Core Courses

Social Justice – Rights – Diversity
Course Number	Course Name	Course Description
SWRK 1200	Introduction to Canadian Social Welfare	This course introduces students to social welfare in Canada, its historical development in Indigenous and Euro-Canadian societies, and the political, economic, social, cultural, and geographic factors that have shaped (and continue to shape) it. This course also examines the structure and operation of the major social programs/policies that are constituent parts of the Canadian social welfare state. May not be held with SWRK 3131 or the former SWRK 3130.
SWRK 1220	Social Justice, Diversity and Human Rights	This course examines social work approaches to understanding social justice and human rights in both local and global contexts with a focus on diverse communities and practice settings. Emphasis is placed on how social workers can mitigate injustice and advance human rights at micro, mezzo, and macro levels of practice.
SWRK 2000	Anti-Racist Social Work Practice	This course introduces students to the knowledge, theories, and skills necessary for social work practice from anti-racist perspectives. The course involves students in an examination of various frameworks required for anti-racist social work practice. May not be held with SWRK 4210 or SWRK 4211 or SWRK 4213. Registration restricted to Social Work students. Prerequisite: SWRK 1220.
SWRK 2040	Social Welfare Policy: Analysis and Advocacy	This is an introduction to the field of policy and its importance to social work practice. Specifically, to the skills of policy analysis and advocacy as forms of social work practice and social justice. Analytical and practice skills are developed through applying the concept of ideology as a useful policy analysis framework. Students will gain knowledge of how social justice can be advanced by means of thoughtful policy advocacy. Open to non-Social Work students with a minimum of 54 credit hours and with instructor permission. May not be held with SWRK 2113, the former SWRK 1310 or the former SWRK 1311. Prerequisite: SWRK 1200 or SWRK 3131 or the former SWRK 3130.
SWRK 3160	Feminist Perspectives in Social Work practice and Social Welfare Policy	With a focus on social justice, diversity, structural systems change through critical analysis, this course is centered in the deconstruction of social work practice and social welfare policy from a feminist perspective. May not be held with SWRK 4210 or SWRK 4213 or the former SWRK 4211. Registration restricted to Social Work students. Prerequisite: WOMN 1600. Pre- or corequisite: SWRK 2000.

Indigenization – Decolonization – Reconciliation
SWRK 1210	Mitakuye Oyasin (We are All Related)	Centred in creation stories, Indigenous knowledges, epistemologies, sovereignty, natural laws, ceremonies, relationships to land, place, and all of creation, this course provides an examination of the spiritual and relational aspects of existence on Turtle Island. The course examines colonial policy, experiences of colonization and historical trauma, treaties, and land agreements, through the lens of resistance. Depending on the instructor, this course may have a field trip. Contact the Director of your program site for details. May not be held with SWRK 4220 or SWRK 4221. Prerequisites: INDG 1200 or the former NATV 1200 or [INDG 1220 (the former NATV 1220) and INDG 1240 (the former NATV 1240)].
SWRK 2010	Indigenization and Decolonization in Social Work	This course examines structural and cultural colonization, focusing primarily on the history of institutions of social control, resulting in criminalization and clientization of Indigenous peoples. In response to government social control, Indigenous efforts towards self-governance, Indigenization, and decolonization are explored as they relate to Indigenous epistemologies, modes of helping, emerging practices such as cultural safety and resurgence of Indigenous and anti-oppressive approaches to social work practice and the call for reconciliation. May not be held with SWRK 4220 or SWRK 4221. Registration restricted to Social Work students. Prerequisite: SWRK 1210.3
SWRK 3190	Social Work Practice with Indigenous Peoples: Towards Reconciliation	This course emphasizes social work from Indigenous epistemologies and ways of being; it outlines the linkages between First Nations, Metis and Inuit (FNMI) self-governance, legislation and policy. It overlays concepts such as decolonization, reconciliation and FNMI approaches to helping, and relevant social work practice within the context of diverse Indigenous world views and experiences. May not be held with SWRK 4220 or SWRK 4221. Depending on the instructor, this course may have a field trip. Contact the Director of your program site for details. Registration restricted to Social Work students. Prerequisite: SWRK 2010.
Social Work Professional Ethics & Identity
SWRK 1240	Social Work and Professional Identity	Developing professional identity is essential to social work education. This course traces social work's shift from a volunteer activity into the professional realm. The course offers the historical, philosophical, and theoretical foundations for supporting social work students to develop their professional identities. It includes a brief examination of the emergence of social work practices across time and context through periods of industrialization, the post-war expansion of human services, and into our present neoliberal era.

