Brian Thomas Douglas Bowman (born August 18, 1971) is a Canadian politician who was the 43rd mayor of Winnipeg from 2014 to 2022. He was first elected in the 2014 municipal election[2][3][4] and was re-elected mayor for a second term in October 2018, increasing his plurality from 47% in the last election to a majority of 53%.

Early and personal life[edit]

Bowman is a self-identified Métis, and is the first mayor of aboriginal descent in the city's history, according to CBC News. Bowman attended Shaftesbury High School in Winnipeg. He worked as a privacy lawyer prior to entering the municipal election in 2014. Bowman was a partner with Pitblado Law for 11 years. During his time with Pitblado, he became a recognized leader in the emerging fields of social media, access to information, and privacy law. He also served Winnipeg in other leadership capacities including chair of the Winnipeg Art Gallery and the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce boards of directors.

Politics[edit]

Bowman meeting with former leader of the Conservative Party, Andrew Scheer

He has been involved in the Progressive Conservative Party of Manitoba, although he has never held elected office prior to his election to the mayoralty. Bowman publicly campaigned in 2014 on opening Portage and Main to pedestrians, and instead put the decision to a referendum in 2018 where it was defeated.

Mayor of Winnipeg (2014-2022)[edit]

Brian Bowman was sworn in on November 4, 2014⁽⁹⁾ as the 43rd Mayor of the City of Winnipeg. ^[10] Since becoming Mayor, Brian Bowman has overseen steady and strong population and economic growth in Winnipeg. Population growth in Winnipeg is projected to grow steadily and strongly over the next 25 years toward a population of one million people. ^[11] Bowman has cited the importance of positioning and preparing the city for this level of growth to ensure services are available to residents when they're needed. He also made this a key part of this first election campaign.

City building[edit]

Coming into office in his first term, Bowman committed to various city building activities that were neglected in previous years. In January 2015 shortly after being elected, Bowman with Council approved the City's Asset Management Policy, [12][13] followed by the development of the City of Winnipeg's first ever Asset Management Plan which was released in 2018. [14] This ongoing program helps the City of Winnipeg accurately manage its various holdings including roads, parks, water and sewer utilities, information technology and many more. A report is published annually summarizing the current state of the City of Winnipeg's assets to provide direction for investment in the future. The mayor has also overseen a reduction of the City of Winnipeg's infrastructure deficit through strategic investments such as increased funding to road construction and rehabilitation on local and regional roads to record levels every year in office. His first year in office saw a funding increase of 22.7% over the previous year to $103 million. Subsequent years saw further increases in the roads budget. One of the major road infrastructure projects supported by the increase of investment in road infrastructure was the Waverley Underpass project, which was completed under budget and ahead of schedule in August 2019. These investments have been supported by an increase in property taxes by 2.33% each year since 2015. The City of Winnipeg municipal residential property taxes continue to be the lowest compared to other large Canadian cities. Other significant projects include the Empress Street and Overpass Reconstruction and Rehabilitation, Street and Buffered Bike Lane Project and the Taché Promenade project. Citizen satisfaction has increased in regards to the condition of major streets and residential streets since 2017.

Infrastructure projects within new developments in Winnipeg were being supported by the Impact Fee, initiated by Bowman and approved by Council on October 26, 2016. [24][25] The purpose of this fee was to support the costs of growth within the City of Winnipeg. A portion of the revenue collected was promised by Bowman to be directed towards the construction of a new community center in the Waverly West neighborhood of Winnipeg. [26] The Impact Fee in its form as passed by Council was deemed to exceed the City of Winnipeg's authority. [27] Despite this, the judge ruled that suburban growth did not pay for the increased load on City infrastructure and services. [27] The Judge also found that "the city had the power or authority to enact" the impact fee by-law though just not in its current form. [27] The result of this case was that the approximately $30 million collected by the City of Winnipeg would have to be returned to residents. [28]

As a means to find more durable solutions for municipal infrastructure construction in the City, Bowman initiated the creation of a Municipal Infrastructure Chair at the University of Manitoba. This position will focus research on road building and road construction materials. The City of Winnipeg contributed $250 000 over a span of five years to fund this program. [29]

Bowman also supported the City of Winnipeg's Library Facility Redevelopment Strategy that saw the renovation and renewal of the St. Vital, [30][31][32] St. John's Library, [33][34] Cornish Library. [35][38] This plan also further put in motion the construction of the now open Windsor Park Library. [37][38] and Transcona Library. [39][40] with construction underway on the Bill and Helen Norrie Library. [41][42]

