure of non-metallic polymers and ceramics. Prerequisites: [CHEM 2240 (002.224)] and [MECH 2222 (or MECH 2220 or 025.222)]. Not to be held for credit with MECH 2270 (or 025.227), MECH 2290 (or 025.229) or MECH 3540 (or 025.354)

4.11 Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering Course Descriptions-3000 Level

MECH 3050 Mechanical Engineering Coop Education Assignment 2
Special work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment, and in-depth presentation of related engineering problems. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.305. (Pass/Fail grade only). Prerequisite: MECH 2050 (or 025.205).

MECH 3170 Project Management

Topics covered in this course will include project planning, scheduling, resource allocation, process analysis, layout and control. The course will make use of industrial projects for developing a strong design and analytical approach pertinent to project management. Prerequisites: MECH 2012 (or MECH 2010) or CIVL 2830. Not to be held for credit with MECH 4170 (or 025.417).

MECH 3420 Vibrations and Acoustics

Vibrations and computer simulations of single-degree-of-freedom systems, viscous and friction damping, MD of systems and modal analysis, measurement and sources of noise, noise control. Prerequisites: MECH 3482 (formerly MECH 2120 (or 025.212) and MECH 3480 (or 025.348)), and MATH 3132 (formerly MATH 3100) (or 136.310). Not to be held for credit with the former 025.342.

MECH 3430 Measurements and Control

Mathematical modelling of mechanical systems. Feedback systems and stability. Digital control; analog to digital and digital to analog control systems. Prerequisites: MATH 3132 (or MATH 3100) (or 136.310) and ENG 1450 (or 130.118). Not to be held for credit with the former 025.343.

MECH 3460 Heat Transfer

Steady-state and transient heat conduction, fins. Forced and free convection, laminar and turbulent conditions, internal and external flows. Heat exchangers. Radiation properties and exchange. Prerequisites: MATH 3132 (formerly MATH 3100) (or 136.310) and ENG 1460 (or 130.112). May not be held with MECH 3470 or the former 025.347.

MECH 3482 Kinematics and Dynamics

Fundamentals of 2D and 3D rigid body motions (kinematics) and the forces/moments (kinetics) needed to produce such motions. Applications will emphasize elements of machine design. Prerequisites: [PHYS 1050 (016.105)] and [ENG 1440 or ENG 1350 (130.135)] and COMP 1010 (074.101)] and [(MATH 1710 (136.171) or MATH 1700 (136.170)]. Not to be held for credit with MECH 2120 (or 025.212) or MECH 3480 (or 025.348).

MECH 3492 Fluid Mechanics and Applications

The angular momentum principle, introduction to differential analysis of fluid motion, internal and external incompressible viscous flow, fluid machinery and multiple-path systems, fluid coupling and torque couplings and torque converters. Prerequisite: [PHYS 1050 (016.105), ENG 1440, (or ENG 1350 or 130.135), COMP 1010 (074.101)], and [(MATH 1710 or 136.171) or MATH 1700 (136.170)] and [MECH 2262 (MECH 2260 or 025.226)]. Not to be held for credit with MECH 3490 (or 025.349)

MECH 3502 Stress Analysis and Design

Strength and stability of columns, torsion of thin-walled members, unsymmetric loading and shear centres, beam deflection and energy methods. Prerequisites: MECH 2222 (formerly MECH 2220 or 025.222), and MATH 2130 (formerly MATH 2110 or 136.211). Not to be held for credit with MECH 2220 (or 025.222) or MECH 3500 (or 025.350)

MECH 3520 Aerodynamics

Aeronautical definitions, compressible flow, plane normal shock waves, Mach. no. and shock waves in two-dimensional flow, potential flow theory in two-dimensional and axisymmetric flows. Two-dimensional wing theory, finite wing theory panel methods, elements of boundary layer theory. Compressibility and wings, wing design, flow control. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.352. Prerequisite: MECH 3492 (MECH 3490 or 025.349).

MECH 3542 Engineering Materials 2

Mechanical properties of engineering non-metallic materials such as polymers, ceramics and composites, and their relationship to structure and processing; introduction to various shaping and joining processes used in manufacturing, their advantages and limitations; selection and application of engineering materials. Prerequisites: MECH 2272 (formerly MECH 2270 or 025.270). Not to be held for credit with MECH 2270 (or 025.227), MECH 2290 (or 025.229) or MECH 3540 (or 025.354)

MECH 3550 Robotics and Computer Numerical Control

This course builds up a foundation in the area of Computer Aided Manufacturing (CAM) such as computer numerically controlled machine tools and robotics. Intense hands on experience are provided in the laboratory sessions on part programming using Computer aided design (CAD) packages and robots to demonstrate application in the area of CAM. Several case studies and manufacturing applications will be discussed. Not to be held with the former 025.484 or 025.355. Prerequisite: MECH 2012 (or MECH 2010 or CIVL 2830).

MECH 3562 Introduction to Optimization

The objective of this course is to develop the ability to formulate and analyze problems that will be encountered in a manufacturing system. The skills acquired will allow the students to approach problems from an optimization perspective. The students will be provided experience in related software packages. Prerequisites: MECH 2012 (MECH 2010 or CIVL 2830), and STAT 2220 (005.222), and STAT 2220 (formerly 005.222). Not to be held with the former MECH 3560 (025.356 or 025.341).

MECH 3570 Manufacturing Automation

(Formerly 025.357) This course builds upon the foundation developed in a previous course: namely Robotics and Computer Numerical Control. The course covers a wide variety of topics in the area of computer controlled automation. The students are provided with hands on experience in design for automation. It will synthesize several aspects associated with integrated operation of computer controlled automated devices. Prerequisite: MECH 3550 (or 025.355). (Not to be held with the former 025.485 or 025.357).

MECH 3582 Manufacturing Planning and Quality Control

The course covers topics such as: Group technology, Just-in-Time, Computer aided process planning, Statistical Process Control and Manufacturing Planning and Control. Issues related to the integration of several areas that fall with CIM are emphasized. Systems approach is introduced. Prerequisites: MECH 2012 (or MECH 2010 or CIVL 2830). Not to be held for credit with MECH 3580 (025.358 or 025.485).