		The course attempts to situate the profession within influencing discourses (ethos, virtues, risk, and identity) and theoretical perspectives (critical theories, de-coloniality and resurgence) and invites students to situate themselves with the competing and emerging ideas of the profession's future. The course introduces students to current regulatory frameworks for social work professionals across jurisdictional contexts. May not be held with SWRK 3141 or the former SWRK 3140.
SWRK 2030	Communication and Relational Skills in Social Work	This course examines fundamental communication and relational skills within the context of social work practice. The course offers an exploration of self-knowledge, emotional skills, listening skills, caring, and skills of inquiry each of which is necessary for beginning social workers. May not be held with SWRK 2081 or the former SWRK 2080.
SWRK 3170	Discovering Social Work Research: How knowledge is framed and forging a review	This course is an introduction to social work research that prepares students to be critical, effective, and ethical consumers of research in social work and will provide an opportunity to become familiar with topics and issues relevant to social work research that make it distinct from other disciplines. Students will learn to apply research to social work practice, and how to use social work practice to inform research. May not be held with SWRK 3100, SWRK 3103, or the former SWRK 3101. Registration restricted to Social Work students. Prerequisites: (SWRK 1240 or SWRK 3141 or the former SWRK 3140) and SWRK 2010.
Community Well-Being & Practice
SWRK 1230	Community Health and Well-Being: Imagination for Social Work Practice	This course examines information, perspectives, and competencies needed to integrate social work practice with promoting community health and well-being in public health and healthcare.
SWRK 1250	Human Behaviour, Family and Community Well-Being: Theory and Practice	This course explores the role of social work practice in relation to ideas of community and family well-being. Wellness is examined from an integrative perspective that includes family, relational, spiritual, social, and cultural domains and across different social work settings. May not be held with SWRK 2090 or SWRK 2093 or the former or SWRK 2091. Registration restricted to Social Work students.
SWRK 2020	Community Development and Social Work	This course provides a critical examination of social work practice in the context of community development. The course integrates theory and policy with community development methods of social work practice at micro, meso and macro levels. Registration restricted to Social Work students.
SWRK 3180	Social Work Practice with Immigrants and Refugees	This course will introduce factors associated with immigration and the increasing number of immigrant and refugee (IR) populations in Canada. It will then provide students with the knowledge and skills required to respond to the current realities of immigrant and refugee individuals, families, and communities in Canada. Depending on the instructor, this course may have a field trip. Contact the Director of your program site for details. Registration restricted to Social Work students. SWRK 4286	Mino Shkaabis with First Nations, Metis, Inuit Children, Youth and Families	First Nations, Metis and Inuit peoples in Canada have been caring for their children within strong extended family and community support systems since time immemorial. Through patriarchy, Christianization, colonization and removal of children, Indigenous authority has been denigrated, dismantled, destroyed. There have been endless attempts to establish a system to regain self-governance, authority of Indigenous families, and Indigenous control over the wellbeing of children. Despite all those attempts, the outcome remains the overrepresentation of Indigenous children in the child welfare system, the gateway to the criminal justice system. Emphasizing diverse Indigenous ways of doing, being and helping in historical and contemporary Indigenous families and communities, with a focus on the special role of children and youth, this course will explore both traditional caring practices and values, and the reestablishment of First Nations, Metis and Inuit sovereignty and authority. Open to non-Social Work students with a minimum of 54 credit hours and with instructor permission.