While in office, Bowman has supported various Transit related projects in Winnipeg. This began by promising in his 2014 campaign to complete the entire Winnipeg Bus Rapid Transit network by 2030. [43][44] He supported the second phase of the Southwest Transitway, extending existing transit infrastructure down Pembina Highway to the University of Manitoba. [45][45] This transitway officially opened on April 12, 2020 during the COVID-19 pandemic. [47] The Transitway also had an accompanying active transportation component that allows residents to travel from South Winnipeg to Downtown on protected pathways. [48] Bowman further voted for the creation of the Transit Master Plan, a guiding document for the future of Winnipeg's transit system, including the Rapid Transit network. [49][50] During his re-election campaign, Bowman committed to install 55 new heated bus shelters [51] and funds were subsequently allocated for this project in the 2019 Budget. [52] City Council further directed in 2019 that protective shields for bus drivers be purchased and installed on all Winnipeg Transit busses by the end of 2019. [53] This project was initiated after the death of on-duty transit operator Irvine Jubal Fraser. [54]

Bowman has pushed for investments in active transportation, supporting the Winnipeg Pedestrian and Cycling Strategies Report presented to Council in December 2014^[55] as well as increasing the number of bike lanes in the City. While in office, the mayor has also supported annual pedestrian and cycling action plans. [55] Council, including Bowman, further supported an increase in budget for active transportation by 57% in 2017 over the previous year. [57] Since taking office, total amounts allocated for active transportation have ranged between $2.4 million and $6 million per year. [59] Also under Bowman, residents can now see the stages of all active transportation projects underway in one location through the City of Winnipeg website. [59]

During his re-election campaign, Bowman committed to increase funds available for community center renovations to $2 million annually over a period of five years. [60] These funds were allocated in the 2019 Budget. [61]

Due to a lack of dog parks available to citizens in the downtown area, Bowman committed to build a new park in this neighborhood. Bonnycastle Park was selected as the location for the park, with construction completed in 2017 at a cost of $400,000. Bowman also supported the Off-Leash Dog Area's Master Plan, a guiding and strategy document for future development of new off-leash facilities in Winnipeg. [63][64]

Also in the downtown area, Bowman supported the demolition and redevelopment of the Public Safety Building and Civic Parkade lands adjacent to City Hall. The preparation for demolition of the former Public Safety Building and Civic Parkade began in the fall of 2018 after Council approval. Demolition was completed in the summer of 2020. Council, including Bowman, endorsed a vision document that outlined redevelopment for the site which includes space for a public market, 108 non-profit rental housing units, and public space.

Bowman has also pushed for the lands adjacent to The Forks, known as Parcel 4 and Railside to be redeveloped, and voted for the "Railside at The Forks" concept plan that was submitted to Council. [69]

In the fall of 2019, Bowman initiated the One Million Tree Challenge with the goal of planting one million trees before the Winnipeg reached one million residents. [99] Not-for profit organizations Tree Canada and Trees Winnipeg administer the program. [70] The program has already received over $1.25 million in donations from businesses Canadian National Railway and Telpay. [71] 2000 trees were planted at Mazenod Park in Winnipeg's Transcona neighborhood in 2020. [72] In the 2020-2023 multi-year budget, Winnipeg City Council allocated $25 million to the Urban Forest Enhancement Program and Reforestation Improvements over the five year. [73]

Bowman's tenure has also seen a high level of investment in water and waste infrastructure. He has overseen improvements to the South End Sewage Treatment Plant(handling 20% of the city's wastewater) and the North End Sewage Treatment Plant (handling 70% of the city's wastewater). The total cost to upgrade the North End Plant is estimated to be $1.8 billion. The City of Winnipeg also invests approximately $30 million per year on the replacement of combined sewers with separated sewers to reduce the number of overflow incidents into the surrounding waterways.

In July 2020, the City of Winnipeg also initiated a composting pilot program at a cost of $1.8 million. The program collects food waste from 4000 households. This was initiated as a means to reduce emissions from the Brady landfill and meet waste diversion targets set previously of 50% diversion from landfill. Citizen satisfaction has risen with garbage collection from 83% in 2016 to 94% in 2020. Service deficiencies per 10 000 collections have also decreased from 12.2 in 2016 to 0.9 in 2019. Citizen satisfaction has also risen with recycling collection from 81% in 2016 to 88% in 2020.