MECH 3592 Simulation Modeling and Facility Planning

The objective of this course is to introduce simulation for manufacturing operations and the concepts of facilities location and layout. The students will learn how to program WITNESS, a simulation language, and through simulation, explore the effects of facility planning; resource availability e.g. machines and quality related problems on manufacturing productivity and timing. Not to be held for credit with MECH 3590 (or 025.359 or 025.471). Prerequisite: MECH 2012 (or MECH 2010 or CIVL 2830).

MECH 3602 Manufacturing Process Fundamentals

This course will give students hands on experience with numerous manufacturing processes, machines and systems, by having them build a miniature Stirling engine, for example. Using CNC mills, lathes, conventional machine shop equipment and hand tools, the students will manufacture engine components, assemble them and trouble shoot any problems. The object of the course is to provide Mechanical and Manufacturing students with hands-on exposure to the application of basic manufacturing process tools. The course will be offered in collaboration with the Mechanical and Manufacturing and Communication department, Red River College. Not to be held for credit with MECH 3600 (or 025.360). Prerequisite: MECH 2012 (or MECH 2010 or CIVL 2830).

MECH 3910 Manufacturing Cooperative Education Assignment 1

Special work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment, and in-depth presentation of related engineering problems. Not to be held for credit with 025.391. (Pass/Fail grade only).

MECH 3920 Manufacturing Cooperative Education Assignment 2

Special work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment, and in-depth presentation of related engineering problems. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.392. (Pass/Fail grade only). Prerequisite: MECH 3910 (or 025.391).

MECH 3980 Mechanical Laboratory

Laboratory course on topics that compliment and reinforce concepts developed in second and third year mechanical engineering courses. Comprehensive experiments followed by submission of laboratory reports will be required. Prerequisites: ENG 2010 (or 130.201), and MECH 2262 (or MECH 2260 or 025.260), MECH 2202 (or MECH 2200 or 025.220) and MECH 2222 (or MECH 2220 or 025.222). Pre- or Co requisites: MECH 3420 (or 025.342) and MECH 3502 (or MECH 3500 or 025.350), and MECH 3542 (or MECH 3540 or 025.345). Not to be held for credit with MECH 4980 (or 025.498) and MECH 4990 (or 025.499)

4.11 Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering Course Descriptions-4000 Level

MECH 4050 Mechanical Engineering Coop Education Assignment 3

(Formerly 025.405) Special work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment, and in-depth presentation of related engineering problems. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.405. (Pass/Fail grade only). Prerequisite: MECH 3050 (or 025.305).

MECH 4060 Mechanical Engineering Coop Education Assignment 4

Special work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four month professional assignment, and in-depth presentation of related engineering problems. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.406. (Pass/Fail grade only). Prerequisite: MECH 4050 (or 025.405)

MECH 4160 Graduation Thesis

(Formerly 025.416) Each graduating student must submit a satisfactory thesis on a subject which will be designated or approved by the head of the department. These are to be handed in to the Department of MEchanical and Industrial Engineering office by the designated deadline. RESTRICTION: Only students with a year class distinction of 4 or higher in Mechanical or Manufacturing Engineering may register for this course. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.416. Prerequisite: ENG 2010 (or 130.201) and eligible to graduate.

MECH 4162 Thesis

Each graduating student must submit a satisfactory thesis on a subject which will be designated or approved by the head of the department. These are to be handed in to the Department of Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering office by the designated deadline. RESTRICTION: Only students with a year class distinction of 4 or higher in Mechanical or Manufacturing Engineering may register for this course. Prerequisites: ENG 2010 (or 130.201) and eligible to graduate. Not to be held for credit with MECH 4160 (formerly 025.416)

MECH 4180 Analysis and Design of Aerospace Structures

Methodology and techniques for design of aerospace structures and components to preclude failure with minimum weight, cost and resource consumption. Analysis of structural, air, gust and manoeuvre loads. Not to be held with the former 025.418. Prerequisite: MECH 3500 (or 025.350).

MECH 4182 Aerospace Structures: Analysis and Design

Methodology and techniques for design of aerospace structures and components to preclude failure with minimum weight, cost and resource consumption. Analysis of structural, air, gust and manoeuvre loads. Prerequisites: MECH 3502 (or MECH 3500 or 025.350). Not to be held for credit with MECH 4180 (or 025.418).

MECH 4190 Aerospace Materials and Advanced Manufacturing Processes

Properties of aerospace structural materials including glass and graphite fibre composites, light metal alloys and high strength steels. Properties of high temperature materials; superalloys, ceramics, intermetallic compounds, metal matrix composites. Specialized methods for manufacture of these materials. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.419. Prerequisite: MECH 3540 (or 025.354).

MECH 4192 Aerospace Materials and Manufacturing Processes

Properties of aerospace structural materials including glass and graphite fibre composites, light metal alloys and high strength steels. Properties of high temperature materials; superalloys ceramics, intermetallic compounds, metal matrix composites. Specialized methods for manufacture of these materials. Prerequisites: MECH 3542 (formerly MECH 3540 or 025.354). Not to be held for credit with MECH 4190 or the former 025.419.

MECH 4200 Gas Turbine Propulsion Systems

(Formerly 025.420) Gas turbine systems, shaft power cycles, gas turbine propulsion cycles, centrifugal compressors, axial flow compressors, combustion systems, design performance predictions, off-design operations and transient behaviour of gas turbines. Design performance predictions. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.420. Prerequisites: MECH 2202 (or MECH 2200 or 025.220) and MECH 3520 (or 025.352)

MECH 4240 Design for Manufacturing

Identification of product opportunity, product development process, concurrent engineering concepts, design for assembly, design for injection molding, design for stamping, design for die casting and other processes, design of experiments (DOE), and optimization Systematic product design methods and tools will be taught along with real design practices. Not to be held with the former 025.424. Prerequisite: MECH 2290 (or 025.229) Manufacturing Engineering.

MECH 4290 Internal Combustion Engines

Thermodynamics of internal combustion engine cycles; fuels and lubricants; supercharging; carburetion; valving; manifolding; combustion chamber ignition and fuel injection; engine performance and testing; free piston engines. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.429. Prerequisite: MECH 2200 (or 025.220).