Rev. Vincent Solomon

BY MATT GARDNER ON MARCH 2, 2017

As urban Indigenous ministry developer for the Diocese of Rupert's Land, the Rev. Vincent Solomon plays the lead role in ongoing work to bolster Indigenous Anglican ministry in the city of Winnipeg—work that has three major components.

Responsible for growing and ministering to a new worshipping community, Solomon was installed as Incumbent at the opening service of Epiphany Anglican Indigenous Church on Feb. 12. The Rt. Rev. Donald Phillips, bishop of the Diocese of Rupert's Land presided and National Indigenous Anglican Bishop Mark MacDonald preached at the ceremony.

To deepen healing and reconciliation within the diocese, local events are currently being planned to bring members of the community together—as Indigenous and non-Indigenous people, as Anglicans—for joint worship services, feasts, and conversation.

Perhaps the most critical component, in Solomon's view, is a focus on healing by providing a safe place for Indigenous people who have endured trauma. Primary among the sources of this suffering is experiences in Indian residential schools—many of which were run by the Anglican Church of Canada—and the resulting intergenerational trauma.

Since September 2016, Solomon has provided pastoral care at St. Francis Mission Centre in north Winnipeg to those who have asked for it, providing a forum for people to talk through painful experiences within the context of traditional Indigenous and Christian forms of healing.

Clinical counselors, pastoral care workers, and elders, both Indigenous and non-Indigenous, are now in place and ready to hold regular talking and healing circles as more people in the Winnipeg community hear about the ministry being offered.

"The elders will be teaching on our traditional cultures, traditional values," Solomon said. "That's part of the healing process, I believe, for Indigenous people.

"We need a lot more of that, because it's been taken away, and it had been taken away by the church, and so we need to replace that ... in order for Indigenous people to get back to where we were before, which was a place of health and wellness."

Bishop Don Phillips described the Indigenous ministry work spearheaded by Solomon as the "bringing to fruition" of work that has been going on in the Diocese of Rupert's Land for decades.

The bishop said that the vision of a flourishing Indigenous worship community was first realized in the 1980s and 1990s, but gradually subsided as financial support dried up. It found new life about 10 years ago when the Rupert's Land Indigenous Council and its program arm "Wechetowin" (Cree for "people helping people") launched a full-time Indigenous Mission Developer position, until funding once again ran out three years later.

"The launch of Epiphany Indigenous Anglican Church provides a secure foundation from which Indigenous-led programs (in partnership with non-indigenous Anglicans) can flourish and help persons find healing and wholeness appropriate to their own journey," Bishop Phillips said.

"An important part of accomplishing the spiritual restoration that must take place is the opportunity to experience mutual learning and reconciliation with non-Indigenous persons, and the talking and healing circles provide for this. Because this is a ministry immersed in the middle of our diocesan community, our whole diocesan family will be affected by its presence and invited to grow and learn from the wisdom and healing that emerges."

Solomon's efforts to promote urban Indigenous ministry in Winnipeg recently received a boost in the form of two $10,000 grants from the Anglican Foundation.

One grant will pay for items such as office furniture, computers, and a baptismal fount at Epiphany Indigenous Anglican Church. The other will cover the cost of honorariums and gas money for the counselors, educator training in traditional Indigenous and Christian forms of healing, pastoral care workers, and elders who often travel long distances to take part in the healing circles.

An Indigenous-led group called Rising Above recently provided training to the six counselors, pastoral care workers, and elders, half of whom are Indigenous and the other half non-Indigenous.

The session focused on the background of residential school experiences and the trauma that must be dealt with in terms of healing and counselling, which Solomon noted includes sexual, physical, and emotional abuse that took place within the residential schools.

"You compound that [abuse] with being stripped of your culture and your language, at the same time being told that you're a worthless Indian ... the trauma of having your culture taken away from you and your language taken away from you ... [Being] taken away from the home of your parents and from learning about your heritage, and those kinds of things that people also need healing from."

With the last residential school in Canada only closing in 1996, and the persistence of intergenerational trauma, demographics of people who have attended the healing circles will encompass a wide age range, from youth to seniors.

Solomon described the reception of the healing program within the Winnipeg community as "very positive" thus far.

"There is an interest out there for the services and the ministry that we will be providing and are providing ... But it will be a very positive thing for the people who do come and talk through their own trauma," Solomon said.

"Of course, it's not all positive," he added. "They're in pain and they need to work this stuff through, and so the positive part of that is that they are willing and needing and asking for help, which is hopefully what we are giving them."