MECH 4292 IC Engines

(Formerly MECH 4290 or 025.429) Thermodynamics of internal combustion engine cycles; fuels and lubricants; supercharging; carburetion; valving; manifolding; combustion chamber ignition and fuel injection; engine performance and testing; free piston engines. Prerequisite: MECH 2202 (formerly MECH 2200 or 025.220). Not to be held for credit with MECH 4290 or 025.429

MECH 4310 Contemporary Topics in Mechanical Engineering 1

This course will cover contemporary topics in Mechanical Engineering. The specific topics and a detailed outline will be available at the time of registration prior to the start of the registration period for the session in which the course will be offered. Prerequisite: Permission of the department.

MECH 4322 Contemporary Topics in Mechanical Engineering II

This course will cover contemporary topics in Mechanical Engineering. The specific topics and a detailed outline will be available at the time of registration prior to the start of the registration period for the session in which the course will be offered. Prerequisite: Departmental Permission. Not to be held for credit with MECH 4320

MECH 4330 Contemporary Topics in Manufacturing Engineering 1

This course will cover contemporary topics in Manufacturing Engineering. The specific topics and a detailed outline will be available at the time of registration prior to the start of the registration period for the session in which the course will be offered. Prerequisite: Permission of the department.

MECH 4342 Contemporary Topics in Manufacturing Engineering II

This course will cover contemporary topics in Manufacturing Engineering. The specific topics and a detailed outline will be available at the time of registration prior to the start of the registration period for the session in which the course will be offered. Prerequisite: Departmental Permission. Not to be held for credit with MECH 4340

MECH 4350 Topics in Engineering Material 1

This course will cover contemporary topics in engineering materials. The specific topics and a detailed outline will be available prior to the start of registration period for the session in which the course will be offered. Prerequisite: Departmental Permission.

MECH 4360 Topics in Engineering Materials 2

This course will cover contemporary topics in engineering materials. The specific topics and a detailed outline will be available prior to the start of registration period for the session in which the course will be offered. Prerequisite: Departmental Permission.

MECH 4410 Air Conditioning

Psychometric processes, equipment selection, and the design of heating and cooling systems for typical buildings. Prerequisite: MECH 2200.

MECH 4412 Heating, Ventilation and Air Conditioning

Psychometric processes, equipment selection, and the design of heating and cooling systems for typical buildings. Prerequisite: MECH 2202 (formerly MECH 2200 or 025.220). Not to be held for credit with MECH 4410 or the former 025.441.

MECH 4452 Aircraft Performance, Dynamics and Design

A study of the morphology of aerospace vehicles; basic components and their functions, Aircraft performance; drag, thrust, lift, basics of orbital mechanics. Prerequisites: MECH 3520 (or 025.352). Not to be held for credit with MECH 4450 or the former 025.445.

MECH 4510 Fundamentals of Finite Element Analysis

Fundamentals of the Finite Element Method, basic components in a Finite Element procedure, application of FEM to solve engineering problems and use of commercial software. Prerequisites: MATH 2120 (formerly 136.212) and (MATH 3132 or MATH 3100 (formerly 136.310) and MECH 2222(formerly MECH 2220 or 025.222).

MECH 4532 Advanced Strength of Materials

Stress and strain in three dimensions; thick walled cylinders, beams of elastic foundations, unsymmetrical bending and sheet-stringer construction, curved beams. Additional topics such as the analysis of fibre-composite material, techniques in experimental stress analysis and studies in metallics fatigue may be presented prerequisite: MECH 3502 (formerly MECH 3500 or 025.350). Not to be held for credit with MECH 4530 or 025.453.

MECH 4550 Noise Control

An elective course open to all branches of Engineering; a recommended course for students taking Air Conditioning. Wave propagation, transducers and measurement techniques, psycho-acoustic criteria, legislation, techniques of noise and vibration control. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.455.

MECH 4560 Selected Topics in Fluid Mechanics 4M

Topics may include: wind tunnel design; experimental techniques; some exact solutions of the conservation equations; fundamentals of turbulence; secondary flows; fluidization; elementary meteorology; fluidics; other topics of current interest. Prerequisites: MATH 3132 (or MATH 3100 or 136.310), and MECH 3490 (025.349). Not to be held with the former 006.360.

MECH 4620 Corrosion of Metals and Alloys

(Formerly 025.462) Electrochemical basis of corrosion, corrosion prevention by cathodic protection, inhibitors, alloying and heat treatment, passivation, stress corrosion cracking, corrosion fatigue; ionic and electronic conduction; oxidation of metals and alloys. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.462. Prerequisite: MECH 3542 (or MECH 3540 or 025.354)

MECH 4650 Machine Design 4M

(Formerly 025.465) Stress analysis and the design of various machine elements; shafts and couplings, springs, threaded fasteners and power screws, clutches and power transmission components; spur, bevel, worm and helical gears; lubrication, journal and roller bearings. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.465. Prerequisites: MECH 3482 (or MECH 212 or 025.212) and MECH 3502 (or MECH 3500 or 025.350).

MECH 4672 Advanced Mechanism Design

Graphical, analytical and computer techniques for the analysis and design of mechanisms to produce a desired set of motion characteristics; design of linkages, double lever, slider and dwell mechanism; cognate linkages. Kinetic synthesis tasks function generation, path generation and motion generation. Prerequisite: MECH 3482 (formerly MECH 2120 or 025.212). Not to be held for credit with MECH 4670 or the former 025.467.

MECH 4680 Energy Conservation and Utilization

Energy supply and demand, advanced thermodynamic cycles, conventional energy sources, alternative energy, conservation of energy, environmental considerations. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.468. Prerequisite: MECH 2202

(formerly MECH 2200 pr 025.220)

MECH 4690 Topics in Heat Transfer and Energy

Some combination of the following advanced topics: conduction heat transfer, radiation, heat-exchanger design, two-phase phenomena, fluidization, alternative energy, energy conservation. Other topics of current interest may also be included. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.469. Prerequisite: MECH 3460 (or MECH 3470) (or 025.347).