Re: 2023-24 Draft Operating Budget

Date: April 21, 2023

Since the closure of the Fort Garry Campus in March of 2020, St John's has had to navigate 3 challenging years of fiscal and operational uncertainty. Following 2 years of remote learning, 2022-23 was a transitional year back to normal operations, and our hope is that 2023-24 will see a return of a relatively stable and sustainable operating budget. College Council sets the budget parameters each year, and they have instructed administration to strike a balanced budget excluding the Capital Campaign.

Underlying Fundamentals of the 2023-24 Operating Budget

- The most significant areas where our costs have increased are utilities, insurance, food costs, and salaries and wages. Recognizing the competitive nature of the job market, as well as the vital importance of the hard work our Food Service and Housekeeping staff do, we awarded them all with wage increases this past year. Minimum wage has also gone up and will again in October.
- Income Trusts for Operating revenues are calculated at 4% as per our investment spending policy.
- $55,000 has been drawn from the Sinclair Trust for operating, out of the $600,000 that Council previously authorized to be used as COVID Recovery Funds. To date, only $400,000 has been utilized.
- Expenses for Academic Programs, including support for students & fellows has been maintained at pre-COVID levels.
- Summer Residence & Conferences revenues are based on confirmed summer residence applications and confirmed and likely summer conference groups. Revenues are strong and approaching pre-COVID levels.
- Residence revenues are based on a rate increase of 4.5% (previous year was 3.5%), in an effort to minimize the effects of inflation while being cognizant of the need to not price ourselves out of the market considering the current state of our Residence. University Housing passed room rate increases for 2023-24 of 3% for Pembina Hall and Arthur V Mauro, a 2% room rate increase for University College and Mary Speechly, and an overall board increase of 5%. When weighting those increases proportionally to our single combined increase of 4.5%, we are very much in line with the University of Manitoba. Our budgeted revenues also allow for 5 empty rooms.

- Food Services revenues continue to build upon our successes of 2022-23. Catering and Daily Bread Café sales should be strong once again and will include reasonable price increases to offset the continued rise in food costs. Our Board Regular Session revenues are based on a 4.5% increase and allow for 5 empty rooms. Summer Session Food Revenue is based on the same projections used for Summer Residence & Conferences.
- Theology continues to maintain a budget for salary support for the currently vacant Ministry Coordinator position as well as funds for Instructors Honoraria for the courses offered by St John's in partnership with CMU.
- The Chapel budget is similar to the previous year, with most of its discretionary funds allocated to the Chaplaincy Program which most directly benefits and supports our students.
- The Development budget reflects our ongoing emphasis on the Capital Campaign, as we continue to focus on the Residence, the third-floor renovation of the College, and the general push to renew the College's physical structure and revitalize its community.

The result of all these factors and considerations is a very modest surplus, excluding the Capital Campaign, of $8,701. If the Finance & Administration Committee supports this budget, it will recommend that Assembly grant final approval at its May meeting.

St John's College Warden's Report to Council, May 2023

College Building Projects/Capital Campaign

We are in ongoing discussions with the University of Manitoba about a potential collaboration on a new residence building, and look forward to receiving a proposed business plan over the summer. Our plans for a food service expansion and redevelopment of the third floor, both in terms of scope and cost, are to some degree contingent on whether that collaboration goes ahead. However, we continue to move forward, particularly on the third-floor redevelopment where we have worked with Campus Planning and Architectural and Engineering Services to create a preliminary space plan, and have opened discussions with key stakeholders on how we will pay for the renovation. Making progress and establishing benchmarks for the physical renewal of the College buildings will be a primary focus for Administration over the summer. The Development Officer and I have also had a number of meetings with alumni and donors, both in Manitoba and during a trip to Vancouver, and there continues to be great enthusiasm for the project.

Teaching/Scholarship

From March 23-26, I attended the Society for Military History annual meeting in San Diego, where I presented a paper entitled, "'I hadn't done anything remotely civil for England during the war:' Military Identity and the Women of the Special Operations Executive during WWII." On May 4, I wasinvited to participate in a roundtable discussion featuring leading scholars of the Second World War to discuss the state of the field with respect to work on the war, hosted by the Dale Center for the Study of War & Society at the University of Southern Mississippi, where I was previously on the faculty. The course I have been teaching since September for the UM History Department, "History of Britain from 1485," is in the process of wrapping up. It has been very rewarding, and I hope to continue teaching for History in the coming years.