MECH 4692 Renewable Energy

Introduction to renewable energy systems, current and future global energy issues and the need for renewable energy applications, and distributed renewable energy generation. Renewable energy systems that will be considered are: solar heat, solar PV, biomass heat and power, hydro power, and wind power. Students will develop simple numerical models of renewable energy systems. Prerequisites MECH 2202 (formerly MECH 2200 or 025.220) and MECH 2262 (formerly MECH 2260 or 025.226). Pre- or Co requisite; MECH 3460 (formerly MECH 3470 or 025.347)

MECH 4694 Advanced Topics in Heat Transfer

Some combination of the following advanced topics; conduction heat transfer radiation, heat-exchanger design, two-phase phenomena, fluidization, alternative energy, energy conservation. Other topics of current interest may also be included. Prerequisite: MECH 3460 (or MECH 3470 or 025.347). Not to be held for credit with MECH 4690 or the former 025.469.

MECH 4702 Design of Thermal Systems

Modeling of thermal systems; system simulation; design applications of optimization methods: Lagrange multipliers, search methods, and dynamic geometric and linear programming. Prerequisite: MECH 2202 (or MECH 2200 or 025.220). Not to be held for credit with MECH 4700 or the former 025.470.

MECH 4710 Engineering Systems Simulation

Fundamentals of modeling methods useful for industrial and production engineering problems. Financial, discrete and continuous as well as computer-animated modelling using selected simulation languages. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.471.

MECH 4812 Automotive Engineering

Introduction to the design of passive suspension systems; control of active suspension systems; tire dynamics; ergonomics, safety and crash dynamics; automotive lighting and digital display trains. Prerequisite: MECH 3502 (formerly MECH 3500 or 025.350). Pre or Corequisite: MECH 3420 (or 025.342). Not to be held for credit with MECH 4810 or the former 025.481.

MECH 4822 Numerical Heat Transfer in Fluid Flow

General conservation equations; specific forms of the conservation equations and energy equations; finite difference methods; one dimensional steady problems' one dimensional unsteady problems' two dimensional steady problems; two dimensional; unsteady problems; convection, solution for the flow field. Prerequisite: MATH 3132 (or MATH 3100) (or 136.310), MATH 2120 (or 136.212), MECH 3460 (or MECH 3470 or 025.347) and MECH 3492 (or MECH 3490 or 025.349). Not to be held for credit with MECH 4820 or the former 025.482.

MECH 4860 Engineering Design

Design projects; teams of students prepare written and oral design reports on solutions to specific problems from Manitoba industries; series of seminars by invited speakers. Prerequisite: eligibility for graduation in the current academic year or registered in third year Industrial Cooperative Education Program. Not to be held with the former 024.101 or 025.486. Prerequisite: ENG 2010 (or 130.201).

MECH 4870 Fracture and Failure of Engineering Materials

Criteria for crack initiation and propagation leading to structural failure. Fracture mechanics and fracture toughness phenomena. Effects of structure geometry, loading rate, environment, temperature, composition and microstructure on material integrity. Not to be held with the former 025.487. Prerequisite: MECH 3542 (or MECH 3540 or 025.354).

MECH 4900 Mechatronics System Design

The course covers topics in the analysis of control systems and components with the goal to provide students with tools and an understanding of issues related to integrating mechanical, electronic and software components towards building mechatronic devices. Hands-on-experience is provided in the laboratory sessions on simulation and actual computer control of various devices. Problems considered would include application to fluid power systems, systems integration and validation. The focus is placed on learning to work with real hardware. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.490. Prerequisite: MECH 3430 (or 025.343)

MECH 4910 Manufacturing Co-operative Education Assignment 3

Special work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment, and in-depth presentation of related engineering problems. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.491. (Pass/Fail grade only.) Prerequisite: MECH 3920 (or 025.392).

MECH 4920 Manufacturing Co-operative Education Assignment 4

Special work assignment in business, industry, or government for cooperative education students. Requires submission of a written report covering the work completed during the four-month professional assignment, and in-depth presentation of related engineering problems. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.492. (Pass/Fail grade only.) Prerequisite: MECH 4910 (or 025.491)

MECH 4930 Mechanical Engineering Industry Internship (IIP)

Supervised work experience normally of 12-16 months duration, concluded by a work report. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.493. (Pass/Fail grade only.)

MECH 4960 Manufacturing Process 1

This course will introduce additional or expanded versions of topics introduced in MECH 2290 (or 025.229), "Manufacturing Engineering". Topics will be selected from relationship of manufacturing, material selection to design, process improvement techniques; casting of metals and polymers; machining and cutting; polymers and composites; processing of powders, ceramics and glasses. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.496. Prerequisite: MECH 3542 (or MECH 2290 or 025.229).

MECH 4970 Manufacturing Process 2

This course will introduce additional or expanded versions of topics introduced in MECH 4960 (or 025.496), "Manufacturing Process 1", and building on course material from MECH 2290 (or 025.229). Topics will be selected from forming or metals; joining processes; rapid manufacturing; micro-electronics processing; surface engineering and finishing systems. Laboratory experience will be obtained on casting and rolling of metals and comparison of mechanical properties of the two routes. Not to be held for credit with the former 025.497. Prerequisite: MECH 4960 (or 025.496).

MECH 4980 Mechanical Engineering Laboratory

(Formerly 025.498) Advanced laboratory course on topics covering different disciplines within mechanical engineering. Comprehensive experiments followed by submission of laboratory reports will be required. One lecture/week will be provided on issues related to experimental techniques. Prerequisites: MECH 3502 (or MECH 3500 or 025.350) and MECH 3420 (or 025.342). Not to be held with the former 024.101 or 025.498.