Highlights of Other Recent Activities

- ➤ On March 16, I was pleased to attend and welcome people to the exhibition ongoing in the Quiet Room, which was curated by artist KC Adams and displays pieces from our Indigenous art collection.
- ➤ On March 17, I had a meeting with the new UM Vice-President (Research and International), Dr. Mario Pinto, to discuss research initiatives at the College.
- ➤ I served on the committee planning our Art and Music Competitions, which closed with great musical performances and an awards reception on March 17.
- ➤ On March 28, I attended the Marjorie Ward Lecture with APTN journalist Darrell Stranger, an excellent and successful event owing to the amazing efforts of our Dean of Studies.
- ➤ On April 1, I was pleased to attend the College graduation banquet, and to address the graduates. Kudos to the SJCSA for organizing such a fantastic event.
- ➤ On April 8, I attended and offered a reading at our Easter Vigil, a wonderful worship service organized by our Chaplain, that also featured the baptism and confirmation of two SJC students.

- From April 16-18, the Development Officer and I travelled to Vancouver for some well-attended events with College alumni.
- > I participated in the re-hiring process for residences dons.
- Discussions have been renewed about reviving the Sistema fundraising concert at the College, in cooperation with the Faculty of Music and community volunteers like former Warden Chris Trott.
- ➤ I attended a number of our regular events around the College, including Soup & Bread.
- > I continue to serve on the Advisory Circle for the Emmanuel Mission Learning Centre at Holy Trinity Church.
- ➤ I continue to represent the College at meetings of Dean's Council, Provost's Council, University Senate, Faculty of Arts Council, and Diocesan Council.

Dean of Studies Report to Council May 2023

Soup & Bread Lecture Series

Our final lecture of term was be presented by Dr. Julia Smith, one of our new fellows this year. Julia presented on the topic of women's labour movements in Western Canada in the 1970's and 1980's. We had a really good turn-out for this event (standing room only!) and this lecture capped off a wonderful series of talks in the winter 2023 term. Thanks to Julia, Julia, and Ben for their contributions!

Art & Music Competition Update

On March 17 from 1-3pm, we held the first joint venture between SJC and the Faculty of Music. It was a terrific success. We had 4 amazing music performances in the chapel with featured a range of musicians (from Rachmaninoff to comedic musical improv!) and then we awarded the people's choice for the music contest along with the art prizes in the Daily Bread. We had large turn-out, which was very encouraging, and the Daily Bread provided a wonderful reception as always. Our collaboration with the Music Faculty went very well and we will continue this partnership next year.

KC Adams Art Exhibition

We hosted the opening of the KC Adams art exhibit on March 16 from 4-7pm. KC gave an introduction to her project and the exhibit will run until June. We also had refreshments provided by the Daily Bread and attendance for this event was great.

Marjorie Ward Lecture

Marjorie Ward lecture took place on Tuesday, March 28 @ 4pm. Darrell Stranger, an Indigenous journalist from APTN, presented on decolonizing journalism and the importance of self-representation in news and media for Indigenous peoples. It was a fantastic talk about we had about 70 people in attendance. There was also a reception following the lecture and I would especially like the thank the fellows that attended the lecture this year.

Additionally, I have already lined up a speaker for next year. Dr. Marcia Anderson will be giving a talk on Indigenous healthcare in Manitoba. This lecture is scheduled for Monday, March 11 @ 4pm.

Pub Happy Hour

We had our first pub happy hour in the Daily Bread on the last Friday of March. Unfortunately, no fellows attended but thankfully most of our SJC staff joined us and it was a fun end to the work week!

Fellowship Roles and Responsibilities

The Warden and the Dean of Studies are currently updating the SJC Fellow's handbook in order to provide a written document to all fellows on the specific roles and responsibilities of college membership. Our aim is to clarify those obligations and outline the specific duties associated with particular committees. We recognize the fellows already have many responsibilities within their respective faculties, but we also want to create a space at the college where fellows want to participate in college events. The sense of community at the college is one of our strengths and we want to work on creating a post-covid revitalization of sorts regarding the fellowship.

Standing Committees

The standing committees for the 2023-2024 academic year have been set and all membership requirements have been met. Lori Wilkinson has graciously agreed to serve as Chair of Assembly for another year. Our Assembly representatives on council for this year will be Lisa Alexandrin Jennifer Dueck, Karine Levasseur, Kent Fowler, Lori Wilkinson, and Derek Oliver.

SJCSA Grad Dinner

The SJCSA organized a wonderful grad dinner on Saturday, April 1 at the Pavilion at Assiniboine Park. The food and program were excellent and approx. 8-9 fellows attend the event, which was a good turnout.

Bursars' Report to Council May 17th, 2023

College Operations

We are nearing the end of the winter term and preparing for the transition to summer session. Normally this would mean a decrease in Residence operations, but this year our occupancy levels will likely be higher, averaging around 50% for May and June, and then increasing significantly for periods of time in July and August when summer groups arrive.

Budgeting

College Council established budget parameters that tasked administration with striking a balanced budget excluding the Capital Campaign. The 2022-23 fiscal year was a transition back to normal operations, and our hope is that 2023-24 will see a return of a relatively stable and sustainable environment. However, even with students fully back on campus and the University operating without any COVID restrictions, rising costs and a competitive job market made striking a balanced budget more challenging than during normal pre-COVID years. Working with the Assistant Bursar and department heads, we were able to strike a budget with a modest surplus that is realistic and predicated on targets that are reflective of this past years successes in our Food Service operations, and occupancy levels in the residence that we have achieved in prior years.

This budget, along with a proposed Residence rate increase of 4.5% was presented to the Finance & Administration Committee at its meeting on April 26th. Assembly subsequently approved that rate increase, and the operating budget at its May 2nd meeting.

The Finance & Admin Committee also reviewed the Audit Planning Report submitted by BDO Canada in advance of our annual audit which is likely to take place in June.

Building Projects

The Warden and I met with Campus Planning to discuss further details of the third floor renovation where we discussed the space needs of all the relevant stakeholders, and they in turn have had consultations with those stakeholders to get their feedback. Based on those consultations, Campus Planning has provided some high level designs/overviews that show the resulting space allocations, including dedicated office space for occupants, as well as shared space for breakout meetings and offices for retired Fellows.

We have also been assigned a project manager from AES who will help coordinate this work, as well as the renovations in the Residence that need to be done. This includes improvements to the washrooms, electrical upgrades, shared spaces, etc. We have met with him and are working on initial cost estimates for multiple options with varying degrees of scope depending on how extensive we decide those improvements need to be.

CRA

The Warden and I met with the lawyers handling our CRA appeal and they informed us that our case has a court date of July 12th & 13th 2023. They still are hopeful that a settlement will be reached before that time, but if that does not happen, we are preparing to go to trial and our lawyers are still very confident in our case. We've reached out to the University and the CFO has agreed to testify on our behalf. We also hope to have some from the Diocese to testify as well.

Dean of Residence Report - May 2023

Residence Projects

Planning continues for renovation of the basement common rooms. Pending sign-off around fire systems from the University, I'm hopeful this work can be done in the first months of the summer.

I completely redesigned the Residence Handbook using the College Style Guide and have printed it with glossy covers. Improved formatting of residence handbooks and paperwork heightens the residence experience for people checking in for the first time, even as we continue to make improvements to our physical plant.

Summer Session

Summer Session is shaping up to be quite busy. During the final weeks of July, we are nearly at capacity. Many students are ICM students who have been delayed in receiving study visas, as well as a sizeable number of students moving over from U of M residences due to renovations at A.V. Mauro and University College.

Residence Activity

Don interviews were held on April 3, and I'm pleased to announce that Cherno Hamidou Diallo, Tawananyasha Matizanadzo, Raihanah Rahim, and Jasmine Wood have all been rehired for the 2023/2024 academic year. Hamidou, Tawana, and Raihanah have all been rehired as Summer Dons. Jasmine is taking some well-deserved time off. Thank you to the Warden, the Bursar, and the Development Officer for their assistance in reviewing applications and participating in the interview process.

Registrar's Report May 2023

The April 1 Scholarship application deadline has passed, with 114 applicants, which is double our previous highest number. I attribute this to better advertising, a smoother application process, and greater financial need among our students. The July webform is complete, a much easier process after the April 1 application. It is now out for testing.

Friday, April 15, was our Writing Retreat for Fellows and Grad Students. It was a well-received event, and a lot of interest has been expressed in favour of holding more of them.

We will have an information table at the following University Orientation events: Sunday, May 7, from 1 – 4 pm - "Preparing for University" - Unfortunately I was home with COVID and so I give immeasurable thanks to Ravneet Kaur, our new Senior Stick, for stepping in rather last minute, to take on this event. Though it had been planned that Ravneet and other SJCSA members join me, Ravneet took on all duties herself. Again, I cannot thank he enough. Wednesday, August 9 – "Welcome to the Herd" Tuesday, September 5 – "Welcome Day"

Save the date! Matriculation will be on Tuesday, September 19.