MECH 4990 Mechanical Engineering Laboratory 2

(Formerly 025.499) Advanced laboratory course on topics covering different disciplines within mechanical engineering. Comprehensive experiments followed by submission of laboratory reports will be required. One lecture/week will be provided on issues related to experimental techniques. Prerequisite: MECH 2202 (or MECH 2200 or 025.220). Pre or Corequisite: MECH 3460 (or MECH 3470 or 025.347)

4.12.1 Introduction

The Faculty of Engineering offers the IEEQ Program, designed for international engineering graduates (IEGs) pursuing foreign credentials recognition with the Association of Professional Engineers and Geoscientists of Manitoba (APEGM, www.apegm.mb.ca), the regulatory body for engineering in Manitoba. Through the IEEQ Program, IEGs

-Meet requirements for academic qualification with APEGM and, upon successful completion of IEEQ program requirements, become registered with APEGM as a Member-in-Training; and,

- Earn a Post-Baccalaureate Diploma in Engineering from the University of Manitoba.

The provisions of Section 3: Academic Regulations apply to all students. In addition, the IEEQ Program has regulations and requirements that apply specifically to its students that may differ from the academic regulations in Section 3. Details on regulations and requirements not included below are provided to students upon their admission into the IEEQ program, and can be found on-line at umanitoba.ca/engineering/ieeq

4.12.2 Admission Requirements and Application Procedures

The IEEQ Program can accept applicants whose Confirmatory Exam assignments by APEGM correspond to one of the six accredited undergraduate engineering programs offered in the Faculty of Engineering.

Program entrance is normally in September of any given year. In order to be admitted to the IEEQ Program, the student must:

- Be an IEG with an earned undergraduate engineering degree obtained from a university outside of Canada;
- Have obtained the results of an Assessment of Academic Credentials from APEGM, with a result of five or fewer Confirmatory Exams assigned by APEGM in order to be considered academically qualified;
- Be a Permanent Resident or Canadian Citizen; and,
- Demonstrate English language proficiency at benchmark level 8 on the Canadian Language Benchmarks.

Application forms are available through the IEEQ office (telephone 204.474.8961 or email ieeq@UManitoba.ca) or on-line at umanitoba.ca/engineering/ieeq.

4.12.3 Program Requirements

The Post-Baccalaureate Diploma in Engineering consists of a minimum of 24 hours of coursework, subject to the following regulations:

CIVL 4050 Engineering Economics; and

ENG 4010 Practicing Professional Engineering in Manitoba; and

ENG 4012 IEEQ Co-op Assignment; and

Undergraduate Studies

Technical courses taken from the 3000 and 4000 level of the student's engineering discipline, and corresponding to the topic areas of Confirmatory Exams assigned by APEGM.

The total number of courses required in the IEEQ Program is generally as shown in the table below:

Number of Technical Confirmatory Exams ¹ Assigned by APEGM	Number of courses in IEEQ ²
One (1) or two (2)	5
Three (3)	7
Four (4)	9
Five (5)	11

Notes: 1 Technical exams refer to exams assigned from Group A or Group B of the Discipline Examinations (see http://engineerscanada.ca/e/pe_syllabus_1.cfm). Technical Exams do not include exams assigned from the Basic Studies (BS) or Complementary Studies (CS) syllabi, such as 98-CS-1 Engineering Economics.

2 Including CIVL 4050 Engineering Economics, ENG 4010 Practicing Professional Engineering in Manitoba, and ENG 4012 IEEQ Co-op Assignment

If the courses required in IEEQ total less than 24 credit hours, the student may apply for a transfer of credit from the original earned undergraduate engineering degree (obtained outside of Canada).

All courses must be completed with a grade of C or better. Failed courses may only be repeated once, and are subject to the limits outlined in the IEEQ Student Handbook and on the IEEQ website.

4.12.4 Maximum Time Limits

Students can choose a full-time or part-time option in the IEEQ Program. Students will be asked to declare their status upon their acceptance to the IEEQ Program.

Number of courses in IEEQ	Full-time	Part-time
Seven (7) or fewer	1 yrs	2 yrs
More than seven (7)	2 yrs	3 yrs

SECTION 2: Admission to the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources

2.1 Admission from University 1,

Most students newly admitted from high school and those who have completed less than 24 credit hours at another post-secondary institution will complete the first year of their degree program in University 1. In University 1, students will select courses from a wide variety of offerings in Faculties across campus. For information about University 1, see the Chapter on University 1 in this Calendar.

University 1 students are encouraged to apply for admission to a degree program in the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources once they have completed 24 credit hours of course work and have met the minimum entrance requirements of their intended degree program. Students must apply to be considered eligible for admission to the Riddell Faculty. Application information is available from the Admissions Office, Enrolment Services, 424 University Centre. This information is also available in the Riddell Faculty general office, 440 Wallace Building, and is posted on the University's website (umanitoba.ca/admissions). Click to apply for Admissions.

Faculty admission is determined on the basis of a 2.00 Grade Point Average on a minimum of 24 credit hours of course work from a recognized institution. Note: For students completing the Bachelor of Arts in Geography, entry is based on a Degree Standards Table.

Degree programs may define additional entrance requirements and students are referred to the appropriate section of this Chapter for further details as follows:

Section 5: Bachelor of Arts in Geography Degree Regulations and Program Description.

Section 6: Bachelor of Science in Physical Geography Degree Regulations and Program Description.

Section 7: Bachelor of Environmental Science and Bachelor of Environmental Studies Degree Regulations and Program Descriptions.

Section 8: Department of Geological Sciences: Bachelor of Science in Geological Sciences - Geology, Geophysics, and General Degree Regulations and Program Descriptions.

2.2 Transfer Students,

Students applying for admission from other recognized universities or colleges are called 'transfer students'. For the University of Manitoba's general policy on transfer of credit and advanced standing, refer to the Admissions website: umanitoba.ca/admissions.

To be eligible for admission to the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources, transfer students must have completed no fewer than 24 credit hours of university level course work and satisfied the minimum performance requirements of the intended degree program. Transfer students who have completed less than 24 credit hours must register in University 1 or Extended Education to complete the required credit hours of course work. Students with more than 24 credit hours who are not admissible to the Riddell Faculty should consider applying to Extended Education as their alternative choice.

Students on academic suspension as a result of work completed at another post-secondary institution or another Faculty will not normally be considered for admission to the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources until the suspension has been served.

Transfer of Credit

The University of Manitoba assesses transfer credit as a part of the application process. Assessment of prior course work for admissions or transfer credit will only take place after your application has been submitted. The University of Manitoba transfer credit equivalencies database is now available as a reference tool to look up current course assessments. Please take note of the guidelines outlined on the database access page as these course assessments are subject to change.

See the Admissions section of this Calendar. Courses completed at an external institution ten years prior to registration in the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources are not considered for transfer of credit. Students should contact a Riddell Faculty student advisor regarding transfer credit.

2.3 Visiting Students,

Visiting students may apply for admission to the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources on the basis of a Letter of Permission from the Registrar or appropriate Dean of her/his home institution. Certain restrictions may be placed on the kind and number of courses in which a student will be allowed to register. Visiting students may wish to contact a Riddell Faculty student advisor in the Faculty general office for further information.

2.4 Second Degree Students,

Students possessing a first degree from a recognized university program are eligible for admission as a Second Degree student provided they attained a minimum cumulative Grade Point Average of 2.00 on their first degree.

Second Degree requirements may be shortened by up to 60 credit hours and, once admitted, students will be expected to satisfy all continuation and graduation requirements in the degree program. Second Degree students are not required to satisfy the University Written English and Mathematics requirement. See a Riddell Faculty student advisor for specific information on degree requirements following completion of the first degree.

2.5 Special Students, After Degree Special Student

Students who have successfully completed a first degree from a recognized university program with a cumulative Grade Point Average of 2.00 or better are eligible for admission as Special Students.

2.6 Auditing Students,

Students who wish to audit courses must have written permission from the instructor of the desired course before they can register. Auditing students must register in-person in the Riddell Faculty general office. The Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources prohibits auditors from registering in courses until after the initial access period.

SECTION 3: Degree Regulations and Services Applicable to all Programs in the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources

3.1 Courses Offered in Other Faculties and Schools Acceptable for Credit in the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources,

Students who are registered in the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources may take any course offered by another faculty or school for credit towards their degree, subject to permission from the department head (or designate) and/or a Riddell Faculty student advisor.

3.2 Available Minors in Departments and Faculties,

Students in the Bachelor of Environmental Science, Bachelor of Environmental Studies, Bachelor of Science in Geological Sciences (Geology and Geophysics) and Bachelor of Science in Physical Geography degree programs may, if they wish, declare and complete a Minor from departments and interdisciplinary programs in which a Minor is offered. Students registered in the B.A. Geography (General; Advanced) and B.Sc. Geological Sciences (General) are required to complete a Minor prior to graduation. Students may not, however, declare both their Major and Minor from the same subject area. Students can declare only one minor. For specific requirements to complete a Minor, please refer to the relevant Faculty/School's chapter in the Academic Calendar & Catalog.

It should be noted that for Honours students any consideration of completing a Minor should be made early due to restricted opportunities in later years in their programs. Students in the B.A. Geography (Honours) may not declare a Minor.

A Minor will normally consist of at least 18 credit hours, with a minimum of 12 credit hours being at the 2000-, 3000-, and 4000-levels (although there are some exceptions). It should be noted that no course can be used as part of a prescribed Honours or Major program and also be part of a prescribed Minor. An alternate course will have to be selected to satisfy the Minor requirement. For example: if a course in Economics is part of the student's Major or Honours program in B.Env.Sc., then that course may not be used as part of a Minor in Economics.

Students planning to enrol in the I.H. Asper School of Business [Management Minor] must consult a Riddell Faculty student advisor as enrolment in this minor program is limited. The Management minor consists of any 18 credit hours in courses offered by the Asper School of Business.

3.3 University Written English and Mathematics Requirement,

Students are required to complete the University Written English and Mathematics requirement as outlined in the General Academic Regulations, Section 2: Residence Undergraduate Studies and Written English and Mathematics Requirements in this Calendar. It is recommended that students complete these requirements while in University 1 or in Year 2 of their program.

A list of all courses that satisfy the Written English and Mathematics requirements can be found in Section 2.3 Approved English and Mathematics Courses of this Calendar. Course numbers of designated written English courses are marked with a 'W' and designated Mathematics courses are marked with an 'M'.

Students may wish to consider GEOL 1410W Natural Disasters and Global Change (3), GEOG 2900W Geography of Canadian Prairie Landscapes (3), GEOL 3130W Communication Methods in the Geological Sciences (3), GEOG 3480W Canadian Problems (3), GEOG 3580W Landforms (6), GEOG 3900W Geography of Manitoba (3), and/or GEOG 3810M Quantitative Research Methods in Geography (3) to satisfy these requirements. In addition, the Department of Environment and Geography offers several courses annually through Distance Education that satisfy the 'W' requirement.

3.4 University 1 Requirements of Faculty of Arts and Faculty of Science Courses,

Students are required to take 6 credit hours from the Faculty of Arts, 6 credit hours from the Faculty of Science. See the Chapter University 1 for further details.

For course subjects taught by the Faculty of Science refer to the Chapter Faculty of Science for a complete listing.

For course subjects taught by the Faculty of Arts refer to the Chapter Faculty of Arts for a complete listing.

3.5 Changes in Program Requirements,

Once students have successfully completed any portion of a degree program, they will not be required to meet new course requirements subsequently stipulated for that portion of the program, whether the requirements be for the Faculty or for an individual degree program. Students are required to complete their program in its entirety as outlined in the Calendar effective upon the point of admission to the Faculty and program.

3.6 Prerequisite and Corequisite Courses ,

Definitions for prerequisite and corequisite courses are outlined in the Chapter, General Academic Regulations, Section 3: Course Identification of this Calendar.

3.7 Course Availability,

All courses listed in this Calendar are not offered every year. The course(s) offered for the current academic term are published in the Class Schedule.

The Department of Environment and Geography offers numerous courses under the following course numbers: GEOG 3770 Special Topics in Geography (3), GEOG 4670 Selected Issues (3), GEOG 3740 Field Studies in Geography (6), GEOG 3750 Field Studies in Geography (3), GEOG 3760 Special Topics in Geography (6), ENVR 2010 Field Topics in Environment (1.5), ENVR 2020 Extended Field Topics in Environment (3), ENVR 3000 Multidisciplinary Topics in Environmental Science (3), ENVR 3010 Field Topics in Environmental Science 1 (1.5), ENVR 3020 Extended Field Topics in Environmental Science 1 (3), ENVR 4000 Multidisciplinary Topics in Environmental Science (3), ENVR 4010 Field Topics in Environmental Science 2 (1.5), and ENVR 4020 Extended Field Topics in Environmental Science 2 (3).

The Department of Geological Sciences offers a course under the following course number: GEOL 4270 Advanced Studies in Earth Sciences (3). Students are referred to the Class Schedule for current information.

3.8 Repeated Courses and Attempted Credit Hours,

Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources students are subject to the University of Manitoba regulations (see General Academic Regulations, Section 5.1.3: Repeating a Course as described in this Calendar) and the Riddell Faculty degree regulations regarding eligibility to repeat a course. Repeating a course will not result in the removal of the first attempt and grade in that course from the student's record. The course will appear on the transcript as many times as it has been repeated. Only the grade from the last attempt will be included in the calculation of the cumulative and degree Grade Point Average, unless otherwise stipulated by the degree program.

Students who wish to repeat a course must contact a Riddell Faculty student advisor for approval prior to registration and complete the Request to Repeat a Course form available on the Riddell Faculty web page (umanitoba.ca/environment/undergraduate).

There is no limit to the number of credit hours permitted in the degree programs in the Faculty provided a student does not exceed the credit hour limit of failed courses stated for specific programs.

3.9 Voluntary Withdrawals,

The responsibility for initiating withdrawals rests solely with the student. When eligible to do so, Voluntary Withdrawals must be done through Aurora Student. No withdrawals will be permitted after the deadlines posted in the Academic Schedule.

There is no limit on the number of Voluntary Withdrawal hours a student can accumulate.

3.10 Authorized Withdrawals,

Students who have valid and documented reasons for withdrawal, such as medical illness or compassionate circumstances, may be authorized to withdraw without penalty. Requests for authorized withdrawals must be submitted in writing to a Riddell Faculty student advisor. The Office of Student Advocacy located at 519 University Centre (474-7423, student_advocacy@umanitoba.ca) is available to provide information and assistance.

3.11 Residence Requirement ,

Students are required to complete a minimum number of credit hours at the University of Manitoba. Students should refer to their degree program in the appropriate section for further information:

5: Bachelor of Arts in Geography Degree Regulations and Program Description and Courses Offered by

6: Bachelor of Science in Physical Geography Degree Regulations and Program Description and Courses Offered by

7: Bachelor of Environmental Science and Bachelor of Environmental Studies Degree Regulations and Program Descriptions and Courses Offered by

8: Department of Geological Sciences: Bachelor of Science in Geological Sciences - Geology, Geophysics, and General Degree Regulations and Program Descriptions and Courses Offered by

The courses used to satisfy the residence requirement must be acceptable for credit by the degree program in the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources. Residence requirements apply to both first and second degree students.

3.12 Letter of Permission to Take Courses at Another University,

Students wishing to complete courses at another institution for credit at this university must obtain written permission (Letter of Permission) from the Registrar's Office prior to registering at the other institution or no credit will be permitted. Any earned grades are transferred and form part of the degree Grade Point Average, when applicable. Students who register for courses elsewhere without a Letter of Permission must reapply to the Faculty.

Students who are on academic suspension may not elect courses at another institution for credit toward an Environment, Earth, and Resources degree at this university.

Attendance at Other Institutions

Students who attend other post-secondary institutions without a Letter of Permission must reapply for admission to the Faculty before the application deadline and be academically competitive for admission. Similarly, students registered in the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources may not be registered at another academic institution at the same time unless they are registered elsewhere on a Letter of Permission. The penalty for unauthorized or undisclosed attendance may be disciplinary withdrawal or academic suspension.

3.13 Dean's Honour List ,

A student's eligibility for the Dean's Honour List designation is evaluated after each term.

Students enrolled in a minimum of 12 credit hours of course work during a term and who achieve a term Grade Point Average of 3.50 or higher will be placed on the Dean's Honour List. The Dean's Honour List designation will appear on the student's transcript of marks.

3.14 Academic Warning, Probation and Academic Suspension (Academic Standing),

Students shall be evaluated after each academic term in which they receive a final grade in a minimum of 4 credit hours, with the assessment being based on the resulting Degree Grade Point Average (DGPA). This assessment will determine a student's academic standing to be: faculty minimum met, academic warning, on probation, suspension warning, or academic suspension.

Faculty Minimum Met

To be in good standing and permitted to continue in a degree program, a student must achieve a 2.00 Degree Grade Point Average at each point of assessment and the notation 'Faculty Minimum Met' will be recorded on the student's transcript of marks. Note: For students completing the Bachelor of Arts in Geography, Faculty Minimum Met is based on a Degree Standards Table found in section 5.2.2.

Degree programs may define additional performance requirements for continuation and graduation. Students are referred to the appropriate section of this Chapter for further details as follows:

Section 5.3: Bachelor of Arts in Geography.

Section 6.3: Bachelor of Science in Physical Geography.

Section 7.3: Bachelor of Environmental Science and Bachelor of Environmental Studies.

Section 8.3.1: Bachelor of Science in Geological Sciences - Major.

Section 8.3.2: Bachelor of Science in Geological Sciences - Honours.

Section 8.3.3: Bachelor of Science in Geological Sciences - General.

Academic Warning

Students will receive an academic warning if, at the point of assessment following a term, s/he fails to achieve the required minimum performance level. The notation 'Academic Warning' will be recorded on the student's transcript of marks.

On Probation

Those who fail to meet the required minimum performance level following an Academic Warning assessment will be placed on probation. The notation 'On Probation' will be recorded on the student's transcript of marks.

Suspension Warning

Those who fail to meet the required minimum performance level following an On Probation assessment will be placed on Suspension Warning. The notation, 'Suspension Warning' will be recorded on the student's transcript of marks.

Academic Suspension

Those who fail to meet the required minimum performance level following a Suspension Warning assessment will be placed on Academic Suspension for One Year. The notation, 'Academic Suspension for One Year' will be recorded on the student's transcript of marks. A student placed on academic suspension is not allowed to register in the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources during the duration of the suspension.

A student will be placed on academic suspension for two years under the following circumstances:

- Upon return from one year suspension, the student fails to attain a 2.00 degree grade point average in the following two terms after the probationary assessment (see a Riddell Faculty student advisor for information).

The Faculty calculates that it is mathematically impossible for the student to clear his/her probationary standing by the following assessment period. The student exceeds the maximum number of credit hours of failed courses. The notation, 'Academic Suspension for Two Years', will be recorded on the student's transcript of marks. Those serving two-year suspensions are required to start the degree afresh should they choose to return to the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources. Students may appeal for transfer of credit up to 30 credit hours in courses in which a minimum grade of 'C' was achieved.

Students should consult with a Riddell Faculty student advisor for further assistance in clearing their academic warning, on probation, suspension warning, or academic suspension academic standing.

3.15 Academic Misconduct,

Academic misconduct is intentional cheating, fabrication, impersonation, or plagiarism. It is also knowingly helping or attempting to help others to be dishonest. Academic dishonesty lowers scholastic quality and defrauds others who will eventually depend on their own knowledge and integrity.

Plagiarism or any other form of cheating on examinations, term tests, or assignments is subject to academic penalty as serious as suspension or expulsion from the Faculty or University.

Students who are unsure of what constitutes academic misconduct should refer to the regulations in the Chapter General Academic Regulations, Academic Integrity: Plagiarism and Cheating in this Calendar and consult with your professor or instructor.

3.16 Termwork and Debarment ,

A student is responsible for the completion of laboratory work, assignments, tests and other class work as prescribed by the course syllabus. A student who does not meet termwork requirements to the satisfaction of the Associate Dean (Academic) will receive a warning to this effect. If this warning is ignored, a student may be debarred from the course. Any student debarred from a course receives an automatic grade of 'F' in that course.

3.17 Deferred Examinations,

A student who is unable to write a final examination because of illness or other incapacity or compassionate reasons must file an Application for Deferred Examination in the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources general office including satisfactory documentation. The application must be accompanied by a medical certificate or otherwise appropriate documentation certifying the reason for the deferral, the inability of the student to write the examination at the regular scheduled time. Refer to the Chapter General Academic Regulations, Academic Evaluation: Deferred Examinations in this Calendar for further information.

3.18 Challenge for Credit,

Some departments at the University of Manitoba offer courses by means of challenge of credit. Since the courses offered in this manner may vary from year to year, any student wishing to challenge a course for credit should contact a Riddell Faculty student advisor in the Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources general office. The Academic Schedule of this Calendar contains the relevant registration deadlines dates appropriate to challenge for credit.

3.19 Appeals Involving Academic Regulations,

The Student Appeals and Discipline Committee in the Faculty considers appeals from students who request special consideration with respect to the rules and regulations governing their degree program and qualifications for graduation.

Appeals should be addressed to: Student Advisor, Secretary Student Appeals and Discipline Committee, General Office, Clayton H. Riddell Faculty of Environment, Earth, and Resources, 440 Wallace Building.

3.20 Student Advisor Office Hours,

Monday through Friday: 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Email: Faculty_Environment@umanitoba.ca

3.21 Student Responsibility,

It is your responsibility to be familiar with the regulations, courses, and graduation requirements of your degree program. You are advised to review the appropriate sections of this Calendar carefully when selecting your courses to ensure compliance with degree program requirements. If you are not sure of how regulations and requirements apply to your case, please consult a Riddell Faculty student advisor. Since a complete graduation check is not done until you have declared your intention to graduate, you are encouraged to make an appointment with a Riddell Faculty student advisor prior to your initial registration access date to confirm you are meeting the degree requirements. Ultimately you are responsible to ensure compliance with degree program requirements.

Please contact a Riddell Faculty student advisor about declaring your graduation date.

Note: While we welcome the opportunity to assist you, it is important for you to realize that it is your responsibility to be familiar with university and Riddell Faculty academic regulations and registration procedures as they are described in this calendar.

3.22 Maximum Number of Courses During a Term,

You may attempt a maximum of 15 credit hours in any one term unless otherwise stipulated by your program. If you wish to exceed the normal load you may apply in-person at the Faculty General Office, or complete the Application to Exceed Credit Hours form available on the Riddell Faculty web page (umanitoba.ca/environment/undergraduate).

3.23 Course Space Availability,

The initial registration access time is based on academic performance; therefore, space in all courses is available on the system from the beginning of the registration period for Fall and Winter terms.

3.24 Registration, Student Responsibilities

Know your registration time. Registration information is available on the Registrar's website under Registration.

It is the students' responsibility to ensure that all pre-registration approvals are completed and that all pre-requisites and program approval hold have been removed prior to the registration access period. Most students who do not complete this requirement will experience a program approval hold when they access Aurora Student.

Steps to confirming your registration access:

1. Review your program requirements and if required, complete your Advance/Major/Honours Program Approval form. The Program Approval form is available at the Riddell Faculty webpage: umanitoba.ca/environment/undergraduate. The Program Approval Hold will only be removed when your course selection has been approved by the student advisor.

Students completing the Bachelor of Arts in Geography (General) or the Bachelor of Science in Geological Sciences (General) do NOT need program approval prior to registration.

2. Obtain all required departmental permission that pertain to waivers for pre-requisites, space, and timetable conflicts.
3. Complete your registration through Aurora Student.
4. Students interested in transferring between degree programs (i.e. switching from a Major to Honours, or from Major to Major Coop) must acquire the approval and submit to the student advisor in 440 Wallace Building.
5. Declaring a graduation date: Students are encouraged to declare a grad date as early as possible, and to come to the Dean's Office, 440 Wallace, to have a Riddell Faculty student advisor review your graduation requirements.

What Aurora Student cannot do:

Aurora Student will not check degree requirements. You are responsible for knowing the requirements of your degree. Consult a Riddell Faculty student advisor for advice and assistance if degree requirements are unclear.

You cannot add or change a course classification through Aurora Student. Therefore, if you are an undergraduate student and wish to take a course as an Auditor, or as Challenge for Credit, you must add this course in-person in the Riddell Faculty general office within the normal deadlines for such activity.
